Fear Plane Crashes With Nurse In Lake Huron Fog

SUDBURY, Nov. 1—(CP)—Hope faded today for the lives of Ruth Dunoon, 40, and Leo (Louis) Slivinski, 31, oocupants of a light plane believed to have crashed into Lake Huron during a fog. Two pontoons cast up on a lonely stretch of shoreline two miles east of Providence Bay on the southern shore of Manitoulin Island have been identified as those of the Fleet Canuck aircraft missing since Sunday. Fog hampered a search today for the man and woman and for additional plane wreckage.

Dr. G. D. Morris of Owen Sound, who had employed Miss Dunoon as his office nurse for 10 years, said today he arranged for her to be flown from Tobermory, Ont., at the tip of the Bruce Peninsula, to his camp near Algoma Mills, 100 miles west of Sudbury.

Miss Dunoon went from Owen Sound to Tobermory by bus and boarded the plane, which had been sent from Algoma Mills with Slivinski as pilots. The aircraft was owned by Lau Goma Airways, of which Carl Mattini is manager.

Delayed By Fog

Mattini said that Slivinski went to Tobermory early Sunday to pick up a passenger. At 10 a.m. he reported by telephone from Tobermory that fog had made it impossible for him to take off.

When the plane did not show up at Algoma Monday morning, Mattini got in touch with Tobermory by radio and learned that Slavinski had taken off with his passenger at 10.25 a.m. Sunday in comparatively good weather.

Mattini, in another plane, traced the route Slivinski would have used. He spotted the aircraft parts near Providence Bay and landed nearby. He said that from various markings he could identify them positively as part of Slivinski's plane.

"It looked as if the aircraft had flown straight into the water with terrific force," he said.

When provincial police and transport department officials were informed, foot patrols were sent along the shore of Manitoulin Island opposite where the plane were found.

Slivinski is a former RCAF flight engineer with considerable northern flying experience. Her was formerly employed by Wheeler Airlines in Quebec and Nickel Belt Airlines here.

Pope Proclaims New Dogma Before Million

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 1 (AP)—Pope Pius, in the most austere act of his reign, today proclaimed as Roman Catholic dogma that Mary, mother of Jesus, went bodily and spiritually to heaven.

A crowd of nearly 1,000,000 overflowed vast St. Peter's Square and reached to Castel St. Angelo, three-quarters of a mile away.

Massed before the temporary papal throne in front of St. Peter's central door were 38 of the church's 53 living cardinals and 580 of its bishops, archbishops and patriarchs from all corners of the world.

Well to the fore were the representatives of the 40 countries with which the Vatican maintains diplomatic relations.

They had come to witness the proclamation of the first dogma into the Roman Catholic creed since 1870. The 1870 dogma declared that the Pope is infallible when he speaks "ex cathedra" (from the chair) on faith and morals. The Pope spoke thus today.

A previous dogma in 1854 proclaimed the immaculate conception of the Virgin Mary.

By establishing the dogma as part of the faith, Roman Catholics must accept the creed or risk the pain of heresy.

The pontiff began reading the papal bull from a temporary throne before the central door of St. Peter's basilica at 9:40 a.m. (3:40 a.m. EST).

In a clear, ringing voice carried by loudspeakers to what Vatican sources said was the largest ceremonial gathering known in the history of christendom, he pronounced in Latin that it had been divinely revealed that Mary went to heaven in body as well as in soul.

The crowd listened in deep silence as the Pope proclaimed:

2 In Truck Drown

PARRY SOUND, Nov. 1 (CP)—Two men were drowned Tuesday night when their truck slipped from the back of a small car ferry into Georgian Bay. Only one of the men was identified immediately. He was Clarence Dixon, of Gordon Bay, 16 miles south of here.

Say Shaw Has Lapsed Into Unconsciousness, Fear Writer Dying

AYOTT ST. LAWRENCE, England, Nov. 1—(AP)—George Bernard Shaw lapsed into what seemed to be his dying coma today.

The 94-year-old playwright lost consciousness at 3 a.m. A few hours later his breathing became labored and heavy. At 12.20 p.m. he was still unconscious and the spark of life flickered weakly.

The old Irishman, best known playwright of modern times, suffered a relapse Sunday seven weeks after he underwent two operations, one for a kidney ailment and one to pin together the thigh bone he broke in a fall in his garden Sept. 9.

Dr. P. C. Pribyn called on him at 8.55 a.m. and, again at noontime. After his second call, he told waiting reporters:

"His condition is the same. There is no change."

Tries To Stop Argument, Garage Man Shot

SOUTH PORCUPINE, Ont., Nov. 1 (CP).—A murder charge was laid against Coleman Ferrigan, 21, in the rifle-slaying early today of William Helmer, 35-year-old garage man.

Police Chief Charles McGinnis said Helmer, widower and father of five children, was shot through the heart after he intervened in a street-corner argument while on his way home from a Hallowe'en dance.

Helmer and Ferrigan both attended the dance, but in separate parties.

Helmer, driving home with two friends, stopped to buy cigarettes at a restaurant on the main street of this gold-mining town two miles south of Timmins. On the way back to his car, he passed a group of about six young men who were arguing.

"Don't fight, boys. Hallowe'en is over," he is quoted as saying.

Shot Fired

A witness told police there was a rifle shot. Helmer staggered a few steps toward the wall of a building and collapsed.

Helmer was described as one of the most popular citizens of this northern Ontario town.

His wife died in childbirth a little more than a year ago. His father was drowned on a fishing trip two years ago. The eldest of Helmer's children is 14 years old.

Police seized a .22-calibre rifle believed used in the slaying.

Walkout Paralyzes Steel Production

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 1 (AP)—Steel production at the Bethlehem Steel Company's huge plant in nearby Lackawanna was halted today as a walkout spread to more than half of the plant's 17,000 employees.

Julian R. Bruce, international representative of the United Steelworkers (CIO), said "it looks as if the entire plant will be shut down by late this afternoon."

Both union and company spokesmen described the walkout as unauthorized.

Oregon Battens Down For New Pacific Storm

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 1 — (AP). — Drenched and flood-damaged Western Oregon battened down today for a bout with another Pacific storm moving toward the coastland.

The new blow may hit late today. Forecasters doubted it would have the fury of the weekend downpour that caused flash floods in mountain valleys and claimed five lives.

Ontario Plans Set-up For Defence

Organization To Aid Municipalities Premier Frost Says

TORONTO, Nov. 1—(CP)—The Ontario government will immediately set up an organization to work with municipal authorities in establishing civilian defence groups, Premier Frost said today.

He said a report from New York that three provinces and 10 States were to be linked in an over-all civil defence plan was "news" to him. Ontario officials conferred Tuesday with representatives of New York State, but he knew of no over-all plan.

"We are awaiting some direction from Ottawa," he said. "The plan mentioned has not been discussed with us by anyone."

Earlier, Provincial Secretary Arthur Welsh, head of Ontario's Civil Defence Organization, confirmed the New York report.

Been In Contact

Mr. Welsh said division of costs is one of the main points under discussion. Ontario had not been represented at all meetings but "has had contact with them."

Co-operation between the United States and Canada on matters of civil defence has been discussed chiefly on the federal level, he said. The Ontario government, however, has discussed problems with Michigan and New York, particularly in relation to joint action between Niagara Falls, Ont., and Niagara Falls, N.Y., and between Detroit and Windsor.

(Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, Canadian civil defence co-ordinator, said in Ottawa that any civil defence accord between the two countries would be evolved through federal and not through provincial and state organizations.)

Bombing Attack Plans

Meanwhile it was learned that plans covering inter-state action in the event of a bombing attack on the northeastern United States are being drawn here for presentation to a meeting of state representatives Nov. 18. Adjoining Canadian provinces were expected to co-operate in the plan.

The spokesman for the New York commission, headed by Gen. Lusius D. Clay, quoted Toronto officials as saying they were waiting for provincial action, and provincial officials as saying they were waiting for action by Ottawa on the civil defence questions.

The New York Times says today that a civil defence accord between 10 northeastern states and adjoining Canadian provinces to provide action in "the event of an atomic attack or other emergency" was being drafted.

The newspaper says it has learned the draft, result of an earlier meeting of defence officials of the various states and provinces, will be submitted to another meeting here Nov. 18.

DIAMOND WEDDING ANNIVERSARY is being celebrated to-day by Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Smith of 470 Bolivar St. For 20 years he was choirmaster in Anglican churches in Tweed and Toronto. Mr. Smith was a machinist by trade. He retired from the Outboard Marine Company three years ago. Many relatives and friends called today to wish them many happy returns of the day. —Examiner Staff Photo

60th Anniversary Of Wedding Being Observed

Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Smith, 479 Bolivar St. are today celebrating their diamond wedding anniversary. They were married November 1, 1890 in St. Albans' Cathedral, Toronto by the Most Rev. Arthur Sweatman, who was then Archbishop of Toronto. The groomsman was Lancelot Bland and he still resides in Toronto.

Mr. Smith was born 83 years ago in Birmingham, England, son of the late George Smith and Susanna Lawrence. After leaving school he worked as a machinist in that city until 1889 when he left England to come to Toronto.

Mrs. Smith, the former Claire Cook, is also 83 and was born in Overbury, Worcestershire, England, daughter of the late Thomas Cook and Elizabeth Cooper. She attended St. Clement's Church School in Birmingham.

Mrs. Smith came to Canada in 1890.

Worked Till 80

Mr. and Mrs. Smith resided in Toronto until 1898 when they returned to Birmingham, England. In 1922, they came back to Canada and settled at Tweed. In 1938, they moved to Peterborough. From that time until he retired three years ago, at the age of 80, Mr. Smith was a machinist with the Outboard Marine Co.

An ardent music lover, Mr. Smith has been active in choir work for the greater part of his life. He was choirmaster of St. Cyprians Anglican Church, Toronto, for five years. He held the same position in St. James' Anglican Church, Tweed for 14 years. When Massey Hall, Toronto, was opened approximately 57 years ago, Mr. Smith was a member of the Toronto Choral Society. This choir under the leadership of the well-known Toronto musician, Dr. F. H. Torrington, took part in the three-day festival marking the opening.

Mr. Smith is a past master of L.O.L. No. 747, Tweed.

In Church Work

Mrs. Smith was a vice-president of the Women's Association of the St. James' Anglican Church, Tweed, and active in this association of All Saint's Anglican Church, Peterborough while her health permitted.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have two daughters, Mrs. Alice Thomas, Peterborough and Mrs. Edith Marshall, Toronto; seven grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. Mrs. Smith has two brothers, Walter and George, both of Toronto.

Today's celebration will take place quietly with relatives and friends at their home. The Rev. W. H. Kibble-white presided at a communion service this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are members of All Saints' Anglican Church.

28 Die On Bargain Trip As London Plane Crashes

LONDON, Nov. 1—(CP)—A "bargain" Paris-to-London air trip ended in death Tuesday night for 28 persons. They were killed in a fog-shrouded British European Airways plane which overshot a runway at London airport, crashed into a pile of pipe and exploded. Of the 26 passenger and a crew of four aboard, two Londoners survived the crash with severe, but not critical, injuries. The survivors were Stewardess Alice Steen and William Perkins, a passenger, both of London.

Excursion Rate

Most of the passengers were of French, British or Irish nationality. Three were Americans. Most of them were taking advantage of BEA's £10 (about $29.50) London-to-Paris round-trip excursion rate.

The two-engined Viking plane, diverted to London airport from Northolt airport because of the ceiling-zero weather was making a ground-controlled (Radar) landing in one of autumn's worst fogs. The heavy weather hampered rescue work.

Two weeks ago a BEA two-engined Dakota crashed in the same area, killing 28 of the 29 aboard. The worst crash in the London district occurred in 1948, when 39 died in the collision of a Swedish airliner and an RAF transport.

Use Headlight Beams

The crash scene was eerily lighted by headlight beams from cars and torches of volunteer workers. The fog was so dense that fire engines had to grope their way slowly toward the wreckage.

One airport fireman said: "We had some difficulty locating her because of the fog. She was a blazing mass when we got there."

Councillor Faces Charges

WOODBRIDGE, Nov. 1 (CP)—A warrant on five charges was issued today against village councillor Fred Armstrong, 49-year-old contractor.

Arrested Monday on a charge of drunk driving, he is alleged to have broken out of his cell. Police said the cell door was smashed and plumbing twisted.

The five charges include breaking out of lawful custody, malicious damage, drunk driving, failing to produce his driver's licence and failing to carry a registration permit for his truck.

He is serving his second term as a councillor.

Accidental Death Verdict Of Jury

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 1—(CP)—A verdict of accidental death was returned Tuesday night by a coroner's jury investigating the death of David Woodcock, Trenton, killed Oct. 21 when struck by a truck.

Woodcock was killed while walking across the Belleville-Trenton highway to speak with relatives. He was hit by a truck driven by James Gibson, of Oshawa.

2 Men Rush Blair House Guns Blazing

White House Guards Shoot Pair, 3 Officers Wounded

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — (AP)—Two men rushed on Blair House, President Truman's residence, with blazing pistols in their hands today and were shot down by White House guards. Three officers were reported wounded.

President Truman was in Blair House at the time. Just a few minutes later he was due to leave to go to Arlington Cemetery for ceremonies honoring the late Sir John Dill, British wartime chief-of-staff.

Secret Service men said the gunmen who staged the wild, apparent assassination attempt, had German Luger pistols.

Shot On Steps

One of the men was shot down on the steps of the temporary executive mansion.

He fell with blood spurting from a chest wound.

Assassination Attempt

Hobart Francis, inspector of the Washington police, told a reporter:

"I presume it was an attempt to assassinate the president."

Truman was in Blair House at the time.

Blair House is across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House proper. Truman and his family have been living there while a rebuilding job is being carried out on the White House.

The shooting occurred about 2:15 p.m., EST.

No Warning

The gun fire broke out suddenly and without warning.

Secret Service men said two men suddenly made a rush at Blair House with guns in their hands.

The White House guard opened fire.

A policeman told a reporter that one of the civilians had approached from across Pennsylvania Avenue, the other from the corner west of Blair House on the avenue.

Their guns were blazing at the three White House policemen who guarded the sentry booths and the front entry of Blair House.

"We let them have it," the policeman said.

Emergency calls brought police cars screaming from all parts of the city. A crowd quickly gathered.

Truman peered out of Blair House briefly as ambulances and rescue cars arrived.

Identify Civilians

White House police said the two civilians were tentatively identified from papers on them as Marion R. Preston, dead, and Oscar Olliskin, or O. Oloskin, severely wounded through the head and chest.

Thy said the White House guards wounded were Don Birdzell, Leslie Colfelt, and Joe Downs. They were taken to emergency hospital and their condition was not immediately known.

Police Inspector Francis gave reporters this account:

"It was started by this guy pulling a gun out and starting shooting at this officer (Joseph Downs, a member of the White House police detachment).

"The agent (Secret Service Agent Floyd Boring, who was in a wooden guard house perhaps 10 yards away,) started pulling a gun and shooting at him (the civilian). He got him."

Francis said the man died on the sidewalk in front of the Blair House.

Thirty minutes after the shooting—and while the hubub still continued—Truman slipped out a rear door of Blair House and went to a ceremony at Arlington Cemetery as scheduled.

Keep Curb On Germans

No National Army, War Industry—Acheson

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson said today the North Atlantic Treaty countries are agreed that there shall be no German national army, German war industry or a German general staff.

He made the statement in telling a press conference that the North Atlantic defence ministers have agreed on the importance of German participation in the build-up of western European defences.

Acheson voiced confidence that a council of deputies and the North Atlantic military committee will be able to work out details for using German forces. The defence committee failed to agree on in its three-day meeting here, Acheson declared, too, that there is no question of a delay in the defence plans.

The defence ministers were deadlocked over French insistence that only small German units be accepted in the proposed combined European defence force, and that these operate only under a unified European organization which has yet to be agreed upon.

Great Progress

Acheson reported that an extraordinary amount of progress has been made in defence preparations in the last two months. Noting that the treaty countries have some difficult problems to work out, he declared that the failure of the defence ministers to reach agreement did not mean there was any crisis.

The United States apparently has put its foot down and told France she must make some concessions on the German rearmament question.

Work Out Plan

Today the council of deputies of the Atlantic Pact organization, a working group of the top-level Council of Foreign Ministers, and the military committee, made up of the Military Chiefs of Staff, set about devising some plan acceptable to all.

When France announced a proposal under which the matter of German rearmament would be linked to creation of a European defence council, the question ceased to be purely military. It involved also something like a federation in Europe, perhaps a minister and a special body. The United States plan was to go ahead and form some German divisions, perhaps eight or 10 as part of the combined force.

The U.S. defence secretary, George C. Marshall, told a press conference that "very great political questions" were involved —questions beyond the authority of the defence leaders to settle among themselves.

Reappoint Lie For Three Years

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP). — The U.N. General Assembly today extended Secretary - General Trygve Lie's term for three more years despite a Soviet bloc threat not to deal with him.

By a vote of 46 to 5 with seven absentions, the assembly supported the United States position that Lie should be kept in office as an expression of confidence for the way he handled the Korean case.

Before keeping Lie in the $40,000-a-year job the assembly rejected a Soviet resolution to toss the matter back to the Security Council which had failed to agree on a candidate after a month of consideration. The vote on the Russian proposal was nine in favor, 37 against and 11 abstaining.

Have Military Attaches In 11 Foreign Countries

OTTAWA, Nov. 1 (CP)—Canada is gradually expanding military listening posts abroad, in keeping with the defence expansion at home and the country's increasing international commitments.

The latest move in this field—one largely developed since the war—is appointment of a military attache to Germany. But during the last few months the activities and movements of Canadian military men abroad has been often in the news.

Canada now maintains army and air attaches in 11 foreign countries exclusive of the United States and United Kingdom. In Washington and London she has elaborate military missions.

The emergence of the Atlantic Pact has swollen the Canadian military colonies in both capitals. In Japan, Canada recently established a liaison mission with Gen. MacArthur's headquarters to prepare the way for movement of Canadian troops to Korea.

In Berlin, Canada still maintains a military mission and it is there that the new attache to Germany—Col. J. M. Houghton, 34, of Brockville, will handle part of a dual job.

Canada maintains air attaches in Argentina, France, Sweden, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Belgium and Russia. She has or soon will have army attaches in France, Germany, Italy, The Netherlands, Sweden, Yugoslavia, Turkey and Russia.

The attaches act as liaison between Canada and the services of the country where they serve, and are charged with gathering information of interest and value to defence headquarters here by various overt and legitimate means.

Say US Tanks 19 Miles From China

Red Planes Re-Appear After Long Absence, Halted By UN Fighters

SEOUL, Nov. 1—(AP)—American armor rammed roughshod over rallying Communists in Northwest Korea, today, and thrust within 19 air miles of the Communist Manchurian border. Overhead, Russian-built jet fighters, flying at almost the speed of sound, were battled to a draw by slower United States F-51 Mustang fighters. Apparently neither side lost any planes in the dogfight, a spokesman said. The swift ground thrust to Charyongwan by a tank column of the U.S. 24th Division came after fierce Communist counter-attacks along the Chong River were repulsed Tuesday night.

Earlier Wednesday, three Russian-made Yak conventional-type planes were shot down by U.S. fighters and a light bomber. One American jet fighter was downed by Red anti-aircraft fire.

Red Korean resistance along most of the northern front was stiff. Communist cavalry swept down on allied forces.

First Use of Cavalry

Cavalry had not been used to any extent earlier in the war. The Red Koreans who invaded South Korea June 25 were equipped with Russian-made tanks, field pieces and automatic weapons.

The use of cavalry in the Orient harks back to the Mongolian hordes that swept across the Asian plains centuries ago.

A second Chinese Communist regiment officially was reported in action in Korea. U.S. 10th corps headquarters said the regiment was identified in the northeast sector.

The biggest aerial scrap since the first weeks of the war started Wednesday morning five miles southeast of the Manchurian border city of Sinuiju.

Flying through smoke-streaked skies, American F-51 Mustang fighters rescued an unarmed T-6 observation plane from six Russian-built Yak propeller fighters. Four of the Mustangs shot down two of the Yaks without a loss.

A rear gunner shot down one of two other Yaks that jumped four light bombers west of Sonchon.

Visibility was hampered by smoke rolling from artillery-ignited forest fires, but six enemy jets were spotted flying south toward a U.S. 24th division tank column west of Sonchon.

Jump Mustangs

The jets jumped a flight of Mustangs. Reports that American F-80 Shooting Star jets had joined in the fight were called erroneous by a fifth air force spokesman.

The air force said one F-80 was shot down by anti-aircraft fire in a sweep on Sinuiju airfield, across the Yalu river boundary from a big Chinese air base at Antung in Communist Manchuria. The jet crashed in flames.

Other American planes strafed 20 to 25 aircraft on the Sinuiju field despite intense flak. Enemy planes in six ground revetments—protective mounds of earth on three sides of the plane—were left burning. Eight enemy planes were reported destroyed.

The 21st regiment of the 24th division, thrusting northwestward toward Sinuiju from British-captured Chongju, was halted 30 miles short of the Manchurian border after a tank battle.

Advance Halted

Maj.-Gen. John H. Church, division commander, had ordered the column to smash ahead Tuesday night to keep the Communists off balance. But the Red counter-attack stopped the advance during the night.

On the northeast coast, another American column of the 7th division raced inland from the Iwon beachhead to Pungsan, 51 road miles south of the Manchurian border.

It was a gain of 52 road miles since the landing Sunday.

Maj.-Gen. Edward M. Almond, commander of the U.S. 10th corps, of which the 7th division is a component, told correspondents that attacks in the northeast will be made in strength to determine just how many Chinese Communists stand in the way.

15 Miles From Hamhung

Almond said at least one Chinese Red regiment has pushed to within 15 miles of the east coast industrial centre of Hamhung. Later a 10th corps spokesman confirmed that a second Chinese regiment is in the area, about midway between the 7th division's landing point of Iwon and Wonsan, 100 air miles to the south.

The U.S. Marines landed last week at Wonsan and are mopping up by-passed Reds in the area.

The first Chinese regiment identified was the 370th. The spokesman did not name the second, but said it was battling the 26th Korean regiment south of the Changjin (Choshin) reservoir.

Previous reports said two Chinese divisions were variously identified. In Tokyo, intelligence officers still were unable to clarify the situation.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

SECOND CUT IN FUEL BILLS!

Most everyone knows how Johns-Manville Rock Wool helps cut heating costs in winter. But here's news of another Johns-Manville insulation for the home—to reduce your fuel bills even further!

Facts prove that you can save several tons of coal a year or the equivalent in gas or oil by having your furnace, hot water tank and heating pipes insulated with Johns-Manville asbestos insulation. You see, J-M insulations keep heat from escaping into your cellar — helps send it upstairs to the radiators where you want it.

Next time you go downstairs take a look at your heating system. If it is not properly insulated, talk it over with your plumbing and heating contractor. He knows all about Johns-Manville Asbestocel Boiler Jackets and Pipe Covering . . . and will be glad to explain how they can save you up to 10 percent on your fuel bills every year.

Court Drops Robbery Charge

DUNDAS, Nov. 1 — (CP). — A charge of robbery against Earl Miller of North Bay was dropped here Tuesday when George Beer, 84-year-old implement dealer, testified Miller did not rob him September 6. A charge of retaining was laid against Miller, and judgment was reserved by Magistrate J. E. Robinson.

Two men are alleged to have robbed Mr. Beer and the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch in nearby Binbrook of $15,000 in cash and bonds. Beer told police he could identify one of the robbers by his hands. Miller's hands were much too large to be the ones he had seen, Beer said.

Inspector Webb Frank of the Provincial Police said Miller was arrested after he went to the Royal Bank in North Bay with $8,600 in bonds, $2,600 of which were identified as owned by Beer.

"Prompt legislative action is expected in the states and provinces involved and in (the U.S.) Congress," the newspaper story says.

The Times does not specify which Canadian provinces are taking part or are expected to take part in the pact discussions. However, Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick border on the 10 American States of which the story names only New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

Earlier Meeting

The earlier meeting was held under the auspices of the New York joint legislative committee on interstate co-operation. At that meeting Gordon M. Tiffany, Attorney-General of New Hampshire, was given the authority to name a group to write the draft of the compact, the newspaper says. It adds:

"It is understood that the draft will generally follow the recommendations contained in the federal legislation proposed to President Truman by W. Stuart Symington, chairman of the National Security Resources Board. The draft therein proposes the advance consent by Congress, as required by the constitution, to any pact between states and between states and neighboring subdivisions of another country to meet enemy attack.

"The subjects coverable under such advance Congressional approval include exchange of food, clothing, medical supplies, engineering services, emergency housing, police and constabulary services, national or state guard, medical and related services, evacuation, fire-fighting, rescue transportation and construction services on broad terms."

Ignore Power Cut

BERLIN, Nov. 1—(AP)—Soviet-controlled radio Berlin boomed out its propaganda with undiminished force today despite the western cut-off of electricity to its studio building Tuesday at midnight. The cut-off was in retaliation for the refusal of East German Communists to renew a contract for power sales to west Berlin.

Chas. Peaker To Give Organ Recital At Knox

Dr. Charles Peaker, noted organist of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Toronto and sometime vice-principal of the Royal Conservatory of Music is returning to the Casavant organ of Knox United Church on Monday, November 20th in a joint recital with Alice Rourke, Toronto soprano.

A quarter century ago, Dr. Peaker was for three years organist and choirmaster of Knox Church. The recital is part of the November 1950 weekend celebrations planned to observe the 40th anniversary of the erection of the present building at the corner of Rubidge and Wolfe Streets.

Report Major Battle At Chando In Tibet

HONG KONG, Nov. 1 (Reuters)—Peiping radio tonight reported a major battle near Chamdo, 400 miles east of Lhasa the Tibetan capital and said two Britons, two Indians and 20 high Tibetan officials had been captured.

The radio claimed Chamdo was captured by the Second Army of the "People's Liberation Army" Oct. 19.

A special announcement said the People's Army had inflicted 4,000 casualties during the battle.

King Leaves 3 Million

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 1—(AP)—The newspaper Aftonbladet said today that the late King Gustaf V, who died Sunday at 92, left a fortune of some 15,000,000 crowns (about $3,000,000).

Won't Allow Jury Try Case

TORONTO, Nov. 1—There will be no jury when one of the city's worst traffic accidents is reviewed at the next assizes in a civil action brough by the City of Toronto against two of its firemen involved in a 1947 collision which caused the death of three firemen and injury to eight others.

Mr. Justice Smiley ruled Tuesday in chambers at Osgoode Hall that the May 17, 1947, accident was a complicated one involving too many difficult points of law for a jury to bring in a fair verdict.

"I don't like to take a jury away, despite what one might think of the efficiency of juries in all cases," his lordship said in deciding that a judge should give a ruling.

Industries Slipping Slightly On Exchange

TORONTO, Nov. 1 (CP). — Industrials slipped slightly in fairly mixed dealings on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Activity was light though as prices moved cautiously in a narrow path.

Papers, steels and agricultures showed a majority of losses. Manufacturing companies and foods gained while the rest of the board was mixed.

Base metals started ahead, and then reversed the trend and drifted lower. Key issues showed losses ranging to 75 cents. Golds sagged with senior producers trading quietly for small losses. Junior producers showed a fairly wide list of penny losses with new Hugh Malartic Mines trading the most actively following news of a new financing change.

Western oils declined strongly with leading issues losing up to 35 cents. Oil selections, transferred from the curb to the listed market today, responded with active trading but was practically unchanged.

Have New System For Figuring Tariffs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—The Customs Bureau announced today a new procedure to enable foreign traders to make certain in advance what their tariff costs will be on shipments to the United States.

On request, the bureau said, the customs commission will make a formal ruling on the tariff classification of the merchandise and the rate of duty to be applied.

Such rulings, it added, will eliminate the possibility of "different tariff treatment of the same merchandise at different ports of entry," or of "a field officer's determination being overruled by higher customs officials without notice."

Commissioner Frank Down described it as "one of the most important steps taken in the bureau's continuing program of procedural improvement to meet modern trade needs."

Too Much Attention Paid To Vishinsky

OTTAWA, Nov. 1 — (CP). — Hon. P. C. Spender, Australian External Affairs Minister, thinks the Western press pays "far too much" attention to what Andre Vishinsky, Soviet Foreign Minister, says.

He told a press conference he believed it was wrong to give the Soviet so many "channels" for propaganda, which "they cheerfully take and we cheerfully provide." It was proper, of course, to report fairly and accurately what they said.

He recalled that in the 1930s the Western world waited anxiously to hear what Hitler had to say—and did nothing in the meantime. Today, the Western world waited just as anxiously to hear what vishinsky had to say.

Envoy Gets Job

LONDON, Nov. 1 (Reuters)—Britain has told her Moscow ambassador, Sir David Kelly, to tackle the Soviet government about the reported Russian arrest of a fourth British trawler in six months. A Russian patrol vessel was seen to approach the 347-ton Lacennia in the White Sea and escort her to shore, a foreign office spokesman said today.

Have Good Hunting

SEOUL, Nov. 1—(AP)—Home Minister Chough Pyong Ok said today Republic of Korea police had killed 10,459 Communist troops and captured 10,384 since June 25. This was exclusive of Reds killed by South Korean and United Nations troops in the Korean war.

Miners On Strike

GLASGOW, Nov. 1—(Reuters)—More than 6,500 Scottish miners were on strike today because they are not satisfied with a recent wage boost awarded by the government. Men in six pits stopped work today, bringing to 25 the number of pits now idle through the strike, which started Monday.

A BRIGHT-EYED PRINCESS ANNE ELIZABETH ALICE LOUISE OF EDINBURGH, 67-day-old daughter of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, peers into the camera following her christening by the Archbishop of York in London. The baby will be known simply as Princess Anne. She is third in line of succession to the British throne. Princess Elizabeth is first and Princess Anne's two-year-old brother, Prince Charles is second. Princess Anne wears a white satin christening gown covered with rare Hamilton lace. The gown is more than a century old and was ordered by Queen Victoria. All the Royal babies have been christened in it since the naming of the first child of Queen Victoria and Prince Albert.

Injured Man

The President was due to leave momentarily for Arlington National Cemetery to participate in ceremonies dedicating a monument to the late Sir John Dill, Britain's war-time chief-of-staff.

One secret service man was heard to tell another:

"This guy came running across the avenue and started shooting at Berdzell, and we let him have it."

The identities of "this guy" and "Berdzell" were not immediately established.

One stretcher was carried out of the White House as reporters and bystanders gathered.

Shot In Chest

The man lying on the Blair House steps evidently had been shot at least once in the chest.

Blood soaked his shirt and undershirt.

A heavy model automatic pistol lay beside him.

Say Concussion To Farmer Caused By Fall

Concussion and a broken collarbone suffered by Glen Bothwell, 20, a Cavan township farmer, were caused not by an assault but by a fall from the locked bumpers of two cars.

Bothwell was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital Friday, unconscious, and for several days lay in a coma. Provincial police from both Peterborough and Cobourg questioned him but could not get a coherent explanation. Still delirious, Bothwell believed he had been assaulted.

Bothwell was taken to Toronto General Hospital Saturday, where he was operated on. He is reported to be much improved.

As far as the police are concerned the case is closed.

Police say that Robert Driver, 18, of Bethany ran out of gasoline early Friday morning on Highway 7A and 28. He went back to the Bothwell farm to obtain some.

Glen Bothwell accompanied him to the stalled car and after the gasoline had been put in the tank a second driver drove up and offered to give Driver a shove. Bothwell stood on one of the bumpers to try and get the two in line. Somehow he slipped and fell.

Whether he hit one of the cars first before landing on the road is not known. Robert Hannon, 20, Cavan, driver of the second car, picked him up and asked him if he was all right.

"I'm all right," Bothwell is reported to have answered.

Driver helped him in the car and took him home not realizing the extent of his injuries. When Mrs. Ruby Bothwell, the injured youth's mother, opened the door she found him bleeding and dazed. He collapsed when he got inside the farmhouse.

Taken to hospital he was found to have serious head injuries and a broken collarbone.

Provincial Constable R. Baluk of Cobourg headed the investigation.

Hallowe'en Quiet In Rural Areas

Hallowe'en pranksters seem to be getting fewer in the Peterborough district. A few pranks were reported from the northern rural areas, and at least one act of vandalism. But generally it was a quiet night for the provincial police.

Seven street lights were smashed in Buckhorn, some on both sides of the river.

On the lighter side, Bob Shearer of Buckhorn found that his sawing machine was missing. Mr. Shearer put two and two together and it added up to three mischievous boys. He promptly rounded up the three suspects, laid down the law though with a twinkle in his eyes—and the trio helped him locate the machine and put it back where it belonged. It had been hidden in his own garage.

Two highway signs, just south of Apsley on Highway 28, were smashed but otherwise it was an exceptionally quiet Hallowe'en there, Provincial Constable Bert Howden reports.

Topple Outhouses

The odd chair was taken from a verandah, and in almost every rural community a couple of outhouses were toppled over. The younger children soaped up a few windows but did no real damage.

Every provincial police car was on the road Tuesday night in case there should be serious trouble. But apart from routine patrols the full staff found it a dull night.

One reason advanced for the good behaviour of children and teen agers is the large number of concerts and funfests organized by municipalities to keep the would-be mischief makers off the street.

Boy Drinks Coal Oil Revived At Doctor's

WARKWORTH, Nov. 1—(ENS)—George Beatty, 19-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Beatty, RR 1, Warkworth, nearly died when he drank coal-oil out of a five gallon can. His parents kept his arms and legs moving and took him to a doctor in Warkworth.

The boy was revived at the doctor's office.

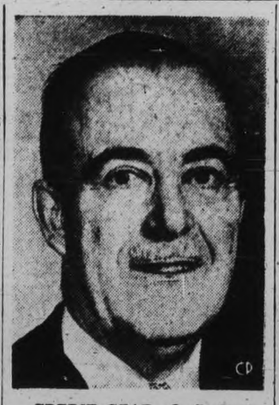
Kinsmen Hear Dutch Speaker

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 1 — (ENS).—A large number of Kinsmen and guests gathered at the Trent House on Monday night, to hear a talk on a recent trip to Holland, given by guest speaker E. J. Wilmink. The guest was introduced by Kinsman Gordon Walroth.

Mr. Wilmink was born in Holland and has resided in Campbellford for 19 years, being employed for the past quarter century by the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario. He returned to Holland at the request of his elderly father, who had not seen his son since he left his native land 28 years ago. He said his trip to Amsterdam from Malton Airport took only 15½ hours on a Dutch Air Lines craft

Mr. Wilmink described Holland as a land of flowers and told how Rotterdam had been damaged by bombs and of some of the bitter experiences of the Dutch during the war years. The German Army was well behaved generally during the occupation, but the S. S. Troops were treacherous, and took Mr. Wilmink's brother as one of their victims. He was executed for leading underground activities.



Mr. Wilmink visited many places of interest during his stay including the large tower of Utrecht. He said it was a strange experience to meet some of his closest relatives when he arrived at the airport, and hardly recognized some of them after the span of 28 years. He praised the Dutch for their highways and schools, but said he felt on his return to Montreal that Canada was his home.

President Ron. Hazell thanked the speaker.

An initiation ceremony will take place this week at the home of the president when the following will be admitted to the club as full-fledged members: Dante Pace, Doug. Gibson, Bob Cage, Borden Robertson, Jack Tinney and Bruce Grills.

Kinsman Forrest Dennis presented Kinsman Lyle Barry with an engraved cigarette lighter on behalf of the club members, on the occasion of Lyle's move to St. Catharines to manage a shoe store there.

In response to a request the Club voted $10 to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind campaign. Plans for the shell-out party for children were completed and the meeting was brought to a close.

CREDIT CZAR—J. G. Bertrand, Brandon, Man., native and a former employee of the Prices Board, has been appointed administrator of the newly-imposed curbs on consumer credit and "easy payment" plans. The new controls, effective Nov. 1, follow similar controls in the United States.

More Than 500 Attend Shellout

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 1 — (ENS)—A large crowd of children and adults, estimated at more than 500, packed Edgewater Park pavilion Tuesday evening to attend the huge shell-out sponsored by the Kinsmen Club of Campbellford.

Prizes were given for the most wierd, most comical, and the prettiest costumes in various age groups of both boys and girls, in addition to lucky spot prizes.

Just about every type of costume imaginable was to be seen in the throngs of children who scampered and marched around the hall.

After the judging, the children were treated to a movie, and treats.

Kinsman Forrest Dennis was master of ceremonies for the affair, assisted by other members of the club.

The club sponsors the shell-out party each year, and each year it grows bigger and bigger. The fact that Tuesday is "open night" in Campbellford, and the streets were crowded with shoppers, did not deter some of the merry-makers from leaving their mark for posterity in the form of blotches of paint, and soap-smeared windows in the business district.

No serious damage was reported up to midnight.

Olga Hedly Wins Oratory

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 1 — (ENS).—The oratorical contest for Campbellford Public and Separate Schools was held on Thursday last in the High School auditorium. It was well attended by an enthusiastic audience of friends, teachers and parents.

Olga Hedly captured first place among fourteen contestants with a well delivered and interesting address on "Florence Nightingale." She was presented with the Fraser trophy by Dr. F. G. Robertson, M.P.

Mrs. Morley Petherick, on behalf of the School Board, presented the cup for second place to Landa MacDonald, who spoke on "An Autobiography of a Dog." Kathleen Sarginson won third place with an address on "Soil Erosion," and accepted the Campbellford Town Council Cup from Reeve Ralph J. Locke. Father Moloney then presented books to each of the contestants, as a memento of their talks.

Mr. Hector McArthur presided as chairman for the evening.

Among the other speakers were (with topics bracketed): Joan Yenta (Alexander Graham Bell); Tommy Holmes (British Columbia); Donna White (Pioneer Life in Ontario); Dick Beatty (Thomas Edison); Jason Fields (Syl Apps); Bobby Pettifer (Alexander Graham Bell); Barbara Smith (Impressions of Quebec); Kathleen Brahm (Tuberculosis), Francis Hicks (Forestry); Joyce Yenta (Rubber) and Lillian Vilmas (Jack Miner aid His Birds).

A musical programme was interspersed with speeches. A number of solos were presented, both vocal and instrumental.

Mrs. A. C. Newman extended thanks on behalf of the sponsors, the Home and School Association to the chairman, judges and scrutineers.

Campbellford Council Discusses Pension

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 1 — (ENS)—All members were present at the council meeting held on Monday night, with the exception of Councillor Maier.

Permission was granted the Canadian Legion to hold a poppy tag day on Saturday, November 4.

The pension plan for town employees was explained, and the bylaw given two readings and referred to the Department of Municipal Affairs for approval. The plan embraces all town employees, and provides that they may pay the past service requirements of the pension scheme if they wish. It is optional with present employees, but will be compulsory with those employed in future.

Council adjourned after Mayor Ayrhart named the court of revision, which consists of the following: Chairman, Reeve Ralph Locke, Dep. Reeve Oscar Mason, Councillors Free, Kingston and Maybee. There were only two appeals, one of which, that of Grant Anderson, was left until next year, when if consistent with Mr. Anderson's claim, an abatement will be allowed. Mr. Claude Fairman addressed council on his assessment and the court of revision adjourned to view the property.

Army Quells Puerto Rico Rebellion

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Nov. 1 — (AP) — National Guardsmen continued to mop up resisting pockets of rebellious Nationalists today in the wake of a mounting death toll from the worst revolt in Puerto Rico's history.

Police put the number of dead at 33—23 Nationalists, nine policemen and one National Guardsman. They said 35 had been wounded in the outbreaks in 10 Puerto Rican centres.

Governor Luiz Munoz Marin said the revolt by anti-United States rebels would be cleaned up in a day or two. He termed it a "conspiracy against Democracy, helped by the Communists."

Engineer Suggests Paving As Cheaper Than Gravel

COBOURG, Nov. 1—Northumberland and Durham Counties' Council was complimented yesterday by district highway department engineer E. F. Marsten on road work accomplished this year. Increasing high costs of gravel roads should cause county road committees to consider seriously the question of low cost pavement as permanent substitutes for the expensive gravel roads, Mr. Marsten suggested.

Reeve Art Wartman, of Percy township, in his road commission report, said that the mulch pavement work done on the Coldsprings road was as good as any in Ontario. Reeve Roy Dodge, of Cobourg, complimented road superintendent Jack Jordan on the excellent surface of the road. Following was the road superintendent's report for the period ending Sept. 30.

Road Work Done

Construction work on counties roads consisted of 2½ miles adjoining the Ontario County boundary, grading, gravelling and culverts, $15,533; widening a narrow cut on Road No. 63, $1,817; Road 59, fill through a section of swamp on No. 59, $3,329; fill through a section of swamp on No. 14, $1,788; approach fill on Manvers boundary bridge, $1,219 between Manvers and Ops townships; creek diversion No. 60, $1,358, also elimination of sharp corner; grading, etc., on Road No. 58, $5,042; work on No. 34, $3,241; ditching and granular base on No. 10, $2,050; No. 9, Hamilton township, gravel surfacing, $1,417; No. 18, 2.4 miles mixed mulch, $12,226; Road 18, Gore's Landing, completion of 1949 construction, $597; Road No. 22, grading, etc., $3,536; Road 61, construction, $592; new construction on No. 61, $692; Road 62, grading, etc., $3,803.

Colborne village, construction, $6,922; No. 25, construction, $7,182; Brighton urban improvement, $187 (work just started); Road 64 at Prince Edward county boundary, $754; Road 64, $611; Road 38, $1,847 (now taken over by Trenton Suburban); Road 39, construction, $1,040; Roads Nos. 1, 10 and 18, $9,811; culverts in various locations, $5,293. Total constructio nto end of September, $93,658.

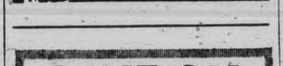
Expeditures on the counties roa dsystem to the end of September amounted to $264,117.92. This was made up by non-subsidy items amounting to $2,443.20; maintenance, $149,995.90; miscellaneous, $14,804.76; construction, $93,658.72; new machinery, $13,-064.78. On the Trenton Suburban Road Commission the amount spent to September 30 was $10,417.

The Road Commission report recommended for the consideration of next year's council, construction of two miles of road east of Castleton; Connor's Hill, Bowmanville, Port Hope and Brighton mileage as per agreement. The Road Commission recommended seven miles of pavement for 1951. Bridge extensions were proposed for Manvers, Haldimand, Murray and Hope townships. Purchase of $20,000 worth of new machinery (including trucks) was recommended.

The Board of Management listed improvements which had been made at the Counties Home this year and recommended a $150 yearly increase for the superintendent and matron.

Michael Sullivan

The funeral service for Michael Sullivan, who died Saturday, was held Tuesday from the residence of his nephew, Joseph Sullivan, Lot 2, Concession 11, Otonabee township, to the Lady of Assumption Church, Otonabee, where requiem mass was said by the Rev. W C. McCarney, at 10 a.m.



The pallbearers were Vincent Leahy, Joseph Corkery, Frank Fitzgerald, Peter Ross, Frank Lynch and Carl Maloney. Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery. Graveside prayers were said by the Rev. McCarney.

Our Tax Rate And Public Spending

The figures stare bleakly from the news page: a possible 1951 tax rate of 52½ mills; another series of money by-laws requiring public approval; debentures for one million, 185 thousand dollars. We shall have extended comment to make on some of these matters later, but now our purpose is to warn against a first plunge into despair.

• • •

The old days of a tax rate of 25 mills and public works totalling a few tens of thousands each year are gone, for Peterborough and every other place in Canada. It is the price of growth of the city and the entire country. It is also the price of the increased services needed and required by the people.

• • •

Who is it wanting better, bigger hospitals, able to give the best medical care the nation knows of and to provide immediate accommodation for who are ailing? Who is it who wants new sewers, drains, the cleansing of Little Lake, a more efficient sewage disposal plant? Who wants the new schools, convenient to pupils and giving them the best nurture possible? Who is it who has the thousands of cars for which paved streets are thought necessary traffic conveniences? Who wants a more efficient and handsome City Hall suitable to the stature of the community? Who is it requiring a civic arena, an extension to the fire hall? It is the people of this city. They have become more numerous and exacting. It is they who have demanded these expenditures. Whatever Councillors had been occupying the aldermanic seats, whatever the members of the Board of Education, the Hospital Board and the Utilities Commission during the last five years, they would have been required to provide—and spend—as the Councils and Boards have spent. It is not this year's Council which is imposing the 52.5 mill rate. It is the citizens, the ratepayers who have voted on all the major propects, and the age in which we live.

• • •

This year is a turning point in Peterborough's history. It looks back on a century of building; it now looks forward to a century of consolidation. The removal of the city offices from the old building with its Victorian fire places to the new with its modern face is a symbol of the turn in Peterborough's century. The buildings and public works now in progress are to equip Peterborough to meet its new century adequately. And still and all, Peterborough's financial back shows no signs of breaking. It is a bigger back and bears its burdens well.

Dogmatic Announcement

The proclamation in Rome today of the new Roman Catholic dogma of the bodily assumption of the Virgin Mary is unlikely to occasion the bitterness and schisms within and without the Roman Church which were caused by the last new article of faith promulgated, the infallibility of the Pope, proclaimed in 1870. The Church of England and Protestant churches elsewhere have deplored the new dogma as being further divisive of Christendom, but there have been no strong Roman Catholic voices raised against the advisability of proclaiming as required dogma that the Virgin Mary was bodily taken into Heaven at the time of her death. No great Roman churchman has protested as did Von Doellinger in 1871, who when called on by the Archbishop of Munich to submit to the doctrine of papal infallibility, replied: "As a Christian, as a theologian, as an historian, and as a citizen, I cannot accept this doctrine".

Millions of tourists have already been attracted to Rome by this 'Holy Year'. The culminating event, attended by a colourful host of princes of the Church, archbishops and bishops is today's ceremony of proclaiming a dogma based less on scripture and history than on pious belief and late apostolic conjecture. This dogma is exclusively put upon the credence of the world's 400,000,000 Roman Catholics on pain of their eternal damnation.

There have been none of the rumblings which occurred when Pope Pious IX defined papal infallibility in 1870 at the Vatican Council. The matter has long been under consideration; as a matter of fact, it was on the agenda of the same Vatican Council at which the Pope's infallibility was decreed, which adjourned prematurely after the one proclamation. There is no Vatican Council sitting now, but the dogma of the Assumption of the Virgin Mary has been impending for several recent years, so that there has been time for opposition to it to be made known. The doctrine of papal infallibility roused public controversy long before its proclamation. The opposition was led by Cardinals Rauscher and Schwarzenberg, Bishop Hefele of Rotterdam and Doellinger and Cardinal Mathieu, Monsignor Dupanloup and Monsignor Maret of France. But when the dogma was proclaimed most of the cardinals, archbishops and bishops who had opposed it, submitted. Some did not, and a considerable group, particularly in Germany, formed a Catholic sect of their own, called the Old Catholics. This church still exists.

There are not the reasons for opposition in 1950 that there were in 1870. The Roman Church has become more securely authoritarian since the acceptance of the doctrine of papal infallibility in 1870. It has become more Marian since the acceptance of the dogma of the Immaculate Conception in 1854. And political and national rivalries which played a part in the 1869-71 controversies are less strongly concerned with ecclesiastical matters now. When the Archbishop of Munich excommunicated Doellinger in 1871, forthwith the University of Munich almost unanimously elected him Rector-Magnificus, and Edinburgh, Oxford, Marburg and Vienna universities conferred on him honorary doctorates. Ultramontanism is no longer a vivid issue in the Roman Church, and the absolute authority of the Pope is accepted. No great Roman churchman who spoke up against the new dogma would be honoured as was Doellinger in his day.

A Simple Safety Device

An accident described by a passer-by as "grim" happened near Pickering on October 29. Two young men ran into the back of a truck, the engine of their car ploughed under the truck's tailboard, and they were killed at once—virtually by having their heads knocked off. Though accidents of this kind are not common, they happen from time to time, for many trucks have bodies which project several feet beyond the back axle. There is always danger that in an emergency the engine of a car will be forced under a truck, with some such result as that in the Pickering accident.

Would it not be wise to make a provincial regulation that all trucks with projecting bodies should have two steel bars, running from the tailboard to the back axle, or to the underpinning of the car? Then it would be impossible for another car to be jammed under the tailboard. Such a device would not be cumbersome or expensive, and it would remove a present risk.

While on this subject, we feel also that the regulations about loads which project from the back of a truck should be reconsidered. Such loads are usually steel or iron rails, and long pieces of lumber. If we understand the present regulation, such loads must be marked with a flag, to catch the eye of traffic approaching the loaded truck from the rear. But some of the flags in use are dirty rags, which it is not easy to see. A motorist forced by traffic to close in quickly behind such a loaded truck might involve himself in a very serious accident.

It is not enough to say that people should take care not to run under the tailboards of trucks, and that they should keep their eyes open for projecting loads. Every precaution must be taken to make motor traffic as safe as possible, and we feel that the attachment which we suggest for trucks, and some reconsideration of projecting loads, would be of great help. When a safety device is needed at all, it is needed badly, and if the truck at Pickering had been fitted as we propose two young men would be alive, if perhaps rather shaken, today.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Wild Geese have been seen flying north. Put up to it by the Russians, doubtless, who want to confuse us.

A farmer has denied in court that he tried to drive his wife insane. The Windsor Star bitterly remarks that in a lot of cases that isn't a drive—it's a short putt.

That Wisconsin preacher who ran away with a teen-ager has been reunited with his wife, who has forgiven him. Very nice for him. But what about that teen-ager? She, we presume, has just a fragrant memory for her cabinet of dreams.

Dr. Brock Chisholm say that the atomic bomb is obsolete and that bacteriological warfare is the coming thing. Yes, but when you start a plague, how do you confine it to enemy territory? And as the Brantford Expositor points out, most of the last war was fought with obsolete weapons.

ON THE MARGIN:

The Delights Of Disproof

POPULAR FALLACIES, by A. S. E. Ackermann (Old Westminster Press).

THIS is the fourth, or 1950, edition of a work which first appeared in 1909. It is, apparently, the outcome of the lifelong enthusiasm of a gentleman whose profession is that of an engineer. It is a strange and fascinating work of over 800 pages, and I have been playing with it for several weeks. Playing, I repeat, because any coherent, straight-ahead reading of such a book is beyond me. I should infallibly come down with mental indigestion. My appetite for scepticism is keen, but I cannot go on being sceptical for hours at a time. Credulity will keep breaking in. And indeed, after Mr. Ackermann has led me to doubt so many things, it is not surprising if I come to doubt the infallibility of Mr. Ackermann.

❖ ❖ ❖

"POPULAR Fallacies" is a wonderful book. It lists, systematically, about 2,200 things which a great many people believe, and then proves them to be wrong. Some of the fallacies are quite simple, as for instance the belief that red flannel is warmer than white flannel; I have never met anyone silly enough to believe such a thing, but I suppose that such people exist. Other fallacies are fallacies of my own, such as my belief that Sir Walter Raleigh introduced the potato to England; it seems that the ordinary potato was known in Europe quite a long time before Raleigh, and that what he took home from the New World was what we now call the sweet potato. And some of the fallacies have certainly never been fallacies of mine, such as the belief that 'To lag the cylinder of an engine with its own exhaust steam, at a pressure of one or two pounds per sq. inch by gauge, is better than using dry lagging such as cow-hair felt and planished steel"; these are realms in which my brain has never moved, and in which all my beliefs are likely to be fallacious. But Mr. Ackermann takes the whole of knowledge for his domain. He can disprove practically anything.

❖ ❖ ❖

THERE are realms where he strays into error—or perhaps it would be wiser to say that he occasionally tries to disprove matters which are impossible of final proof or disproof. He asserts, on the authority of a book published in 1881, that there never was a Golden Age. But anthropology has not stood still since 1881, and it is now the belief of some first-rate historians that the Golden Age—the First Civilizaiton of a horticultural and possibly vegetarian people, before the coming of the herd-tending and meat-eating people—was a proto- and pre-historical reality. But if Mr. Ackermann occasionally gets out of his depth, and seems at times to revel too uproariously in the delights of scepticism, we owe him a great debt none the less.

❖ ❖ ❖

CONSIDER, for instance, his sharp treatment of the legend of Lady Godiva of Coventry; he blows it away with some excellent references and research. Personally I am glad of this, because it has always appeared to me to be a particularly silly legend (a) because I do not believe that a woman with enough spirit to ride naked through a town would care whether anybody stared or not, (b) because it is intrinsically unlikely that any taxing officer would make such a bargain with his wife—is there a civil servant in Ottawa who would lower the Income Tax one cent if all his female relations rode naked from Newfoundland to B.C.? and (c) because there is a Victorian, smarmy tone about the whole thing which seriously injuries its historical probability.

❖ ❖ ❖

THIS is a book to be browsed in, consulted from time to time, and cherished. It is a curious and pleasing addition to any library. It is a monument to scepticism, and intelligent scepticism is a handy weapon in anybody's intellectual armoury. And it is sometimes valuable to reflect that virtually everything that "everybody knows" is bound to be wrong.

A GAME FOR EMPIRES, by Pearl Frye (McClelland and Stewart).

THIS book, which costs four dollars and has 467 pages, covers five of the most glorious years in the life of the great English sea hero Horatio Nelson. It begins at the time when Nelson, an embittered, prematurely aged and white-haired naval captain residing with his wife and stepson in almost complete obscurity in a small Norfolk town, is recalled to duty and reinstated in the favour of his country by being granted a ship to command. The story, told in novel form, is historically accurate so far as battles and dates are concerned and follows this phase of his life through the misery of small defeats, the agony of his many wounds ("An eye at Calvi, a belly at St. Vincent, an arm at Santa Cruz and now my head") to the great triumph of the Nile. The author has had access to the private letters and papers of Lord Nelson and from them she has created her character of the hero; she managed most capably to make a man from the myth, and oh, how much kinder to have left it alone. For the glorious golden legend becomes a sermonizing, bitter, battle-crazy despot. The man who rose from his bed after months of agony (whilst surgeons were trying to wrench free the nerve they had sutured from his missing arm to his shoulder) and cried on hearing of another's victory "I would have given this other arm to have been there" is not the gentle legend of the school room who, dying, said "Kiss me Hardy". From this book one would surmise that if Napoleon, Nelson's hated enemy, was in truth a bloated midget with a blood-glazed brain of genius, then Nelson himself was a shrimp with the same. Timid one moment and autocratic the next, this parson's son who became a naval tradition was certainly better-looking in the flattering reticence of the history books, or in the romances built on his love affair with Emma Hamilton; even on his column in Trafalgar Square, London, he is seen in a kinder light than in "Game for Empires". In spite of the detail given to the battle scenes and the colourful descriptions given to the every day life in that time, the book is very dry reading, the characters themselves seem thin and wan, so pedantic in their attitudes toward each other and to life in general that one is unable to find much sympathy for them. The author has shown great respect for detail and truth, perhaps too much, for who can find interest or sympathy for a small thin man with a red nose, a cold, a cough and a permanent grudge?

Letters To The Editor

PHILADELPHIA DECLINED PICTURES

Sir: In an article entitled "The Age of Taste" in Harper's Monthly Centennial Issue (October 1950), there is a story about J. J. Jarves arriving back from overseas in the 1850s with $66,000 worth of old masters, which he offered to both Boston and New York for $25,000 in order that an art museum might be started; both cities declined with no thanks. Thomas Bryan offered his collection of 250 Spanish, Flemish, French and German paintings to Philadelphia to start an art museum there, and Mr. Jarves reported "His offer was declined. These rare old pictures were looked upon by the city fathers as unworthy of houseroom." As soon as I read this, I thought of the Wallis sculptures and the city fathers of Peterborough! Are we in the primitive condition culturally that Philadelphia was a century ago?

Yours truly,

H.P.

DON'T DIVIDE MARKET

Sir: I would like to make a brief beef about our market situation. For years there has always been a market place where the farmer could sell his produce and where people could buy as they wished. That has been the practice all over. Now why should our City Council try to separate this market? I personally know a good many people who object to this change. They believe in moving everything together when that time comes.

Some cities have a market every day. We in Peterborough have one every Saturday. So why take that privilege away from the people? If a person wants to buy a dozen of eggs upstairs in the market he surely does not want to go down to Rink and George to get a bag of potatoes. He wants everything convenient. If they are going to move the market, move it all. To my recollection and others when the people voted to sell the market building, there was to be some provision for the market and they did not vote with the intention that the market was going to be separated. The farmer spends a lot of money in Peterborough. This is an agricultural district. All this talk about working together, the city people and the farmer, can be settled by leaving the market where it is, till such time that the city can build a new market. And with all the building projects that the city has been going through lately, I don't see how we can build a new market for a while. So leave it where it is, or take a vote on it. Then the people can have a good say on what they want. As far as the parking meters go we could still have them on the market. In fact they could be put in stalls shaped for the accommodation of the farmers and the motoring public.

Yours for a better understanding for city and farmer,

THOMAS CUPOLIO.

FAVOUR SUNDAY SPORTS

Sir: It appears the Examiner would like to stir up a little correspondence on the subject of Sunday sports in Peterborough.

This is one time I don't see eye to eye with our fair newspaper, for, I'm in favour of Sunday sports in our city—plus theatres, dances, bowling etc. Since none of these are crimes during the week; why look on them as such on Sundays? We fight wars on Sundays without any howls of protest, could it be they're considered essentials, necessities or such?

True, Ottawa has its Hull for those who want commercial entertainment on Sundays and Peterborough has its Toronto. One is just across a river from the other, while Toronto is 90 miles by road and 75 by rail and next to no train service on Sundays, so, that leaves sleeping in (ever try it with three lively youngsters around the house?). Going to church, sit in the parks (exciting!!). Walk in the woods (a fine postman's holiday!) or swim, but not in Little Lake or the lower stretch of the Otonabee . . . Verboten!! Sounds like Sleep Hollow, Ontario.

There are those who will argue that Sunday entertainments would mean people working on Sundays. Not at all, for lots of folks would take those jobs on as spare time work. Our ball team played ball this summer in Toronto on Sundays, so why not let them play here where we can see them?

Let's have legalized state run lotteries as well, we may as well put our money into hospitals here where we may enter them as over in Eire where we can't.

Let's drop the Victorian outlook in regard to Sundays, Peterborough is dead enough six days of the week, why bury it on the seventh?

Thanking you,

Yours,

N. J. THOMAS.

Furthermore Elihu answered and said, Hear my words, O ye wise men; and give ear unto me, ye that have knowledge. For the ear trieth words, as the mouth tasteth meat.

Let us choose to us judgement: let us know among ourselves what is good. For Job hath said, I am righteous: and God hath taken away my judgement. . . . Therefore hearken unto me, ye men of understanding: far be it from God, that he should do wickedness; and from the Almighty, that he should commit iniquity.

The Price Of Bricks

(Fort William Times-Journal)

A curious story, illustrating the change in the value of the dollar over the years, was published in the Vancouver newspapers this week. It told about the Clayburn Brick Company's need for bricks.

The Clayburn plant was burned out, and to replace the structure the company needed bricks. After shopping around, executives decided to buy old bricks salvaged from the old Hotel Vancouver which was pulled down a short time ago.

Now it so happened that the Clayburn company sold the brick for the construction of the hotel early in the century.

In buying the old bricks which had served their purpose for nearly 50 years, the Clayburn people paid twice as much for them as the hotel people paid for them when bought new.

Plumper Sausage Excites British Gourmets

LONDON, Nov. 1 — (CP). — The promise of a plumper, pre-war sausage next week has stirred visions of old-world ecstasies among Britain's few remaining gourmets.

Food Minister Maurice Webb, faithful to a promise that he would do or die in the quest for a tastier sausage, announced that an improved product will go on sale.

The meat content will go up from 50 to 65 per cent, the price from 1s 6d to 1s 10d—roughly up from about 20 to 25 cents. The remaining 35 per cent is made up of rusks. Of the meat content, four-fifths must be pork. Nobody seems to know where the other one-fifth comes in.

Webb proudly said the new bangers — as the Cockneys call sausages — will be nearly as good as the half-forgotten creation Britons ate in 1939. He hoped it would justify the statement he made to reporters last winter when newly installed as Food Minister:

"I am fascinated by the sausage. If I cannot improve what we have now, I shall consider I have failed in my job."

Get Preview

The press, first as usual to get in on a good thing, tasted the Webb sausage at a cocktail party. The critics agreed that the flavor is improving, but that there is still a long way to go. The man who writes the humorous editorials for the Times could not quite make up his mind.

"Shall we," he mused, "still like it best when its skin has taken on a beautiful blackness, with a little pink bud peeking through the crack?

"Will it taste most distinctively divine at a long, lazy Sunday breakfast, or a luncheon, while reposing, like a rare jewel on white velvet, on its cushion of mashed"

The Daily Express, unworried by such tender speculations, decided that although more pork goes into each sausage, there won't be any more sausages available because the over-all supplies of pork won't be increased.

Shamelessly, it urged Webb to "go the whole hog" and provide all the pork needed.

The National Gallery has custody, but so far no one knows what to do with them. It is expected they will go into storage in Ottawa in hopes they may fit into the National Capital plan.

Canadian Warship Pays Tribute To Sister-Ship, Dead Off France

ABOARD THE CANADIAN DESTROYER HURON, Nov. 1 (CP)—This Canadian warship, on a fall training cruise with other Canadian naval vessels, paid tribute to a sunken sister-ship and her dead in a quiet ceremony off the French coast.

Detached from the rest of the training squadron, en route from Cherbourg to Lisbon, the Huron steered a course to the spot in the English Channel where the Canadian destroyer Athabaskan was sunk by a German torpedo in 1944.

There, the Huron's officers and men paid tribute to the 129 fellow-Canadians who went down with the Athabaskan.

As the Huron came to a halt within sight of the French coastal village of Ile de Vierge, the Huron's men were called to attention on deck, a bos'n's call sounded the "still" and the Huron's ensign was lowered to half mast.

One member of the Huron's crew—PO. William Topping of Elgin, Ont.—had been serving with the Athabaskan's sister-ship, the Haida, and helped to rescue the 44 men who survived the torpedoing.

Another member, CPO. Robert Williamson of Pictou, N.S., had been serving in the Huron, which missed the action only because she had to remain in port through damage suffered the previous night.

As Chaplain Gower Stone of Halifax conducted a committal service, Cmdr. Madgwick, CPO. Williamson and PO. Topping carried a wreath to the Huron's side and dropped it on the sea.

Hotelman Loses $26,000 In $200,000 Jackpot Racket

MONTREAL, Nov. 1—(CP)—Provincial police Tuesday described a fantastic confidence deal in which a Laurentian hotelkeeper lost $26,000 in a card game while shooting for a $200,000 jackpot.

Armand Boyer, a Ste. Agathe hotel owner, told police he was so sure he would win the $200,000 that he paid $26,000 to get into the game proposed by the two men who had offered to buy his hotel last August. He went so far as to allow one of the men to play his hand on which depended the $200,000.

Police said they arrested Emile Provencal, 47, on charges of extortion and false pretences. The other "friend" is still being sought by police.

Deputy Director Hilaire Beauregard said last August Boyer was approached by Provencal, who described himself as the representative of an American hotel trust. He wanted to buy Boyer's hotel. Price was no object.

Boyer agreed and Provencal wired a second man, whom he described as the president of the hotel trust, to close the deal. After the "president" arrived at Ste. Agathe, he said they would all have to go to Saratoga Springs, N.Y., to complete the deal with the company's secertary-treasurer. There the threesome played a game of cards while awaiting the company's secretary-treasurwas away for a few days.

Boyer paid $26,000 by cheque to get into the game and promptly ran his luck up to $100,000, but he didn't collect. His pals suggested that he should shoot for double or nothing. But first they wanted to cash the $26,00 cheque. When they couldn't cash it at Saratoga Springs they sent Boyer back to get the money from Canada. Boyer said he drew the money out of the bank, stuffed it into the tires of his car and returned to his friends.

He turned over the money and then got ready for the big jackpot. He agreed to let Provencal play his hand—which was a losing one.

Minus his $26,000 Boyer returned to his hotel and after some brooding decided to discuss his experience with the police. At Provincial police headquarters he recognized a rogue's gallery picture of Provencal, who was pickde up by police.

Dutchmen Dump St. Mike's 5-3 In Overtime Game

By The Canadian Press.

The Ontario Hockey Association underdogs turned on the league-leaders with a vengeance Tuesday night.

In both junior A and major competition, the league-leading clubs were dumped by teams from well down in the league standings.

In the major series, the shuffle left the four-team circuit in a four-way deadlock as Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen dumped Toronto St. Michael's 5-3 in overtime and Hamilton Tigers blanked Toronto Marlboros 2-0.

In the junior group, St. Michael's won their first game of the year by beating second-place Barrie Flyers 5-3 and Marlboros moved into a sixth-place tie by swamping the first-place Galt Black Hawks 9-3. Guelph Biltmores shut out St. Catharines Teepees 4-0 to go into fourth place.

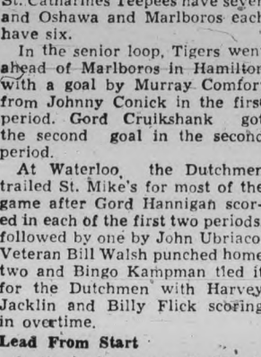
In First Place

The junior games left Galt still in first place, a point ahead of Barrie. Stratford is a point behind and a single point ahead of Guelph which has eight points. St. Catharines Teepees have seven and Oshawa and Marlboros each have six.

In the senior loop, Tigers went ahead of Marlboros in Hamilton with a goal by Murray Comfort from Johnny Conick in the first period. Gord Cruikshank got the second goal in the second period.

At Waterloo, the Dutchmen trailed St. Mike's for most of the game after Gord Hannigan scored in each of the first two periods, followed by one by John Ubriaco. Veteran Bill Walsh punched home two and Bingo Kampman tied it for the Dutchmen with Harvey Jacklin and Billy Flick scoring in overtime.

Lead From Start



In the junior games, St. Mike's led Barrie right from the first period when Joe Ingoldsby scored the first of his two goals, Bill Lee, Bill Dineen and MacDonald adding singles. In a furious last-period drive, Leo Labine, Jerry Toppazzini and Real Chevrefils scored for Barrie.

The game was the opener of a Toronto twin-bill. In the second game, Marlboros held Galt scoreless until early in the third period of the free-scoring wide-open game. Ron Stewart scored one and helped on three more for Marlboros with Bill McFarland and Maxwell each adding a pair. Chuck Lumsden, Bob Cooper, Earl Balfour and Hurst got the others. Len Cooke scored twice and Bob Carruthers one each for the Black Hawks.

The Guelph game was the first shut-out of the year for Biltmores' Cliff Hurst. The referees handed out 25 penalties, 13 to St. Catharines, in the rough game.

Andy Bathgate notched two counters for Guelph and Harry Howell and Chuck Henderson scored singles.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Most football teams take their own drinking water when they hit the road, but Oklahoma's Sooners go 'em one better. They take along their own air.

And the Sooners will have along an extra large quantity when they risk football's longest winning streak—26 victories — against Colorado Saturday in Mile-high Boulder, Colo.

Somewhat dazed by conflicting suggestions from well-meaning fans on the best ways to combat the altitude, coach Bud Wilkinson disclosed that tanks of oxygen are standard equipment for his club.

Here are a few of the suggestions which have poured in from followers in recent days:

Make all players wear nose guards because they'll bleed to death if they get hit in the nose.

Bring the team in at the last minute so the players will have good old Oklahoma air still in their lungs.

Take the team to Colorado a week ahead of time so they can become accustomed to the climate.

Bring along iron lungs that they can crawl into to recuperate after long runs.

However, Wilkinson feels there will not be enough difference in the climate to bother his team.

"I think it's all psychological," he said. "Our main job right now is to convince the boys they can breathe just as well in Colorado as in Oklahoma."

Ben Hogan, 1950's gallant comebacker, was voted the PGA's "golfer of the year" Tuesday.

Hogan was named 112 times in overwhelming support by 173 sports writers and radio sportscasters voting in the third annual Professional Golfers Association poll. Sam Snead, the 1949 award winner, was second, 43 votes behind the little Texan.

Hogan and Snead were far ahead of any other candidates. Ballots also were cast for Lloyd Mangrum, Jim Ferrier, Jimmy Demaret, Jack Burke, Jr., Dick Metz, Henry Ransom and Chandler Harper.

Hogan's comeback from a near-fatal auto accident captured the golfing public fancy as nothing had done since Bobby Jones' grand slam.

The University of Toronto's battered Blues may be sporting a new quarterback when they take on McGill University Redmen in Montreal Saturday.

Norm West, coach of Varsity's intermediate football team, has been persuaded to come out of retirement for the McGill game. A better-than-average halfback last year, he quit playing this year to coach the intermediates while attending the Ontario College of Education.

The suggestion that the Kitchener-Waterloo branch of the Canadian Legion sell its Senior Intercounty Baseball League franchise was advanced at a general meeting last night.

The meeting however voted to defer action on the recommendation until Nov. 30.

The Kitchener entry in the league operated at a loss this season.

Lindsay Ties PCVS Boys In Junior Go

With nothing to win or lose, Lindsay Collegiate fought back furiously in Lindsay to tie Alex Londry's junior Garnet and Greys from PCVS 11-all Tuesday afternoon in Lindsay.

This win gave the PCI'ers a record of three wins and a tie in the lakeshore junior "A" schedule and the right to enter the all-junior lakeshore sudden-death game Saturday against the victory of the Whitby High-St. Peter's series. Lindsay finished in last place in the three-team league with two ties and two losses while Oshawa Collegiate had a win, a tie and two losses for second.

A series of fumbles in the first quarter stopped PCVS marches up the field twice. Lindsay failed to take advantage and after a half-hour PCVS went up on an unconverted touchdown. They started the second with another converted major. A last-half drive paid off in the form of two touches, one converted and one not, to tie the score for the small LCI.

Stewart Ousted

Immediately after the first Lindsay score, PCVS received a knockout blow. Key man Bill Stewart, the quarter, was sent from the game for punching the tackler on the kickoff. A 25-yard penalty also was handed out to force the PCI'ers to start the fourth quarter on their 10-yard line.

Spencer Hope kicked to centre where the ball was fumbled and recovered by Ron McIlwain. On the next play Lindsay recovered a PCVS fumble on their own 45. Plunges by Maurice Pennock and Ab McLean and passing of Joe Richardson carried the ball to the PCVS three-yard line. There Joe Richardson went over on a sneak play. Lindsay's Graham attempted a drop-kick for the extra point but it was blocked and the score remained tied at 11-all.

Lindsay's first score ended a third-quarter march from the Lindsay 46. Pennock, McLean and Richardson were the main ball carriers to the line where Richardson short-passed for the score. Wally Moore, the receiver, plucked the ball from the air inches off the ground. Graham drop-kicked the extra.

In the long first quarter, the junior Garnet and Greys' first TD was scored by Murray Grafstein through right end. He had previously placed the ball in close on an 18-yard plunge. Dave Langhorne drop-kicked the extra.

In the same period a 30-yard pass to Grafstein from Bill Stewart started the second scoring play on its way. Spencer Hope and Dave Langhorne, along with Grafstein, plunged to the Lindsay eight. There PCVS bogged down and Lindsay took over. They made eight yards but were penalized 10 for holding. On the next play Larry Forbes, a PCVS lineman, recovered a fumble and went across for the score.

Norm Hayward, PCVS end, stood out along the line with his effective blocking. The line as a whole faltered on the defensive.

Lineups:

PCVS: Flying wing, Langhorne halves, Hope, Grafstein, Dunn; quarter, Stewart; centre, Russell, insides, Forbes, Outram; middles, Scriver, Huddart; outsides, Griffin, Hayward; alts., Boorman, Armstrong, Hollingsworth, Gilders. Turner, Haggart, McIlwain, Pollard, Patterson, Chevalier.

Lindsay CI: Flying wing, A. Traux; halves, R. Traux, Pennock, McLean; quarter, Richardson; centre, O'Neill; insides, Maunder, Martin; middles, Williams, Lamantia; outsides, R. Teel, Sinclair; alts., G. Teel, Blackwell, Moore, Lockwood, Trotter, Tozios, Race, Graham, Windrim.

Confederation Gets Intermediate Title

Confederation are winners of the G. N. Gordon Trophy, emblematic of the championship for the intermediate soccer league in the public schools after beating King Edward 1-0, Tuesday afternoon in King Edward Park. Trotter, Confederation, scoring a beautiful one that sailed into the far corner of the goal.

Combination was evident, in the early stages, as the forwards tested the custodians repeatedly on dangerous raids. The Confederation half backs, Brown, Jones and Druery, nullified any attempt to break through their line and kept plying the ball forward until a Ferguson-Trotter criss-cross play ended with Trotter sending the ball into the far corner of the goal. On resuming both teams indulged in smart combination to make neat tactics inside the goal area as the full backs battled to offset the heavy onslaught on goal, King Edward forced the issued for a long while to compel Confederation to go on the defensive to save their charge. In the last five minutes Confederation rallied to harass King Edward to the limit.

King Edward—J. Park, goal; R. Murduff and F. Ball, full backs; W. Rowe, J. Rose and P. Waldie, half backs; A. Beggs, J. Byers, R. Rowe, K. Dunstan and R. Stevens forwards. Subs: K. Vozelsang, R. Cuff, J. Murphy, T. Collins.

Confederation — J. Hotston, goal; G. Kimball and D. Mace, full backs; B. Druery, R. Jones and R. Brown, half backs; L. Ferguson, P. Parnell, T. Trotter, L. Walling and J. Chesney, forwards. Subs: R. Steel.

Referee—Mr. Anderson.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Queen's University has a high scholastic rating, we're told, but hockey is learned on frozen ponds and some lads start early puck semesters. The Petes the other eve dropped into Kingston and defeated Queen's 8-4 in a rough OHA senior "B" joust. Whether they can repeat or not here tonight at 8.30, we don't know. The husky University scrappers, under playing coach Carr-Harris, mixed it all the way, and they'll play it rugged at Civic Arena, we expect. But Drake Jopling is rounding a stronger Petes' squad into shape day by day, and they won't be pushovers for anyone this winter. Tonight's tussle deserves a big crowd.

* * * * * *

Frank Buckland gave us a second 1950-51 official hockey rule book the other day—someone pinched the first we got—and it has a few new rules of interest. A minor penalty is passed out now for deliberate clipping and that's defined as "any action used to prevent players from retaining possession of the puck by falling and sliding along the ice directly in the path of an opponent." We've seen that happen here fairly frequently. And anyone but a goalie who deliberately holds the puck in any manner earns a minor penalty. "In any manner", huh? Look at how many do it with skates along the boards. That'll be a toughie to enforce.

* * * * * *

Watch The Knees, Boys

There's a new one, too, on kneeing, for players using the knee to foul or injure an opponent. Otherwise, it could be a trip with the knee, same as hips, body, foot or stick. You can trip a guy in a lot of ways, even toeing the heel of his skate from behind in an innocent manner. Yeah, we used to play, too! But it looks like a lot of OHA refs are going to let the senior "B" clubs in our group start it off rough—and that's a mistake. It'll get rough enough as the season wears on and playoffs loom, but a stern clamp should be put on extra rugged play this early in the season. Or a lot of good puckists are going to be hurt.

* * * * * *

A rule we rather like concerns offsides. It allows a player propelling the puck to go over the defenders' blue line ahead of the puck, so long as he is actually carrying the rubber. Also, it says that even though an attacker precedes the puck into the attacking zone, and the disc is intercepted by a defender and is carried or passed out to the neutral zone, then the offside is ignored and play continues. The idea is that play should not be stopped when no harm is being done to the defending team. There are too many minor stops in hockey today—at times it sounds like the ref has a basketball whistle—and too many times when a stop should be made for rough play but isn't. Fans pay their money to see hockey, not fist fights. You can see them at boxing bouts.

* * * * * *

Going To Vote Upon It

OHA convener Lorne Cook of Kingston Nylons writes us that he's polling the senior "B" clubs in the groups as to their wishes re overtime games. He points out that Rule 82 has this footnote: "Branches and leagues may make their own rules regarding overtime for games under their jurisdiction." He says this question was not brought up at the organization meeting of Group 1, consequently that dispute arose here the other day when Nylons lost in overtime to the Eagles. That game will have to stand as played, we expect, since the rule calling for overtime was still in effect in this group, and will remain until the group votes to toss it out. Most clubs prefer to settle for one point on a tied game and forget overtime (until playoffs arrive) because of late finishes and long trips.

* * * * * *

Dave Wilson still has received no word from Parkdale so we imagine Orfuns will have to travel up Toronto way Saturday for the second ORFU intermediate "B" semi-final game. They had hoped to entice the Lions to stage the play-off here Friday night for a guarantee, but it looks like no sale. St. Peter's junior gridders have a playoff in Whitby today, winner of this series tackling PCVS junior "A" crew in a lakeshore final Saturday aft at the Oval; a sudden-deather. PCVS drew 11-all in Lindsay yesterday to end their schedule. The senior PCI-ers open COSSA semi-finals in Belleville this week-end, return game being here Nov. 11.

New York Show Acclaims Maritime Artist

By FRED KERNER, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (CP).—Miller Brittain, Saint John artist whose religious paintings have been given wide acclaim in Canada, has won plaudits for his recent one-man showing in New York.

The New Brunswick-born and educated painter, once called the "Breughel of Canada" because of the satirical drawings he produced, found favor with Manhattan's hard-bitten critics whose daily job demands that they see the work of thousands of artists good and bad—mostly the latter.

The Art Digest, semi-monthly "Bible" of the American art world, said Brittain is an artist of "vision and sensitivity."

". . . He achieves a harmony of color impression and strong personal expression. . . (with) paintings vital in spiritual content and often atmospheric in quality," the Digest said.

These words summed up the critical opinion — both professional and non-professional — of the hundreds of New Yorkers who came to see the Canadian's refreshing approach to modern realism. Though dealing basically in religious themes, Brittain avoids the over-religious and sentimental.

Working in egg tempera, his themes rang from deeply tragic single figures—"and God made the two great lights," "Samson"—to strikingly contrasting groups—the return of the prodigal son," "Christ stilling the waves."

Notable War Record

The 37-year-old artist turned to religious themes after returning from service with the RCAF. Prior to that he reached artistic fame for a series of satiric works of local life which cut through all classes of society.

Winner of the Distinguished Flying Cross after 37 bombing flights over Germany, Brittain was appointed a war artist after his tour of operations. Here for the first time he was able to work full time at his metier, not having to support himself—as he had done in the '30s—by working at various odd jobs ranging from inspecting pile-drivers to collecting bills.

Upon his discharge in 1946, Brittain began developing an intuitive style which he had felt growing in him during the war years. Not influenced by contemporary trends in non-objectivity, he felt his work grow from an inner conviction that manifested itself first in non-objective dauding with shapes and colors and then allowing the forms to emerge "as they will."

Beginning his paintings without a definite idea has allowed for a use of color which is striking and basically emotional rather than realistic. Rich harmonies create powerful effects and his sensitivity to color seems to create a new dimension in his works.

Most striking were his portrayals of Christ in many of the 20 canvasses shown here. Unlike the classical almost-vapid treatments of Christ, the Brittain paintings show him as a man of great strength as background to his humility, love and understanding.

Marines Lead Loop

Outboard Marines showed the way this week in the Girls' City Bowling League by taking high pinnage with a 2868 effort, including the leading single game of 1071. M. Cunningham hit top three with 700, as F. Kokesh banged out a neat 305 for single honors. M. Cunningham came closest to the blind score of 767.

Three blanks were racked up on the night's trundling. Marines whitewashed Sevenaires, Collis won 3-0 over Dickson's, and Brintons daubed the brush on Aces. Towne Togs took a 2-1 victory against the Arcos, and Cardinals won 2-1 over Curtin's.

New Suit-Yourself System Has Football Opposition Stumped

By JACK HEWINS.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Nov. 1 (AP).—Football is fun at Western Washington College, where coach C. F. Lappenbusch has come up with a "suit yourself" system that sounds impossible but has the players enthusiastic and opponents in a tizzy.

His defence acts like an offence and tries to stomp opponents into the ground. His offence never tries to run over the opposition but will trick them off balance and then saw them down.

But it works. Western's Vikings lost their season's first game to Pacific U. by one touchdown and have won six and tied one since then. And they hadn't been expected to worry anybody this year in the Evergreen Conference.

Lappenbusch is a thinker who put his philosophy into operation on the football field. It's what he calls a "straight line" philosophy and his own name for his style of play is "straight line" system.

Hit The Vertical

His team strings along with mathematicians who say a straight line is the shortest distance between two points. Blockers and ball-carriers don't "hit the hole," they "hit the vertical"—the line to the goal.

When an enemy quarterback looks over the line he sees the Western secondary defence strung out behind the centre in single file. There's wide-open space to either side and he decides he'll pass into the unguarded acreage. But when he throws, half the Vikings are over there to intercept.

Lappy tells a defence man he can't make a mistake as long as he doesn't get in the way of a teammate. Where the only rule is "get hold of the ball" a player has a lot of leeway. He lines up where he pleases.

Can't Be Outguessed

"Nobody can outguess us on defence because we never know ourselves what we're going to do," says Lappenbusch.

"We figure the ball belongs to us all the time. If the other team won't pass so we can intercept, we'll hit the ball carrier so hard he'll fumble.

"Offence? Anybody who can remember right, left and which way we're going can play offence."

Lappy carries the private-enterprise program to such an extreme that the men do their own substituting. "A player will run until his tongue's hanging out, then send himself to the bench," reports the coach. "After all, the player himself is the first to know when he's tired or hurt."

Injuries Jinx Canadien Team

By The Canadian Press.

Mid-week action in the National Hockey League finds coach Dick Irvin of Montreal Canadiens suffering from a severe case of injury blues at a most inopportune time.

Les Habitants have five regulars sidelined for their first meetings of the 1950-51 season with their traditionally-bitter rivals, Toronto Maple Leafs. The Leafs lead the league with 12 points, one more than Montreal.

The cripples in Montreal's sick bay are defencemen Butch Bouchard, Hal Laycoe and Glen Harmon, and forwards Elmer Lach and Bert Hirschfeld.

Bouchard and Herschfeld have twisted ankles, Laycoe a broken wrist, Harmon a wrenched back and Lach a cut forehead. Also a doubtful starter is Normie Dussault, who is suffering from a mouth infection.

Leafs Favorites

On the surface, such an injury list in the enemy camp seemingly makes the Leafs prohibitive favorites to win tonight's game in Toronto as well as Thursday's return engagement in Montreal.

That leaves Irvin with little cause to be cheerful. However, he'll be able to show off to Toronto fans the league's leading scorer in Maurice (The Rocket) Richard and two or three promising rookies.

Irvin reached into Canadiens' farm system for reinforcement. Bud McPherson has been called up from Cincinnati Mohawks of the American League, and Dollard St. Laurent will report from Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior League.

Doug Smith Eligible

TORONTO, Nov. 1 — (CP). — Percy Robinson, secretary of the Canadian Rugby Union, said today he had advised the Hamilton Tiger-Cats football club that veteran kicking half Doug Smith is eligible to play with them in the Big Four. Confusion arose over Smith's status because of his connection with the Dundas team in the Intermediate Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Millbrook WA Holds October Meeting

MILLBROOK, Nov. 1 (ENS)—The October meeting of the South Group W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Cliff Allan with ten members present and several visitors.

Mrs. Lawrence Winslow conducted the worship service and read an instructive pamphlet on Christian living.

A report of the amateur show showed that a satisfactory balance was realized.

Following some contests the hostess served lunch.

Bushes Block Driver's View

A charge of careless driving against Leslie Knox, Smith township, was dismissed by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC., when evidence of Provincial Police Constable David Coffey supported a key point in the defence of the accused.

The charge was laid as a result of an accident between Knox and Joseph Michael Ledeau, Selwyn, at the intersection of the Buckhorn county road and the township road of Concession 9, Smith township.

Evidence was that Ledeau was driving north on the county road. Knox was travelling west on the township road. Knox said the accident occurred when he pulled out into the county road past bushes which blocked his view of the road. The front wheels of his car had just about reached the east travelled track on the county road about two feet from the edge of the road and he stopped when he saw Ledeau's car directly in front of him and the rear of the other car seemed to swing toward his car.

Ledeau said as he was driving north about 20 or 30 feet from the concession road, he saw the Knox car. It appeared to be making a stop. But then Knox's car failed to stop and was headed for the county road. He swung to the left and put on his brakes, but collided with the Knox car.

Constable Coffey from tire marks in the gravel decided the point of impact was about six feet from the east edge of the road. He testified that bushes along the township road grew out almost to the edge of the county road.

He tried driving into the county road from the concession road and found that he had to drive onto the shoulder of the road before he could see south on the county road.

Hear News Soon

Football fans who made unsuccessful bids for Grey Cup tickets will hear the sad news within 10 days.

By then, secretary Percy Robinson of the Canadian Rugby Union said in Toronto Monday night, his top-secret group of ticket-sorters will have figured out who of the 9,000 letter writers will get the 4,125 double tickets the CRU has available for the football classic, to be played here Nov. 25.

The ticket-sorters—their identity kept secret to protect them from personal requests for tickets—are sorting through the 9,000 letters the CRU received after newspaper advertisements offered a limited number of tickets.

Big Development In Industry Official Declares

KINGSTON, Nov. 1 (CP)—A vast program of industrial development in Canada is taking place against a backdrop of "a growing awareness of . . . a need for strengthening to resist aggression," George J. McIlraith, parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe, said Tuesday night.

Mr. McIlraith, Liberal member of parliament for Ottawa West, was officiating at ceremonies opening the annual Eastern Ontario Trade Fair and fashion show in the Kingston armory. Mr. Howe had intended to open the show but heavy pressure of business "connected directly with defence preparedness" made it impossible for him to be present, Mr. McIlraith said.

Canada's national production in 1950 would exceed "the tremendous figure of $17,000,000,000," Mr. McIlraith said. And "10 per cent of that production would be used directly for defence preparedness."

Greater Co-Operation

"Only five days ago," he declared, "Canada took part in an exchange of notes with the United States which have cleared the way for greater co-operation and co-ordination on the part of our countries in the economic defence program."

Mr. McIlraith said the people of Eastern Ontario have a full part to play in Canada's economic development. "In the space of four years since the end of the war, 20 new industries have been established in this part of the country. They employ more than 1,000 persons and have an annual production of more than $7,000,000."

Apsley News

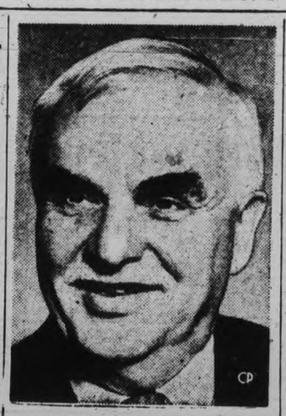
Mrs. and Mrs. W. Potts of Cobourg visited the laters cousin Mrs. Wellington Lean and Mr. Lean on Saturday.

Mr. Reg Windsor, of Fort William, called on friends here on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Houle are in Deseronto being called there by the sudden death of Mr. Houle's father while at work. The sympart of the community is extended to them.



Mrs. Hazel Moore of Peterborough spent the weekend with her sister Mrs. Herb Tucker and Mrs. N. Stephens.

A "white elephant" sale was held by the staff of Trinity United Church Sunday School in the Legion Hall. The white elephants and home-make candy found ready sale. Tea was served.

Miss Audrey Chase of Gelert spent the weekend with friends here.

Bracelet Stolen

HONG KONG, Nov. 1—(AP)—Senator Claude Pepper, Florida Democrat, reported today that a $2,300 bracelet was stolen Tuesday night from Mrs. Pepper at their hotel room. The senator and Mrs. Pepper, who are returning from a visit from the Middle East by way of the Orient, said the bracelet contained 17 sapphires, 12 diamonds and eight other stones.

NEWSPAPER MAN RETIRES —Albert H. E. (Abbie) Coo, former managing editor of the Winnipeg Free Press, retired Oct. 31 after 30 years' service with the newspaper. Mr. Coo, a native of Fort William, is widely known for his association with amateur sport. He was an official at the 1932 Olympic Games at Los Angeles and four years later managed the Canadian Olympic team at the Berlin games.

Textile Workers Granted Wage Boost

MONTREAL, Nov. 1 (CP). — The United Textile Workers of America (TLC-AFL) announced Tuesday night that an agreement has been signed covering about 300 employees of the Woods Manufacturing Company (Empire Cottons Division), Welland.

The agreement, to come into effect November 18, provides for a "package increase" of 10½ cents an hour for employees, R. Kent Rowley, Canadian director of the UTW, said in a statement.

"The new increase establishes the highest cotton wages in Canada and best conditions for any plant in the industry," said Mr. Rowley.

He said wages under the agreement will range from 88.8 cents an hour to $1.29 an hour.

Acquit Patterson Charge Of Careless Driving

Archibald Patterson, 75, North Monaghan, driver of the car which struck and killed William Simmons, Orpington Rd., at Park and Lansdowne Sts. Sept. 28 was found not guilty of a charge of careless driving by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC. in a judgment Tuesday in police court.

The magistrate commented that a pedestrian must take proper care when crossing a street even in the right place and at the right time.

Evidence was that Simmons, a 72-year-old friend of Patterson's, was walking across the intersection from the south-west corner to the north-west against a red light.

Quoting a similar case decided by Mr. Justice Middleton, Magistrate Philp said "a driver has a right to expect that a signal will be obeyed by the pedestrian."

Patterson testified seeing Simmons as he stepped from the curb and he swung to the left to avoid missing him. The magistrate suggested that if Patterson had turned instead to the right, the accident might have been avoided.

What is the Miracle of Canada?

The miracle of Canada is the reward of its thrifty people; it is a standard of living wrought by men and women who believe in spending and saving wisely. The average Canadian, for example, owns his own car and his own home. He pays his bills when due. His pattern of living is excellent.

When the pattern breaks

But unexpected emergencies do break the pattern. Usually the emergency requires more money than he has available. This can happen to anyone. Then help must come from a dependable outside service.

3 out of 4 choose Household

HFC—HOUSEHOLD FINANCE—specializes in making cash loans from $50 to $1000 to these basically thrifty people. Because HFC service is prompt, friendly, dependable, 3 out of 4 Canadian families prefer to borrow from HOUSEHOLD FINANCE. Your phone book lists office nearest you.

COPPER CLIFF, Ont. —(CP)—A fine example of co-operative effort, the new Italian Society hall just opened here is valued at about $500,000. A total of 15,000 man-hours of labor was contributed by 227 male members of the society, who also provided about three-quarters of the necessary capital.

5 Policemen Killed

MANILA, Nov. 1—(AP)—Five Philippine policemen were killed today by three captives who snatched their guns away from them as the prisoners presumably were leading the officers to a gun cache. Meanwhile, four persons were killed, a priest was kidnapped and a municipal building was set afire in a resumption of Red hukbalahap (guerrilla) raids on Luzon cities.

BATTALION'S FAREWELL — The 2nd Battalion of the famous Royal 22nd Regiment made a farewell march through Quebec City Sunday with Prime Minister St. Laurent taking the salute. The unit, part of the Canadian Army Special Service Force, isn't sure just where it's bound after Fort Lewis, Wash., next stop for the regiment.

Asks Police For Help Prisoner Captured

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 1 (CP). —When Ronald McHale, 18, asked for shelter at the Port Arthur police station Monday night, using the alias Frank Sheppard, his past quickly caught up with him.

Recognizing McHale from a police circular as wanted for escaping from Guelph Reformatory September 11, Constable Orril Wark, on night station duty, made sure he got his wish.

In Magistrate's Court here on Tuesday, McHale was remanded in custody to await an escort from the East. He was said to have been serving 22 months for Housebreaking and auto theft when he escaped from Guelph.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARTHA CARTMILL.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 1 (ENS) — The death occurred at her home in Millbrook on Monday of Martha Agnes Cartmill. Mrs. Cartmill had not been in good health for two years, and her death came suddenly on Monday. Her maiden name was Martha Agnes Kennedy. She was born in Wroxeter in northwestern Ontario, the daughter of James Kennedy and Eliza McGill.

Mrs. Cartmill had moved to Cavan township with her family as a child where she attended school. Thirty-four years ago at the time of her marriage she moved to Toronto with her husband, Robert Cartmill, who died 22 years ago. There were no children. Sixteen years ago she returned to Cavan where she has made her home ever since. She is survived by her sister, Miss Ida Kennedy of Millbrook, with whom she was living at the time of her death, and by one brother, W. S. Kennedy, also of Millbrook; six sisters, Mrs. Wm. Elmer (Mary Ann), Mrs. Wm. Thirtle, (Lizzie), Mrs. Robert Lunn (Margaret), Mrs. Emma Thirtle, Mrs. Joe Bryans (Sarah) and Bertie, at home; one brother, Thomas, predeceased her.

Mrs. Cartmill was a member of St. Andrew's United Church where she belonged to the Women's Missionary Society.

Her funeral service is being held from MacPherson's Funeral Home at 10:45 a.m. standard time on Wednesday with the Rev. A. A. Chote of St. Thomas' Anglican Church officiating.

Interment will be in Park Lawn cemetery upon arrival in Toronto. Five nephews will act as pallbearers. They are: Kenneth Thirtle, Lawrence Bryans, Norman Elmer, Vertil Kennedy and William Lunn. The sixth pallbearer will be Reginald Fallis, a close friend.

Wm. John Corrin

The funeral for William John Corrin, eight months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Corrin, 218 Lake St., who died on Sunday, was held Tuesday from the Duffus Funeral Home to Sacred Heart Church where the blessing was said by the Rev. G. F. Sullivan, at 2.30 p.m.

The pallbearers were Michael Gooley, Laverne Armitage, Joseph O'Brien, and Frank Gooley. The flower bearers were Michael Courneya, Gerard Gooley, Wayne English and Glen English.

Burial was in the Children's Plot, St. Peter's cemetery. Graveside prayers were said by the Rev. Sullivan.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 — (AP).—Mrs. Catherine D. Wentworth of Santa Barbara, Calif., has willed $4,412,322 to the Metropolitan Museum of Art here, it was revealed Tuesday in an estate tax appraisal filed here. Mrs. Wentworth died March 4, 1948. She left gross assets of $6,185,913.

Witness Missing Case Dismissed

Inability of the Provincial police to subpoena a witness in a charge of careless driving against Edward Everett, Toronto, heard in police court Monday, resulted in the charge being dismissed.

Constable Clive A. Naismith told the court Everett had been involved in an accident with Paul Dewey, Havelock, the night of August 29 on the Round Lake road in Belmont township.

He said he had arrived at the scene to find both cars on the west side of the road at the bottom of a hill some 240 feet from the crest.

He said when he located Everett at a doctor's office, he found that Everett had been drinking.

Because police had been unable to locate Dewey, the crown could present no more evidence and the charge was dismissed.

Port Arthur Mayor Reviews Oil Plans

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 1 (CP). —Mayor A. O. Robinson reviewed briefly Monday night what was the subject of widespread controversy here about a year ago—the the Imperial Oil pipeline from Alberta to Superior, Wisconsin.

He said Imperial Oil and government officials had given assurance that the oil was to be shipped in bond from Alberta to Sarnia, and would not be refined in the United States.

"But now," the Mayor said, "a plant is being built at Superior for no other purpose but to refine Canadian oil."

Marmora News

COURTESY AND SERVICE

Havelock Minister Preaches At Cavan

CAVAN, Nov. 1 (ENS).—Cavan United Church held their thankoffering services on Sunday. At the morning service the Rev. F. Vanderburg of Havelock, who had charge of the services for the day, took for his subject "Never man spoke like this man." The regular choir led in singing two anthems. Fraser Carr sang a solo and Mrs. A. Kennedy was at the organ.

In the evening Mr. Vanderburg took as his text four verses from the twelfth chapter of Hebrews. Nothing that was man-made—the atomic bomb or anything else could not have power to destroy the people of the world unless God willed it.

There were large congregations at both these services.

To Run For Board

OTTAWA, Nov. 1 (CP). — Dr. Charlotte Whitton, well-known welfare worker, firebrand speaker and writer, will run for Ottawa Board of Control in the forthcoming Ottawa civic elections on Dec. 4. If elected, the 54-year-old native of Renfrew, will be the first woman controller in capital city history.

Find Car Driven Over Centre Line

A collision between two cars on a curve of Highway 28 about two miles north of Lakefield in which both drivers claimed the other was driving over the centre line, resulted in Celestin Godin, 292 Townsend St., being fined $7 and $14.15 costs in police court Tuesday.

He was charged with failing to turn to the right to allow an oncoming car half the road.

Driver of the other car James McGregor, Apsley, testified about midnight, Sept. 2 he was travelling north on the highway. He first saw the Godin car approaching him about 500 yards away around the curve. He said he could see that Godin was on the wrong side of the highway.

As they neared each other on the curve, Godin continued to drive on the wrong side of the road, about two and a half feet clear of the white line. He said he was unable to turn to his right because of cars parked in an area in front of the Melody Inn north of the curve. He kept on his course until about 10 feet separated the cars and then "dodged" to the left, but the other car kept straight on and they collided.

Provincial Constable Archie Eady testified Godin appeared to have been drinking and smelled of intoxicants. He said he saw no skid marks from either car before the accident.

Godin testified he first saw the other car about 200 feet away straddling the white centre line. When he started into the curve, Godin said, "I cut the centre line myself."

He said he put on his brakes, his car started to swerve and he had to turn to the left to straighten out his car. He said he intended to cross in front of the other car to miss him, but didn't cut sharply enough.

Steel Production At Record Level But Not Enough

By FORBES RHUDD, Canadian Press Business Editor.

Canada will probably produce more steel this year than ever before, but it still will be less than the demand for it.

This is stated in a letter to shareholders from H. G. Hilton, president of the Steel Company of Canada, Ltd., Hamilton, accompanying the quarterly dividend payment.

Says Mr. Hilton:

"The demand for all forms of steel continued at an extremely high rate during the third quarter of the year. Barring unforeseen contingencies, it seems certain that this year's steel production in both Canada and the United States will establish new high records. (Canada last year produced 3,089,000 net tons of ingot steel.)

"Notwithstanding this, the unprecedented demands for new construction, automobiles, freight cars, and other semi-durable goods, coupled with the requirements of the expanding oil industry of Canada, considerably exceed the tonnage of steel available.

Further Pressure

"Defence orders requiring the use of iron and steel in many substantial quantities, will add still further to the pressure upon Canadian steel plants, already overtaxed through operating at a rate nearly two and one-half times the average of 1936 to 1939.

"Shortage of steel in Canada is also aggravated by inability of some Canadian consumers to obtain supplies from United States' mills upon which they have customarily depended for a portion of their needs. Imports of primary iron and steel in 1950, based upon returns for the first six months, will be nearly 700,000 ingot tons lower than in 1949, a decline of almost 50 per cent."

Insurance Payments Up

Payments to Canadian families by the 60-odd Canadian, American and British life insurance companies operating in Canada totalled more than $154,000,000 in the first eight months of the year, $17,200,000 higher than in the same period last year.

Of the total, $96,900,000 was paid to living policy-holders and $57,400,000 in death payments. The figures are from the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association.

PUZZLED PAULUSE—Pauluse, age three, Eskimo from Clyde Harbor, Hudson Bay, took a first good look at civilization (Montreal), and burst out crying. Headed for the Indian hospital at Caughnawaga, Que., where doctors hope to straighten his deformed spine, the tears ran down his cheeks as he gazed at the buildings and busy streets from the Arctic ship Rupertsland. Pauluse is shown with Nurse Mildred Steele of Beechy, Sask., who accompanied him on his trip. She later left for the west to marry an RCMP officer.

Believe Child Drowns Baby

AMOS, Que., Nov. 1 — (CP)—Provincial Police said that a two-month-old baby, Royal Gariepy, was drowned Monday when stuffed head-down into a toilet.

They said the child, whose legs bore knife marks, suffered death by immersion. The knife wounds were not serious enough to cause death.

Police believe a neighbor's five-year-old child entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irenee Gariepy when there was nobody at home, and started to cut the bagy's legs with a knife. Alarmed at the baby's cries, police say, the child stuffed the baby into the toilet.

At the time of the mishap, Mrs. Gariepy with three other children was at the post office.

Police under the direction of Lieut. Roger Gauthier, head of the Quebec Provincial Police at this North-western Quebec centre, have completed their inquiry and forwarded details to headquarters at Montreal.

The family lives at Senneterre, some 55 miles from here.

Drew Says Canada Must Be Strong

KEMPTVILLE, Nov. 1 (CP).—George Drew, Progressive Conservative Leader, in an address here on Tuesday night stressed the importance of preparing for peace by building enough strength to make would-be aggressors stop and think before plunging the world into war. The speech, similar to one given Monday night at Perth, emphasized the lessons of Korea, where "the issue was the testing of support of the free nations and their joining of hands to preserve the meaning of the United Nations."

Ask Tamblyn's

STREAMLINED: "I am a young man of 24 in business with my father. He is a fine man but old-fashioned. Definitely he will not listen to any of the new ideas I present. My disposition is suffering, indeed I am on the way to a nervous breakdown. What would you suggest? That I start in business for myself or make one last effort to convince my father?"

Wouldn't it do both you and your Dad good if you were to move out for a while? Given a rest from one another you probably would see things in a different light. Certainly, it's getting neither of you anywhere to be partners in name only with this growing antagonism.

THE BIG HOUSE: "I am an elderly widow with a large house. Both for financial reasons and for company for myself I would like to take in roomers. But here's the rub: Suppose I advertise and receive applications. How can I check on the character of the people coming into my home?"

Ask for references. People who can give you adequate references will be only too glad to find a landlady so meticulously careful.

BUDDING REPORTER: "I am an 18-year-old high school graduate and have always wanted to get into newspaper work. My family have the mistaken idea that newspaper people are fast-living people and are endeavouring to discourage me. What can I do to convince them that they are wrong?"

Point proudly to Wesley Hicks and Lillian Foster of the Telegram — to Lotta Dempsey and Bruce West of the Globe & Mail — to Gordon Sinclair and Gwen Cowley of the Daily Star and Star Weekly. Then sit back and let your folks argue with that line-up. They can't.

Queen's Scientist To Tell Alumni Of Arctic Studies

One of Canada's outstanding younger scientists and physicians, Dr. G. Malcolm Brown, associate professor of medicine at Queen's University, will speak to the Peterborough branch of the Queen's Alumni next Tuesday at the Kawartha Club. Dr. Brown, a native of Kingston and a former Rhodes Scholar, has had a distinquished career in medical practice and research.

He is MDCM of Queen's, a Doctor of Philosophy at Oxford, a member of the Royal College of Physicians, London, a Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians (Canada) and of the American College of Physicians.

For the last several summers Dr. Brown has been in charge of medical research expeditions in Canada's Arctic, sponsored jointly by universities and the federal government. He flies from Ottawa to Winnipeg in RCAF planes, and then north to the straits beyond Hudson Bay where medical depots are set up.

His talk to the city and district alumni will be based on this feature of his work and Eskimo conditions. It will be illustrated with pictures he and his associates have taken.

Long History

HALIFAX —(CP)— The Nova Scotia Lands and Forests Department was formed in 1926 but Deputy Minister G. W. Creighton told a recent meeting that the work is a lot older. The first official notice was posted in 1761, setting restrictions on use of fire in woods.

Four men members of the Peterborough Public School teaching staff have recently received their Bachelor of Arts degree from Western University. Mr. McKee is vice-principal of Queen Alexandra School; Mr. Weir is on the Queen Mary School staff; Mr. Burns vice-principal of King Edward School, and Mr. Barnard vice-principal and in charge of Grove School.

Six Public School Teachers Receive University Degrees

Public school teachers without degrees are becoming the exception to the rule, K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, stated today.

As examples, he cited the cases of six city public school teachers —five of them men—who recently received college degrees. The lone female teacher received her Master of Arts degree at Columbia University, New York.

The five men are: R. Kenneth McKee, vice-principal of Queen Alexandra School; James Weir, on the Queen Mary School staff; James Burns, vice-principal of King Edward School; Joseph Barnard, vice-principal and in charge of Grove School in the south end, and Victor Cunningham, vice-principal of Central School.

Miss Phyllis A. Moore is the lone woman. All of the men but Mr. Cunningham received their Bachelor of Arts degrees from the University of Western Ontario. Mr. Cunningham has passed his examinations, but has yet to receive officially his BA from Queen's University.

Mr. Wightman said that the tendency is "particularly noticeable" among the younger men. "If they plan on getting anywhere, they almost have to have a degree even in elementary work," he remarked.

Practically all male teachers in city public schools, he said, are working on an arts degree. The Board of Education would be more likely to accept a male teacher for a position if he showed an inclination toward getting a degree, he intimated.

Having a degree helps a man to get promotions, too, declared Mr. Wightman. "We have never said we wouldn't make a man a principal without a degree, but we would certainly prefer one who had."

With women teachers, he said, it is another matter. Far fewer of them have degrees than the male teachers, and not as many are working for them.

"There are male teachers who won't and don't, but they are the exception rather than the rule. We are pleased to have so large a group trying to improve their standings in the profession."

Group Of Nazi Officers Working Openly In Germany

By HEINZ WEISSENBERGER

HAMBURG, Nov. 1 (Reuters)—Germany's Bruderschaft, "brotherhood of former army officers and Nazi leaders," is coming more into the open as the Western occupation powers relax their grip on the country.

It has sent some of its young men to North Germany meetings to explain their aims.

They want " a Germany indepenent of East and West, a third force in strife-torn Europe, a balance between the powers and a crystallization point for European renaissance."

This appears to be a long-term aim. In the meantime, members oppose a setting-up of German military forces under any Western supreme command. They want a pure-bred German army within European defence forces and with German representation in a European general staff.

Caste Conscious

By digging deeply, one can discover a good deal about the hitherto secret bruderschaft now that it has reached the public-meeting stage.

Its leadership is a caste-conscious body of Hitler's former staff officers and high-ranking members of the dreaded SS (Elite Corps) blackshirts. It was born on the day of Germany's defeat, May 8, 1945, in a prisoner-of-war camp.

Under the shock of defeat, their first thought was to make use of their esprit de corps and their battlefield comradeship as a stabilizing factor in Germany's internal struggles.

Built Secretly

Any rallying of former soldiers was prohibited by the Allies. So the bruderschaft began to build clandestinely. Soon it spread to labor units recruited in the British zone of occupation. The heads of these units, nearly all former officers, joined with few exceptions.

The first members slowly carried their organization into the rest of Germany, including the Soviet zone.

The bruderschaft is working to create a "true elite," destined to rule by virtue of "their personality and ability." Their program is to "preserve the tradition of the German fuehrer (leader) principle until we can take the fate of our nation into our own hands again."

Its ultimate goal is the "union of European nations between the Atlantic and the Ural mountains, of which Germany—the Reich of all Germans within its ethnographical and historic boundaries —is to be an organic part."

Place Doctors On Hospital Boards

TORONTO, Nov. 1 (CP).—Dr. N. E. Berry, of Kingston, said Tuesday that medical men should be included on hospital boards, because some doctors now are inclined to think of hospitals as workshops provided for their use.

"As governors of the hospital, they would have a better appreciation of the whole problem of hospital administration," said Dr. Berry, president of the medical staff of Kingston General Hospital.

The question was aired during an Ontario Hospital Association panel discussion on "the relationship between trustees and medical staff." Others who took part were Arthur L. Davies, chairman of the Kingston General Hospital board of governors, and Fraser Armstrong, superintendent of Kingston General Hospital.

Dr. Berry said that a surgeon, concerned for the welfare of his patient, perhaps sometimes overlooks the administrative aspect of hospital management, particularly the financial side.

Mr. Davies suggested during the discussion that surgeons and physicians make a reasonable attempt to curb their demands for new equipment and facilities.

"Most of them, of course, are made in the interests of the patient, but some others appear to be only for the doctor," he said. "It could reach the point where the citizen asks, 'whom is the hospital serving, the physician or the patient?'"

Foy Returns To Prison For New Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1 (AP)—Bryan Foy was back in the stir again this week.

I hasten to add that Foy is a law-abiding man. He is also Hollywood's No. 1 expert on prisons.

Foy will make a prison picture at the drop of a hacksaw. Among those he has brought to the screen are: "Crime School," "Road Gang," "Alcatraz Island," "Murder in the Big House," "Roger Touhy, Gangster," "Blackwell's Island," and "Canon City."

When I saw the producer at his office, he was preparing to leave for Folsom, where he will make "The Folsom Story" in California's huge penitentiary. I asked him how he got the fixation for prison pictures.

"It's no fixation," he replied. "I just happen to think that prisons provide backgrounds and characters that make for exciting pictures." I might add that Foy is economy-minded and no doubt sees the advantages of using real locales instead of building sets. He also uses real prisoners as actors.

Inmate Actors

"We had 150 applications from convicts who want to be in the Folsom picture," he said. "They get the same pay as Hollywood actors. We can show their faces if they agree to it. If they don't, we show them the footage they are in. If they can recognize themselves, we remove the scene."

"The main difficulty with prison pictures," said Foy, "is getting some love interest into them. About all you can do is show women in the visitors' room."

Foy's zeal for prison yarns is illustrated by "Canon City." He began work on the picture three days after a break at the Colorado pri... Some time later an MGM producer spoke to Foy at a banquet.

"You know," said the other producer, "I was planning to make a picture about that Colorado break. So I called up Warden Roy Best and asked him about it. He said you had already been up there and had finished the picture!"

Tons Of Candy Distributed In "Shell-Out"

All is quiet this morning on the Peterborough front following a night of Hallowe'en festivities.

With the exception of chalked store windows and a few grinning pumpkins little evidence remains in the business section of the city to tell the tale of operation Hallowe'en that took place during the night.

"Shell out," was the cry in nearly every doorway in the city last night as costumed youngsters demanded candies and apples. Grinning, leering and painted faces roamed the streets and had little trouble in filling paper bags and sacks with Hallowe'en loot.

Just how well residents rose to the occasion and handed out sweets was discovered by a check with various stores this morning. One store alone reported a total sale of 70 pounds of candy kisses, 30 pounds of jelly beans and 30 pounds of gum drops. Multiply that number by the approximate 80 retail grocery store and confectioners in the city and it can be concluded that Hallowe'en 1950 was a success from the youngster's point of view.

Sales Much Larger

The majority of the merchants questioned stated that candy sales were much higher than last year.

One weary and haggard householder reported this morning that his doorbell was rung more than 50 times during the evening. However most of the youngsters called it quits about 11 p.m. and the remainder of the night was comparatively quiet.

George St. between Charlotte and Brock was the centre of attraction at 10 p.m. A short traffic jam was the result of hordes of costumed figures on the street. Cars were parked along both sides filled with people viewing the activities from the sidelines.

About this time the streets gradually emptied as the merry-makers retreated to public and private parties.

At Brock Garden

One of the biggest centres of attraction was the Brock Gardens, where a costume ball was held.

During the evening judges picked out prize winners for the best and funniest costumes.

Jack Redner, 300 London St., won the prize for the best costume. The best costumed couple prize was won by Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Markwick, 726 Victory Crescent. H. Reid, 509 George St., won the prize for the funniest costume and Jean Constable, 57½ Hunter St. and Jean Peters, 231 Ingleburn Blvd., were judged the funniest couple.

The judges were Mrs. Marian Perry Laird, Ald. Hurrell Dodds and Fred Scates. Basil Phelan was master of ceremonies.

How mean can people get?

It has been reported by an Ashburnham resident that several children who asked for Hallowe'en "shell out" on a certain street received spuds and stones in their collection bags. Too bad for these joking oldsters, say the gypped kids; they are in the frame of mind now to return the stones to ungrateful donors, through front windows.

YOUTHS REMANDED

Two youths, charged with vagrancy in Police Court today, were remanded on $500 bail when they pleaded not guilty to the charges. They were Raymond Lester, 20, of 290 Queen St., and Kenneth Moher, 16, of 295 Lake St.

2nd Murder Trial For Yuzwa Opens Monday

The trial of William Juzwa for murder, and two other criminal cases will be heard by Mr. Justice Spence at the fall assizes which open in Lindsay on Monday.

William Yuzwa of Hamilton faces his second murder trial at this sitting. Yuzwa was tried in the fall assizes last year on a charge of murdering Jack Loucks, of Lindsay. A new trial was ordered when the jury failed to agree on a verdict.

Loucks died in a midnight brawl on Kent Street while many people looked on. Yuzwa was defended by Mr. J. B. Spencer-Pitt, eminent Toronto lawyer, who is to plead Yuzwa's case at the new trial.

Three Zahodnik brothers involved in the fray, were also held on murder charges but the charges were dropped at preliminary hearings.

Motor Manslaughter

Donald Forget of Ajax faces a motor manslaughter charge following his preliminary hearing before Magistrate Gee. The third case involves a Lindsay man who faces a carnal knowledge charge.

GEORGE W. ALLEN, Toronto, well-known sales and advertising counsellor, will be the guest speaker at the quarterly dinner of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday night. He has addressed organizations in the United States and Canada on topics such as "The Pitfalls of Business," "Stepping Stones to Success" and "The Making of Friends in Business."

20 Boys, All Cripples, Visit 3 Peterborough Industries

Twenty boys from Toronto's Variety Village—all of them crippled in some way—visited Peterborough Tuesday. For some of them, it might have been only an introduction to the city they will live and work in some day. They were guests of three city industries— Western Clock, Peterborough Canoe, and Outboard Marine— and work in these three plants falls into line with much of the work the boys do at their school on the east side of Toronto.

Three of the boys were wheelchair cases, and the remainder suffered some permanent disability.

At a luncheon at the Empress Hotel, J. A. Madison, assistant principal of Variety Village, told representatives of the three companies that Variety Village represented an investment of about $400,000.

Enrolement of 27

There are classrooms at the school for woodworking, cabinetmaking, sheet and lathe metal working, watchmaking, commercial and academic work. Capacity of the dormitories at present is 24, and three day students at the school bring the total enrolment up to 27.

Mr. Madison told of his star pupil, who was graduated in watchmaking this year. The boy owns his own business, drives a car, and is thinking of getting married. This boy's legs were useless, he said, though his arms and eyes were in good shape.

He said that of the original 24 students in the school, 12 graduated, and are financially independent. "And I hope to see some of the boys here today eventually placed in Peterborough industries," he said.

Welcomed by Mayor

A civic welcome was given the boys by Mayor Max Swanston, who told them he was "proud that Variety Village had chosen Peterborough for one of their industrial trips.

"I hope some day, some of these boys will be back here with businesses of their own or working in some of our local industries."

Variety Village, sponsored by the Variety Club of Canada, has been in operation for a year now, and plans for expansion of the school cover a ten-year period in the future.

Within the next ten years, the Variety Club and other groups working with it hope to have space for 48 boys and 48 girls in the school, with classrooms and dormitories to accommodate all of them.

The boys came to Peterborough in their own bus, which has been specially fitted to hold a number of wheelchairs and which was donated to them by the Toronto Transportation Commission last week.

Since then, they have paid visits to several Toronto industries, and have come as far as Port Hope to visit a file factory there.

Council Rejects $65,000 Offer For All Hospital

An offer of $65,000 for the former Nicholls Hospital property, including the nurses' residence, from James J. Crowley, real estate broker, was not accepted by the finance committee of the council Monday.

The motion by Aldermen Young and Burrows may not show the qualifying clause "as it stands", in reference to the Crowley bid, but that phrase cropped up in the discussion. It was directed to an attached condition by Mr. Crowley, acting as an agent for some person unnamed, seeking certain assessment and tax terms beyond the authority of the council.

It was suggested that City Clerk Outram, in acknowledging the letter and reporting the recommendation of the committee, inform Mr. Crowley that the bid could not be considered "as it stands", "and also to tell him what we could consider".

Mr. Outram said he understood Mr. Crowley was acting for a doctor, and that at least part of the hospital was attractive to the bidder as being convertible into a convalescent home, with the nurses' residence being contemplated for some housing purpose.

2 Reasons Given For Finding Bylaw Invalid

Peterborough's bylaw governing hours which the city's service stations may stay open for business was ruled invalid by Magistrate R. B. Baxter, Port Hope, in a judgement given today in police court.

The decision was reached after a charge had been laid by city police against John A. Russelle in which it was alleged he sold gasoline illegally Sunday, Sept. 3 at his service station on north Water St.

In the trial which was conducted Sept. 20, T. J. Carley, KC, defending Russelle, made it clear he was attacking the validity of the bylaw.

Contrary To Earlier Decision

Magistrate Baxter, giving his decision said he realized his findings were contrary to the decision of Judge S. L. Smoke in a similar charge some time ago.

"I am going on the assumption that all arguments which were advanced on the hearing of this charge were not advanced in the hearing on the charge before the learned Magistrate (Magistrate W. R. Philp KC) and the learned Judge."

The magistrate gave two reasons for finding the bylaw invalid and "ultra vires of the Municipal Council of the city of Peterborough."

Beyond Power Of Act

He said Section 5 of the bylaw went "beyond the power given by the Factory, Shop and Office Building Act." The section reads:

"Any such shops (service stations) which have been open and have maintained complete 24-hour emergency road service for 365 consecutive days prior to the first day of April, 1948, shall be entitled to obtain a permit to remain open 24 hours a day of every day of the year so long as such shop continues to maintain a complete emergency road service."

Commenting on this, Magistrate Baxter said, "In including that section, the bylaw has, as passed by the municipal council, gone beyond the power given by the . . . act . . . For that reason I find the bylaw is ulfra vires and to be invalid."

There was nothing, commented the magistrate, in the Act "which gives the municipal council the right to regulate the closing of shops other than 'all shops within the municipality belonging to the class specified in the application'."

He continued, "In my opinion section 5 of the bylaw is discriminatory in its effect upon a person or persons who may wish to obtain a permit in the future. Under that section they could not obtain a permit. Why the municipal council included that provision, I am not certain."

Failed To Conform

His second reason for finding the bylaw invalid was that it did not conform to the wording of the petition and the enabling legislation in the Factory, Shop and Office Building Act.

Quoting from the petition which was an exhibit at the trial, the magistrate said the petition asked "the closing of the said class of shops (retail service stations) within the city of Peterborough so that such shops shall be closed and remain closed during the whole of each year on Monday to Friday both inclusive between the hours of seven o'clock in the afternoon of each such day and seven of the clock in the forenoon of the next following day, and between seven of the clock in the afternoon of Saturday and seven of the clock in the forenoon of the following Monday."

However he pointed out, the bylaw reads "On each Saturday during the whole of the year between seven of the clock in the afternoon and seven of the clock in the forenoon of the next following Monday."

Magistrate Baxter concluded with "Having found that the bylaw is invalid, the charge against the accused is dismissed."

Other similar charges against Russelle and three other service stations were adjourned one week.

John Marshall Is Inducted Hospital Association Head; Student Nurses A Liability

John Marshall, chairman of the board of governors of Peterborough Civic Hospital, was inducted Tuesday night as president of the Ontario Hospital Association. He was introduced at the main banquet of the association's annual convention by retiring president Dr. W. Douglas Piercey of Ottawa. Dr. Piercey spoke of Mr. Marshall's keen interest in hospital matters and in the association. Mr. Marshall will serve one year as president.

Superintendent of Peterborough Civic Hospital, John Hornal, was a speaker at the association's three-day convention.

Economic Liability

On Tuesday he told members of the association that student nurses are an economic liability to a hospital.

He said that only the necessity of keeping a sufficient supply of trained nurses on hand prevents some hospital boards from discontinuing nursing schools. Effectiveness of a student nurse is only 75 per cent. of the effectiveness of a graduate.

Training Stiffled

The lack of accommodation in schools of nursing is stifling training of nurses in Canada, he said, and the cost of operation of the schools at peak efficiency was not good business.

"Hospital trustees cannot therefore be blamed if they do not rush madly to provide the facilities necessary for our national needs in nurse education. They have too many problems of more pressing urgency.

"If the Provincial Government wishes to solve this problem of national need with whatever help it can get from Ottawa, it would seem that the first bottleneck to be removed is that of accommodation."

Although student nurses nominally were trained for 156 weeks, they provided the hospital with the equivalent of only 63 weeks of graduate nursing service. Holidays, classroom work and affiliated hospital service reduced the 156-week period to 82 weeks.

This period was reduced to 63 weeks because of the less efficient service given by student nurses.

Should Training Be Continued?

Only one answer could be given to the question of whether hospitals should be involved in training nurses Only in hospitals was there a sufficient concentration of clinical material for teaching purposes.

Therefore, said Mr. Hornal, nurse education must either be by the hospitals or in close proximity to them.

"Certainly it is not the responsibility of the sick who patronize hospitals maintaining schools of nursing to educate nurses for the sick in hospitals which do not, or to educate nurses for military service, veterans' hospitals, doctors' offices, or for public health," he concluded.

Miss Evelyn Morrow, member of the executive of the Peterborough Hospital Auxiliary, was re-elected to the advisory board of the hospital aids committee. Other Peterborough people present at the convention were Mrs. W. E. Fanning, Mrs. E. C. Braund, Mrs. Gordon Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pilon, and Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Marshall.

Summer's Back!

Bleak November may be just around the corner, but it's first day, today, is almost a scorcher. Weatherman Jim Harrison wiped his brow and took another look at his official recording thermometer at noon. The red stuff stood at 73, a record of some kind, he was sure. Weather synopses across the southern part of the province are the same, and deer hunters are grousing already, hoping it will end soon so that the game they hope to kill will keep. The majority of city and country people, however, are glorying in it, and hope it will last for several days. The barometer at 29.05 is falling a bit today and there may be a change.

Recruiting Unit At Armouries

For the third time since August a Canadian Army recruiting unit has moved into the Peterborough district. The unit has divided into two sections, one visiting Lindsay Tuesday, Fenelon Falls today and Bobcaygeon Thursday, and the other remaining at the local armouries for Peterborough recruits.

Two weeks ago the same unit, Capt. J. P. MacDowell, Queen's Own Rifles, recruiting officer for Eastern Ontario, and Sgt. R. F. Baker, visited Peterborough, Lakefield, Bancroft, Lindsay, Haliburton. Then they sent three prospective active force recruits to Kingston.

Once again this unit is only recruiting for the active service force. They will want single men between the ages of 17 and 29 and men between 17 and 35 with a trade, preferably single.

Only Two Bylaws For Debentures

Only two money bylaws are to be submitted to the ratepayers at the December municipal elections, and not three as reported in the Examiner's account of the bylaws passed by the council Monday.

One bylaw is for $300,000 for the completion and furnishing of Civic Hospital, and the other is for $585,000 for the proposed Collegiate Institute in the southwest end of the city.

The other financing project that was mentioned, the purchase of the site of the new city hall, and purchase of its equipment and furnishings, has been approved by the Ontario Municipal Board.

The two bylaws introduced Monday were: to authorize the borrowing of $300,000; and the other, to provide for the taking of the vote of the ratepayers on that bylaw authorizing the borrowing of $300,000 to cover final cost of the hospital.

Ghosts, Goblins, Evil Spirits Become Confused

Hallowe'en Celebrated As If It Were Mardi Gras

Peterborough's ghosts, goblins and evil spirits confused their dates Tuesday night and instead of celebrating October 31 whooped up a springtime mardi gras celebration downtown that left property relatively intact and untouched.

Damage was not excessive in any part of the city. There were some bushes pulled, stop signs twisted and bent, some fences pulled over, but little more.

Feat of Strength

However some enterprising hardy spirits accomplished a feat never before done in Peterborough. They shifted a 40-foot long footbridge at Murray and Stewart Sts. which crosses Jackson's Park creek about four feet to one side and very nearly toppled it into the creek.

A constable reporting back to the police station over the FM radio said "It looks as if a bomb hit it." Police notified the city engineer's department to blockade it so no one would walk across it in its dangerous state.

In the south end, some citizens who appreciate the finer things of life kept alive an old Canadian tradition by pushing over two out-houses behind houses on Young St.

About 25 feet of Gordon Langley's fence on Burnham St. was pushed over and another fence owned by Taylor's wood yard was knocked down.

Shortly after 10 p.m. seven boys about 14 and 15 years of age were rounded up by two constables at Belmont and Weller Sts. as the bigger part of a gang which was reported tearing up bushes and turning and bending street and stop signs in the area. The boys, all of whom live in the west end, were held in police cells for about half an hour before released and told to go home. They all said it was the members of another bigger gang who had done all the damage. They had just happened along a few minutes before the police constables arrived.

The sidewalk and entrance of a downtown hotel were plastered with flour, lime or some other powder. One irate man, dressed in a good suit, was smeared with the clinging white stuff. He thought he had been given the treatment by five girls about 17 or 18, but police were not able to determine for certain who had thrown the powder.

Chased By Boys

In another part of the city, a group of girls complained they had been chased by a bunch of boys, but they had run, observed one constable, not to the safety of the bright street lights, but to the darker part of the district. Police said the girls knew some of the boys.

An urgent call from Murray St. sent the police hurrying through the streets. A couple of hound dogs had chased a young boy and it was thought at first they had bitten him. But it was soon seen, they had merely frightened them just as thoroughly as any banshee could do.

In the early part of the evening, youngsters in all kinds of outlandish get-ups swarmed through the streets collecting bags full of candy, fruit and nuts.

But about 9 p.m. reports of property damage began reaching the police station. Three police cars were kept busy investigating complaints.

Constables who were detailed to patrol sections of the city saw little and reported a very quiet night. But the officers who patrolled the downtown streets enjoyed themselves watching the carnival-type spectacle put on by the more frivolous in Peterborough. The variety of costumes was endless. Crowds walked up and down George St. watching the fun and taking part in it.

There were as many firecrackers exploded as there are on May 24 and there was the sharp smell of acrid burnt gunpowder everywhere along the streets. Hardly a front store window escaped being marked by soap.

People in cars lined the curbs to watch the sights — and there were some sights. Grotesquely made-up men and women had the fun of showing off with little danger that their identities would be discovered. However one young man very successfully impersonating a young woman was recognized by some of his friends and they nearly tore his clothes off.

In the beverage rooms the holiday spirit ran wild. Women invaded the men's beverage rooms and everyone was having a whale of a time.

An astounded visitor from Toronto could hardly credit what he saw on the downtown streets. "It's just like a carnival," he said. "Does this happen every year?"

Yes, but just once a year!

Hospital Group Objects To Spitting on Sidewalks

TORONTO, Nov. 1.—Condemnation of the "disgusting habit" of spitting on sidewalks was embodied in a resolution passed yesterday at the 40th annual meeting of the Women's Hospital Aids' Association of Ontario in Toronto.

The resolution asked that "in the interests of health and ethics, everything possible be done to arouse public opinion to the necessity of implementing existing legislation and promoting education to remedy the unsanitary practice."

The meeting commended the Provincial Government for legislation on behalf of older citizens, and went on record as approving further "reasonable" legislation for assistance to the aged.

"The auxiliary is the lifeblood of the hospital, capable of doing great good if given the opportunity by hospital superintendent and board," said Prof. Eugenie M. Stuart of the department of hospital administration, University of Toronto.

But the auxiliary must forecast the future and plan for it, to be effective, she cautioned. Prof. Stuart was one of four speakers on a panel headed by Dr. L. O. Bradley, executive secretary, Canadian Hospital Council.

"The auxiliary is one of the best public relations agencies for the hospital," she said, "because its members can dispel biased judgments re hospitals often found in communities due to the fact that people are not informed."

Ever since the Ontario Hospital Association launched the Blue Cross Plan, almost 10 years ago, there has been a steady growth in enrolment until today more than 1,400,000 people—one out of every three residents—are enrolled, D. W. Ogilvie, director, said.

Mr. Ogilvie spoke of the new Inter-Plan Bank, which all Canadian Blue Cross plans will join next January. This means that if an Ontario plan subscriber has to be hospitalized in New York the hospital there contacts the New York plan. A coded message will be sent to the Ontario headquarters advising of patient's needs and the Ontario subscriber will receive benefits according to New York Plans contract, which will be in line with hospital rates of that city.

Toronto's new $12 million Hospital for Sick Children, with 632 beds, is the largest hospital on the continent for children only, said Dr. L. N. Silverthorne.

The cancer detection clinic at Women's College Hospital is justified, financially and otherwise on several counts, said Dr. Florence McConney, director; first, as a piece of research to determine how cancer can be picked up; second, as a means of reassuring women who are afraid they have cancer, and third, as means of reducing death rate in women through cancer.

Mrs. T. J. Lytle of Toronto was re-elected president of the association.

Marjorie Wedlock Wed in Kitchener

The marriage took place in Kitchener on Saturday of Marjorie Helen Wedlock, daughter of Mr. Irwin Wedlock, 93 Rubidge St., Peterborough, and Mrs. L. F. Stire, Kitchener, to Mr. Robert Carl Rabethge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Rabethge, Kitchener.

The ceremony in St. Peter's Lutheran Church was performed by the Rev. A. W. Lotz. The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Gerald DeLaney.

She wore a Victorian-style gown of ice blue slipper satin designed with leg-o-mutton sleeves tapering at the wrists to lily points, and a semi-crinoline skirt, falling in a soft bustle. Her ice blue coronet held her fingertip veil, and she carried red Pinnocchio roses, gardenias and stephanotis. Miss Marlene Weist, as bridesmaid, wore an orchid gown of imported French Chantilly lace over satin with capelet of matching lace, net gloves and a satin headdress. She carried a cascade of bronze and yellow 'mums.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Kenneth Rabethge.

After a wedding dinner was served to 35 guests at the Golden Lion, the couple left on a trip through Ohio and points to the south. The bride wore a green frock and dark brown accessories, a beige coat and corsage of yellow sweetheart roses. They will live at 195 Park St., Kitchener.

YW Gym Auxiliary Stages Costume Party

A really good Hallowe'en party was staged last night in the YWCA gymnasium and about 60 business girls and young mothers "let down their hair" and had fun galore.

They first entered a darkened gym where groaning ghosts made them walk a narrow plank and weird music filled the air.

After a time, with lights turned on, their costumes were judged by Mrs. P. Irwin and Mrs. E. C. McKee, members of the health education committee which assists the physical director, Miss C. Littlefield.

Prize for the most original costume went to Freda Russell who came as "Frankenstein." Best dressed couple was Bea McPhee and Nell Hood who are natives of Holland and wore authentic national dress of a Dutch man and woman. Thee most comical was Agnes Gordon as a farmer. June Anderson was the prettiest on the floor, as a crinoline girl.

Those who just mised winning prizes and received honorable mention were Mrs. J. G. Campbell as William Shakespeare; Marjorie Foley as an old-fashioned gym girl; Shirley Milburn, Hawaiian dancer; Irene Chapman, Scotch girl; Annabeth Wright, African savage; Marion Foster, old-fashioned girl.

Pianist Mrs. M. McBride was dressed as a cowboy for the evening.

Hallowe'en contests included pumpkin relay, bobbing for apples in a tub and on a string, eating apple pie asd word battles. They were conducted by Ruby Leach, Ann Williams and Hazel Wilson. Each one present was given a numbered red cat and a door prize was awarded. Fortunes were told during the lunch hour when sandwiches and cookies made by gym auxiliary members were enjoyed.

Convener of the "ghost walk" and decorations was Yvette Simoneau, and the ghosts, who were responsible for keeping things lively throughout the evening were Marion McGillan, Rita Shaughnessy, Helen Hooey, Bea McPhee, Kay Mannell and Moira Walsh.

'38 Club Holding Demonstration To Aid Paralytic

YWCA Club '38, to raise money to help a girl who is paralyzed by polio to take water therapy treatment, is tonight holding a demonstration of a new type of weaving that is becoming widely popular.

The method, invented by a Vancouver woman, was introduced at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, this summer, and caught on quickly. It involves weaving wool through a backing of net or plastic and can be made into suits, dresses, skirts, baby things, and natty accessories.

It is claimed that the method is cheaper and quicker than knitting. The effect may be judged from the samples that will be shown in the Y tonight. The method will be demonstrated and supplies can be purchased afterward.

Several members of the '38 Club are now wearing accessories of this type which they have made.

French Africa Seeks to Stop Dowry System - - Too Costly

By LOUIS C. D. JOOS

BRAZZAVILLE, French Equatorial Africa —(AP)— A strong movement is afoot here and in the Belgian Congo to end the ancient and traditional dowry system which for centuries has proved the virtual ruination of poor young prospective husbands.

African deputies in the colonial government, sociologists and progressives are behind the movement.

Understandably, they are strongly backed by the young native bachelors who, according to tribal custom, must pay out exorbitant amounts to the family of the girl of their choice before they can marry her.

Opponents of the system say the dowry is so high that most of the healthy young working men would rather stay single than face the almost certain financial ruin.

Not Anxious for Change

They say it is virtually a system of bride-selling. It tends, they say, to make marriage the privilege of only rich old men, especially where polygamy is still the practice.

But the tribal chiefs and even some educated Africans favor continuation of the old system. They argue it seals the bond of alliance between clans and that to abolish it would break up the whole tribal system.

In a still-pagan society, say the supporters of the dowry, nothing would remain to instil the sense of responsibility and co-operation between husband and wife, or in-law clans, if the system disappears.

Christianity solution

Although this may be true to some degree, the progressives declare that it could be solved by spreading the doctrine of Christianity—particularly of Christian marriages.

A number of missionaries already have started a campaign to introduce Christian marriages into the tribal scheme. A few tribes already have done away with or modified the old, burdensome dowry.

But here in Brazzaville, a young houseboy who has his eye on a prospective bride had this problem:

The girl's father wants 5,000 French francs for the bride, 6,000 francs for himself, and a suit and a pair of shoes costing another 4,000 to 5,000 francs.

Mother's Demands

The girl's mother demands a piece of cotton cloth costing around 1,000 francs.

The wedding—if the houseboy ever gets that far along the matrimonial road—will cost another 5,000 francs just for the wine.

The boy only earns 2,000 francs a month, of which he pays 200 for a shabby room in a thatched hut leased to him by his employer. If he tries to borrow the money he needs, the loan sharks will take about 20 to 25 per cent interest a month.

In the more remote bush country the bride prices are a lot lower than the inflated city rate. But the bridegroom makes less to start with and the dowry still means financial ruin.

Protest Orders-in-Council Want More Women Senators

OTTAWA, Nov. 1—(CP)—A protest against government orders-in-council and a request that women be appointed to the senate were included in a 12-page batch of resolutions handed today to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

The resolutions were presented to Mr. St. Laurent by a six-woman delegation from the National Council of Women, led by the council president, Mrs. R. J. Marshall, Agincourt, Ont.

Other delegates: Mrs. E. D. Hardy, Mrs. G. D. Finlayson and Mrs. Milton F. Gregg, all of Ottawa; Mrs. F. E. Underhill, London, Ont.; Mrs. W. E. Graham, Smiths Falls; Mrs. A. Turner Bone, Montreal.

The resolutions included several passed at the council's annual meeting in June at London, Ont.

One protested the "large number of orders-in-council".

"The democratic system of government is previous to all Canadians," it said. "Whereas the delegation of legislative authority, while at times necessary, is contrary to democratic principles."

Another request was for establishment of a permanent non-political arts board for development of the arts in Canada.

Protest Radio Fee

On another resolution the council protested an increase in the annual radio licence fee on the ground that "radio enjoyment must, above all else remain within the financial reach of all Canadians."

It asked that pensions for dependent parents who lost sons in war services "be brought into line with pensions paid to veterans and their kin."

It urged that courts, in granting citizenship, should, by appropriate ceremonies, impress upon applicants the responsibilities and privileges of Canadian citizenship.

Another resolution urged that Asiatics living in Canada be permitted to bring in wife or husband and unmarried children under 21 years.

Other resolutions asked that Indians be given the right to vote; that they be granted old-age and blind pensions, and also be given more voice in the conduct of Indian education.

The Council asked that funds be made available through special health grants to help the expansion of nurses' residences and teaching facilities.

Banning Comics

It also pointed to the "lurid comics" which it said are flooding news stands. It urged that section of the Criminal Code prohibiting the printing and sale of such matter should be enforced.

The brief charged there are recommendations made by the Archambault report which have not yet been implemented. It urged that attention be given several sections of the report which include amending the Criminal Code to allow time for payment of fines; appointment of a parole officer in each province or group of provinces.

The Council further recommended that more legal aid be provided for prisoners unable to afford it, and that women be appointed to prison commissions.

Another resolution asked that the Government pay compensation to persons injured by explosives, radioactive materials and other dangerous things which are the property of the crown, "as payment on compassionate grounds and without admission of liability."

The preamble noted there had been a "number of instances" where children and others have been seriously injured by grenades, . . . and other national defence department explosives. . ."

The Council had been informed that no compensation was available to the injured party "in the absence of conclusive evidence of negligence on the part of the servants or agents of the crown."

DOROTHY DIX

Too Many Men Incapable Of Simple Household Chores

DEAR MISS DIX: When my boys were small I always shielded them from every hardship, picked up after them, waited on them, never asked them to do any tasks about the house. As a result, they grew up completely ignorant of how to run a home. Now they are married and can't afford to have servants, so when their wives are sick the household machinery stops and everything is in uttter confusion. My daughter married a man whose mother had taught him to be handy about the house and when my daughter is ill he keeps things running just like clockwork. More than that, he is a great help to her when she is well. Please warn other mothers against making the mistake that I did.

REGRETFUL MOTHER

ANSWER: I have long contended that making a happy home was a two-handed job that required the co-operation of both the husband and the wife, and that the reason that there are so few ideal homes was because men dumped all the responsibility and the work of making the home on the woman and it was too big a job for her.

Should Help In Emergency

Every husband should be not only willing, but also able to help his wife out in a domestic emergency, and it is a sin and a shame that mothers do not prepare their sons to be real helpmeets to the woman they marry. They rarely do, however. At home the average boy is treated as if he was the Grand Sultan. Mother waits on him hand and foot. She picks up the clothes that he scatters from one end of the house to the other. She cleans up the bathroom after he has left it looking as if a cyclone had passed through it. If he comes in late she rushes to the kitchen to heat up his dinner for him. Even the husky lads who have to play ball in the afternoons for exercise are not required to do any chores around the house.

Mothers don't deal so tenderly by their daughters. Girls who have stood on their feet all day behind a counter or working in a factory or pounding a typwriter are expected to help get the dinner and clean up when they get home, but not the boys, though why, goodness only knows. It isn't because there is anything occult about cooking or cleaning or dishwashing that boys can't learn that keeps mothers from teaching them how to sweep a room.

To many a nervous, wornout, overworked woman, a husband who knew how to fix the baby's bottle and who could go out into the kitchen and get a good meal would look like an answer to a prayer and a ministering angel, and have all the romantic heroes in the world backed off the board.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have been married five months and while I was ready to settle down from the beginning and go domestic, my wife refuses to do so. She goes out at night with her girl friends who are not married. She spends the housekeeping money on cigarettes, movies and finery we cannot afford instead of food. When I come home at night there is nothing to eat. I am very anxious to make a success of my married life. Can you tell me how to do so? JOHN

ANSWER: The wisest person in the world cannot tell you how to make a success of marriage with that kind of a wife, because she is evidently lacking in love for you and all idea of duty and all sense of what marriage really means. Nothing but a miracle can change a pleasure-mad, selfish, irresponsible woman into the kind of a wife who is a helpmeet to a man. And miracles mighty seldom happen.

It seems to me that now, before there are any children to complicate the matter, is the time to have a showdown with your wife. you must make her understand that you are not going to put up with such conduct, and that she has either got to settle down and be a real wife to you or else you are going to send her back to her mother. Not many girls are crazy about going back home after they are married, and maybe that would bring her to her senses.

Many a wife treats her husband as she does because she thinks he will stand for it, but she would pursue an entirely different line of tactics with him if she knew she would lose her job unless she gave satifaction.

DEAR MISS DIX: A young couple had a date set for their wedding, but postponed it because of the problem of their duty to their respective parents. The boy's father being dead, the young man feels that they should live with his mother. The girl's family needs her help and she feels that they should live with them. What should they do?

A FRIEND

ANSWER: Set up a little home of their own and live by themselves. This will save all hard feelings and give them the chance for happiness that they would not have if they lived with either's family.

Directions

Topper is the handsome son of one of my friends. This young gentleman is quite the cook, and is an independent one too, for he marched into the house on a Saturday afternoon when I was there loaded with the supplies he needed to make "Topper's Veal Cutlet."

I was invited for dinner so tasted the masterpiece,—and I'm not spoofing—for a masterpiece it was:

✧ ✧ ✧

Topper's Veal Cutlet

Ask the butcher to cut a veal cutlet three-quarters inch thick and cut this in serving pieces. Dredge them with flour which has been mixed with salt and pepper. Melt 3 tablespoons fat in hot frying pan and seer the meat in it on both sides. Place it in a casserole, cover with 2 cups sour cream, slice one onion over it very thinly, cover and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 2 hours—turning oven lower if veal is getting tender at end of first hour.

The salad I have suggested is unusual for its coloring. The very dark and very light parts of the endive, which is pulled apart, not cut, and the shredded carrot, when mixed together are very pretty. French Dressing flavored with garlic seems to be the just-right dressing. The tomatoes were marinated in the garlic dressing before arranging in a border around the tossed part of the salad.

Beef and Liver Loaf

There are many variations of this but after trying about six I think this is the best one to serve to those who need liver for nutritional purposes, but do not like it any too well.

Simmer one pound pork liver in one pint water for one-half hour. Cool in this water then put through fine knife of food chopper. Add to one pound of ground beef or hamburg. Add 1½ cups mashed potatoes or 2 cups soft breadcrumbs and ½ cup milk, 1 beaten egg, 1 onion (which could be ground with the liver). 1½ to 2 teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard and just enough of the cooking liquid to moisten. Pack into loaf pan which has been buttered and bake for one hour at 350 deg. Fahr.

Serve with

Tomato Sauce: Cook together for 15 minutes 2 cups raw or canned tomatoes, 1 sliced onion, 4 whole cloves, 2 teaspoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt. Press through sieve. Over low heat melt 2 tablespoons butter and stir in 2 tablespoons flour, then tomato puree, until thick. If desired celery leaves or seeds may be added to the seasonings.

HOMEMADE ICE CREAM topped by whipped cream and a cherry will delight guests and hostess alike.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Delicious Finale to Party Homemade Ice Cream

Good ice cream is a treat for everyone and it is so easy to make that once you have settled on a few favorite recipes you will always have a freezer full. For the best possible recipes for ice cream you will certainly want to own "250 Luscious Refrigerator Desserts," sixteenth release in the Culinary Arts Institute series of twenty-four cookbooks currently being made available to readers of The Examiner.

There are all kinds of ice cream recipes in the Refrigerator Desserts Book—fruit ice creams, nut ice creams and a host of other flavors — besides recipes for bombes, mousses, refrigerator cookies, cakes, and baked Alaskas, but an especially simple ice cream to make is the following recipe:

Caramel Ice Cream

½ cup sugar; 1 cup milk; ⅛ teaspoon salt; 2 egg yolks, beaten; 1 cup heavy cream; 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Heat ½ cup of sugar slowly in heavy skillet until melted and slightly brown stirring constantly. Scald milk and add to melted sugar. Cook until sugar is completely dissolved. Add remaining sugar and salt to beaten egg yolks and add hot sugar mixture gradually. Cook slowly until thickened. Chill. Whip cream until thick enough to hold a soft peak, add vanilla and fold into chilled mixture. Pour into freezing tray of refrigerator and freeze until firm. Serves 6.

Line tray with broken nuts.

The Refrigerator Desserts Book has so many irresistible dessert recipes that you will want to try all of them. And it is so easy to own a copy of this cookbook. All you need do is clip a coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present it with 25c at the Examiner office, or from your carrier, or at Braund's Home Food Markets. Or send 30c (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

We're Not "Skittish" About Fashion

We're not influenced by the whims and flashes of untried styles that continuously come and go in the panorama of women's fashions—but we're not so conservative either that we don't have the new styles when we know they have a definite place.

In all Evangeline merchandise, you'll find smart fashions combined with good quality at moderate prices.

We believe you'll find The Evangeline Shop to be a store you can trust.

Judge Criticizes Newspaper For Fire Story

QUEBEC, Nov. 1 (CP) — Judge Fernand Choquette said Tuesday that a Montreal Standard story saying that a crew member had set fire to both the cruise ships Noronic and the Quebec exposes its authors to "sanctions provided by the law."

Both the Noronic and the Quebec were Canada Steamships' Line vessels. The Noronic burned in Toronto harbor in September, 1949, with loss of 119 lives. Seven persons died when the Quebec burned Aug. 14 in the St. Lawrence river. Judge Choquette recently conducted a superior court inquiry here into the Quebec fire. Its results have not yet been announced.

Last Saturday, the Weekly Standard carried a copyrighted newspage story which said it had been learned on good authority that both ship fires had been set by a pyromaniac believed to have been a member of the crews.

Tuesday, news agency representatives were called to a Quebec office and were handed a statement on behalf of the judge concerning The Standard story. The statement was in French except where it quoted directly in English from the Standard story. It said this was the "second attempt" by a newspaper "to substitute itself for the court and pass judgment on this unfortunate affair." (While the Quebec inquiry was in progress earlier this month, the Quebec Daily Chronicle-Telegraph published a story similar to the Standard.)

The statement said that as the Investigation of the Quebec fire still is 'sub judice" (under judicial consideration) "such intervention is most improper and disrespectful and exposes its authors to sanctions provided for by law."

The judge did not say the Standard was in contempt of court or if any action is intended against the newspaper.

Minority Report Expected From Education Inquiry

TORONTO, Nov. 1.—When the report of the Royal Commission on Education is presented to the Ontario Government, probably early in December, it will be accompanied by a minority report of Roman Catholic members, it was learned Tuesday.

The 21-member commission, headed by Mr. Justice Hope, now has finished its work. Its official report, a weighty document which will go into all phases of education in the province, still has to be typed and there will be another session at which it will be signed.

The Hope commission was appointed by order-in-council on March 21, 1945. For more than the past year there have been intermittent rumors that the report's completion was being held up by differences within the commission on the subject of separate schools.

The reported preparation of a minority document would indicate that the cause of the dissatisfaction had not been cleared up. It is expected this secondary report will be signed by four members of the commission.

It also has been intimated that this may be only one of two or three minority reports.

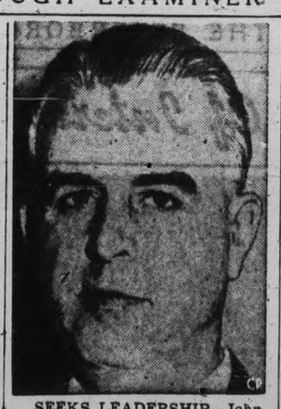
Declines Comment

Suggestions of secondary reports, expressing at least partial disagreement with the main report, brought little comment from commission members Tuesday. Mr. Justice Hope declined to comment.

"The commission has not been discharged yet, and it would be improper for any one to discuss its report, at least until it has reached the government," said E. F. Henderson, a Toronto member.

Mr. Henderson said he had nothing to say about an Ottawa newspaper report of dissatisfaction among Roman Catholic members with the commission's findings except: "This statement contains some things that are not true."

The Ottawa article quoted an unnamed commission member as stating: "It was a long and useless job. A commission of from three to five members would have worked together harmoniously."



It went on to say that some Roman Catholic dissatisfaction stemmed from the fact that no new financial aid was planned for separate schools. Another point of concern was said to be with the new curriculum, already announced by the Ontario Department of Education. It was feared this would curtail the rights of separate schools.

Intermediate School

The new system provides for establishment of an intermediate school, a sort of bridge between public and high school, which would draw its students from the last two grades of the one and the first two of the other. Basis of the reported Roman Catholic dissatisfaction was said to be that this would mean students would leave separate schools earlier than Grade Eight as they do now.

The setup of normal schools also was reported to be a matter on which there had not been agreement.

Arthur Kelly, Toronto, was another commissioner who refused to comment on the minority report possibility.

SEEKS LEADERSHIP—John J. Sullivan, Hamilton lawyer, has announced he will be a candidate for leadership of the Ontario Liberal Party at a provincial convention in Toronto, Nov. 9 and 10. The entry of Mr. Sullivan, who gained prominence as defence counsel for Evelyn Dick in the famous torso murder trial four years ago, brings to eight the number of candidates.

First Negro Student

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 1—(AP). — Louisiana State University Tuesday accepted a negro student for the first time in its 90-year history. He is Roy S. Wilson, 30, of Ruston, La., who registered as a student in the law school after a Federal Court ordered his admission.

5 UK Engineers SpiedOn, Quit Romania

MANCHESTER, England, Nov. 1 — (AP). — Five British engineers who claim they were spied on and obstructed for three months while working in a Romanian textile mill are back home with a new report on life behind the Iron Curtain.

The five went to the mill town of Jassy, six miles from the Russian border, on a one-year job of setting up British textile machinery. Letters of complaint from the engineers caused their employers, the Platt Brothers engineering firm of Manchester, to withdraw them after three months.

They charged that conditions in Jassy were primitive and the food they received was unsatisfactory. One of the engineers was spat on in the street.

The five are: Norman Smith, Harry Roe, Harry Addyman, J. Hunter Mitchell, and Jack Wilson, all of Manchester.

Followed Everywhere

Roe said: "We were followed by secret police everywhere we went and our 'interpreter' never let us out of his sight. Eventually we became so worried that we insisted on getting home and the British Consulate in Bucharest arranged for our firm to withdraw us."

The five lived in a bombed house without water or electric light. Their diet was restricted to pork, mashed potatoes, and black bread. When all five contracted dysentery, Roe said, "the mill doctor could do nothing for us because he had no medical supplies."

"We saw bandages being taken off people with injuries, washed, and used again."

An official of the Platt firm said the decision to withdraw the men to Britain—despite protests from the Romanian government officials—followed a strong letter of complaint from the engineers.

The letter said: "Everything we recommended first had to be discussed at a conference incorporating all the laborers and assistants on the job.

"Usually we are ignored when we tell anyone to do a job, and the management backs up the laborer, who does what he wants to do and not what we say he should do."

200 Prisoners Aid Neurologist

KINGSTON, Nov. 1 — (CP).— A Queen's University neurologist said Tuesday that more than 200 prisoners— men and women—of Collins Bay Penitentiary here have voluntarily helped him in research to discover the causes of their misdeeds.

Dr. Denis N. White, assistant professor of the University's Department of Medicine, said he had taken tests of 127 men and 80 women prisoners.

The tests were taken by electroencephalograph, an instrument which registers minute electrical impulses generated by the brain. It records impulses between the intensities of five and 100 millionths of a volt.

Dr. White said the graphs of the men showed no abnormalities which would be considered typical of criminal types. The graphs of women prisoners showed an apparent group abnormality.

Splendid Cough Syrup Easily Mixed at Home

To get quick relief from a distressing cough, mix this recipe. Once tried, you'll say it's your favorite cough medicine, and it's so easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water until dissolved. Anyone can do it. No cooking needed. (Or use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.)

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its quick action on throat irritations.

Put the Pinex into a 16 ounce bottle, and fill up with your syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces of very efficient medicine, and you get four times as much for your money. It tastes fine and never spoils.

And for quick, satisfying relief, it is splendid. You can feel it penetrating the air passages and taking hold of the cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness.

Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

FOR EXTRA CONVENIENCE GET NEW, READY-TO-USE, PREPARED PINEX.

6—In Memoriams

RIDLEY—In loving memory of Walter Ridley, who died on November the first, 1948.
"Marvel not at this, for the hour is coming in which all that are in the graves shall hear His voice and shall come forth, they that have done good unto the resurrection of life and they that have done evil until the resurrection of judgment."
—Sadly missed by wife and family.

RIDLEY—In loving memory of Walter Ridley, who passed away November 1, 1948.
Two years have passed dear dad,
Since you were called away,
How well I do remember
That sad and dreary day.
You'll never know how much we wish,
Your gentle face to see.
For you were the dearest dad,
That meant so much to me.
—Sadly missed by daughter Margaret, son-in-law Norman and family.

RIDLEY—In loving memory of my dear father, Walter Ridley, who passed away November 1, 1948.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind,
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
—Ever remembered by daughter Pearl.

7—Cards of Thanks

Evidence Jumble Dismisses Driving Charge

"I can't see how the accused can be found guilty in such a jumble of evidence both for the prosecution and the defence, except for the evidence of the officer," said Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, dismissing a charge of careless driving against John A. Finlay, 78, Norwood.

The charge resulted from an accident involving another Norwood driver, Kenneth Cuthbertson, 18, at Downer's Corners on Highway 7 just outside the southeast city limits, Oct. 12.

Cuthbertson and his father Cecil Cuthbertson placed the time of the accident about 5:15 p.m. and both said a drizzlnig rain was falling. They said their parking lights were on. Finlay said it was not raining at the time. He didn't have any lights on.

The Cuthbertsons were driving east on the highway toward Norwood. Finlay was driving south on Armour Road intending to turn east on the highway.

Heard Horn

The elder Cuthbertson said he heard his son blow the born and that drew his attention to Finlay's car about ten feet back from the highway approaching the pavement. The Cuthbertson car was about 80 feet from the intersection when he first saw the Finlay car.

His car was travelling about 25 miles an hour and the Finlay car about five or ten miles an hour.

Driver Kenneth Cuthbertson said, after he blew his horn the Finlay car still kept coming. He said he swerved to the right and put on his brakes about the same instant as the impact.

Constable Lorne Stinson said the only indication of where the accident occurred was a small piece of fender lying about three feet south of the centre line of the highway. There were no skid marks he said, but there were marks in the gravel on the shoulder of the road from the Cuthbertson car for about 50 feet beyond the point of impact roughly in line with the east side of Armour Road.

Finlay said he had been driving 38 years and had never before had an accident. He said as he approached the highway he stopped then put his car in second gear, looked both ways, saw no traffic, started out into the highway and the collision occurred.

Skins Of Six Sheep In Dogma Parchment

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 1 (CP). —The skins of six sheep supplied the parchment for the papal bull on which is inscribed the assumption dogma.

The document, on 26 sheets of parchment, each 15 by 20 inches, contains about 6,000 words. Each four sheets required one sheep skin.

Five months were needed to compile and prepare the document under the direction of t apostolic chancellory.

It is contained in a blue leather envelope bearing the seal of the Pope, a dove holding an olive sprig in its beak. The cover contains a dedication of the Daughters of Mary Association which paid for the making of the document. After it is signed by the Pope and other church authorities it will be placed in the Vatican's secret archives.

The term "Papal Bull" com from "Bulla" or leaden se which fastens it.

Big Royal Fair Expects Record Entry

TORONTO (CP)—The greatest entry list in its history is expected when the 22nd annual Royal Agricultural Winter Fair opens its doors here Nov. 14.

As one indication, the poultry exhibit alone has more than 7,500 birds entered, compared to 6,900 last year. Fair officials say the same story is repeated in every department of the big show which is held at the Coliseum in the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

Six world championships will again be awarded in grain and potato classes. Mrs. Amy Grace Kelsey of Erickson, B. C., set a record last year when she won the world wheat title for the third time—twice at the Toronto Fair and once at the Chicago Exposition.

Other winners of a year ago were John Eliuk of Hairy Hill, Alta., in oats and barley; Albert Kessel of Rosetown, Sask., in rye, and E. W. Doudet of Hanna City, Ill., in corn.

Mrs. Kelsey and Mr. Kessel went on to win the wheat and rye titles in Chicago.

Many Competitors

The prize money this year totals nearly $250,000 in cash and the trophies are valued at twice that amount. Last year the fair had 3,200 exhibitors showing almost 17,000 entries.

The "Royal"—so-called because it was granted a Royal charter in 1922—is held at one of the finest agricultural buildings in the world. The Coliseum covers 26 acres and has accommodation for 1,200 horses; 2,200 cattle; 1,200 sheep, 1,000 swine and 8,000 poultry and other exhibits.

Because late entries could not be accommodated last year, and it is the same this year, fair officials are urging construction of an additional building and the province of Ontario and city of Toronto have each agreed to contribute $1,000,000 if the federal government will put up the same amount.

Apart from the judging in many classes the arena each night is the scene of the International Horse Show which attracts visitors from all over the continent.

Horse Show Feature

The six international teams for this year's horse show are Canada, England, the United States, Ireland, Chile and Mexico. Another feature is the first Canadian appearance of a team from the centuries-old Spanish Riding School of Vienna. The Austrians, whose training and costumes date back more than 300 years, will appear at all afternoon and evening performances.

Canada's equestrian team, now appearing at New York and in Pennsylvania, will be composed of Lt.-Col. C. F. Baker, Lieut. Tom Gayford and James Elder of Toronto, the latter at 18 being one of the youngest members ever to ride for Canada.

Heading the English team is Lt.-Col. H. K. Llewellyn, riding Foxhunter, the most popular horse in Europe. His "second" horse is Monty, which took five out of seven international events this summer at Nice, France.

Truman Dedicates Dill Memorial

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—President Truman arranged to dedicate a memorial in Arlington National Cemetery today to Field Marshal Sir John Dill, senior British representative on the combined chiefs of staff in Washington during the second yorld war.

Sir John died here late in 1944, and Congress passed a special resolution permitting him to rest, as he wished, in the cemetery where the American unknown soldier is enshrined.

The movement to erect a memorial to the British war leader was started by Gen. George C. Marshall, Admiral Ernest J. King and the late Gen. Henry H. Arnold, who served with him on the combined chiefs of staff. A memorial committee led by Robert Woods Bliss raised funds by voluntary American contributions.

The memorial is a bronze statue of the field marshall mounted on a horse.

In addition to President Truman's remarks, the program for the unveiling late today called for addresses by Marshall, now secretary of defence, and Sir Oliver Franks, the British ambassador to the U.S.

Anthony Eden, member of Britain's wartime cabinet, travelled to the U.S. by air at the British government's request to attend the ceremony. Eden now is deputy Conservative Party leader.

ACCENT ON YOUTH

More than 386 new schools have come into use in Britain since the end of the Second World War.

Failed To Appear When Case Called

Failure of Arthur D. A. Wood to appear in court after laying a charge against Robert Chollette, Bethune St. of owing him wages amounting to $111, resulted today in the charge being dismissed.

Justice of the Peace James J. Fleming told the court when Wood laid the charge, he was told he must appear when the case came up. Since then the case has been called three times and Wood was missing each time.

Chollette pleaded not guilty to the charge. According to his records he owed Wood about $50.

"Case dismissed for lack of prosecution," said Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C.

Trained Populace Can Survive Atom-U.S. Expert

MONTREAL—(CP)— Civilization can protect itself from the bogey of present days—an atomic bomb attack.

That's the opinion of P. W. Swain, editor of the United States magazine Power and a spectator at the Bikini atomic tests. He disclosed his findings at a recent Montreal meeting of the Institute of Power Engineers.

It is his belief that a well-trained populace can survive an atomic attack.

His explanation:

"First, atom bombs would be used only against targets of tremendous importance. This would rule out a general attack against all civilian points.

"If a bomb exploded, there are three things that can kill you. They are shock wave, gamma rays and heat flash.

"The blast, or shock wave, kills indirectly by pummelling the populace with falling buildings and flying debris. The answer to this is shelters.

Heat Flashes

"The heat flashes last three seconds and anyone within a mile of the explosion will suffer badly burned hands and faces. But even a shadow can serve as some protection from this, and a well-trained populace could be trained to duck—to fall with their backs to the flash and with their hands and faces covered.

"The gamma rays are the far-ranging killers. Anyone closer than 4,200 feet to the explosion will die—unless protected by at least 40 feet of concrete. Beyond that 4,200 feet border fatality from gamma ray drops sharply."

Mr. Swain said he doubted whether atom power would be used for anything but bombs. It might have a limited use in the power field, but right now it appeared as though man had harnessed atomic power only to treat himself to new lessons in destruction.

Car, Bus Collide At Intersection

Only two Hallowe'en car accidents were reported to police Tuesday night. One, between a city bus and a car, occurred just outside the police station door.

Bus driver Walter Ramsay said as he drove north on Water St. approaching Simcoe St., he saw a car driven by John B. Cavanagh, 380 Queen St., travelling east on Simcoe St. He said the car didn't stop before starting to turn south on Water St.

While the car was turning, the two vehicles collided. Cavanagh and members of his family in the car all said he stopped before starting the turn.

About $30 damage was done to the left rear corner of the bus and about $15 damage to the car. Constable William G. Scott investigated.

Two cars collided at Sherbrooke and George Sts. early in the evening, while one car, driven by Clayton Outwater, Campbellford, was turning left from travelling south on George St.

Outwater told police he had stopped behind a truck to wait for a green light. He turned his car close to the centre of George St. and started to make the turn when he met in collision with a car driven west on Sherbrooke St. by Clarence Stevenson.

Stevenson said when he turned from Water St. into Sherbrooke St. a block away from the scene of the accident, the traffic light was green for him and he drove right through. He said he didn't see Outwater's car before the collision. Fenders of both cars were damaged. Constable John Morrow investigated.

Pope Proclaims

"We pronounce, declare and define to be a dogma revealed by God that the immaculate mother of God, Mary ever a virgin, at the end of her earthly life was taken up into celestrial glory in soul and body."

As 1,000 white doves were released from the soaring facade of the great basilica, to symbolize the message going out to all peoples of the world, the bells of St. Peter's rang out, echoed by all the bells of Rome and the deep roar of cheers from the crowd.

The Pope, robed in white and wearing his jeweled mitre, was borne on his portable throne before the multitude, many of whom had been waiting since dawn.

A might roar as from a sea came from the throats of the people, representing all races, classes and all corners of the globe.

The roar swelled as the pontiff was carried slowly into the square, before the obelisk, in its centre and then up the steps to the red damask-covered throne.

One by one the cardinals stepped before the Pope, who was flanked by ranks of Vatican nobles and Swiss guards in colorful uniforms, and knelt in obeisance.

Eugene Cardinal Tisserant of France, sub-deacon of the sacred college, then stepped forward and in Italian requested the Pope "instanter"—immediately—to exercise his "supreme judgment" and declare "Mary, our most sweet mother" to be assumed in body and soul into heaven.

Pope Prays

Replying in Latin, the Pope said he wished to pray. He raised his voice, asking guidance from God in this "most grave act."

The Pope intoned "Veni, Creator"—Come, O Creator." Then in one of the most tense moments, he dropped to his knees to pray.

A few minutes later he began reading the dogma bull.

He read only the first few lines pronouncing as divinely revealed Mary's assumption into heaven.

When a roar of approval had subsided, the pontiff raised his voice in the first words of "Te Deum," the hymn of thanksgiving. The Sistine chapel choir took up the hymn, as did the voices of hundreds of thousands.

Speaking briefly in Italian after the "Te Deum," Pope Pius declared the world as yet has no peace, and he urged all men—the sick, refugees, the persecuted, those whose arms are without work and who have no roofs over their heads—to become sons of a single mother, Mary.

Divided By Hate

The world, the Pope said, is divided by hate and conflict, and the light of love, based in Christ, is almost extinguished.

He described Mary as a "monument to the only faith."

At the conclusion, he asked all to pray. Cardinals, archbishops, patriarchs, bishops and the tremendous throng dropped to their knees as though a great wind were passing over the square.

In a loud voice, the Pope then recited a prayer he had composed in honor of Mary:

"We believe with all the fervor of our faith in your triumphant assumption, in soul and in body, into heaven, where you are acclaimed queen by all the choirs of angels and all the legions of saints."

The dogma of the bodily assumption has drawn open criticism from some protestants. A formal statement from the Archbishop of Canterbury of the Church of England last August said it would increase "dogmatic differences in christendom."

$2,256 Approved On City Hall, Extra Payment

Payment of $2,256 to Eastwood Construction Company for extra costs in the preparations for the building of the city hall was approved by the finance committee in a session subsequent to the council meeting Monday night.

"We can't do anything else but accept the recommendation of our architects and adviser," said Ald. John Dewart, seconding the motion of Ald. E. C. Braund.

"Most of these items are directly resultant from the delinquencies of the wrecking contractor, and in fact might properly be charged to him," was the opinion expressed by the architects, Marani and Morris in their report to the council.

Taken Action

The wrecking contractor was Murney M. Howe of Picton who has begun legal action against the city for $1,400 and costs for alleged breach of contract and conversion of certain materials which he claims as his property, according to his agreement for the demolishing of the houses on the city hall site.

A motion by Ald. T. D. Miller and Ald. Braund instructed City Solicitor Huycke to enter a counter claim against Mr. Howe.

In recommending adjustment of the contract with Eastwood Construction Company in some minor particulars relating to circumstances on the site when they were ready to begin work, and assemble materials, the architects wrote that the matter of compensation related to two conditions affecting the start of construction.

One was referred to as condition of the site after the wrecking operations, and the other was mentioned as cause of delay when the construction contractor was ready to begin.

Public Removed

"As is generally known," the report recalled, "the wrecking contractor (Mr. Howe) left the site in a deplorable state, with masses of lumber, brick, rubble and general debris. Later, a considerable amount of this rubble was removed by the city, and the rubble and grade was bulldozed to a reasonably flat area, so that the general contractor could begin construction.

"This work did not produce a site clear of debris, and has necessitated and will necessitate the clearing of the balance of wrecking debris being done now, and for later action.

"The wrecking specifications stated that foundations, walls and pavements were to be removed to one foot below grade. This has not been done and must be completed by the general contractor.

"The site was to be backfilled with top soil by the wrecker after debris was excavated. The present surface has had the top soil made useless by the binding in of brick batts, debris, rubble to such extent that it will have to be entirely scraped off and refilled with top soil under the specification."

"The Eastwood Construction Co. will, therefore, be forced to bring in the entire top soil due to the fact that the wrecking contractor ((Mr. Howe) did not complete his contract."

The architects submitted a statement of costs or expected costs in those circumstances which would be incurred by the general contractor amounting to $3,756, less $2,000 credit allowances, leaving $1,756 net.

Seven Weeks' Delay

Marani and Morris also recalled that there was seven weeks' delay caused to Eastwood Construction Co. partly due to difficulties in removing tenants of houses to be razed, and partly due to the wrecking contractor in being unwilling, as alleged, to cooperate by adjusting his work so that the general contractor could stockpile materials on the site.

"This delay, in addition to the contractor's non-production overhead during this period, will result in considerable extra expense occasioned by increased cost of placing concrete and providing heat during the winter. While the contractor originally included in his tender an allowance for winter construction, the additional cost, due to delay, will be considerable.

"However, in discussing this matter with Mr. Ronald Winter (the city's advising engineer), we feel that the main part of such additional expenses should be assumed by Eastwood Construction Co. Ltd., as a more or less normal building risk in submitting a firm price tender for a large building. Therefore, while this additional expense may possibly approximate $2,000, we feel that a fair compensation would be an amount of $500."

The two items combined amount to $2,256. A letter from Mr. Winter informed the council that he concurred in the recommendation of the architects.

In the approach to the city hall job it was estimated that the site would be ready for the Eastwood Construction Co. June 1, but they were delayed until July 17.

Said Ald. Waddell, finance chairman: "There will be some items like this to be cleared up in a large contract of that kind, and it is better for all of us to dispose of them as we go along."

The write of H. J. Colliver, Picton lawyer, was an announcement of suit in Supreme Court for $400 breach of countract by the city with M. M. Howe, and $1,000 for conversion of materials claimed by the wrecker.

Mr. Howe asserts that he bought all fixtures contained in the buildings to be demolished, but that fixtures in the McPherson house, which was at Murray and Water Streets, were permitted by the city to become the possession of some other person.

He also alleged that the city converted to its own use a large quantity of brick and fill which, Mr. Howe is claiming as his property.

Mayor Swanston said the council should enter a counter claim against Mr. Howe for the compensation to Eastwood Construction "and also for the amount we paid Curtis Brothers to clear away the stuff when Mr. Howe did not go through with his contract. We should include the wrecking and dynamiting of basements."

Ald. Doug. Miller said the city should not have to pay twice for the top soil mentioned in the Howe contract.

It transpired in the discussion that some of the bricks hauled away by Curtis Brothers were deposited as fill at the south end of Riverside Park.

City Solicitor Huycke: "Mr. Curtis said a lot of the brick was no good for any other purpose."

Grants Used To Expand TB Services

OTTAWA, Nov. 1 —(CP)— Federal health grants are being used to expand tuberculosis diagnosis services at sanitaria in Brantford, Kitchener, Gravenhurst, and Kingston, and to increase provincial TB control service in Northern Ontario, the Health Department said today.

The department said this development would bring travelling clinics to many small centres not previously touched.

At the Brantford Sanitorium, a doctor and X-ray technician are to be added to the staff to organize new monthly clinics in Port Rowan, Port Dover, Waterford, Delhi, and Burford; to increase the clinics in Simcoe to 2 per month; to organize regular chest X-ray services for industrial groups and to expand the number of clinics held in Brantford.

A doctor and X-ray technician are to be added to the staff of the Freeport Sanitorium at Kitchener. They will work with recently-established clinics at Kincardine, Southampton, Chesley, Wiarton, Markdale, Orangeville, Mount Forest, Palmerston, Fergus, Owen Sound, Durham, and Lucknow, and with older clinics at Guelph, Galt and Kitchener. The clinics are to be made more frequent.

A doctor will be added to the staff of the Muskoka Hospital, at Gravenhurst, to supervise existing clinics and open new ones in the northern part of Simcoe County and the Parry Sound and Muskoka districts.

Develop New Clinics

In Eastern Ontario, the Ongwanada Sanitorium at Kingston will take responsibility for existing clinics and develop new ones in the Counties of Frontenac, Lennox and Addington, Leeds and Grenville. A Federal grant has been authorized for X-ray equipment and the salaries of a physician and technician.

For expanding tuberculosis case-finding in Northern Ontario, a Federal grant has been authorized for the Provincial Health Department's district office in Timmins, to be used for additional equipment and the salary of another X-ray technician.

The department said it is planned to extend travelling clinics to bush camps and many small centres, as well as to give more service to existing clinics in Hearst, Kapuskasing, Smooth Rock Falls, Cochrane, Iroquois, and Matheson.

$25,000 Fire Destroys Allan's Mills

STIRLING, Nov. 2 (ENS). — A hastily-formed bucket brigade failed Wednesday to save Allan's Mills, an old landmark situated four miles west of Bonarlaw. The $25,000 fire, believed started by sparks from a friction clutch of the sawing machines, swept the two frame buildings.

William C. Allan, owner and operator of the mill, noticed smoke creeping through the floorboards at 2:30 p.m. Ripping up some planks, he saw the fire raging below in sawdust, shavings and oil. He rushed to another part of the building, but by that time the whole mill seemed to be ablaze.

A long bucket brigade was quickly formed and worked unsuccessfully to keep the fire from spreading. Sparks falling on the wooden floor of the nearby bridge over the Crowe river were doused.

Nothing Saved

The two frame buildings, making up the mill, a grist mill, and a saw mill, contained more than $6,000 worth of machinery. Thousands of feet of lumber and a large quantity of shingles, were also lost.

Mrs. John Thompson of Bonarlaw and two small children were packing shingles in the mill when the blaze started. They escaped.

The mill, more than 100 years old, has been operated by William Allan for the past 40 years it has been owned by three generations For some time the plant has been finishing lumber and shingles, rather than milling. At one time it produced most of the community's flour and cereal. It was the only planing and sawing mill in the Bonarlaw district.

A large pile of sawdust was still smouldering at sundown and precautions were taken to prevent a further outbreak.

King Thankful Truman Unhurt

By The Canadian Press

The King today sent a message to President Truman congratulating the president on his escape from assassination by two Puerto Rican revolutionists Wednesday.

The King's message, one of many arriving in Washington from world figures, said:

"I am indeed glad to hear that the dastardly attempt on your life has been frustrated and send you my sincere and thankful congratulations on your providential escape."

From the Pope came a message expressing "great joy" at the president's escape.

Earlier Canada's prime minister, Louis St. Laurent, sent Truman a message saying that all of the president's friends in the Dominion were "vastly relieved" that he was unharmed.

Plan Soldier's Funeral For Regiment's Mascot

VICTORIA, BC, Nov. 2 (CP)—Pte. Wallace, regimental number K57000, a proud mascot of a proud regiment, died Wednesday night in his sleep.

The 13-year-old Second World War veteran, an amiable St. Bernard, died of old age. Pte. Wallace was mascot of the Canadian Scottish First Battalion overseas.

Trustees of the regiment plan a soldier's funeral for the dog—cremation, with the ashes scattered over the regiment's memorial plot to the skirl of the Lament.

Dr. M. L. Olsen, veterinarian, said the mascot had a long life for a St. Bernard.

Only Part of Army Brigade To Go To Korea—St. Laurent

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 —(CP)—Canada is liable to save some money now on her estimated multi-million-dollar military costs in Korea, but she can expect to get tagged for a helping financial hand in another field—reconstruction. It is not yet clear what Canada or Canadians as individuals will do in the relief, rehabilitation and rebuilding of the ravaged peninsula but officials are certain of one thing: it's going to cost Canada something.

But the military bill, once roughly set by Defence Minister Claxton at $50,000,000 for the months ending next March 31, appears to have been over-estimated for the simple reason that it does not now appear that the majority of the Army's Special Force will be going to Korea.

That bill was based on the assumption that the navy's three destroyers would keep on operating, that the RCAF air lift would continue and that the 11,000-man special brigade would cross the Pacific and get into action.

To Split Force

With an announcement on the destination of the main part of the force expected shortly, Prime Minister St. Laurent Wednesday night told reporters after a cabinet meeting that part but not all of the special force will go to Korea.

This tied in with authoritative reports that a small force of 1,000 or so would go to Korea and that the bulk of the 11,000-man force would train in the United States for the winter. The men going to Korea will go in an occupation role, and some of them may be engineers to help in rebuilding bridges and towns.

Minister Asked Run For Mayor

WINDSOR, Nov. 2 (CP). — The Rev. Harold R. Nobles confirmed today that he had been asked by several persons to accept nomination as a mayoralty candidate in the Dec. 6 civic election. He said he would decide with the help of the board of his church, Temple Baptist Church.

"If by any chance I allowed my name to stand as a candidate and if by any chance I was elected mayor, I would resign my present position as a church minister in order to devote my full time to being mayor," he said.

Thomas Brophy and Frederick Croson, both defeated by Mayor Arthur J. Reaume in the 1948 election, have announced they will be candidates for the post again. Mayor Reaume has not yet announced whether he will run again for the office he has held for 10 years.

Ready For Conference

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Diplomatic officials said today Russia has told the United States she is ready to join in a general conference to write a peace treaty for Japan. Some east-west procedural differences still must be settled before such a conference can be called, however.

200 German Police Drive Off East Reds

BERLIN, Nov. 2—(Reuters)—A West-German police squadron 200 strong, armed with truncheons and fire hoses, today drove off a mob of some 800 East Berlin "peace fighters" outside a courthouse in the British zone of the city.

The crowd was shouting Communist slogans such as "Tommy, go home."

Police made several arrests, and some persons were injured, one a woman.

Police cleared a space outside the courthouse, where a 28-year-old East Berlin "peace fighter," Werner Byszio, was being tried. They cordoned off a large area and combed nearby houses for Communists.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Final, official figures put the 1950 United States population at 150,697,361.

This census tally, taken every 10 years, reflected a shift in the population that will cause seven States to gain and nine to lose seats in the 435-member House of Representatives scheduled to be elected two years from now.

The total population figure was calculated as of April 1. It showed an increase of 19,028,086 since the 1940 census—the greatest gain for a 10-year period in the country's history. The increase was 14.5 per cent.

House seat gains will be seven for California, two for Florida, and one each for Maryland, Michigan, Texas, Virginia and Washington. Losses will be three for Pennsylvania, two each for Missouri, New York and Oklahoma, and one each for Arkansas, Illinois, Kentucky, Mississippi and Tennessee.

Puerto Rican Top Leaders Rounded Up

Report San Juan In State of Siege; Seek Plot Leaders

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Nov. 2—(AP)—Police seized the presidents and top leaders of the Nationalist and Communist parties today in a widespread round-up begun by Puerto Rican authorities a few hours after the Washington attempt on the life of President Truman.

Pedro Albizu Campos, president of the Nationalists, was routed from his besieged home with tear gas and surrendered without a shot being fired. His house had been under siege since Monday when a Nationalist uprising—reported to have been egged on by the Communists—erupted suddenly.

San Juan was virtually under a state of siege today. Police blocked off roads in their hunt for Nationalists and Communists.

Being Questioned

Albizu Campos and other Nationalist and Communist leaders were whisked to police headquarters for intensive questioning. It was learned that some 600 Nationalists and Communists in all were to be rounded up. 300 of them in the metropolitan San Juan area.

Among those arrested were:

The Communist party president, Cecil Andreu Iglesias.

The Communist party secretary, Juan Santos Rivera.

The president of the General Union of Workers, Saez Corales.

Governor Luis Monoz Marin says the union is a Communist front.

All traffic was halted in San Juan by police. The few cars abroad in the early hours of the day were checked frequently by National guardsmen and the passengers searched.

Britain Supports Acheson Security Plan

Collective Defence Only Hope Against Korean-Type Aggression

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—Britain's minister of state, Kenneth Younger, today called on the U.N. General Assembly to discourage any new Korean-type aggressions by ratifying an American plan for collective security.

He charged Russia does not want the world to establishe any form of effective collective defence measures, and said:

"We hope the lesson of Korea will be learned and that no further aggression will occur. This (American-backed) resolution should make aggression less likely by giving notice to any intending aggressor that he risks uniting the world against him."

Adoption Assured

Adoption of the plan offered by State Secretary Dean Acheson is assured. It was overwhelmingly approved by the 60-country political committee.

Under the plan the assembly will arm itself with broad powers to discover and combat aggression when the veto hamstrings the security council.

Wil Talk Peace

American delegate John Foster Dulles repeated Wednesday that the United States is ready to talk peace with Russia at any time. He warned, however, that the possibilities of success are limited because the United States will not be a party to the Russian program of violently coercing people to submit to "the Soviet brand of imperial Communism." He said:

"The issue on which we part is the issue of whether freedom and diversity shall be systematically replaced by enforced conformity with the pattern of Soviet totalitarianism.

'That basic issue does not concern merely, or even primarily, the United States. But if the United States gave way, the smaller nations would first pay the price, for they cannot survive unless there is collective support of a system of tolerance. That is the basic issue from which stem the particular controversies that create the danger points."

US Regiment Badly Mauled In Big Battle

Order Trapped Men Try Break-Out, Situation Serious

SEOUL, Nov. 2—(AP)—American troops gave up tonight a day-long fight to rescue nearly 5,000 soldiers surrounded by Communist forces in Northwest Korea.

The trapped men were ordered to attempt a break-out on their own. They faced terrific odds—and grinning, furiously-fighting Reds who turned captured American guns on the surrounded U.S. force.

Some Americans already had escaped the trap. It was clamped shut Wednesday night by overwhelming Communist forces including Chinese Red troops in strength.

The regiment—one-third of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division — was cut off near a dry river bed four miles southwest of Unsan. This is the area where the Reds have made their strongest fight of the North Korean campaign. Unsan is 66 air miles north of Pyongyang, former Red Korean capital.

Regiment Badly Hurt

Maj.-Gen. Hobart R. Gay, division commander, said the regiment had been "very badly hurt."

A spokesman told AP correspondent Tom Lambert the rescue team ran into a "stone wall" of resistance.

Americans who escaped the trap said there many Chinese Reds in the enemy force.

A Chinese prisoner said the force included 3,000 Chinese Red soldiers.

Lambert quoted an American platoon sergeant as saying the Chinese soldiers were "crazy." The sergeant added:

Laughing While Shot

"They would stand right up in front of you, laughing to beat hell. We killed them by the hundreds. Still they kept coming."

The Reds launched their attack at sunset against the division's lead regiment. A spokesman said the regiment was spread out in a "pursuit situation."

Communist forces smashed at the Americans from the north, east and west. They were equipped with bazookas, automatic rifles and submachine-guns.

Injured Assassin To Be Tried

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—(AP)—Two Puerto Rican revolutionaries were felled in a blaze of gunfire at President Truman's front door Wednesday as they tried to shoot their way in and assassinate him. One was shot dead by return police fire. The other was dropped, wounded, on the steps of Blair House and will probably recover to face a murder charge. Spared by the heroism and smoking guns of White House police, the president was grave but calm. He planned to hold his weekly press conference today, as usual. But the Secret Service reinforced its guard around him, and roped off part of the busy block on Pennsylvania Ave. which briefly had become a bullet-spattered battle front.

Ose Policeman Dead

Three police were brought down in the fusilade before the would-be assassins were stopped. One of them, Pte. Leslie Coffelt, 40, died Wednesday night.

For this, a murder charge was filed against Oscar Collazo, 27, of New York, who blasted his way to the very doorstep of Blair House before he was dropped, his chest riddled with bullets. Maximum penalty for murder in the district of Columbia is electrocution.

The other gunman, Griselio Torresola, was killed. Shot through the head, he died close under the second-storey window where the president lay napping in the temporary executive mansion, hard by the White House itself.

In the youthful Torresola's pocket were two letters, signed with the name of Pedro Campos, head of the Puerto Rican Nationalist Party — violently anti-American—which attempted a revolution in the island possession this week.

One of the letters, dated Sept. 21, from San Juan, told Torresola that "the delegate"—who was not identified by police—"will accord you all the necessary co-operation so that your mission may be a triumph."

Seek Complete Independence

The Nationalist Party, a tiny group numerically, seeks complete independence for Puerto Rico. It has been on the U.S. Attorney-General's subversive list as advocating unconstitutional overthrow of the government since last year.

Island officials have said the party gets support from Communists but there was no hint of Communist participation in the assassination plot.

The U.S. Communist party voiced "profound shock" in a statement issued by William Z. Foster, national chairman. "The Communist party rejects and condemns assassination," he said.

Western Allies Plan 40 Divisions To Be Ready For Europe In 1953

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—(AP)—Defence Minister Jules Moch of France says the Atlantic Pact countries plan to have 40 Divisions on "the Western front" in Europe by 1953. He disclosed this goal Wednesday night during a press conference in which he expressed the opinion that France will never drop its opposition to the inclusion of German military units as large as divisions in Western Europe's will provide half of the ground defence force.

Moch told reporters that France units which the Atlantic Pact Powers plan to station on Europe's western front. He said additional defence forces also are planned on Europe's northern and southern fronts, but gave no hint at the possible size of these forces.

Presumably the western front would be primarily in Germany, the northern front in Norway and Denmark, and the southern front in Italy.

Moch expressed hope that the 12 Atlantic Pact members will be able to agree on a solution of the German rearmament question, despite the present deadlock between U.S. and French plans on that subject. State Secretary Dean Acheson predicted at an earlier conference that some way soon will be found to settle the issue.

The French government wants to limit German military units to the smallest possible size. The United States contends that divisions, up to about 20,000 men each, would be the smallest practical German units.

Playwright George Bernard Shaw Dies

AYOTT ST. LAWRENCE, England, Nov. 2 (AP)—George Bernard Shaw, the century's most famous playwright, died today at the age of 94. The life of the frail old Irish-born wit who amassed a fortune by poking fun at the shortcomings of this civilized age, flickered out at last at 4:59 a.m. (11:59 p.m. EST Wednesday). A tumble in his garden Sept. 10 while pruning a tree proved the undoing of the self-styled Napoleon of drama. He broke his left thigh bone and was taken to Luton hospital to have the bones pinned together. A bladder ailment complicated his condition. A minor operation eased the trouble and he was brought home Oct. 4, but suffered a relapse Sunday.

Mrs. Alice Laden, his housekeeper at the brick cottage, "Shaw's Corner," announced the death to reporters. He had lapsed into a coma at 3 a.m. Wednesday.

No announcement has been made of funeral plans, but friends expect the body will be cremated, the ashes mixed with his wife's and scattered over the Shaw garden.

Didn't Regain Consciousness

Only two nurses were with Shaw at his death. Dr. Thomas Probyn hurried into the house 20 minutes later. F. E. Loewenstein, the playwright's long-time biographer, told reporters Shaw died peacefully without regaining consciousness.

The author of 55 plays, five novels and countless essays—the best of which were turned out after he was 40—Shaw was credited by many critics with reviving British drama after its golden age of Goldsmith and Sheridan. No stickler as to modesty, Shaw considered himself the successor to Shakespeare—and even an improvement on the Bard of Avon.

As a political propagandist he espoused the cause of the Fabian Socialists and helped lay the foundation of the present labor party.

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW

He claimed to be a Communist and an atheist. But if he was a Communist, the brand was not orthodox. Some of his comments, if made in Russia, would have landed him in Siberia.

His atheism also was questioned. He himself once declared, "religion is always right . . . science always is wrong."

The quizzical sage, whose bushy once-red eyebrows and beard and unruly white mane were known to millions, kept the ear of the world for 50 years by his mastery of the studied insult.

Got Attention

Though his career spanned the years from the Victorian to the atomic ages, he never lost the knack of getting attention by needling the pretentious or questioning the world's most cherished notions.

The self-described "journalist, critic, playwright and agitator" never tired of attacking the socially wrong or the phoney. As a dramatist he exposed slum housing, prostitution, class distinction, short-sighted politicians. His acid comment ranged over fields from religion and education to doctors and tax collectors.

Shaw made criticism pay. He may have amassed more wealth than any playwright in history. Estimates of his worth range from about £100,000 to £400,000 and up.

Though he continued to write prolifically, it was evident of late that the razor-sharp mind which drove him to the peak of fame after years of unrewarded effort was running down.

Born in Dublin July 26, 1856, of an impecunious protestant family, Shaw went to London when he was 20. He took up journalism and became a music critic. Even in late years he liked to play the piano and sing in his squeaky but lusty voice.

For years his writings brought him no recognition, but most of his outstanding plays poured out after he was 40. These included "Candida," "Arms and the Man," "Caesar and Cleopatra" and "Pygmalion."

He was over 60 when he produced three generally regarded by the British as his best — "Heartbreak House," "Back to Methuselah" and "St. Joan."

Two In Plane Presumed Dead

ALGOMA MILLS, Ont., Nov. 2 (CP).—Air search for a two-seater aircraft lost off the south shore of Manitoulin Island last Sunday was resumed today, although there appeared little hope of locating it or the bodies of the two persons believed to be aboard.

Presumed dead in the crash are pilot Leo Slivinski of Lau Goma Airways and Ruth Dunoon of Owen Sound, whom he was flying from Tobermory to Algoma.

Ground patrols have searched the shore of Manitoulin Island opposite the spot where the floats were sighted. Two groups of provincial police, foresters and volunteers spent Wednesday searching the rocky, shoal-spotted shoreline.

Kills Fiancee Jailed 5 Years

SARNIA, Nov. 2 (CP). — James Walter Clarke, 25, of Point Edward, today was sentenced to five years by Judge R. W. Treleaven for the shotgun-slaying last August 13 of Helen Anderson, 23, his fiance.

Clarke, a Second World War army veteran who served overseas, was convicted of manslaughter by a Supreme Court jury Oct. 27. He was originally charged with the murder of Miss Anderson, attractive brunette factory worker who boarded with his family for more than three years.

Adjourn Negotiations In Railway Dispute

MONTREAL, Nov. 2 (CP) — Government-supervised negotiations between Canada's major railways and 17 unions representing 124,000 non-operating employees Wednesday night were adjourned until next Wednesday.

Chairman of the negotiation board is Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada who was appointed by the federal government after a nine-day railways strike last summer. His decision is binding on both parties.

Company and union officials declined to comment on what headway has been made so far.

Trying To Trace Gambling Hdqts.

TORONTO, Nov. 2 —(CP) — Ontario Provincial Police are making efforts to trace the roving headquarters of a gambling syndicate in Windsor, it was reported Wednesday night.

Police headquarters here indicated that Sergeant Neil Tomlinson, assigned to the task, had made some progress in checking accounts and receipts of Windsor business firms.

Tomlinson, head of the anti-gambling squad, spent last week in Windsor. It was reported he had obtained accounts received and paid by a man said to be head of the gambling ring.

It was reported that Tomlinson was trying to get information about location of the wire bringing race track information to Windsor. Its pickup point is said to move every month or so to evade detection by police.

Industrials Climb Strongly On Exchange

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP).—Industrials climbed strongly in continuation of Wednesday's advance as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

From a mixed opening the board advanced steadily with gains ranging to a point. Gains about doubled losses and papers, constructions, foods, refining oils, textiles, manufacturing companies and retail stores showed a majority of gains in the groupings. Steels, utilities, agricultures, liquors and banks were mixed. Canadian breweries featured liquors by dropping ⅝ following news of a decreased dividend.

Base metals were mixed with strong prices in both plus and minus columns. Junior and senior golds were mixed with prices trading in a narrow path. Western oils were irregular.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

The Invention of Bi-focals

Signer of the Declaration of Independence, and Constitution Benjamin Franklin will always be honored as one of the greatest of the founding fathers of his country. Franklin was born in 1706.

He was a statesman, but he also produced inventions of extraordinary value. Franklin was the first man to discover that the thunders of the heavens were merely electrical discharges. And the apparatus that he used was a boy's kite and a key.

Franklin, the man of vision, owed more than most people to his eyesight. He had attended school for only two years. No one had to tell him that his eyesight was one of his most precious possessions. By 1759 he had begun to use glasses. These glasses were a godsend because they enabled him to continue his studies and experiments. Yet there was a difficulty: to see close at hand he needed different lenses from those required for seeing at a distance. Franklin observed that it would be more convenient if both types of optical help could be combined in one set of frames; and he found a way by which this could be done. Thus Franklin invented bi-focal spectacles. George Washington was one of the first to adopt the new device. Out of this idea has grown the modern highly perfected bi-focals—glasses which permit the eye to glide smoothly from close reading to distant objects without distortion, annoyance or effort.

US Regiment

In two hours the escape road to the south was cut. The battle raged throughout the night.

Couldn't Break Through

At daylight an Allied rescue team, including other 1st Cavalry Division units, set out on a rescue mission. It ran into heavy enemy fire at Yongsong, about five miles southwest of Unsan.

Tank radios of the surrounded regiment, silent all morning, came to life in the afternoon and directed Allied warplanes in strikes at the enemy. But the rescue team could not break through.

The Reds' hot onslaught was their newest—and mightiest—in their redoubled fight to block approaches to the Korean-Manchurian border.

A U.S. 1st Army Corps spokesman said the situation was "very serious" in the entire northwest sector.

The fury of their attacks put Allied troops on the defensive in the northwest, where the biggest Allied gains had been made recently.

It was an obvious all-out effort by the Reds to keep U.N. troops away from power-producing reservoirs which pump life-blood into both North Korean and Manchurian industry.

The cold of winter and the Gobi sands which whip across the country at this time of year multiplied the misery of ground fighting.

Battle Shaping Up

Here is the way the battle shaped in the Korean theatres:

Northwest: a series of Chinese and North Korean attacks set the allies on their heels. The South Koreans were attacking. A spokesman said the situation was serious but improving. A U.S. armored column pushed northward along the inland coastal area to within 15 air miles of Sinuiju, last Korean city before the Communist Manchurian border. Reds cut off one U.S. 1st cavalry division battalion; two others fought back to the main force.

Northeast: the U.S. 10th corps lost contact with newly-entered Chinese troops. The U.S. 7th infantry division's 17th regiment punched hard at Pungsan, 38 air miles from Manchuria.

Aerial: Russian-built Yak planes hit the northwest Korean area for the second straight day. Two were blasted out of the sky.

New Red Weapon

A 1st cavalry division spokesman said the enemy was using 82-millimetre rockets in their smashing attacks northwest of Unsan. These are believed to be a new Red weapon.

The Reds, including some Chinese, were pressing hardest against allied forces in the Unsan area, 66 air miles north of Pyongyang, fallen North Korean capital.

The Reds attacked the right (east) flank of U.S. 24th division elements trying to power their way up the Korean west coast to the Manchurian border.

One allied armored column crept ahead four miles to within 15 air miles of the boundary. It was headed for the border city of Sinuiju, just across the border from Antung in Manchuria.

The cut-off U.S. cavalry battalion was southwest of Unsan. Two other battalions of the same regiment fought their way out of a Red trap to the main force.

But the cut-off battalion still was surrounded Thursday.

A South Korean battalion, surrounded four days ago, still was trapped.

The hard-driving Reds also forced four South Korean divisions to defensive ground around Unsan, but South Korean 2nd corps units launched counter-attacks 25 miles southeast of Unsan. A corps spokesman said elements of the 6th and 8th divisions had moved up as much as two miles.

Puerto Rican

Police were openly fearful of an attempt to free the 63-year-old leader of the Nationalists, who exploded the bloody but abortive revolt. The island government had charged that Communists egged on the revolt.

Albizu Campos was rushed to general police headquarters immediately. Four district attorneys began questioning him.

More than 30 persons were killed in the unsuccessful National revolt.

A leading Puerto Rican newspaper, El Mundo, today joined the island's governor, Luis Munoz Marin, in condemning the attempt on Truman's life.

El Mundo called it a "crime against Puerto Rico itself."

No Precautions For St. Laurent

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP).—Canada, with no record of any recent assassination attempt against leading political figures, takes no elaborate precaution for the protection of the person of her Prime Ministers.

Unlike President Truman—target of an unsuccessful assassination attempt in Washington Wednesday—Canada's Prime Minister St. Laurent walks unguarded about the streets of this capital and travels also without police escort when he tours the country.

The RCMP are on 24-hour guard at the East Block of the Parliament Buildings, site of the Prime Minister's office, but their function is more to guard the building than the Prime Minister himself.

Ottawans daily see Mr. St. Laurent walking home for lunch unescorted from his office to his apartment, a half-dozen blocks from the Parliament Buildings. In Washington, by contrast, Mr. Truman cannot walk a dozen yards from his residence without a trailing escort of Secret Service guards.

The only time Mr. St. Laurent travels under guard is when he visits a foreign land. By international custom, a visiting dignitary submits to whatever protective arrangements the government of the country he is visiting thinks necessary.

Injured Assassin

In the island uprising, more than 30 persons have been slain. And, just before the afternoon sortie on Blair House, two blazing gasoline bottles were hurled into a crowd at the Puerto Rican labor office in New York.

First Since Lincoln

The thwarted assassination effort was the first conspiracy—legally a plot involving two or more persons—to kill an American President since John Wilkes Booth shot Abraham Lincoln a mile from Wednesday's gunplay.

But Wednesday the secret service was on the job, and its uniformed corps of White House police bore the brunt of the battle.

But two of the force, Pte. Joseph H. Downs, 44, and Pte. Donald T. Birdzell, 41, lay badly wounded. Both Birdzell's knees were shattered. Downs was in "critical, very serious" condition with chest and stomach wounds.

In another hospital room, the wounded Collazo was sullen. "Oh, just political," he said when asked why he came here from New York two days ago to make the attack.

U. E. Baughman, secret service chief, told reporters there was no previous record on either Collazo or Torresola. And Washington's police chief discounted a report that a third Puerto Rican was to be picked up.

Will Investigate

"We are going to investigate very carefully before doing any picking up," he said.

But in New York, police ransacked the tenement blocks in the Bronx area where Collazo and his wife — described as a "quiet couple" by their neighbors—lived.

Thirteen persons from the area were detained for questioning. Mrs. Collazo was held in $50,000 bail and charged with conspiring with others to injure the president. She was arraigned early today and held pending further inquiry or grand jury action.

The stout, 42-year-old Mrs. Collazo talked freely about her husband, who polished pocketbook frames for a living.

She said Collazo told her, before departing Tuesday, that he was "going to Puerto Rico," and added: "We must be free. We can no longer be slaves of the United States."

President Calm

The President was "the calmest man in the place" when, awakened by the shots, he peered out a window and saw dead and wounded police and attackers before the yellow-brick official residence in which he lives during extensive repairs to the White House.

"Get back, get back," a policeman shouted. Truman did, but remained cool and undisturbed.

He kept a date to attend a memorial service at Arlington National Cemetery half an hour later. His face was tightly drawn as he told a group gathered to honor the late St. John Dill, British field marshal.

"It is important to the peace of the world that peoples understand each other and have full faith in each other's sincerity."

Three Arrested

Three men, one of whom is the self-proclaimed leader of the Puerto Rican Nationalist movement in New York City, were arrested by Secret Service agents today.

They were seized at the apartment of Collazo.

Those arrested were:

Juan Pinto-Gandia, 42, who served six years in federal penitentiary for insurrection in Puerto Rico and was released in 1943. He was at one time a lawyer and now is the self-proclaimed leader of the Nationalist movement in this city.

John Correa, 48, sporting goods manufacturer. He was reported as having a loaded 32-calibre pistol in his possession, for which he had a licence.

Juan Cortes Cordero, 71, uncle of Mrs. Collazo, who resides in the Collazo apartment. He is a ship's cook and part-time minister.

All three were indentified as natives of Puerto Rico.

OBITUARIES

MRS. JOHN HENRY MOORE

Mrs. John Henry Moore, 66, Blackwater, died suddenly Wednesday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Ray Williamson, Blackwater. Mrs. Moore, the former Emma Louisa Carveth, was born in Dummer township, daughter of the late Andrew Peterson Carveth and Elizabeth Batten.

Mrs. Moore has lived in Blackwater for the past six years coming there from Cavan. She was a member of the United Church and while her health permitted, she was very active church worker. Her husband the late John Henry Moore predeceased her in 1944.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Ray Williamson (Alita) of Blackwater and Mrs. Donald Price (Bernice) of Fraserville and one son, Ernest of Cavan. One brother Ernest Carveth predeceased her in 1936.

The funeral will be held Saturday at the Comstock Funeral Home at 2 p.m. The Rev. Bernard Heywood of Fraserville United Church will conduct the service. Burial will be in St. Mark's Cemetery, Warsaw.

ALLEN HOMER CHURCH

Allen Hoiner Church, 85, of Haultain died on Wednesday in hospital following a short illness. He was born in Cramahe township, Northumberland county, son of the late Oliver Church and Maturia Platt, and has lived nearly a lifetime at Haultain. His wife, the former Violet Harvey, predeceased him in 1940.

He leaves three daughter, Mrs. B. Burnett (Emily) of Young's Point, Mrs. D. Lindsay (Dolly) of Belleville and Mrs. W. Farrant (Violet) of Brampton. There are five sons, Oliver Church of this city, Oscar, Joseph and William at home and Frank of Kincaid, Sask. Mr. Church was a member of Eden United Church near Mount Julian.

Funeral service will be held on Friday at 2 p.m. at the Hendren Funeral Home, Lakefield. Layman G. Cleveland Robb will officiate and burial will be at Ray's cemetery, Lakefield.

Field For Diesels

MONTREAL —(CP)— A leader in early development of diesel-electric rail transport, Canada remains a natural field for its further development, says I. I. Sylvester, diesel application engineer. Canada now has 572 diesel-electrict locomotives in service or on order, he said.

Show Goes On

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)— The Musgravetown fair was held as scheduled, although the building burned down the night before and part-time farmers, decided the show would go on in three smaller buildings. Despite loss of some exhibits, it was a big success.

Aussies Fear Wheat Loss To Hit 34 Million

SYDNEY, Nov. 2 (Reuters).—Continuation of the rail strike in the State of Victoria which started 17 days ago may cost Australia the equivalent of $34,000,000 in ruined wheat, C. R. Beere of the Australian Wheat Board, said Wednesday.

The Victorian and Southern Riverina wheat districts will soon harvest a bumper crop worth about $65,000,060, he said. But granaries are still crammed with last season's crop and cannot be cleared because of the rail strike.

If insect pests get into this season's wheat, its value may be halved, Beere said. Granaries must be fumigated before the new wheat can be stored.

Hopes of an immediate settlement of the strike were dashed Wednesday when Conciliation Commissioner V. G. Hall refused to ratify an agreement reached between the Australian Railways Union and the State Railway Commissioners.

Strike 18 Days Old

The strike began in Victoria 18 days ago and in South Australia a week later over the same issues a demand for a £1 marginal pay increase and adjustments in working conditions and overtime. The 19 trade unions now involved will meet here tomorrow to discuss the deadlock.

The strike has seriously affected all industry and food supplies. Road transport has been unable to carry enough livestock to the cities, and housewives have been warned that food prices may go up because of increased transport costs.

In South Australia sheep are being carried 300 miles by road to Adelaide, and wheat is being brought in by sea. A big motor-body factory in Adelaide is crammed with 1,500 units which cannot be moved to other states where buyers are waiting for them.

Richard Hall Appointed United Counties Assessor

COBOURG, Nov. 2—(ENS)—Northumberland and Durham counties council, after discussions and enquiries which have ranged from session to session, yesterday agreed to appoint a county assessor. Richard Hall, assistant asessor at Cobourg, received the appointment at a salary of $3,000 per year plus travelling expenses.

Mr. Hall is a young war veteran and during the re-assessment of Cobourg under the direction of a representative from the assessment department of the Department of Municipal Affairs, he received considerable training in modern assessment methods.

The Assessment Committee reported to council that they had considered 63 applications and finally recommended Mr. Hall. Reeve Art Wartman of Percy Township asked what the duties of a county assessor would be and he was told by the chairman of the committee that the county assessor acted in co-operation with the local assessors and would be more or less guided by the Department of Municipal Affairs. The Department had put out an assessor's manual and this would serve to assist both the county assessor and the local assessor in his work.

Need Superintendent

Warden Bruce Jandrew declared that there must be someone to superintend assessors because each local assessor would be inclined to look after the interests of his own municipality, and unless there were a county assessor to co-ordinate their efforts it would be impossible to arrive at an equalization of the various assessments.

Reeve Wartman said he would like to see the municipalities have more time to study the manual and figure the whole matter out, before it was settled. He felt that it would double some assessments and more taxes would be paid with the rurals paying the shot. He said he would like to se it deferred until the January session.

To Be Pitied

Reeve H. Campbell of South Monaghan Township was in favour of getting the matter settled at once. There had been ample time to study it and if the Reeve of Percy Township didn't yet understand it, he was to be pitied, he declared.

"The county assessor equalizes the assessment," commented the Warden.

"We had our assessment done over and it cut the rate from 60 down to 30 mills and we still had a surplus of $2,200 on double the assessment," said Reeve G. A. Walton of Newcastle.

"A man from the department guided our assessor in our re-assessment and we found some lots that had never been on the roll," commented Reeve Roy Dodge of Cobourg.

"And we had the lowest number of appeals this year that we ever had," interjected Deputy-Reeve George Galbraith of Cobourg.

Town Tied Up

Reeve Frank George, chairman of the special county property committee, told the council that while the town was tied up well in the lease of 1945, the council realized the cost of heating the town hall where most of the offices were county offices, had mounted to a high level. The committee was therefore in favour of granting the town of Cobourg $1,000 toward the coal bill.

It was estimated it would cost $3,000 to heat the town hall and county offices this year. The county property committee had looked into the proposal that the town of Cobourg build offices in the east basement which would house certain town municipal offices and release office space upstairs which could be used for county purposes. For instance the crown attorney did not have an office in the town hall nor was there a proper place for a lawyer to interview his witnesses.

To Cost $15,000

Reeve Dodge said that it was going to cost $15,000 and the town would like the counties to assist in meeting the cost. The entire matter will be dealt with next year.

Percy Gooding and P. I. Bentley Northumberland and Durham county weed inspectors, respectively presented their reports of yesterday's session of counties council and reported that good progress had been made in the never-ending war on weeds.

Visiting ex-wardens at the session yesterday were A. J. Runnalls of Hope township and another ex-warden, W. R Prouse, also of Port Hope.

Present Watch

At a dinner last night in the British Hotel, Warden Bruce Jandrew of Murray township was presented with the traditional gold watch. The presentation was made by Reeve Bert Lingard of Port Hope, veteran member of the counties council. Chairman of the evening was Deputy-Reeve A. W. Hayes of Murray Township. Warden Jandrew retires from municipal life at the end of this year after 14 years service on the township council of which six were years as counties councillor.

Special guests at the warden's banquet were W. A. Goodfellow, MLA for Northumberland; Dr. Fred Robertson, MP for Northumberland; Johnny James, member for Durham; ex-member Charlie Stephenson, Port Hope; Warden M. Whitney of Prince Edward County; Lee Grills, representing the warden of South Hastings.

Campbellford Starts Chamber Commerce

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 2 — (ENS)—Mr. Alex Fraser, president of the Marmora Chamber of Commerce, addressed a group of Campbellford business men at Edgewater Park early this week, with reference to forming a Chamber of Commerce in Campbellford.

Mr. Fraser explained the organization and workings of the chamber in his town, and outlined procedure.

After making preliminary arrangements, the group voted Lynd Bradley as president of the Chamber, with R. D. McDonald as V.P., Paul G. O'Sullivan, secretary and Austin Putnam as treasurer.

The executive was voted power to carry on with the business of the group, and to pick eight directors to assist with the work.

Two Cars Damaged

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 2 — (ENS)—Minor damage resulted when two cars, one driven by George Chrysler of Grand Road in Campbellford, and the other by Luther Partridge of R.R. 2, Warkworth, collided at the intersection on the west side of the river about 6 p.m. Tuesday. The left side of the Chrysler car suffered most damage, while the front left fender and bumper of the Partridge car were crumpled. Chief Geo. H. Hardy investigated.

Baron Jessel Dies

LONDON, Nov. 2 — (AP) — Baron Herbert Merton Jessel, 84, long-time soldier and former membe rof the House of Commons, died Wednesday.

Dr. Hayden, 78 Dies In Toronto

COBOURG, Nov. 2—(ENS)—Cobourg and district lost one of the oldest practising physicians in Ontario in the death in Toronto General Hospital yesterday of Dr. Edgar W. Hayden, of Cobourg, who died after a short illness in his 78th year. The funeral will be tomorrow from his late residence with interment in Cobourg Union Cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, who was Jeanne Dunn, of St. Catherines; two sons, Harold, of Fort Erie, and Dumble, of Gravenhurst, and a daughter, Grace, in Toronto.

Dr. Hayden was born in Cobourg and educated at Victoria College when it was in Cobourg, graduating from McGill in medicine in 1892. He practised here for the past 53 years and during that period became known all over the district. He had a large practice in Roseneath district and it is said that several rural parents, grateful to the kindly physician for the healthy babies he had ushered into the world, made it a point to name one in their flock after Dr. Hayden with the result that several residests of the Roseneath section have first name of "Edgar" or "Hayden."

Dr. Hayden made up a famous stomach remedy which had a wide distribution, but he never could be persuaded to market it on a commercial scale. The late doctor was a great supporter of Roseneath Fair and never missed a showing.

Prankster Shot Annoying Man

LINDSAY, Nov. 2—Harry Barnum of West Guilford was annoyed by youngsters Hallowe'en night who were trying to upset an outside privy. When they failed to heed his warnings and pelted him with tomatoes and potatoes he took down a shotgun and fired a blast into the air. The boys left to bring back larger boys and young men, and this time when a shot was fired the pellets hit Hector Bain in the leg.

Con. W. Douvel of Haliburton was called and Bain was taken to Haliburton, where five pellets were removed. Provincial police at Minden are investigating.

Deadly Enemy

LONDON, Nov. 2 (Reuters)—In a single year, cancer kills nearly as many Britons as the 144,000 British Army men slain in the second world war, a government report disclosed Wednesday. In England and Wales about 100,000 contract cancer each year, the report said.

Police Investigate Hallowe'en Vandalism

COBOURG, Nov. 2 (ENS) — Provincial police were called out yesterday to investigate Hallowe'en vandalism in this district. The school between Cobourg and Port Hope was damaged during the night by intruders who upset desks, broke a geography globe and tore down eavetroughing. Police think that the ones responsible were a little older and bigger than mere children. At Garden Hill vandals caused damage to property in a number of instances.

Peterborough's Beaver

In an editorial headed "Call Out The Guards—They've Swiped Our Beaver," the Toronto Star wryly contrasts Peterborough's newly acquired heraldic blazon with the quaint and laughable trademark which does duty for a coat-of-arms in the provincial capital. We appreciate the Star's attitude in this matter; it admits that, heraldically speaking, Peterborough outclasses Toronto as a thoroughbred outclasses a junk-wagon moke. It states, frankly, that Toronto's trademark was the work of an old soldier who used to mooch drinks by drawing pictures on the floors of Toronto's pubs; since those days the trademark has been somewhat refurbished by more stylish artists who do chalk-talks in Toronto's cocktail lounges, but it is still tavern art, and heraldically ludicrous. The Star makes no bones about this, and we admire its frankness.

• • •

The Star does remark, however, that the necessity for consulting the College of Heralds in order to obtain a properly designed and accredited blazon of arms is a relic of colonialism. We disagree. We got our city arms in England, because that is where the best coats-of-arms are to be had. If we had wanted a bell, we should also have got that in England, because the English know more about making bells than other people. We would not think ourselves colonial simply because we had declined to have a bad bell made by a Canadian workman who did not understand the bell-maker's art. We wanted the best, and we went to the place where the best was to be had. Toronto could do the same, if it wasn't so stingy. But Toronto has never understood the proper way to spend money. At present it is deciding how to decorate University Avenue, though it well knows that it has no machinery to keep University Avenue free of snow in winter. Toronto is silly but loveable, like a nice old aunt who is not quite right in the head.

• • •

What really seems to hurt the Star is that the College of Heralds have given us a beaver for our crest—a beaver with the key of St. Peter in its mouth. Toronto's label has a beaver on it, too. This does not seem to us to create a problem; let Toronto give a dollar to another gimmill herald to design it another crest, with something else on it. The Ottawa Citizen, with a coarse ribaldry unfortunately rare in Canadian journalism, makes the following suggestion:

> If Toronto must have a coat-of-arms, it seems only fitting that the city should go back to its beginnings, and take note of its present. A hog, flanked by a bowler hat and a brief case, and mounted on ticker tape, would be suitable.

We make no comment on this; we have no desire to give pain. We content ourself with saying that crests of the type which Toronto finds expressive of its aspiration and chivalry are easily and cheaply obtained, and the Queen City should have no trouble in getting another. Why don't they have a contest among their junior school pupils? Not quite the College of Heralds, but in the best economic and artistic traditions of Toronto.

Canada's National Book Week

In Canadian Book Week we are never quite sure whether we are being asked to give our attention to books by Canadians, or whether, as Canadians, we are being asked to think about books in general. We meet the problem by doing both. Books by Canadians will always have a degree of interest for Canadians, but we should not like to ask Canadians to limit their interest in the work of non-Canadian authors.

Every year the number of books by Canadians which achieve publication in this country or abroad grows a little. We are beginning to be a writing nation. But alas, how much more slowly are we becoming a reading nation! The Scandinavian countries, whom we resemble in so many ways, have populations which seem trifling in comparison with ours, but they write, buy and read more books than we. In a recent survey, which was commented upon in these columns a few weeks ago, it appeared that the U.S.A. was lowest on a list of the most civilized countries in the world in its reading of books. No figure for Canada was given, but we may assume that we were not greatly superior to our southern neighbour in that respect. Reading as a habit, and an habitual form of pleasure, is not widespread in Canada. We are an intelligent nation, but it is questionable whether we are justified in describing ourselves as a literate nation.

Every year during Book Week weighty questions are proposed, such as: Are we creating a Canadian literature? Obviously we are; the real question is, How good is it? And how good it is may be decided in a variety of ways. One test which we think effective, when applied to a Canadian book is: Could I send this to a friend in the U.S., or South Africa, or Britain, with any assurance that he would find it enjoyable? Good books travel well. Anyone who doubts it has only to look on the shelves in a good Canadian library; a majority of the books will have crossed a boundary or two to get there.

Books are as important to the building of a nation as bricks. Books can show us ourselves, and until we know ourselves we shall not know anything else very deeply or truly.

National Blood Transfusion

In our Letters to the Editor columns Tuesday a Canadian who has been studying in the United States for three years wrote from Michigan to suggest that the export of many of our best people to the U.S.A. is not a bad thing. He puts forward the argument that thus Canada is left open to receive immigrants of the best types. He remarks that the transfusion of new blood cannot help but have a beneficial effect. We point out that it all depends on the type of new blood and on how much good blood has been lost for which the new is replacement. There is also the matter of the cost of working these transfusions.

Our correspondent remarks that it is a well-known biological principle that inbreeding can lead only to retrogression. But it is also well known that a certain amount of inbreeding is capital stuff; that is how prize herds are produced. It is a further biological fact that transfusion of new blood should only be used when the old is diseased or insufficient. The brains that Canada exports to the United States are far from diseased. But the export is so heavy that there has to be an infusion of new people to prevent debility setting in in Canada.

At the rate Canada loses her best blood, there is danger to the body politic. The gap is always so big and open that there is hardly time for the new blood (the immigrants) to become assimilated into the main stream, before it too is sucked off to the U.S. It is well known that many of our best immigrants use Canada as a staging area between their European pasts and the golden glow of New York; they mark time until they can get Canadian papers for entry to the U.S.A.

Blood transfusions are not a sign of health. Further, the types imported into the blood stream may not be quite right. Can Canada always get as good as it gives? Is the Anglo-Saxon stock we lose to the United States fully compensated for by the general European strains imported?

We referred earlier to the cost of this national transfusion. The "best blood" or "best brains" we export have cost Canada a great deal of money, in education (often to the very highest levels), in nutrition, in public services—$10,000 a person would not be too high a figure. Are we getting the equivalent in our immigrants?

Canada's Jets

This year is important in Canadian aviation history. It is the year in which jet planes, designed in Canada and built in Canada, have made their mark. The A.V. Roe company's CF-100, a long-range jet fighter, was first flown this year and will dip its wings to none other produced anywhere else in the world. The Canadian F-86, a jet-fighter has also proven itself this year. The initial flights of the first jet transport to be designed and built in the western hemisphere, the Canadian Avro C-102, were made this year and the first orders for commercial jet transports have been given by a Canadian airline.

What this new branch of our aviation industry will amount to depends not only on continued government support, but in the long run on the markets for them. Canadian military and civilian requirements alone will not keep Canada's jet plane factories thriving. There must be foreign markets, and there should be good ones for these superior machines.

"America has the morals and outlook of an eighteenth century village." (Letter to Frank Harris—1906.)

"You in America should trust to that volcanic political instinct which I have divined in you." (Speech Metropolitan Opera House, New York, April 11, 1933.)

◇ ◇ ◇

ABOUT ENGLAND:

"As an unpopular, ill-mannered nation, our existence depends upon being ready to fight the entire foreign human race." (Speech in London on preserving peace—January, 1914.)

"It seems to require a very elaborate ceremony to induce people to think for two minutes of those who fell in the great war. For my part I should be much obliged to anyone who could make me forget them for two minutes." (Armistice Day—1925.)

"The whole strength of England lies in the fact that the enormous majority of the English people are snobs." (Getting Married.)

◇ ◇ ◇

ABOUT IRELAND:

"He who fights for the independence of his country may be an ignorant, disastrous fool, but he is not a traitor. It is unreasonable for us to clamour for the blood of men who have simply taken us at our word and competed for our hero worship with the Belgians and the Serbians." (On the Sinn Fein "Bloody Easter" revolt—1916.)

"My advice to America is not to send a single cent to Ireland ever again, for shoes or anything else. It is a mistake to support her poor. She is only an incorrigible beggar." (Comment on appeals for funds to buy shoes for Irish children—1927.)

◇ ◇ ◇

ABOUT RELIGION:

"I can not join any church because a dramatist must be impartial. But I need the prayers of all the churches." (Letter to London Daily Mail answering an inquiry as to his religion—1927.)

"Religion is always right. Religion solves problems. Science always is wrong. Science never solves one problem without raising ten more." (Speech at banquet to Prof. Albert Einstein, October, 1930.)

Religion is a great force—the only real motive force in the world; but what you fellows don't understand is that you must get at a man through his own religion and not through yours. (Getting Married.)

ABOUT PEOPLE:

The nauseous sham goodfellowship our democratic public men get up for shop use. (Back to Methuselah. Gospel of the Brothers Barnabas.)

People are always blaming their circumstances for what they are. I don't believe in circumstances. The people who get on in this world are the people who get up and look for the circumstances they want, and, if they can't find them, make them. (Mrs. Warren's Profession. Act. II.)

I like a bit of mongrel myself, whether it's a man or a dog; they're the best for every day. (Misalliance, Episode I.)

When two people are under the influence of the most violent, most insane, most delusive, and most transient of passions, they are required to swear that they will remain in that excited, abnormal, and exhausting condition until death do them part. (Getting Married. Preface.)

◇ ◇ ◇

ABOUT THE WORLD:

"Schools are a prison for children. I was locked up in one many hours, but never learned anything there. That is how I preserved my brain. Otherwise I'd be an imbecile, like other educated people." (Lecture to Fabian Society—1923.)

"Poverty can be cured in a variety of ways. If necessary, by putting to death every person making less than a thousand pounds a year or asking for more." (In "London Magazine"—December, 1927.)

"Having seen the world, can I suggest any way in which it could be improved? Certainly! The answer is in three words: 'Read my books.'" (On return to England from world cruise—1933.)

Cards Off The Table

(London Observer)

Australia's Speaker, Mr. A. G. Cameron, has arrived in London to present the new Commons Chamber with a Speaker's Chair—outwardly identical with the original seat but made of Australian woods.

Mr. Cameron is a puritan, a lover of tradition and something of a martinet. When he took his seat as Speaker last year he at once restored the full-bottomed wig and stately paraphernalia of the Speaker's procession, dropped by his Labour predecessor.

No sooner had the House got used to this than he rose one day to announce head-magisterially that he had seen certain people playing poker in the precincts. Delving into ancient rules of Parliament (taken over from Westminster) he ruled that the use of playing cards in the Parliament buildings was a breach of the law. No prosecution followed, but the rule is now enforced more strictly in Canberra than Westminster.

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW 1856-1950

By J. C. TREWIN, Drama Editor, London Observer

(Copyright Reserved to the Peterborough Examiner from the London Observer).

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW, great dramatist, great pamphleteer, great Irishman of British letters, is dead, mourned by all.

He was born in Dublin on July 26, 1856, the third and last child and the only son of George Carr Shaw, Civil Servant, and later a wholesale corn-dealer, and a much younger wife, Lucinda Gurly, daughter of a country gentleman of Carlow.

The father—"he might have been a weaker brother of Charles Lamb"—was ineffective and unsuccessful. G.B.S. inherited most from his independent, unromantic, musical mother, a singing mistress.

Before he was ten, he said, he got into "an atmosphere of freedom of thought, of anarchic revolt against conventional assumptions of all kinds." Such education as he had at the Wesleyan Connexional School in Dublin he regarded as "the most completely wasted and mischievous part of my life."

When he was fourteen he went to work in the office of a Dublin land agent, and in 1876, then aged twenty, he descended upon London, a tall, lean youth, blue-eyed, with sandy hair and beard. For a time he worked in the office of the Edison Bell Telephone Company.

'NOVELS OF NONAGE'

Between 1879 and 1883 he produced five novels—"heavy brown-paper parcels which were always arriving back to me from some publisher and raising the very serious financial question of the sixpence to be paid to the carrier for passing them on to the next publisher." Four of these "novels of my nonage," as he called them later, appeared in obscure magazines, and in due time "Cashel Byron's Profession" became his first separately published volume (1886).

Shaw was not to continue as a novelist. Other matters took his mind: the influence of Henry George and of Karl Marx opened the road to Socialism, just as that of Shelley—also a revolutionary, atheist, and vegetarian—had opened the road to literature. He became a firm friend of Sidney Webb's, and in September, 1884, he was one of the early members of the Fabian Society. Soon the twinkling eye over a flaming beard and the persuasive Irish accent were familiar on the platform both in London's debating-halls and in the open air, where Shaw was learning to be a pungent verbal propagandist.

At the same time he started to make another name as a shrewd, fearless critic, at first of music in London (in "The Star" over the pseudonym "Corno di Bassetto," and later in "The World"). Music had always a strong influence on Shaw, and Wagner was one of his gods. G.B.S., dramatic critic, whose brilliant, sportive years on the "Saturday Review" (1895-98) placed him at the head and front of his craft, had yet to arrive.

FIRST PLAY

Before this he published a penetrating essay, "The Quintessence of Ibsenism" (1891)—he had always ridden upon that keen wind from the North—and also appeared as a dramatist with the first of nearly fifty plays: "Widowers' Houses," an attack on slum landlordism, staged by the Independent Theatre Society in 1892, a piece immature but stingingly forcible. It was published in 1896 in a volume of "Plays Unpleasant," the others being "The Philanderer" and "Mrs. Warren's Profession." The last, a Shavian view of the traffic in women, was long banned officially, though—like "Widowers' Houses"—it could be described as "pure social science dramatized."

Shaw's later record was one of untiring output, continuous crusading in play, preface, and pamphlet, and—once the theatre and the public had accepted him as moralist and entertainer—of heartening commercial success. He had some years to wait: acclamation for "John Bull's Other Island" (Court Theatre, 1905) was the first real proof of public acceptance. Earlier there had been the "Plays Pleasant," the "Three Plays for Puritans," and the philosophic comedy of "Man and Superman." The volume of "Plays Pleasant" (1898) contained "The Man of Destiny," "You Never Can Tell," "Arms and the Man," and the delightful "Candida," with the most true and likeable of Shaw's usually disconcerting women.

"Arms and the Man" was an anti-romantic's gay exposure of the "romanticism" of war. On its first night (1894) Shaw had rebuked a solitary booer from the gallery with the retort: "I quite agree with you, sir, but who are we among so many?" The most ambitious of the "Three Plays for Puritans" (1901) proved to be the often eloquent "Caesar and Cleopatra." In "Man and Superman" (1903) we met the predatory Shavian woman, Ann Whitefield, and heard the discussion of the Life Force, Shaw's conception of the underlying energy of life as the world-will.

ESTABLISHED DRAMATIST

By now he was established as a dramatist with more to say than any man of his time. And how he said it! "Drama," he had explained, "is no mere setting up of the camera to nature; it is the presentation in parable of the conflict between man's will and his environment, in a word, of problem." No writer could debate so lucidly or with more conviction. Shaw had always held assertion to be the Alpha and Omega of style; his plays bore this out.

In spite of their alarming volubility there had been nothing on our stage like these dramas of ideas, driving usually against venerable fallacies and exploring problems with the thoroughness of an Ibsen. They acted well—players and managers discovered this at last—and playgoers found that they were equally good to read, especially when considered with their multiple additions, the prefaces and appendices.

As time passed Shaw tended to become more expository than dramatic. His plays continued to thrust wittily at politicians, physicians, pedagogues, priests, and the rest of his butts—a profession, he laid it down, was always a conspiracy against the public—yet some of them, "Getting Married" (1908), for example, and "Misalliance" (1910), passed unashamedly from stage to debating-chamber or conference-hall: the characters got their knees under the table and spoke endless lengths of preface.

On the other side there were such brisk theatre-pieces as "Fanny's First play" (1911), "Androcles and the Lion" (1913), and the farcical "Pygmalion" (1914), which appealed to the public for the wrong reason, and more than thirty years later was to convert to Shaw the vast new audiences of the cinema. "Heartbreak House" (written in 1917; staged 1921), symbolic of the leisured class that had let civilization slip into bankruptcy, returned to the discussion-play in a manner now incandescent, now merely perverse; Shaw, who had a fondness for secondary titles, called it "a fantasia in the Russian manner upon English themes."

'BACK TO METHUSELAH'

In 1923 the fearsomely named "metabiological pentateuch" of "Back to Methuselah" was staged. It turned out to be a full-dress exposition of Shaw's philosophy, beginning with "Eden's bower in flower" and ending far in the future; the published version was preceded by a notable preface on Creative Evolution. The pentateuch itself was uneven; but the first and final sections, distinguished by both Shaw's invariable wisdom and a fine felicity of phrase, contained what may be some of his most enduring work for the stage. "Saint Joan" (1923) was a vigorous portrait-play in which, however, Shaw's argumentative peers and prelates were more persuasive than Joan herself. Two years later he received the Nobel Prize for Literature. In the last two decades of his life his plays grew more loquacious and less actable, though "The Apple Cart" (1929), a defence of kingship; "Geneva" (1938), and "In Good King Charles's Golden Days" (1939) were touched by the master's genius. (What other dramatist at the age of eighty-three could have written so wise and, often, so exquisitely cadenced a play as the Restoration conversation-piece).

Few of Shaw's works, even the least successful, lacked something of the Shavian profundity and the Shavian laughter, the vision and the gleam. "Too True To Be Good" (1932) reminded one now and then of the chasm of "Kubla Khan," with its ceaseless tumult seething and huge fragments vaulting like rebounding hail. At other times one remembered the river "five miles meandering with a mazy motion." Shaw could pass in almost a breath from superb prose to verbal slapstick, but, whether he was speaking from the pleasure-dome or the caves of ice, he knew always how to conduct a debate.

His last full-length play, "Buoyant Billions" was produced at the revived Malvern Festival in August, 1949.

UNCLOUDED POWERS

Apart from the plays, Shaw produced a mass of other work, for instance, "The Intelligent Women's Guide to Socialism and Capitalism" (1928), and in 1944 "Everybody's Political What's What?" a survey, so it seemed, of practically everything. Here G.B.S., aged eight-eight, showed that his loyalties were unchanging—his belief in Collectivism, his preference for an efficient oligarchy, his dislike of the Common Man, and so on.

To the last Shaw's powers remained unclouded. He will be lodged in history as a master playwright, as triumphant debater and pamphleteer, as philosopher and prophet. Nearly half a century ago, when he gave up his criticism, dramatic and musical, he wrote: "For ten years past, with unprecedented pertinacity, I have been driving into the public head that I am an extraordinarily witty, brilliant, and clever man." Here, in his own way, he told nothing but the truth.

Personally he was a man of abounding charm and kindness, and, in his domestic life, most happily married during 45 years to Charlotte Frances Payne-Townshend, who died in 1943. The news of his passing will grieve the civilized world. There's a great spirit gone.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field which the Lord God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden? And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden: but of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it neither shall ye touch it lest ye die.

And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die: for God doth know that, in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil. And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her; and he did eat....

And the Lord God said unto the woman, What is this that thou hast done? And the woman said, The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat. And the Lord God said unto the serpent, Because thou hast done this, thou art cursed above all cattle, and above every beast of the field; upon thy belly shalt thou go, and dust shalt thou eat all the days of thy life: and I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel....

And unto Adam he said, Because thou hast hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tree, of which I commanded thee, saying, Thou shalt not eat it: cursed is the ground for thy sake; in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life. (Gen. 3: 1-6, 13-15, 17.)

UNO'S BIRTHDAY (Five years old last month . . .) - - by GILES

"What a dirty trick—some of these flashlights are hand-grenades."

City Carpetball

Quaker's No. 4 played host to Legion No. 7 and those Quaker-men were so full-of-pep they just ran away with the first game 19-3 allowing the Big Bens to score in only one frame. The second encounter saw the Big Bens leading by four when those Full-O-Peps scored a big four to tie it up in the third and then gradually crept ahead until the eighth frame when they were leading 10-5. Then the Bens apparently secured their balance again and scored in the last four frames consecutively to take the second 11-10 thereby splitting the match evenly.

SOE No. 8 were the guests of St. Luke's No. 1 but St. Luke's only had two men and actually lost the games by default. But a friendly match was played with the Sons taking both games, 13-11 and 14-6. Teams must observe the rules and abide by them in regard to not less than three men can be played.

King Billie was scheduled at home against Legion No. 5 but due to their hall being under construction played at the Legion Hall. The first game saw the orange-squeezers leading 5-1 going into the sixth when the Old Sweats scored two-twos to even it up in the seventh. King Billie went ahead by three in the next two frames but the Old Sweats finished ahead in the final frames to take a dandy game by a score of 11-8. In the second game the Old Sweats caught King Billie with the White Charger out for a drink and swept the second game 12-4 and racked up four points on the evening's play.

The fire-fighters just wiggled a 14-10 victory in the first game against the Glens at Legion Hall after a nip and tuck battle. The second play saw the Glens lead off with a big four and while those smoke-eaters battled hard, their first could not overcome the edge that four had given those fighting Glens as the final tally was 12-10; two well fought games.

The final match of the week saw St. George's playing host to Legion No. 3 and the Legionnaires taking the bit in their mouths swept to 13-3 victory. The second seemed another sweep when all at once the Saints from the south found their firing eyes and made it an even game in the ninth frame and then went ahead by one, but there was no stopping the Legionnaires as they tied it up in the next frame and then finished with a three to take it 15-12 and swept to four points.

The schedule for the week of November 6 will be: St. George's No. 10 vs. Legion No. 5; LOL No. 2 vs. Legion No. 7; Quaker's No. 4 vs. Fire Hall No. 9; St. Luke's No. 1 vs. Glens No. 6; SOE No. 8 vs. Legion No. 3.

The Glens, along with the three Legion teams, have paid their total membership fees this past week. Your secretary requires the names of your players; please do not forget this little chore. The revised rule books are available at 10 cents a copy; every member should have one. Also, don't forget to sell your draw tickets.

Standing up to October 27:

Team	W	L	T	Pts.	Av.
SOE 8	4	0	0	8	67%
Legion 5	3	1	0	6	56%
Quaker 4	2	1	1	5	60%
Legion 3	2	1	1	5	56%
Fire Hall 9	2	2	0	4	55%
LOL 2	2	2	0	4	50%
Glens 6	2	2	0	4	49%
St. George's 10	1	3	0	2	40%
Legion 7	1	3	0	2	30%

HASTINGS, Nov. 2—(ENS)—A meeting was held in Hastings Community Centre to discuss the formation of a hockey league. Representatives attended from Lakefield, Keene, Warsaw, Havelock and Hastings.

All present were enthusiastic and it was decided that the representatives would go back to their various centres, form executives, and these officers will attend a meeting Monday, Nov. 6, in the Hastings Council Chambers.

Escapes Ambush

MANILA, Nov. 2—(AP)—Representative Jose Y. Feliciano (Liberal) shot his way out of an ambush Wednesday night in which his wife was killed by 20 armed raiders. A blast of automatic fire from the raiders killed Mrs. Feliciano in their car. The husband blasted his way out of the trap by emptying his pistol at the attackers. It was another instance of the Red-led hukbalahaps' forays.

Petes Turn Back Queen's To Take Senior 'B' Lead

The Petes took over first plaee in No. 1 OHA senior "B" group here last night with two wins in a row over Queen's, beating the University boys 5-2 before a fair-sized crowd Wednesday in Civic Arena. Mayor Max Swanston, aided by James Girven and Ben Swartz, officially opened the Petes' home season in a brief ceremony. The game was played on heavy ice, due to the exceptionally mild weather.

After a real listless first frame the teams showed some life in the middle heat, and they came on in the third to dish up some fast and interesting hockey. It was a clean contest throughout, with Queen's drawing five of the nine penalties passed out, all quite minor offences. Both sides played it cozily throughout, after a rather rough melee last Friday in Kingston, and referee Jim Crombie of Bowmanville was extra tough.

Scored Two

Gus Leonard scored two goals for the winners, with one apiece being notched by Turner, Garvey and West. Collins had two assists as did Fryia, West and Dugan each helping out once. Keenleyside and Shepherd were the marksmen for Queen's, as Graves, Harley and Ohlke each aided on one. Harding turned in a nice effort in goal and the two Murrays caught the eye with some nice hockey in each frame. The Petes' first line was always threatening and the others came on late in the tilt to help the homesters' cause.

Lstimer drew an early clipping penalty and was followed by Turner for interference. Both returned and play was slow and ragged with a thrust by Harley thwarted, and a drive by Wade and Turner turned aside in close. Horton was chased for interference near the end of a poor period of hockey.

Gets One Early

Turner scored right at the start of the second heat from Dugan on a passout and slap shot. Tompkins almost got one and then Wood was waved over for elbowing, followed by Horton for interference. Harding had two fine saves as play speeded up and they began to show some hockey. Right after R. Murray was robbed, Gus Leonard scored in close after Chum Fryia went around the net and passed out to him. D. Murray made Harding hop and then Keenleyside counted one for Queen's with Graves and Harley aiding at close range.

Gus Leonard got one early in the third from Fryia but Shepherd tallied then for Queen's with a flip shot on Ohlke's pass at point-blank range. Earl Leonard went off for high-sticking and Sweetman followed for mild roughing. Turner missed on a breakaway and Fryia had a nice try. The Jopling crew began finally to click and the Wade line pressed. Shepherd got the nod for tripping but was back when Graves was penalized for interference. The Petes struck fast to score a pair, Garvey first from West and Collins, and then West in close on Collins' pass, and that was that. Teams:

Queen's—Goal, Boivin; defence, Wood and Latimer; centre, Shepherd; wings, Ohlke and R. Murray; alternates, Sweetman, Graves, D. Murray, White, Dunn, Keenleyside, Harley and Hay.

Petes—Goal, Harding; defence, E. Leonard and Horton; centre, Wade; wings, Dugan and Turner; alternates, Tompkins, G. Leonard, Fryia, Jopling, Millar, Garvey, Collins and West.

Referee: J. Crombie, linesman, R Ouimet.

Summary:

First Period

No score.

Penalties—Latimer, Turner, Horton.

Second Period

Petes—Turner (Dugan) 26
Petes—G. Leonard (Fryia) 10 47
Queen's—Keenleyside (Graves, Harley) 13 02
Penalties—Wood, Horton.

Third Period

Petes—G. Leonard (Fryia) 1 08
Queen's—Shepherd (Ohlke) 3 33
Petes—Garvey (West, Collins) 18 10
Petes—West (Collins) 18 35
Penalties—E. Leonard, Sweetman, Shepherd, Graves.

GETS TROPHY — Gus Leonard of the Petes' hockey squad last night was presented by Mayor Max Swanston with the most valuable player trophy he received last spring. He then went out and scored two goals to help the Petes win 5-2 over Queen's.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Canadian Press.

Max Bentley, Toronto, whose two goals and two assists sparked the Leafs' 5-3 victory over Montreal Canadiens.

Maurice Richard, Montreal, league-leading goal-getter, who scored two more although the Canadiens lost to the Leafs.

HAMILTON, Nov. 2 (CP) — Charles J. Kaufman of Tavistock is to be the next president of the Ontario Rural Hockey Association.

When executive members of the ORHA met here Wednesday to accept nominations and amendment changes to the constitution Kaufman's name was the only one presented as successor to John B. Robertson of Lynden who occupied the chair during the 1849-50 session.

Other officers, all elected by acclamation, will be:

First vice-president, G. Ronald Stewart, Barrie; second vice-president, A. W. Quait, Thamesford; third vice-president, Ross Fewster, Ingersoll; secretary-treasurer, Horace D. Ovenden, Wainfleet; OHA executive member, J. J. (Tiny) McFayden, Galt, executive, Otto J. Hardwick, Bolton; Jack Feasby, Kitchener, Dave Found, Orono.

The new president will name three more names to the executive.

Central School Wins Senior Soccer Title

The crucial game of the Peterborough school soccer league was played Wednesday afternoon between the league winners, Central and Prince of Wales and it ended in a scoreless tie at King Edward Park. Central won all their games and drew one to give them 11 points to win the Kinsmen Trophy emblematic of the senior championship.

Playing, in the early stages, proved to be a close-checking affair with neither team given any opportunities to score as the full-backs punted, trapped and blocked every movement that approached within scoring range. Central's half-back line of Martyn, Brooks and Patten tried hard to make a opening for their forwards but Prince of Wales' line of Chambo, Clarke, Whitney, Detlor and Downer forced the issue. On resuming, the same tactics prevailed although Whitney skied the ball from three yards out; while Lunn, Central's centre, was ineffective due to Brown's close-checking. Both goals went under a series of raids without any tangible result.

Prince of Wales—D. Coit, goal; J. Heron and G. Hunt, full backs; B. Godfrey, W. Brown and B. Boon, half backs; F. Chambo, N. Clarke, C. Whitney, P. Detler and G. Downer, forwards. Subs—T. Northrop, K. Thompson, G. Hancock.

Central—D. Bye, goal; R. Rowe and J. Matthews, full backs; B. Martyn, S. Brooks and B. Patten, half backs; B. Gardner, J. Smith, P. Lunn, R. Butler and D. Patterson, forwards. Subs—R. Gibbs, P. Brown, R. Gray. Referee—Mr. Barnard.

Confederation Wins

Confederation annexed two valuable league points at King George's expense Wednesday afternoon at the Exhibition Grounds to go into third position in the final standing with a 4-0 count.

King George opened at a fast pace with Simpson repeatedly dribbling through the defence to test the goalie. Confederation half backs eventually concentrated on the attacking forwrads until a Miller-Linsey combination paid off as the former landed the ball into goal where Chamberlain connected smartly with a hard drive. Then Simmons made it 2-0 at the interval. On resuming, King George lacked the pep to hold Confederation from adding two more through Floyd and Chamberlain to make it 4-0.

King George—A. Wilson, goal; B. Campbell and G. Harding, full backs; P. McIlmoyle, D. Roote and K. Barker, half backs; B. Simpson, C. Butcher, P. Harding, J. Rogers and R. McKenzie, forwards. Subs—A. Ellis, E. Roberts, P. Johnson, G. Dack.

Confederation—G. McIntosh, goal; J. Brown and V. Hamilton, full backs; B. Floyd, R. Miller and D. Sloan, half backs; C. Simmons, B. Chamberlain, R. Linsey, D. Mein and A. Little, forwards. Subs—B. Bolton, S. Graves, B. Douglas. Referee—Mr. Curry.

Tailenders Split

Queen Mary and King Edward battled to a 1-all tie, Wednesday afternoon at the Exhibition Grounds, which leaves them even on points in the league standing.

Right from the kick-off, Queen Mary scored a goal through a Friar effort, while King Edward carried the play inside their opponents area to find the full-backs giving no latitude while in possession of the ball. Queen Mary led at the interval. This was short-lived when King Edward equalized through Chalmers scoring from a penalty kick. Queen Mary scored a goal but it was adjudged offside just before the finish.

Queen Mary—H. Stinson, goal; K. Beck and R. Graham, full backs; P. Deck, R. Brady and R. Brown, half backs; D. Friar, D. Horton, D. Nisbett, B. Dubay and O. Schweir, forwards. Subs—F. Bogce, C. Passmore, D. Hillier, J. Rafoe, F. Stinson, C. Ellis, G. Putman.

King Edward—R. Hobart, goal; F. Rusaw and E. Robbins, full backs; J. Mills, R. Tarkington and M. McFadden, half backs; A. Curtis, C. Chalmers, J. Sutherland, A. McArthur and J. Phillips, forwards. Referee—Mr. McKee.

Braund's Lead Way

Braund's No. bowlers of the Mercantile League last night showed the way with pinnage of 2,963, while Austin's had high single game of 1,046. Winnie McCarrell was tops in triples with 666 as Betty Crowe led in singletons with a 248 effort for ladies. H. Cawker topped the men in threes with 650, Frank Worsencroft's 253 being the best single effort.

Loblaw's blanked their City Hall opposition, Braund's No. 1 won 4-0 over Lift Lock, and Austin's whitewashed A & P, as 3-1 victories were chalked up by Bond's against Prudential, and by Utilities over Braund's No. 2.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Al Nickleson of the Globe wrote a column yesterday on Dr. Lou Hudson, now practicing his profession in Timmins. Back in the 20s, Lou was a star puckist for Varsity under Coach Conny Smythe. He helped the Grads win the Allan Cup in 1927 and the next year take the Olympic championship without a goal being scored on them. Hudson played on a line with Dave Trottier and Hugh Plaxton for several seasons, and many a Peterborough fan will recall those players. They played the Petes often in the old Brock St. rink when Ed Wright's local squad were in senior company. What is known today as senior "A" hockey.

* * * * * *

Yes, some fine puckists showed here then, guys like Lionel Conacher, Harry Watson, Cain, the Cooks and many more. It was in '26 that the Petes won the OHA senior title but lost out in Allan Cup playdowns. We had such players as Dwyer, McLeod, Parker, Ray Rose, Bailey, Collins, Ranger, Bogardis and Cox that year. A great team which packed the small arena with 2,000 or so crammed bodies game after game during the short home season. Short because they had to depend on natural ice. Trained on canal ice sometimes. Then usually had to take playoffs to Toronto or somewhere when ice melted here. But some first-class hockey was seen for a few months, the best in the world, apart from the NHL-ers.

* * * * * *

Mighty Fine Players

Nearly all our 1926 Petes went pro later, though Frank Collins—one of the best—consistently turned down all offers. The NHL frequently raided senior ranks then. Harry Watson also passed up chances in the big time, and he was a great player. Do you remember the night he beat us by one goal, and later was sandwiched so hard between Bert McLeod and Snap Parker that he was all through? No doubt, you also recall that swell Soo team, most of whom hit pro ranks shortly after. As a kid we scrounged the odd admission price to get in but more often walked in free with a kindly wink from Nagle Phelan or Jack Deannard on the gate. Or maybe toted one of the players' skates in. And we saw some grand games.

Clayton Browne of the St. Kitts paper is justly proud of the showing that high school grid team made in winning the Red Feather tourney. He figures that PCVS will be there in COSSA finals on Nov. 18. He says: "If it is of interest to the Tricolors, Coach Bev Goulding of the Liftlockers scouted Saints at Toronto against Guelph. He later communed with Gordon Price, but that canny chap carefully retains the secret conversation. He'll tell it to the Oneschuk-Uhrynuk company of players more opportunely." If PCVS get by Belleville (and they should) in semi-finals, they'll find stiff titular opposition in St. Catharines, undoubtedly.

SPS Gets Group Crown

St. Peter's took the lakeshore district junior "B" grid title yesterday in Whitby by winning 12-7. It gave them the round 18-8 and the Saints were a mighty happy bunch in annexing the crown. Police had to be called as feelings among fans ran high during a scrappy struggle. Congrats to the victors. It was uncertain this morning whether the SPS squad would settle for district honors or go against the PCVS junior "A" team here Saturday in an effort to get the "A" title, too. The senior PCI-ers open COSSA semi-finals Saturday in Belleville, being back here a week later. The SPS senior "B" team is finished for the semester. Word came through yesterday that Orfuns would have to travel to Oakwood Stadium on Saturday to play Parkdale in the return tilt of their ORFU intermediate "B" semi-final series.

Mayor Max Swanston, along with Jim Girven and Ben Swartz, officially opened the Petes' home OHA senior "B" season here last eve. Mayor Max then presented Gus Leonard with last season's most valuable player trophy, and Gus showed his appreciation by scoring two goals as the Petes downed Queen's 5-2 to take over top spot in the early part of the race. They've got two wins to date, both over Queen's, and will get a crack at them again next Friday after first going to Belleville the start of the week and playing Nylons in Kingston on Wednesday. It's a rugged schedule and the boys will really be in shape before long. Give 'em another week or so.

Windsor Edges Kroehlers 4-2

By The Canadian Press.

Goalie Glenn Hall of Windsor Spitfires probably is a few pounds lighter today.

He lost weight in the third period of an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game in Windsor Wednesday night when Stratford Kroehlers fired 19 shots at him in a furious last-period attempt to catch the Spits.

Hall let two past him but Windsor won 4-2. The victory moved the Spits into a sixth-place tie in the standings and left Stratford still in third place.

In the other junior clash, Oshawa Generals beat Waterloo Hurricanes 5-4 in overtime and went into a fourth-place tie with Guelph Biltmores.

There were no senior games scheduled. The next senior game is Friday when Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen play the Marlboros at Toronto. In junior games Friday, Galt is at Guelph; Oshawa at Barrie; Waterloo at Windsor; Toronto Marlboros at Stratford and Toronto St. Michael's at St. Catharines.

Spitfires went into a first-period lead on John Olidani's goal. Jim Anderson and Eddie Joss added tallies in the second period, with Erwin Grosse getting another early in the third period.

Go To Work

Then Stratford went to work. They kept the pressure on all the way but Hall kicked them all out but shots by Doug Williams and Gord Myles.

Waterloo, newest entry in the 10-team league, have yet to win in seven starts. They have tied one.

Until midway through the third period, it looked as though they might win that one.

Charlie MacDonald put Hurricanes ahead 2-0 in the first period. He scored once from the opening faceoff and again on a ganging attack midway through the period. Murray Dunnette added another in the second.

Alec Delvecchio came back with one for Oshawa in the second with Rio Caron scoring at point-blank range late in the period. Delvecchio and Lou Jankowski each scored for Oshawa to tie the score in the final after Gerry Horton scored for Waterloo.

Bobby Attersley scored unassisted for the Generals early in the overtime period.

Bisons Whip Eagles Lead AHL Parade

By The Canadian Press.

Buffalo Bisons Wednesday night moved three points ahead of Hershey Bears at the head of the American Hockey League's eastern division parade by whipping New Haven Eagles 9-2 before 3,557 Buffalo fans.

Cleveland Barons, meanwhile, took over top spot in the western division from the idle Cincinnati Mohawks by blanking St. Louis Flyers 2-0.

The only other game scheduled ended in a 4-4 draw between Springfield Indians and Pittsburgh Hornets. Springfield now is a single point behind Hershey.

St. Peter's Juniors Gain Group Title Over Whitby

By DON GRANT

Johnny Lynch's St. Peter's High juniors brought the school Wednesday its first football championship in years, the Ontario lakeshore district junior "B" honors. They outbattled the Whitby High grid squad in Whitby 12-7 in a bitterly-fought game to take the two-game series on points 18-8. St. Peter's won the first game here Monday 6-1.

With only several points separating the teams, tempers began to fly in the second half and gradually became hotter. The large crowd of Peterborough and Whitby fans crowded the sidelines. Several of them ventured a short distance out onto the field making the refereeing job a large chore.

The tension broke late in the fourth when a Whitby fan punched Murray Byrne as the locals moved up the field. Fists flew between several players and the crowd of about 300 milled around the players pushing and shoving. Whitby were penalized 15 yards for roughing. Later a smaller group began shoving as the play ranged close to the spectators.

Call Police

Whitby police were called when rumors circulated throughout that the Peterborough team was to be mobbed after the game. But it ended with both sides giving each other a cheer, even though tempers were still high. At the high school after the game, Whitby fans crowded the Peterborough bus, several daring the St. Peter's team to "come out and fight."

The game was touch and go throughout as Whitby jumped to an early first quarter 7-0 score. St. Peter's edged closer by six in the second. The score remained 7-6 until after the fight in the fourth when St. Peter's crossed again for an unconverted touchdown. On the last play, they rouged for another point.

No Air Attack

Both teams offered little in the way of an aerial attack. Whitby started with a burst when shortly after the kickoff Murray Fallaise and Al Ward carried the ball to the SPS 35. There Campbell, the quarter, tossed to Ron Asling at the 25-yard line and he scampered across for the major score. Bob Archibald converted. Several minutes later they added a single after a march from the Whitby 25 to the SPS 30. Al Ward's 41-yard run as he poured through a large hole in the SPS line set up the play, Colin West kicking.

Another long run, this time by St. Peter's Bob O'Rourke for 33 yards late in the first, placed the locals in scoring position. They missed on three chances to make yards and kicked. Whitby failed to make yards also and West kicked straight up, the recovery was made by St. Peter's at the 18-yard line. Three plunges by Murray Byrne in the second put the ball on the one-yard line where John Hickey quarter-sneaked across, Frank McGillen converting.

In the fourth the Whitby team charged to the one-yard line and were turned back. Shortly after the fight started as St. Peter's edged closer to scoring territory. They lost possession but regained it quickly when Byrne intercepted a pass at the Whitby 25. O'Rourke and Dick Foley carried to the two-yard line. O'Rourke then carried over.

Another fight started minutes later when Byrne intercepted another pass at centre. Whitby were again penalized for roughing. Foley kicked for a point and Whitby was rouged, but the play was called back. His second attempt was good to make the final score 12-7.

Phillies' Jim Konstanty Wins Most Valuable Player Award

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—(AP)—Casimer James (Big Jim) Konstanty has won the National League's most valuable player award to become the first relief pitcher ever so honored.

The bespectacled, rubber-armed righthander, whose great hurling in the clutch won the first flag in 35 years for the Philadelphia Phils in 1950, made a runway of the race. There was virtually no opposition.

The 33-year-old native of Worcester, N.Y., received 18 of the 24 first-place votes of a committee of the Baseball Writers' Aassociation of America. The only surprise was that two writers failed to name him in their 10-player ballot.

Gran Hamner, a team-mate of Konstanty, and New York's Eddie Stanky each received two first-place votes. The other two went to Stan Musial of St. Louis and Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh.

Poor Second

Musial, three-time MVP award winner and last season's league batting king, finished a poor second to Konstanty in the point total. Big Jim collected 286 points to 158 for the Cardinal slugger. Stanky, second-base spark plug of the Giants, was third with 144 points.

Philadelphia's Del Ennis, in fourth spot, was the only other to top the century figure. The league's runs-batted-in leader had 104 points. Kiner, who paced the home-run hitters for the fifth straight season, was fifth with 91.

Shortstop Hamner and pitcher Robin Roberts of the Phils took sixth and seventh, respectively. Then came Gil Hodges and Duke Snider of Brooklyn, and Sal Maglie of the Giants.

Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers, last year's winner, finished 15th, collecting only 23 points.

Cinderella Story

It was a real Cinderella story for the veteran Konstanty, who had been knocking around professional baseball for 10 years with only moderate success. It was just a few years ago that Big Jim was on the verge of quitting the game for good after his release by the Boston Braves. Prior to that he had failed to make it with Cincinnati Reds.

Konstanty caught on with Toronto, where he first began to work for his current boss, Eddie Sawyer. When Sawyer moved up to manage the Phils in the summer of 1948, he wasted little time bringing up Konstanty. It turned out to be the best move Sawyer ever made.

The former Syracuse University all-around athlete appeared in 53 games in 1948 and won nine while losing five. Those marks were shunted into the background last season when Jim toiled in 74 games, a league record, all in relief. He wound up with a mark of 16-7, third high in the league.

In addition, Konstanty was credited with saving at least 25 games for the Phils, who won the pennant on the final day of the campaign from Brooklyn. Never known for his speed, Jim mastered a deceptive palm ball to go along with his fine curve and faultless control that stymied the league's best hitters.

His great work during the regular season won for him the right to pitch the World Series opener. It took a brilliant two-hit performance by New York's Vic Raschi to bring about a 1-0 defeat to Konstanty. He appeared in two more series games, both in relief.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

The scalping season for unsuccessful football coaches is on—and reports from Regina indicate that at least one senior mentor won't be back next season.

Officials of the Regina Rough Riders have announced that Fred Grant, former University of Alabama backfielder, is through.

Grant's release came as no surprise, although he didn't hide his bitterness in a sarcastic farewell letter released simultaneously with the club's announcement.

"I sincerely hope that the next coach you get will have the same opportunities I had," the letter said. "It was a pleasure to try to get imports to come to Canada to play football for half the money other teams were paying their boys. . .

"I know that anyone who comes here will be able to add loads of color to the team and win all the games."

Grant steered Roughriders into the playoffs in his three seasons as coach but the team never did reach the Grey Cup finals. They were beaten last Saturday by Edmonton Eskimos in the western semi-final.

Branch Rickey has a job — but he isn't saying where.

Commissioner A. B. Chandler let the cat out of the bag Wednesday when he quoted Rickey as saying in a Cincinnati committee meeting:

"We of the major league teams. . ."

A reporter immediately asked: "What major league team? Does Rickey still have a job?"

Chandler replied:

"Yes, I know where he's going, but I can't tell you."

Rickey remained non-committal when asked about Chandler's remark.

However, others at a meeting of the major and minor league executive councils hinted that Rickey was bound for Pittsburgh.

Rickey severed his connection last Saturday with Brooklyn Dodgers.

The signing of star halfback Royal Copeland to a 1951 contract with Calgary Stampeders has been announced by president Tom Brook of the Western Football Conference club.

Copeland, who played with the Toronto Argos before joining the Calgary squad this season, gained an average of 4.5 yards each time he carried the ball, rolling up total yardage of 442 yards.

Brook gave no details about Copeland's contract. This season his salary was reported unofficially to be near five figures and he was generally recognized as the highest-paid football player in the west.

Tournoi, first son of the famous French stallion Tourbillon, is being brought to Canada to the newly-organized National Stud.

Tournoi will join five other outstanding stallions at the stud's farm near Oshawa, formerly the Parkwood Stables of Col. R. S. McLaughlin. The stud recently organized by a group headed by Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor.

Teddy Wrack, Fairairis, Penelon, Fleres and Firethorn also have been acquired by the farm.

The stallions will be available to Canadian breeders of racing thoroughbreds.

Baseball's great Joe DiMaggio and Frank (Lefty) O'Doul, manager of the San Fransisco Seals, were showered with bouquets of flowers Wednesday night when they arrived in Tokyo by plane from the United States.

The Yankee Clipper and O'Doul who has made several baseball trips to Japan, were greeted by a throng of Japanese baseball fans, movie stars and U. S. soldiers when their plane arrived.

DiMaggio, big gun of the world's champion New York Yankees, said he planned to "talk a lot of baseball" on visits to U.S. army camps and hospitals.

The dean of American league shortstops, Luke Appling, dropped off the Chicago White Sox roster Wednesday to sign up as manager of Memphis Chicks.

Thus Appling, at 41, ended a 20-year record breaking career as a big league player to move into the brain trust section of the Class-AA Southern Association.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Maurice (The Rocket) Richard scored two goals Wednesday night but is wasn't enough. Toronto's Max Bentley also scored twice and picked up two assists to move into a first-place tie with Richard in the National Hockey League scoring race.

Both players now have 12 points, Richard's total being made up of nine goals and three assists and Bentley's consisting of four goals and eight assists.

Four players are tied with eight points and three with seven points.

Fern Flaman of Boston continues to be league bad man with 35 minutes in penalties while Turk Broda of Toronto is shutout king with three to his credit.

Habs Bow To Leafs But Nearly Tie Game

By The Canadian Press

Montreal's undermanned Canadiens lost a 5-3 decision to Toronto Maple Leafs in Toronto Wednesday night, but a gallant performance by Maurice (Rocket) Richard almost enabled them to overhaul the National Hockey League leaders.

The fiery Montreal right-winger pumped in two goals in less than two minutes of the last period and threatened around the Toronto net on most of his team's infrequent attacking splurges. Richard's efforts were the only bright spot for Canadiens in a game that threatened at times to become a rout.

The teams meet again at Montreal tonight, with the second-place Canadiens striving to cut down Toronto's three-point lead. The third-place Detroit Red Wings entertain New York Rangers, and the winless Boston Bruins, in the cellar with three points to the New Yorkers' five, face the Black Hawks at Chicago.

Scoring Duel?

Tonight's Toronto - Montreal clash may turn out to be a scoring duel between Richard and Toronto's Max Bentley, tied for top place in the league scoring. Richard has nine goals and three assists and Bentley four and eight, for 12 points apiece.

Playing without defencemen Hal Laycoe and Emile (Butch) Bouchard, centre Elmer Lack and winger Bert Hirschfeld, the Montrealers were weak defensively Wednesday night, particularly when short-handed. Toronto's first three goals came when they had an edge in manpower.

Bentley topped the scoring parade, scoring two goals and assisting on two others. Tod Sloan, Harry Watson and Sid Smith were the other Leaf marksmen, while Calum MacKay gave Canadiens a 1-0 lead in the first period on a long shot that bounced past goalie Turk Broda. Sloan's goal was scored early in the second period while Montreal's Vern Kaiser sat out a penalty.

Leafs Break Loose

After Leafs rode out a hooking penalty to Bill Juda without allowing the Montrealers a shot on goal, Canadiens' Doug Harvey was thumbed for hooking in the last minute of the second period and the Leafs broke loose.

Bentley finished off a play with Gardner and Howie Meeker with a pretty piece of stickhandling to make it 2-1. Then Watson flicked home defenceman Jimmy Thomson's relay from the blue line at point-blank range. Bentley also getting an assist.

Rookie Danny Lewicki set up Bentley's second goal, shifting several Canadiens out of position to put the tricky Leaf centre in the clear.

Richard put Montreal back in the game, blazing a shot past Broda unassisted and tipping the puck in on a scramble for his second counter.

Montreal's efforts to tie the score died when Smith beat Gerry McNeil in the Canadiens' goal on a breakaway with captain Ted Kennedy with barely two minutes left.

McNeil was busy, handling 39 shots against 19 for Broda.

COMSTOCKS MAKE HISTORY

SERVING PETERBOROUGH 120 YEARS!

120 years ago, shortly after the first settlers came to this district, Col. Poole established his cabinet-making shop in the building which still stands at the corner of Brock and Chambers Streets. The business prospered with the growth of the pioneer community and in 1853 Aaron Comstock became a partner. In 1873 Mr. Comstock purchased the business, and in 1885 built the first section of our present store, and with the aid of his sons and grandsons developed the present Comstock organization.

Living Costs In U.K. Soar But Gov't Says No Increase

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Nov. 2—(CP)—Officially, the cost of living in Britain is just about the same as it was a year ago. Unofficially, it's murder. By most reports—from co-operative societies, independent publications, free-lance statisticians and organizations of housewives—it seems established beyond reasonable doubt that prices have soared perceptibly in the last 12 months.

Everybody agrees on it—except the government. During the year, the Labor ministry's official index of retail prices has hardly moved at all. It now stands at 114, just a notch above a year ago.

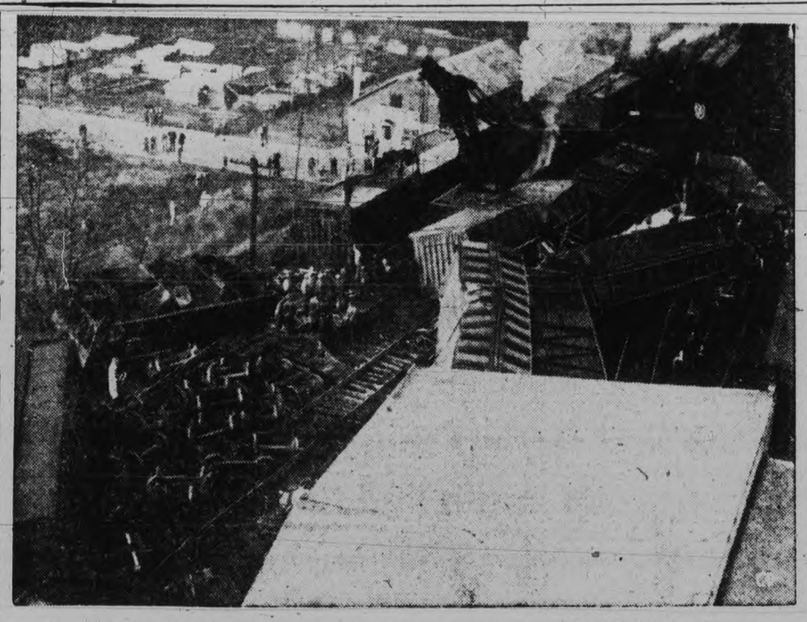
Going Up

So now British patience is wearing thin. The retail prices index is generally regarded as being dead as a dodo. Workers whose wages vary with the official figures doubt its accuracy.

The current issue of Man and Metal, journal of a steel union, says all the evidence is that living costs have risen and are rising.

Recalling that last April the government produced statistics to show that a tax on gasoline would make motoring cheaper, the magazine comments:

"For some, no doubt, this sort of thing has its humorous side, but the man whose wages are reduced by these Alice-in-Wonderland statistics can be forgiven if he doesn't see it."



The financial times, which opposes the government, tartly called the index a "statistical abstraction of limited value" and went on to say why. The newspaper said the statistics are based on out-of-date information about spending habits and place too much stress on unimportant factors—cost of private travel, for instance, is based on the cost of running a motor bicycle.

Strictly a Stop-Gap

Government officials would probably admit the index isn't perfect. For one thing, it's known as an "interim" index. It was put into effect as a stop-gap three years ago when the old index, based on 1904 expenditure, was scrapped. This substitute scale is drawn up on information obtained in an inquiry into working-class family budget in 1937-38.

Critics have pressed from time to time for something more up to date, but the last reply was that manpower could not be spared for another inquiry "just yet."

ONE KILLED IN WRECK — This is the aftermath of the railroad wreck that killed a brakeman and tied up traffic on the CNR main line at Woodstock, Ont., for 12 hours. A high-balling through freight smashed into a local freight pulling out from a siding three blocks from the Woodstock station. Box-cars were hurled through the air and one toppled over a trestle to smash onto the roadway 50 feet below.

Escaping Gas Hospitalizes 9

MONTREAL, Nov. 2 (CP) — Escaping gas fumes from a defective jacket heater Wednesday sent nine persons to hospital and indirectly caused the death of an ambulance driver taking some of the victims to hospital.

Dead is Hector Langevin, 50, ambulance driver for Notre Dame Hospital, who collapsed and died of a heart attack as he helped carry one of the victims up the hospital steps.

In hospital, but reported on the road to recovery, are Mr. and Mrs. Adolphe Theoret, 81 and 79, respectively; Mrs. Lionel Theoret, 49, her 14-year-old daughter, Bernadette, Arthur Campeau, 79, and Philippe Theoret, 41.

Light Up Mountain

HAMILTON, Nov. 2 (CP). — The Junior Chamber of Commerce lit up Hamilton mountain with 180 giant flares Wednesday night as part of a drive to obtain new blood donors for the Red Cross. Flares were expected to light up the whole city, but they caused no more than a healthy glow. However, the Jaycees said their canvass for blood donors was a success. Their objective is 10,000.

Law Against Reds Needed, Drew Says

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP)—Canada needs a law against Communism, George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said here Wednesday.

"There should be in our criminal code a provision aimed at preventing the Communists within our borders from selling our Canada to the Russian slave empire," Mr. Drew told the St. James' United Church Men's Association.

Communism could be defined in a law, and with full justice to those concerned, Canadian courts could convict or acquit on the evidence presented. He added that an anti-Communist law should protect Canada not only from self-declared Communists, but from those whose acts put them in the same category.

Saved By Technicality

WINDSOR, Nov. 2 (CP). — A legal technicality saved Mahlon Cornwall Wednesday from a charge of wilful damage brought against him by his wife. The case was withdrawn after Cecil Croll, Cornwall's counsel, argued that a wife was not permitted by law to give evidence against her husband.

Driver Not In Charge Of Car Stuck In Snow

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP) —An automobile stuck in a snowbank cannot be deemed to be in control of a drunk driver, the Ontario court of appeal ruled Wednesday.

The ruling reversed a judgment by County Judge D. B. Coleman of Whitby who, after hearing an appeal by the Crown, convicted Isaac Williamson of being in charge of a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

The appeal court, in upholding the decision of Magistrate F. E. Ebbs of Oshawa, ruled hat since the car could not have been moved without being towed, the driver could not be considered to be in charge.

Record Registration

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP)—Registration with the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario reached a record level in 1950, president E. V. Buchanan of London announced Wednesday. The association council admitted 1,360 engineers during the year, bringing total membership to 8,285.

Judge Has Refused To Continue Injunction

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP)—Mr. Justice P. E. F. Smily Wednesday refused to continue an injunction preventing the picketing of the Belleville Lock Co., Ltd., plant at Belleville.

A Supreme Court injuncton had been in force since Sept 30. Picketing began four days after a group of employees, members of the United Electrical Workers Union (Ind.), were dismissed.

Mr. Justice Smily said he did not consider there was a strike in progress or that there had been any breach of contract between the union and the company. He refused to grant the company's request for continuation of the injunction.

Floor Collapses

CARDIFF, Wales, Nov. 2 (AP) —A floor collapsed Wednesday during an auction sale and about 40 persons were injured. The auction room was in the second storey of a shopping-district building.

Rule Arsonist Legally Sane, Took 172 Lives

CIRCLEVILLE, O., Nov. 2 (AP) —Robert Dale Segee, the 21-year-old youth who says he set fires that killed 172 persons, was declared legally sane Wednesday.

Psychiatrists who examined Segee for the last four months reported to Judge William Radcliff the youth showed no abnormal behavior.

In a 40-page statement last July, Segee confessed:

Setting fire to the big top tent of Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey circus July 6, 1944, in Hartford, Conn. A total of 168 persons died and 250 others were injured.

Causing death through strangulation of between four and six persons in the U.S. and Japan.

Starting fires in New England and Ohio, with losses estimated at $1,000,000.

Judge Radcliff said Segee probably will be returned here next week for sentencing on two charges of arson. He pleaded guilty last July 3 to starting two fires in Circleville. Judge Radcliff ordered examination of Segee after he entered the guilty pleas. No other charges are pending here.

Urged On By Indian

Fire Marshal Harry Callan, who investigated Segee's confession, said the youth told of being urged to set fires by a "red Indian" riding a flaming red horse.

Dr. Roy E. Bushong said in his report Segee "has not revealed any abnormal behavior while under our scrutiny." He added that psychiatrists considered Segee "essentially neurotic" and "capable of committing serious crimes."

A convicted arsonist supplied the tip that led to Segee's arrest last May 17 near East St. Louis, Ill.

Callan said Segee's first crime was the slaying of nine-year Barbara Driscoll of Portsmouth, N. H., in 1938. He said Segee also admitted killing a watchman in Portland, Me., a 12 or 13-year-old boy in Cape Cottage, Me., and a boy in Japan, where Segee served in the army of occupation.

Fund Mounting

LONDON, Nov. 2—(Reuters)—Sir Frederick Rowland, Lord Mayor of London, said Wednesday he has received £720,000 towards the £2,000,000 fund he is raising as a national thanksgiving for wartime gifts from the Commonwealth and the United States. The fund was opened seven months ago with government support. The money already raised will cover the cost of a home in London for students from countries which sent Britain wartime gifts.

THE TWO EXPATRIATE AUSTRALIANS pictured here were married in Toronto's Riverdale Zoo with little ceremony. Amana, left, had been a bachelor girl since she was given to the zoo two years ago by the Toronto Men's Press Club. The apprehensive gentleman in the corner was acquired in an exchange from Catskill Zoo, New York State. He is tentatively known as Joe, until the Press Club provides him with a new name.

Air Force Hasn't Changed

Usual Beefing As RCAF Men Do Good Job

By DAVE McINTOSH

McCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash., Nov. 2 (CP) — It may get new aircraft and devise new techniques, but the air force hasn't changed since the war.

Sample comments gleaned from members of the RCAF's 426 Thunderbird Squadron operating on the Korean air lift:

An Erk: "There are too many NCO's standing around doing nothing."

An NCO: "There's too much brass sitting around doing nothing."

An officer: "Those Joes are supposed to get 15 minutes for coffee but they usually wangle 25."

An Erk: 'I want to get home and get some skating in."

An NCO: "I want to get home and see my wife."

An officer: "I want to get home."

The usual beefing means, of course, that the RCAF is doing its usual bang-up job.

The Thunderbird Squadron occupies two or three little corners on this big airfield near Tacoma and Seattle.

Next door to the orderly room are several blocks of barracks occupied by the airmen. Just a step away is the officers' mess and the two blocks where the officers live.

Five-Minute Walk

It's about a five-minute walk from barracks to No. 2 hangar, where the maintenance work is done. Each man has to wear a special red tag to get onto the inner field where the aircraft, hangars and shops are. Even with a tag he is liable to get chased out of some sections, known as "restricted areas."

The men start work at 8 a.m. and wind up at 4.45 p.m., with 1½ hours for dinner. The extra half hour is needed to get through the line-up at the mess hall, a huge brick building which also houses the post-exchange, that inanimate Santa Claus where everything is tax-free (sample: cigarettes, 15 cents a pack).

A few men have brought their families to Tacoma and occupy units of a federal housing project there. But nearly all the men see their families when leave rolls around and the special leave plane—one goes every two weeks—puts them down in Winnipeg or Montreal.

Have Longer Hours

The Canadians work longer hours than the Americans. The Yanks knock off work at 4.30 p.m. and work only a five-day week. The Canadians work nine days in a row and then get a 48 or 72-hour pass, depending on how busy maintenance is.

When the squadron operated from Montreal it used only six aircraft. Now it is keeping 12 flying.

After every 100 hours in the air, a North Star gets a routine inspection. At the end of 400, it gets a major overhaul that normally takes a week. In the madown, the instruments taken apart, the airframe gone over inch by inch.

In 5,000 flying hours there have been only four minor mechanical failures.

Triple Flying Time

In Montreal, the squadron put 70 hours of air time on each plane in a month. The figure now is just triple—210 hours a month.

All this has kept maintenance men on the jump. A plane leaves every day at 10 a.m. for Tokyo. A crew is gone about a week. By the time a plane has made the circuit twice, it has to come into the hangar for the one-day inspection. Another six trips and it needs a major overhaul.

There isn't much mixing with the Americans although that isn't to say they don't get on well together. They do.

"The Americans have done everything possible for us," one officer said. "There was some beefing about the first barracks we were in, so the Americans gave us better ones right off the bat."

The Canadians occupy their own little corners in the messes. Even when the Americans and Canadians take their morning and afternoon breaks for coffee in the same canteen, both groups have their own clusters.

Hallowe'en Brew Causes Jail Fight

PRINCE GEORGE, B. C., Nov. 2 (CP).—A witches' Hallowe'en frolic left the women's section of the Prince George jail in disorder.

A witch's brew—police called it moonshine—was prepared for a Hallowe'en party by women prisoners.

A fight started when one prisoner accused another of sampling the brew before it was ready.

It developed into a riot which police, firemen and ambulance attendants were called to settle. One woman suffered serious injuries.

Body Cremated

HARTSDALE, N.Y., Nov. 2 — (AP)—The body of John Boettiger, former son-in-law of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, was cremated yesterday—on his wedding anniversary. There were no funeral ceremonies. The 50-year-old former newspaperman killed himself Tuesday in a plunge from the seventh floor of a New York hotel.

Urges Better Status For Indians

VANCOUVER —(CP)— Canada's failure to provide a broad program to better the living conditions of native Indians is a direct violation of the United Nations charter, Prof. Hunter Lewis of the University of British Columbia English department told a public meeting here.

Prof. Lewis called for an "education program to take the Indian out of his present wretched condition and prepare him to take his rightful place in our society."

"It is scarcely believable but 42 per cent of Indians do not even have access to any educational facilities except those provided by sectarian groups."

Detroit Man Confesses Strangling Mother

DETROIT, Nov. 2 —(CP)— John D. Edmunds, 29, confessed Wednesday to strangling his widowed mother. He told police he it because she refused to finance his debts.

"She said she had given me money for the last time," Edmunds said, after giving himself up to Saginaw, Mich., police last night.

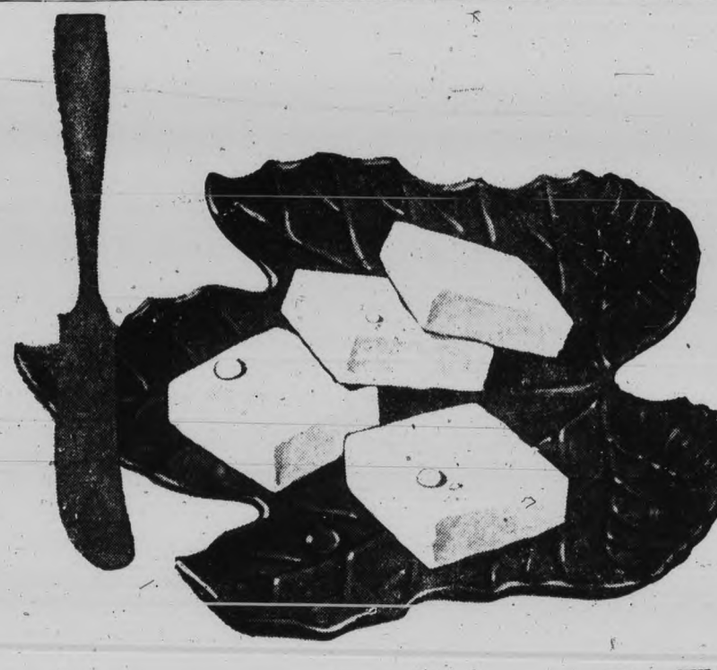
He had been sought since the body of his mother, Mrs. Minerva Edmunds, 59, was found Monday night strangled in the basement of her home. She had been dead six days.

In a detailed confession Edmunds also told police he had squandered his mother's money, fraudulently sold the family car, sold a $16,000 cruiser left by his father for $4,000 without his mother's knowledge, and stole and pawned his mother's engagement ring.

Police Turn Tables

ST. MARYS, Nov. 2 (CP). — St. Marys provincial police turned the tables on a group of Hallowe'en pranksters Wednesday. The group including several teen-age boys was rounded up this afternoon and taken on a conducted tour around the town to view Hallowe'en damage—and also to make repairs to damaged property.

Robbers Get $1,200



TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP) — More than $1,200 in cash and jewels was stolen Wednesday from the north-end apartment of Walter M. Nelson. Mrs. Nelson told police the burglary occurred as she was in the cellar doing laundry.

DON'T SKIP IT Breakfast is perhaps the most important meal of the day from a nufritional standpoint.

It's always fresh!

...that's why Parkay tastes so good!

Flavor-dating assures freshness!

A code date is stamped on every package of Parkay Margarine and the date is checked by a Kraft man at regular intervals. If the date on any package shows that Parkay has passed its peak of flavor freshness, the package is immediately withdrawn from sale.

To the Lady who...

1. Thinks nutrition is important.

2. Prides herself on serving tasty meals.

3. Must keep within a strict food budget.

What homemaker today doesn't stop for a split second and mentally pass on the nutritive value of a meal or dish? If you are conscious of the family's welfare nutrition-wise, Canned Salmon is a great help. It's an excellent dietary source of niacin and is a protein food that contains amino acids so necessary in balanced diets.

The secret of a good cook is serving good food—tantalizing the taste buds. That is where Canned Salmon excels. Its rich yet delicate flavor is deliciously different. No other food tastes just like Canned Salmon. Canned Salmon by itself is just right. Canned Salmon as a "combiner" with other basic foods permeates and complements delightfully. The fact is, any way you serve Canned Salmon you will rate raves from family or guests.

Food costs a worry? Take a good look at the penny for penny value of Canned Salmon. There is no cut-away waste, no trim. Every tempting morsel is edible food. When Canned Salmon is used in hot dishes there is no cooking shrinkage. All in all Canned Salmon is one of the most economical food buys today.

NEW Self-Washing DREFT WASHES DISHES FOR YOU

JUST SOAK... RINSE... and YOU'RE THROUGH!

DREFT IS SAFER FOR DAINTY WASHABLES THAN THE MILDEST SOAP FLAKES

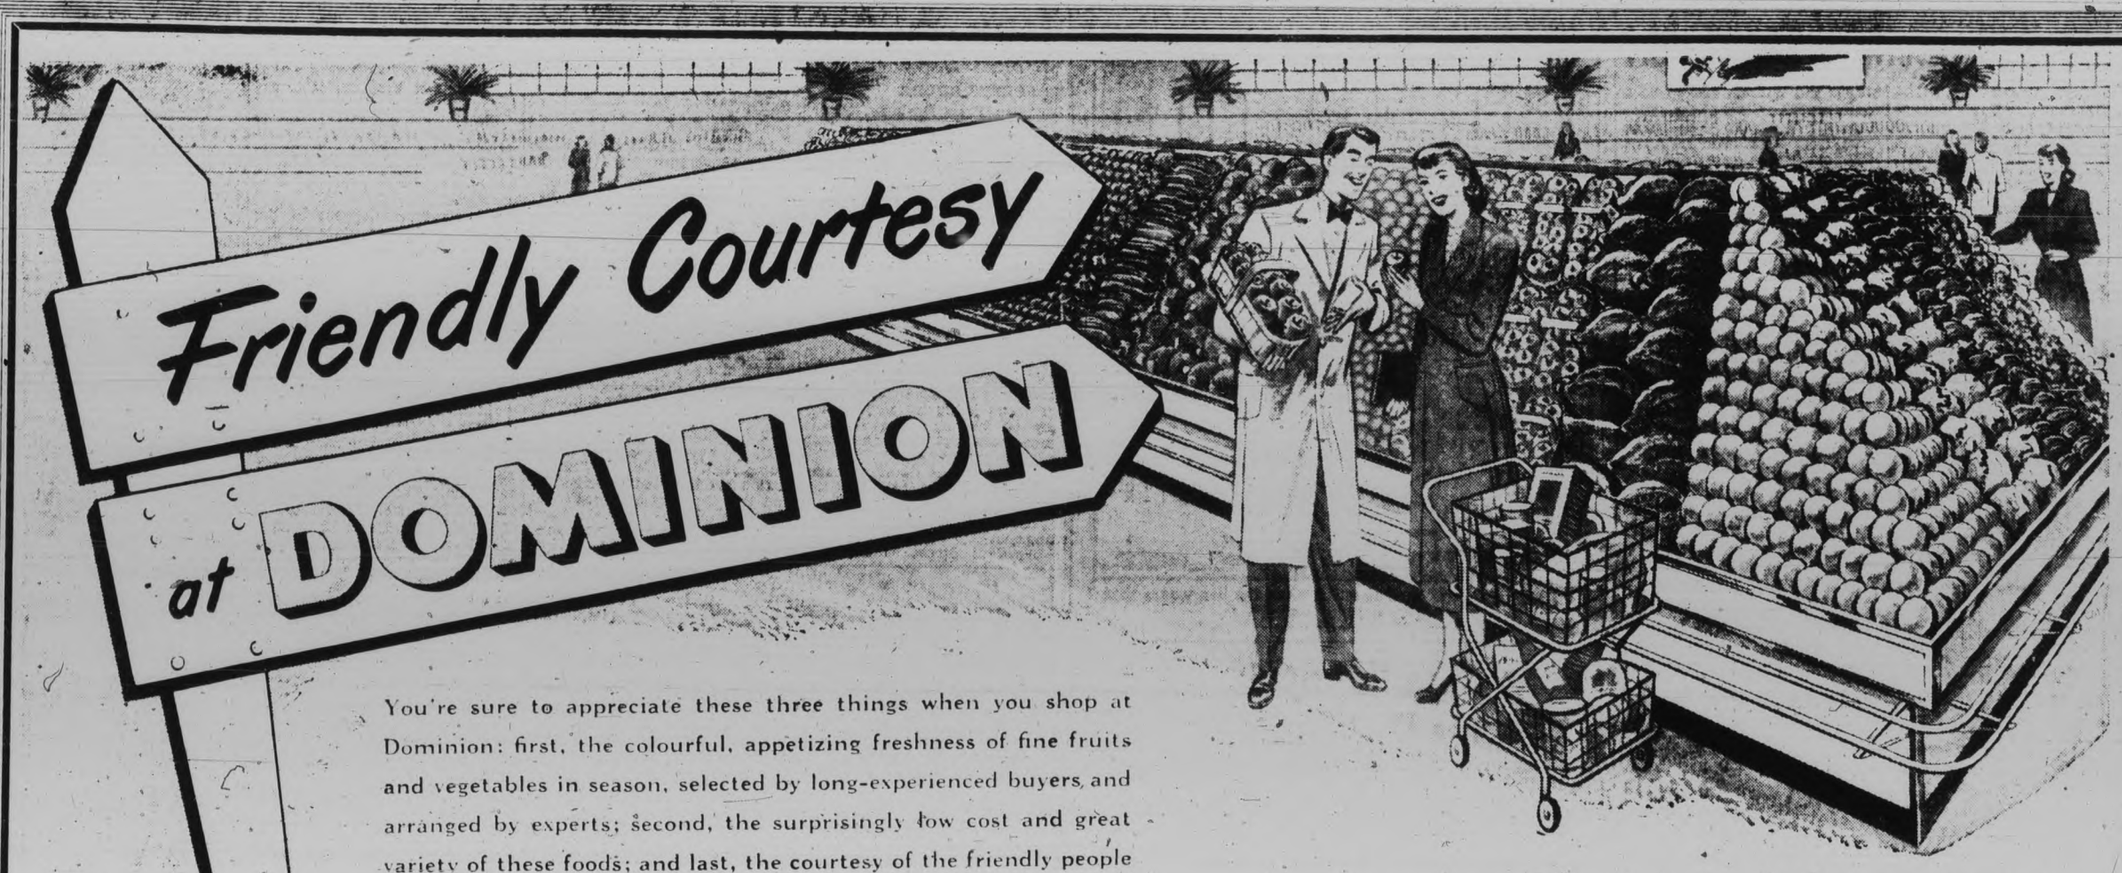
★ Dreft leaves hands beautifully smooth and white—because it's so mild and your hands are in the water such a short time.

Amazing "FLOATAWAY" Action
SAVES WASHING···WIPING···SCOURING

Yet! Dishes and glasses shine—even without wiping!

It's true! You simply let dishes stand in warm Dreft suds for 2 minutes—give a swish of the cloth as you rinse—and you're through. Yet!—your dishes and glasses shine—even without wiping.

Dreft's self-washing suds save washing, save wiping, save scouring. In fact, while Dreft is washing your dishes you can be doing other things . . . like putting food away in the refrigerator, or sweeping the kitchen floor.



Even pots and pans soak clean without scouring. That's because Dreft's amazing "Floataway" action gets under grease . . . floats away grease as no soap ever could. Even stubborn grease rinses away without scouring.

Yet self-washing Dreft is one of the mildest suds in the world. Leaves hands beautifully white and soft. Try new self-washing Dreft today.

$62,000 Action Settled Out Of Court

WINDSOR, Nov. 2 — (CP). — A $62,000 Supreme Court damage action against Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, and Donald Garfield Emerson was settled out of court Wednesday for $11,283.

Joseph Kutchinski receives $10,000 and William Prokopchuck receives $823. Costs of the action were set at $1,000. The action arose from a collision in April, 1949, between a car driven by Prokopchuck and one driven by Emerson and owned by the Ford Motor Company.

FUNNY BUSINESS —By Hershberger

"He always puts on that outfit when the lion wears that silly drooling smile!"

Looks Like Fountain Pen Measures Deadly A-Rays

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP). — It looks like a fountain pen but it measures the deadliness of atomic rays.

This tiny pocket device, one of three new radiation counters which soon will be issued to Britain's Civil Defence Corps, is called the individual dosimeter. The other two are the portable dose rate meter and the contamination meter.

The individual dosimeter comes equipped with a clip for holding it in a breast pocket. The wearer can keep a constant check on atom rays. The reading is taken by holding the small cylinder up to the light and peering into one end. Against the light, there is visible a scale reading of radio-activity.

The portable dose rate meter is bigger. About the size of a portable radio receiver, it measures the amount of radio-activity the operator would absorb in one hour in a contaminated area. The portable meters are designed for rescue workers after atomic blasts. These workers need to know what areas are still too "hot" for them.

The contamination meter is for more stationary use. It will be used principally to detect persons contaminated by bomb rays. It is planned to install it in hospitals and cleansing stations.

Two Union Officials Filing Libel Suit

TORONTO, Nov. 2 — (CP).— Two officials of the International Chemical Workers Union (AFL) filed suit Wednesday for $20,000, claiming they were libelled by Hal Proctor, editor of the Spark, a mimeographed "give-away" sheet.

Plaintiffs are H. A. Bradley of Akron, O., international president of the union, and Joseph Barry, secretary of its local in the Consumers' Gas Company here.

Both were active in a recent purge of Communists from the ranks of the Consumers' Gas local. They claim Spark is produced in Toronto by a group of Labor-Progressive (Communist) Party members who also claim membership in the union.

Hearing Considerable Talk Of Possible Business Drop

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Peculiarly enough there is, just now, considerable talk about a possible fall-off in business.

This comes chiefly from the United States, but it may be heard in Canada also in this time of readjustment.

But the basic fact in all this is that there is virtually certain to be a demand for everything that can be produced—which means that there will be enough to keep everyone more than busy.

That is the over-all situation. The more-detailed picture may show some people and some businesses being hit in the process of turning from a half-peace economy to a half-war basis.

The in-between situation seems to have developed further in the United States than here.

"The government is appropriating, but it isn't spending," says a big Wall Street banker. "So we may be in for an interim deflation."

Cash Held Back

He thinks it will be a while before much cash is paid out for defence goods. And business may dip in the next few months because the curbs and allocations of materials may cut back consumer spending and production.

The interim deflation would lie between the present full-tilt prosperity and price inflation — which the government controls are intended to brake—and the time when the big boost from the planned defence production comes along. The banker thinks there may be a time lag between the slowing-down of production for consumers and the start of actual production for defence.

Many, however, argue that a slump isn't in the cards, that inflation has too good a head start, and that the very anticipation of defence orders and shortages will keep civilians buying consumer goods out of bigger pay cheques, and keep factories going full tilt.

Either view, of course, depends entirely on the one big "if"—if preparedness doesn't change overnight either to war or to a better prospect for peace and disarmament.

But whatever happens in the United States, there does not appear to be much need for worry in Canada, as far as any over-all fall-off is concerned.

Our raw materials, which are in demand, and the great expansion of our resources—capital investment—which is going on, seem to put us in a strong position.

Timely Topic

GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP)— Officers of the RCMP here have begun a series of special lectures to students. The first talk covered respect for public property. It followed an outbreak of damage to insulators on telephone poles.

Hopes To Reduce Imports Outside Honey

Legislation which will cut down the amount of honey imported into Ontario is expected to pass the Ontario legislature soon, Tom Shields, manager of the Ontario Honey Producers' Co-operative of Toronto, said Wednesday night.

He was speaking to about 100 members of the Central Ontario Beekeepers' Association, who were attending their annual banquet at the YMCA.

Under this legislation, honey producers from western Canada, the United States, and other provinces, would have to sell their honey at the minimum wholesale price.

Recent legislation discussed at the meeting was the enactment of honey-grading regulations by the province. These regulations, said William Kirk, assistant provincial apiarist at Guelph, became law September 28 and are the first provincial regulations Ontario has had.

Other speakers at the banquet were association president Morris Harvey, who welcomed the members, and George H. Bayly of the reforestation division of the department of lands and forests.

Mr. Bayly showed movies of the reforestation of the Ganaraska River area, and spoke of the importance of the basswood tree to honey producers.

Entertainment was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bradshaw, magicians; Harriet and Hanet Houlihan, tap-dancers; and Ed Mountain of Codrington, who sang The Whiffenpoof Song and Mandalay.

New Dining Room Dedicated At Orange Hall

The dedication of new Dining Room at the Orange Hall on Brock St. took place on Tuesday evening, with Rt. Wor. Bro. Morgan Brown acting as Grand Master and Rev. Bro. M. J. Aiken as Grand Chaplain.

A good crowd was present and much surprise was expressed at the beauty and size of this new addition, which is 72 ft. long and 31 ft. wide. It is lighted with indirect lighting and heated with hot water.

The program consisted of solos by Mrs. Jessie Spencley and Leonard Agnew, and recitations by Vernon Nelson. Mr. Ashton Fife was at the piano. Short addresses were given by Bro. Gordon K. Fraser, MP, Bro. Morgan Brown and Mr. Aiken. Movies were shown by Bro. Robt. Hutton. Congratulations were extended to Mr. Fraser on his recent appointment as parliamentary representative to the United Nations. A committee of ladies from the LOBA served refreshments and a very pleasant evening brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

Labor To Name Four Candidates

Tonight union members of 14 locals affiliated to the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) will attend a meeting in the market hall to nominate four aldermen as candidates at the coming city elections.

Invitations have also been extended to workers at the De Laval and Westclox plants.

Purpose of the meeting is to get four candidates for a "straight labor slate." There are five aldermanic vacancies this year and a voter, to make his ballot valid, must vote for at least four of them.

The decision to run a full slate was reached at the October meeting of the Peterborough and District Labor Council.

A leaflet issued today by the Labor Council says: "If the business men of Peterborough can bring forth 10 men and more for city council from their small number, we can bring forth four."

The meeting is called for 7.30 p.m

Unemployment Claims Up From Record September Low

Unemployment insurance claims at the end of October in the Peterborough district took a decided jump over September, William Mellis, manager of the National Employment Service office, reported today.

After hitting a record low of 520 in September, the men and women receiving funds climbed to 680 on October 31. Despite the rise the figure is still lower than the summer months' low of 704 in August. Other months' figures are: July, 1,039; June, 1,005; May, 1,001.

Account For Increase

Part-time or short-time claims accounted for the increase. A number of Peterborough factories were forced to reduce the working week for the employees due to a shortage of materials. In most cases the weekly time off was several days.

Mr. Mellis added that the summer employment such as construction work is still continuing. Last year when this type of work ceased, the number of claims jumped considerably.

At the end of the month the local office had 513 men applying for work, a decrease of 21 on 1949's figure and an increase on September's of 79. The number of women out of work Tuesday and looking for employment was 315 as compared with 1949's 397. In September 333 women were jobless.

Vacancies Decrease

Vacancies decreased in October on the September figures for men and women but were still up on last year's. Men's openings were 44 and women's 29. Last year there were only 19 opportunities for men and 10 for women.

October 1949 had a total of 756 claimants, composed of 433 men and 323 women. This year with the total 680, there were 411 men on claim and 269 women. City jobless receiving funds at the end of the month totalled 532, 304 men and 228 women as compared with last year's 290 men and 235 women.

Postal or district claims were down on last year with 107 men and 41 women receiving funds through the mail. October last year had 143 men on postal claims and 88 women.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

NO TAX RETURNS

Frank Lain, Norwood, entered a written plea of guilty in Police Court today to a charge of failing to make income tax returns for 1947 and 1948. He was fined $50, and costs.

RECEIPTS INCREASE

Customs receipts for October showed an increase over both last September and October, 1949. Receipts last month were $455,748.41, compared to $352,944.55 for October, 1949, and $380,078.31 for September, 1950.

TRAIN HITS CAR

A car driven by F. M. Norris of Toronto was thrown 300 feet when hit by a train Tuesday night near Birdsall station. Mr. Norris' car stalled as he was crossing the track. He got out, and shortly after a freight hit the auto. Mr. Norris suffered a cut leg.

MINOR COLLISION

A car driven by George Kerr, Bobcaygeon, on Wednesday collided with the rear end of a second car, driven by Glen Sandy, RR 2, Omemee. The accident, which occurred six miles northwest of Peterborough on Highway 7, caused $45 damage. Provincial Constable C. A. Naismith investigated.

PAVE PARK ROADWAY

Directors of Peterborough Exhibition approved Monday night a proposal to pave with asphalt the road through Morrow Park. This roadway extends from the main gate on Lansdowne St. to the south side of the grounds. It was understood that the city was willing to make a grant toward the cost of the work which is likely to be done by one of the paving companies operating at present in this area.

Another Sentence For Burglar

Already serving six months' jail term on a charge of breaking, entry and theft, Gorman Ritchie, Barrie, pleaded guilty in Police Court today to another charge of breaking, entry and theft, and was sentenced to four months, the sentence to run concurrent to the six months' term.

Ritchie was charged with breaking into a house in Brighton Township in Northumberland County, owned by Francis Dusenburg, September 20, and stealing a gold watch, an alarm clock, two Orange Lodge badges, and a pair of wool socks.

Ritchie was sentenced to six months by Judge S. L. Smoke last week when he was found guilty of breaking into a store at Charlotte and Louis Streets, and stealing some clothing put there for a rummage sale.

Jack King Elected Old Boys' Member

Jack King, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. King, 549 Chamberlain St., was chosen by acclamation to represent Peterborough city constituency at Older Boys' Parliament, Lloyd M. Stark, returning officer, reported today. Nominations closed November 1.

Mr. King is in Grade 12 at P.C.V.S.

The Older Boys' Parliament will be held in the legislative building, Queen's Park, Toronto, December 26 to 30. The premier this year is L. Val De Wal, Barrie.

Candy Bar Price Lowered By Two Cents

That ringing cheer you hear is from schoolchildren whooping it up over the best piece of news they've heard in a long time. The standard-size candy bar has dropped in price from eight to six cents.

Peterborough wholesalers say the new price went into effect early today and retailers are expected to be selling the bar at six cents late today or Friday.

A Canadian Press dispatch quotes one of the largest candy manufacturing companies as saying that the price reduction was caused by the lower price for cocoa beans. But this explanation was received with some skepticism by local candy merchants.

People Weren't Buying

"It's because the people weren't buying the eight-cent bar that the change was made," said one wholesaler. "Here we don't know too much about the cocoa bean market but we do know that sales of candy bars have dropped."

He estimated that sales at eight cents were only half those of the old nickel bar.

The competition of peanuts, candy and gum — all at lower prices—proved too much. And one major company, Cadbury's, had pegged their bar at six cents, thus underselling the others.

Now all the bars will be the same: five cents for the candy and a one-cent government tax.

Like One-Coin Price

"People like a one-coin price," commented an experienced candy merchant. "Eight cents is an awkward one."

He conceded that the bar would never revert to the five-cent figure but felt that the consumer would be better satisfied to get a bigger bar for a dime. Ultimately this is what will happen, he said.

A woman candy shop proprietor, informed of the change by the Examiner, said she would reduce the price of her candy bars immediately. Others are expected to follow suit.

Meanwhile it's the candy lovers who are the real winners. People with a sweet tooth who have been laying off their favorite confection can now re-indulge with a vengeance.

Miss Toronto To Wed

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP)—Miss Ruby Mann, 18, of Grimsby, Miss Toronto and Miss Niagara Peninsula 1950, said today she will marry Alf Lewis, 31-year-old Toronto public relations counsel, Dec. 26.

Aerial Religion

VICTORIA, B.C. —(CP)— The Gideons are keeping pace with modern transportation. The Victoria camp of the organization is attempting to arrange for Bibles and New Testaments to be placed aboard planes for use of air travellers.

Property Owners Suffer

Vandals Damage Norwood Property

NORWOOD, Nov. 2—(ENS)—Chief Constable William Parcels reports that damage to property was greater this Hallowe'en than last.

The smoke stack at John Nixon's sawmill, near the CPR station, was toppled over by tying a guy wire to a car. When the car started the chimney, valued at $300, came down on the roof of the slab shed. Mr. Nixon is unable to say if the roof of the wooden shed can be repaired.

In addition the rowdies overturned a buggy inside the shed and broke the shafts. It is the property of John Gardiner who lives across the road.

No arrests have been made but there are suspects.

Other pranksters knocked down a number of woodpiles in the village, toppled some outhouses, and turned some hydrants on. Chief Parcels points out that although damage was heavier than last year, there were fewer pranks pulled.

Younger children contented themselves with dressing in costumes and roving from house to house asking for "shell outs."

Monday night Grades VII and VIII, Duncan Sinclair's class, held a class party with a number of Hallowe'en games including dunking for apples and walking the plank.

Prizes for the best costumes were won by Beverley Horne, 13, and Paul McNeeley, 8, both of Norwood.

7,272 Children Under 10 In Peterborough

Of Peterborough's population of 36,716, as counted by the city's assessment this year, the age groups may be divided as follows:

Under 10 years	7,272
From 10 to 19	4,844

Peterborough's youth totals 12,116, according to those figures.

From 20 to 59 years	20,014
From 60 to 64	1,424
From 65 to 69	1,218
70 years and over	1,944

Another division is as follows:

Three years and under	3,272
Four years old	844
Five years	648
Six and seven	1,342
Eight and nine	1,166
10 to 13 years	1,967

Then, notice these figures in comparison with the above:

14 years old	454
15 years old	414
16 to 19	2,009

Effects Indicated

Boys and girls now 14 and 15 years old were born during the depression, the effects of which are probably indicated in the population graph.

One comparison is 648 children five years old as against 414 children 15 years old. In the juvenile bracket there is some increase in population to be considered. However, it does seem that in 1936 and 1937 there were fewer births and in the preceding years from 1930 to 1936 there were fewer marriages.

The assessment department extended its tabulation of the city's youth in years and groups of years, as required by the province. Nearest comparisons with the figures above were obtained from Assessment Commissioner J. E. Davis as follows:

Year	5-7	8-13	14-15	16-17	Tot.
1945	1,602	2,719	929	737	5,987
1946	1,498	2,677	890	724	5,789
1947	1,616	2,619	858	713	5,806
1948	1,649	2,633	798	801	5,981
1949	1,823	2,814	758	605	6,000

Lindsay Halts Sunday Hockey Practice

LINDSAY, Nov. 2—(FNS)—Further Sunday hockey practices in Lindsay arena were forbidden this week following a meeting of the arena committee.

Members of the Lindsay Ministerial Association met with the committee and gave their opinions on Sunday practising.

The Rev. H. B. Neal, termed Sunday practices as the thin edge of the wedge for Sunday sport in Lindsay. Before long, he said, a movement would begin urging games on the Sabbath.

Might Withdraw Support

The Rev. H. Hesketh stated that citizens might take a dim view of Sunday practices and withdraw their support from the hockey teams. The arena committee has permitted no spectators at the practices.

Alderman Vince Cote told the ministerial association that Sunday practices had been held to accommodate out-of-town players who could not come to Lindsay often.

The ministers said they saw reason in the argument, but still asked for discountinuing the practice.

Given Dog Biscuits

Parents of a little group of children at the north end of Water St. are nominating for dishonorable mention in the awards for meanness, the men who distributed dog biscuits to the youngsters Hallowe'en. The location was somewhere in the vicinity of the waterworks plant, but was not any person connected with it. In a neutral category, perhaps, was the elderly woman who had handed out two kittens to youngsters in a section of Ashburnham.

Release Imming, Fontaine On Arson Count

Paul Imming, Rink St., and Joseph Fontaine were both released on charges of attempted arson after Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., announced his decision in police court today that neither one should be sent on for trial by a higher court. Charges of causing a disturbance against both men were dismissed.

The preliminary hearings into charges that they had tried to set fire to the police station building with a lighted railway flare were held Oct. 26 and judgment reserved.

In the case of Imming, Magistrate Philp said, "I find that the element of intent necessary to this charge not proven to a degree, in my opinion, to warrant sending this man on for trial by a higher court."

Insufficient Evidence

Dealing with Fontaine, the magistrate said he was discharging him "on the point raised by the accused that there was not sufficient evidence to link the offence with accused."

In the charge of causing a disturbance against Imming, Crown Attorney John A Bradshaw asked the evidence in the attempted arson charge be used in disturbance charge. On that evidence, the magistrate dismissed the charge.

Following that, the crown attorney offered no evidence in the same charge against Fontaine.

Flare Thrown

Evidence at the preliminary hearing was that a lighted railway flare was thrown from a car and landed on the road in front of the station.

Constable Eldon McDonald said he saw the fiery red flare being thrown from the car which Imming was driving.

About 20 minutes later Imming and Fontaine were arrested in the car. The police officer had taken the licence number.

Year's Permits Tops 1949's

Building permits issued in October through the office of City Engineer Chalmers amounted to $291,976, most of which represents $241,400 as the approximate value of 33 houses.

Total for the ten months this year is $3,513,853 as compared with $3,448,789 to the end of October last year.

Details of the October list of new building were: 32 garages $9,075; 33 dwellings $241,400; and 82 miscellaneous permits for $41,501—total for the month $291,976.

Permits in October last year were: 20 garages $5,275; 24 houses $148,000; and 76 miscellaneous permits $121,270—total $274,545.

5,000 Beds Been Added To Hospitals In Ontario

TORONTO, Nov. 2 — (CP) — Health Minister Martin said today that in the last 2½ years 24,000 additional hospital beds—more than 25 a day—have been provided in Canada through the construction of new hospitals and hospital additions.

"Hardly a day passes that I do not approve at least one hospital construction project somewhere in Canada," said Mr. Martin in a speech prepared for delivery to the Ontario Conference of the Catholic Hospital Association in Toronto.

Since inception of the national health program in 1948, $22,000,000 in federal funds has assisted in the construction of 300 badly-needed hospitals or hospital additions.

Money from the grants was providing modern scientific equipment for hospitals, sanatoria and clinics. About 2,500 more members were being trained for Canada's army of health workers and 2,500,000 more chest X-rays were being made possible each year.

$45 Million In Grants

"More than $45,000,000 in federal grants has been expended or committed for expediture on behalf of provincial health programs," said Mr. Martin.

He referred to a recent announcement that the Health Department and the Bureau of Statistics are conducting a sickness survey on a nation-wide basis in co-operation with provincial health authorities.

"This is the first time that a study of this kind and of this magnitude has been carried out anywhere in the world," said Mr. Martin. "A sample group of approximately 40,000 people in 10,000 Canadian families has been selected, and with their co-operation, we will be able to gather for the first time accurate information on the distribution and incidence of illness, and other valuable information."

Train Smashes Panel Truck Driver Unhurt

E. T. Killian of Marmora caped uninjured today from his panel truck when it was totally wrecked by the noon CPR Toronto-Montreal passenger train at Monaghan Road and Romaine Street.

The impact threw the southbound truck about 10 feet, and it skidded to a stop about 25 feet south of the east-west track facing east. Two tires were thrown about 20 feet south of the truck.

Mr. Killian said that a second car blinded his view of the oncoming train and he did not see it until he was on the tracks and the train was upon him. He pressed on the accelerator and the truck shot forward. The train hit the truck just behind the front seat, caving in the side and twisting the frame. The windshield was broken and a crate of eggs inside the truck smashed.

According to police the train stopped momentarily to see if anyone was hurt and then carried on to the station. It was on time. Constable Sherman Keliele investigated.

Atomic Targets In Ontario Lack Hospitals

TORONTO, Nov. 2 (CP)—None of the likely targets of atomic bombing in Ontario if war broke out has enough hospital facilities to cope with an attack, the executive secretary of the Canadian Hospital Council said Wednesday.

Dr. Leonard O. Bradley told the annual meeting of the Ontario Hospital Association that mobile hospital units, hospital trains and temporary hospital wards under canvas would have to be rushed into action in case of an attack.

Dr. Bradley said it had been predicted that the most likely targets in Ontario would include Toronto, Niagara Falls, the Welland Canal, Hamilton and Sault Ste. Marie.

If Toronto were attacked, hospitals as far away as Belleville, Cobourg, Peterborough, Orillia and Guelph would have to be cleared to handle casualties from the city.

Dr. Bradley said that hospital costs probably would continue to rise next year but "hospital costs are not unduly high."

"There is no other package in the community that gives as much for the money paid out. John Doe is in a better position than ever before to pay his hospital bill and we must admit that more are doing so—that is, collections are higher."

New Auto Given Parish Priest

Members of St. Martin's parish, Ennismore and other friends, presented Rev. V. J. Gillogly with a new automobile and purse in appreciation of the 15 years of his priesthood which he has devoted to the people and also for his active community interest at a congregational assembly in the parish hall Friday night.

Mr. Leo Scollard was chairman, and a congratulatory address was read by Mr. James Moloney, assistant teacher at the Ennismore continuation high school. Presentation was made by Mr. Michael Young.

The felicities expressed by the occasion were extended in an address by Reeve James Gifford. The Hon. Harold Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests, who was a classmate of Father Gillogly at Lindsay Collegiate Institute, was also a guest, accompanied by Mrs. Scott. Lunch was served by the women of St. Martin's, during a social period.

Australia Still Tries For Pacific Pact

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 — (CP) — The Australian government still firmly believes that a Pacific pact is advisable, Hon. P. C. Spender, Australian External Affairs Minister, said Wednesday.

In this capital for a two-day visit, he told a press conference Australia would like to see the nucleus of such a pact formed by Commonwealth countries and still believes "that is possible."

Some countries in the north of the Pacific area had said they did not want to belong to what they called "power blocs." Because of this attitude, the area would have to be limited.

In that limited sense, he said, he had in mind a Pacific pact which would include Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, the United Kingdom and the countries on the west coast of North America—Canada and the United States. There would be no objection to Indonesia if she wished to join.

Dartford Innkeeper Politically Minded

DARTFORD, Kent, England — (CP)—Inn-keeper Ernest Barnes plans to open Britain's first "pub-parliament."

Customers will be invited to the bar-parlor to debate political problems in true parliamentary fashion, right down to the "who goes home?" which ends each sitting of the House of Commons.

First session will be devoted to discussing a speech by Norman Dodds, local Labor member.

Congregation Happy Fish Were Perfumed

APPLEDORE, Devon, England —(CP)— Fish, decorating the local harvest festival were sprayed with eau de cologne, for the obvious reason.

"People wer inclined to sit a little away from our display of fish to avoid the smell," said the vicar, Rev. Hugh Muller. "Now they enjoy quite a different odor."

Get Confidence Vote

JERUSALEM, Nov. 2 —(AP)— Premier David Ben-Gurion's newly-formed coalition government received a 69-42 vote of confidence Wednesday in the Israeli Knesset (parliament).

Seek To Plug Act Loopholes

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 —(CP)—The government is expected to clamp down shortly on the practice of working girls collecting unemployment insurance benefits after leaving their jobs for marriage.

Cabinet is considering new regulations under the Unemployment Insurance Act which would close up loopholes that now permit brides to dip into the insurance fund.

Officials say the practice of newlywed girls drawing unemployment insurance has become widespread. The employment insurance advisory committee drew it to the attention of the government in a report tabled at last spring's session of parliament.

Under unemployment insurance regulations, it is possible for girls to draw up to $16.20 a week for months, depending on how long they have paid into the fund before leaving their jobs.

If a prospective bride leaves her job voluntarily to get married, she is disqualified from collecting benefits for six weeks. But after that she may start collecting.

If a "suitable" job is found for her by National Employment Service, she is expected to take it or become disqualified again for varying periods up to six months.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS

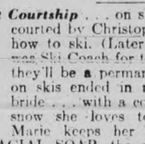
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, Nov. 2nd — This is the stormy time of year when living rooms need something to make them extra cosy . . . a touch of colour — a note of cheer. Try brassware! Its glowing beauty gives any room life and character. It's not expensive — and it's so very good-looking! A pair of candlesticks — a brass table lamp — red apples filling a glowing brass bowl . . . it's amazing what these brassware beauties can do to make a home more homelike! And don't forget, when you're buying your brassware, buy BRASSO, too. Regular polishing keeps brassware beautiful. And it's so very easy with Brasso — for it's the polish made especially for brass.

Succeeding Is Believing, so after reading the booklet — "How to Dye Bulky Articles with All-fabric Tintex", I did something I've wanted to do for a long time — dyed some of my white sheets Shell Pink. It was a huge success! And, know what? I discovered just how inexpensive it is to dye bulky articles in my washing machine. Easy, too! And results are definitely best — in fact, they're wonderful — with All-fabric TINTEX Tints and Dyes. Don't worry if you don't have a washing machine. Just take your sheets or slip-covers or drapes to your nearest Launderette, where they sell Tintex and where you can have your bulky things dyed as you wish. Would you like the booklet? I'll send it to you free of charge . . . simply write to me — Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

"Gesundheit!" won't help the sneeze that warns of a cold — but I know something that will . . . ANOHIST! Taken at first sneezes or sniffles, Anohist can stop cold symptoms in a single day! And by taking Anohist immediately on contact with anyone who has a cold, you may avoid spreading cold symptoms. Thus colds need no longer pass from one to another in a family if Anohist is taken promptly! So get Anohist from your druggist's today! Costs only about 3¢ per tablet! Remember: all anti-histamines are not alike. They vary greatly in performance. Anohist is the antihistamine formula recommended for family use because of its success in actual clinical tests.

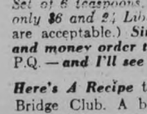
Tickled Pink when you give them a second helping! . . . that's the way babies are about HEINZ STRAINED BABY FOODS. M-mmm! — Those good cereals and the luscious variety of strained meat products, soups, vegetables and desserts — all cooked to baby-ready digestibility in Heinz' gleaming kitchens. HEINZ JUNIOR FOODS make "second-helping" dishes, too! (Good things like Junior Creamed Green Vegetables and Junior Vegetables with Bacon.) And second helpings are a grand idea — because Heinz Junior Foods are just right for three-to-five-year-old tummies. You'll like this, too, about all of Heinz foods for youngsters, including Baby Cereals . . . they're so very easy to prepare! Just take them from the tin, warm them up and serve.



Three Things a good cook must know ALL about . . . how to serve appetizing meals that are both nutritionally balanced AND budget-wise. Sounds like a "Tall Order", doesn't it? But it's really easy once you've discovered CANNED SALMON. So good — so nourishing — and so very economical! Canned Salmon is all cooked and ready to eat — it's all food — there's absolutely no waste. So why not do as so many good cooks do? — use it in succulent sandwiches — gala salads — and make mouth-watering Canned Salmon hot dishes. Your family will thrive on Canned Salmon — and so will your budget!

A Lightning-Fast Courtship . . . on skis! Yes, Marie Gerin-Lajoie was courted by Christopher Gribbin as she "taught" him how to ski. (Later she discovered that her "pupil" was Ski Coach for the University of Montreal!) Now they'll be a permanent ski-team, for their courtship on skis ended in marriage. Marie was a beautiful bride . . . with a complexion more dazzling than the snow she loves to ski on! Her beauty secret? Marie keeps her skin petal-soft — sparkling with WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP, the soap with the beauty cream ingredient. Yes, the skin-specialists who make Woodbury put a fabulous face-cream ingredient into every cake. It's a precious skin-softener used in the very finest face creams! So take a tip from a lovely "Woodbury" bride — start Woodbury "facials" today. And use Woodbury Facial Soap in your bath for all-over beauty. Just 10c a cake!

I Admit that I'm a perfectionist when it comes to cakes. I just hate to see good ingredients wasted on a cake failure. And if you're like me, I'm sure you'll be just as thrilled as I am with the cakes that SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR makes. That's the cake flour that's sifted over and over again 'til it's 27 times as fine as ordinary flour. Well — you can imagine! . . . And results are every bit as wonderful as you'd expect them to be! For Swans Down Cake Flour is made by cake flour specialists to give you cakes with better, finer texture — cakes to delight the fussiest perfectionist!



Meat, Potatoes 'N' Pie For Breakfast? Some folks like 'em, it's true — and certainly a breakfast like this is no worse than a hasty cup of coffee. But the truly nourishing breakfast is a matter of quality — not quantity. That's why delicious 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT" is "tops" with most families at breakfast-time. It's so good and so good for you. You see, 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" contains Iron necessary for good red blood and Calcium and Phosphorus — for diets deficient in these elements. Easy to prepare, too — for 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" cooks to tempting perfection in just five minutes of boiling!

"Pretty Soft!" — That's what you'll say the first time you use those new coloured tissue handkerchiefs, FACE-ELLE "En Pastels"! Pretty? — Well those dainty pastel shades (three colours in the one box) are lovely to look at. And soft? — They have a 3-ply cushioned softness as gentle as a whispering breeze! Your guests will appreciate your Face-Elle "En Pastels", too, when they see the smart box on view in your guest-room. And that goes for Gibson's Tinted Tissues too. These are the coloured tissues sold by grocery stores — (You get Face-Elle at drug and toiletry counters). Both brands sell for only 25c for a big box . . . or you may prefer to send me 25c in coin or postage stamps and I'll see that you get a box right away. My address is: Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

DOUBLE Bargain! . . . save money by using delicious, nutritious LIBBY'S EVAPORATED MILK in your cooking . . . and save your Libby's Evaporated Milk labels to get a bargain in Wallace Brothers Silver Plate (in the beautiful "Laurentian" pattern)! . . . Yours for half price and less! . . . 6 teaspoons ($2 value) for just $1 and 6 Libby's labels — OR — a 2½-piece Set of 6 teaspoons, 6 dessert spoons, 6 forks, 6 knives ($15 value) for only $8 and 2½ Libby's labels! (Labels from both large and small tins are acceptable.) Simply send your Libby's Evaporated Milk labels and money order to me — Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q. — and I'll see that you get your silverware.

Here's A Recipe that will make your refreshments the talk of your Bridge Club. A brand new, delightful way to make tasty "Cheese Straws" — with tangy, beefy-good BOVRIL! Here 'tis . . . designed for your party success by Eileen Rodger, the Bovril Dietitian:- Piquant Cheese Straws

¾ cup pastry flour
¼ cup shortening
Cold water (about 2 to 3 tbsps.)
¼ tspn. salt
½ cup grated Canadian Cheese
2 tspns. Bovril

Sift flour and salt together and cut in shortening. Add enough cold water to make a stiff dough. Roll into a rectangular sheet about ¼ inch thick. Sprinkle half of the sheet of pastry with one third of the cheese. Fold over and press edges together. Roll again to ¼ inch thickness. Repeat twice using up all the cheese. With a fork streak the top of the pastry with the BOVRIL. Cut in strips 4 inches long and ¼ inch wide. Place on a pan and bake in a hot oven, 450 deg. F., until crisp and brown, about 8 minutes. Makes about three dozen.

JAMMED BUMPER TO BUMPER on one of Montreal harbor's eastern docks, some of the more than 1,000 British cars brought into port in the last few days for distribution to Canadian dealers are shown waiting to be hauled away. Harbor officials estimate the cars have a retail value of almost $2,000,000. Import of British cars has been one of the port's cargo bright spots this season.

Theatre Becomes New Industry; City A Leader

There is a new industry flourishing in Canada today. This is professional theatre. Four years ago the idea that a large and growing number of Canadians could make a year-round living in the local professional theatre was unheard of. Such top-flight Canadian talent as Raymond Massey, Hume Cronyn and Judith Evelyn, had to go abroad for work as well as recognition.

Today the picture is changing. Not as rapidly as some would want it, but with a sure and steady growth, especially in the number of young Canadians who make a year-round living at it in their own country. There is also a determination on the part of other groups to provide them with this work.

In Ontario there are four producing groups: The Brian Doherty Organization, The Straw Hat Players, the International Players, and the Yorke-Sadlier group. It is the last named that are producing "The Wind and the Rain" which is coming to the Collegiate Auditorium, Peterborough, on Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 29 and 30.

They operate The Niagara Falls - Peterborough Summer Theatre, and after Christmas will tour the farce "Se How They Run."

New Burlington Venture

This carries them up to the end of March, and in the Spring they will present a season of Theatre in The Round at the famous Brant Inn at Burlington. Theatre in The Round is the newest twist to the theatre. The plays are presented in the centre of the auditorium as against being at one end as now. The audience is seated all around with four aisles left for entrances and exits. There are no sets, just furniture. While it calls for a director with more than ordinary imagination, the results are very exciting. The audience is part of the play, the barrier of the footlights and orchestra pit, having vanished. The actors too, gain another dimension, and the audience gets an entirely new idea of theatre.

It is hoped to make the Brant Inn project a permanent one. All this adds up to the fact that such talented young actors as Kate Reid, Donald Davis, David Gardner, Kay Hawtrey and Pat Atkinson, who will appear in "The Wind and the Rain," are getting a chance to do at home what the previous generation had to go abroad to do. A chance to do what they most want to do, and make a name for themselves, here in Canada.

The future of Canadian Theatre is looking bright.

Raphaelson Play Well Done In New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP). — Able playwright Samson Raphaelson says he tried for the last 10 years to find a solution for an attractive woman who is near middle-age and has not yet found success and happiness in either marriage or career. Ten years after she has left college she still is seeking the same things she aspired to when she eloped with the football hero of her alma mater.

That is the theme which Raphaelson, author of such successes as "The Jazz Singer" and "Accent on Youth," brought to the Coronet Theatre last night in his newest play, "Hilda Crane."

Hume Cronyn, the London (Ont.)-born actor and director, stages the play with understanding and subtlety.

It is a moving, emotional play which has human facets that might apply to almost any normal family in such a middle-size college town as this one which is named Winona, Ill.

Played Well

Hilda Crane, as played with great understanding and tenderness by Jessica Tandy, Cronyn's wife, is a brilliant small-town girl who has gone to New York. There she finds there are thousands of other brilliant small-town girls who have the same idea, and competition is too great. She tries two marriages, and both fail.

She returns to her home town and finds her childhood sweetheart, who has now grown rich, still waiting for her. He is the answer to her material wants, but she discovers also that she is still in love with an idealistic college professor of her schooldays.

Hilda marries wealth, but largely for the reason that her prospective mother-in-law opposes the marriage.

Miss Tandy, John Alexander, Evelyn Varden (as the horrible mother-in-law), and Beulah Bondi head one of the best-chosen casts for a difficult but most-excellent play.

Musical Couple Get Royal Boost

LONDON (CP)— Queen Mary has given encouragement to two music composers, Mr. and Mrs. William Webb of Fulham. Mr. Webb is a former Saskatoon, Sask., newspaperman.

They have received from Queen Mary's lady-in-waiting a letter saying that the Queen Mother was pleased to accept Mrs. Mary Webb's piano solo "Twilight Tapestry," which has been accepted by publishers and broadcast.

With Mr. Webb composing the lyrics and his wife writing the music, the couple has composed 20 pieces of music ranging from classical to novelty numbers.

An accomplished pianist, Mrs. Webb gave many concerts for charity during the war, but did not become a composer until her husband became ill two years ago. On his release from hospital he was told he would be unable to work, and it was then that he and his wife decided to try composing music.

Millbrook Lions Hold Party

MILLBROOK, Nov. 2 (ENS).— The armouries were filled Tuesday night with gaily costumed children for the annual Hallowe'en party given them each year by the Lions' Club. There were cowboys, Indians, witches, fairies, ghosts, clowns, gypsies, devils, scarecrows and others.

There were games of chance, bowling and dart games with oranges and apples as prizes.

After the grand march the prize winners were called to the platform and given a prize of money. Then each child there was called up to show off his costume, to tell his name and to receive a bag of candy and nuts.

The children were then shown films. There were chairs for parents, but most of the crowd of youngsters sat on the floor.

DOROTHY DIX

Is Love Real Which Alters When It Alteration Finds?

Dorothy Dix

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Our English class has been given the following quotation to comment upon. It is taken from Shakespeare's Sonnet No. 116: "Love is not love which alters when it alteration finds." There was a difference of opinion about this. What are your views? C.M.M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Quite the contrary of Mr. Shakespeare's, for I think that love is bound to change if its object changes, and that one would have to be blind, deaf and dumb and a moron to go on loving someone who had become unlovable. Of course, not only the poets hold to this optimistic theory about the indestructibility of love, but a great many everyday sort of people also pin their faith to it and exploit it for all it is worth. They feel that once they have captured our fancies and won our affections that we will go on seeing them as glamorous, no matter how they deteriorate and what scarecrows they become and that no matter how they treat us we will continue to adore them.

Some Marriages Demonstrate

This artless belief that the heart is a perpetual - motion machine that once set going can't be stopped finds its fullest illustration in mariage and explains why husbands and wives take so little trouble to make themselves attractive to each other. They don't try to hold the love they have won because they think they can't lose it, a mistaken idea which is sufficiently disproved by the number of divorces.

Maybe it isn't love, from the poets' standpoint, that can't survive disillusion and ill-treatment and the decadence of an ideal, but it is the only kind of love of which the common or garden variety of man and woman is capable. They can't go on kissing the unkissable and being romantic about the commonplace. They know we can fall out of love as easily as we can fall in love, and that if we retain the affection of anyone we have to work to keep it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I married an ideal man, or so it seemed to me. Two children came. My husband fell ill. For years he was a semi-invalid. I nursed him, waited on him, wore myself to a frazzle trying to help him for ten years. He swore over and over that if he was ever well he would make it all up to me. Finally the doctors discovered the cause of his illness and he was restored to health. How did my husband repay my devotion? By falling head over heels in love with another woman. I am stunned, wounded, embittered. I am returning cruelty for cruelty to him. I nag him to madness. I won't let him out of my sight. I dominate him and torture him. Is there any help for me? I still love him. He could cure my sick soul, but will he?

A NAGGING WIFE.

ANSWER: Nothing could be more tragic or more piteous than your experience. Nothing else so devastates the soul as to find out that one has sacrificed one's life to an ingrate, nothing such a blighting disappointment as to find out that those one has loved and trusted have betrayed one.

But the remedy for soul sickness is not bitterness. It is not cruelty. It is not revenge. It is not in trying to make another suffer as we have suffered. It consists in forgiving, if that is possible, the ofence that has been committed against you, and if you cannot forgive, to forget it and put it out of your mind as much as possible.

You can never find peace, you can never know happiness as long as you dwell upon your wrongs. And so I beg you for your own sake to either go away and leave your husband or to make a truce with him. And if you still want him back the only way you will get him will be as an angel of forgiveness, not a demon of revenge.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a very attractive sister who is now a widow. She has never seemed interested in men until now, when she has fallen head over heels in love with a man who has no job, no money, no home. Nothing except two children. His first wife committed suicide because of his affairs with their next-door neighbor. My sister knows all of this, but she is so crazy about him that she cannot eat or sleep unless she knows where he is every minute. She even knows he is going with bad women, but she wants to marry him. What can I do?

A WORRIED BROTHER.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Nothing. When a woman is that much infatuated with a man she is deaf to reason and there is no use in arguing with her. It is a pity she can't be locked up until she comes to her senses.

Marriage Vows

The wedding took place quietly in St. Andrew's United Church on Saturday of Irene Kathleen, daughter of Mrs. L. Williamson of Peterborough, and Allan Keith Clements, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clements, Carnduff, Sask. The Rev. M. J. Aiken officiated.

The bride's gown of white brocaded satin was styled with a sweetheart neckline and she wore a fingertip veil, held in place with a wreath of flowers and carried a bouquet of red roses. She was attended by Miss Bernice Clements who was gowned in blue and carried pink 'mums.

William Williamson was the groom's attendant.

A reception was held at Norwood and afterward the couple left for Buffalo, the bride wearing grey with navy accessories.

They will live at 776 Snelgrove Rd., Peterborough.

Diocesan Council Hears Report On Provincial

Second quarterly meeting of the 1950 season of the Diocesan Council CWL was held in St. Mary's School. President Miss Agnes Grant in her report covered every phase of the provincial convention activities in Kingston where representatives of the 254 sub-divisions across Ontario were assembled.

She said during the past year $236,441.30 was realized and of this sum 90 per cent was spent in parish and community work. Instead of the provincial scholarship, previously discussed, it was considered advisable to provide instead a provincial bursary fund with an objective of $15,000. This to be used for whatever type of burse considered most beneficial by those in office at the time. When the amount is raised the interest therefrom will be awarded yearly.

Winner of this year's diocesan scholarship of $300. is Miss Dorothy Doran of Lindsay who is at present attending the University of Toronto.

Scrutiny in spending in the most worthwhile spots was urged. The annual essay contest will be continued this year. Mrs. M. Torpey, convener of education, suggested more prizes be awarded and instead of the two prizes, three prizes will be offered this coming year.

Reports on organization and magazine were presented by Mrs. F. J. Lynch and Miss M. Grady.

At the provincial convention a resolution was adopted that all sub-divisions use report forms covering all phases of league work including finance, also that there be an annual diocesan report form of similar pattern, the information contained in these forms being compiled on each level of league organization, thus making complete co-ordination from the sub-division to the diocesan, to the provincial and national councils.

After the meeting, Miss Grant entertained at afternoon tea.

The next meeting of Provincial Council is to be held in Peterborough.

Clue to Bliss - - Bouquets Cheaper than Alimony

WINNIPEG — (CP) — That husband of yours may not be the best or most handsome specimen on two feet, lady, but there's a way to make your wedding life a lot more acceptable.

"It's no farther away than the tip of your tongue," says provincial psychiatrist T. A. Pincock.

The key to domestic bliss? Brag about the guy, do it where people can hear you. If you look hard enough, you can find something in him to brag about.

But Dr. Pincock says you should be cautious: Don't extend the bragging to a point where it becomes boring.

The psychiatrist gave his advice at a young couples' club. And he had some advice for husbands, too. He said they should remember anniversaries and show other common courtesies.

Cheaper in End

"A bouquet costs something," he said, "but it's a lot cheaper than paying alimony."

Marriage failures, the doctor continued, are usually due to "emotional or other personality failures."

"No marriage runs itself; it must be managed."

How to Avoid Spats

Spats out of proportion to their cause could be avoided if couples would understand each other's moods. By remaining calm, one partner could "usually" bring the angry one around to apologizing.

A union of two persons both used to having someone make decisions for them is a sad affair, said Dr. Pincock. Equally difficult is a marriage of two dominant individuals because each is convinced the other is bossy.

Knowledge beforehand of these traits would make for intelligent adjustments.

Incompetent housekeeping, inefficient use of leisure time and unfair division of labor were secondary causes of marriage failures.

The ideal in marriage—what he called "a democratic co-partnership"—was achieved in about one-third of all marriages. Husbands dominated in a little more than one-third of marriages; wives in a little less than one-third.

Dr. Pincock said the wife-dominated marriages "show a particularly unhappy situation."

Couples could have different interests but if they loved one another they could solve most of their difficulties.

"After all," said Dr. Pincock, "I'm a believer in romance."

Mary Dunlay Wed To C. B. Gordon

HASTINGS, Nov. 2—(ENS)—Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church was the scene of a pretty wedding when Rev. J. J. Garvey united in marriage Mary Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Dunlay of Hastings to Charles Bernard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon T. Mahoney of Campbellford.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was charming in a period gown of ivory blush satin, fashioned with a nylon net yoke inset in the fitted bodice and a bustle effect on the graceful skirt. Her shoulder length veil of ivory tulle illusion fell from a poke bonnet of matching net and she carried a bridescade of red roses.

Miss Noreen Dunlay, sister of the bride, as maid of honor and Miss Margaret Mahoney of Peterborough, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid were in matching bouffant frocks of frosted moire taffeta, in mauve and apple green, their shoulder-length veils fell from heart-shaped headdresses of matching colors and carried cascades of mauve and yellow poms. Catherine McFadden, cousin of the bride was flower girl and her gown was yellow faille taffeta with matching poke bonnet and she carried a basket of mixed poms. During the nuptial mass Mrs. F. Daly sang "Ave Maria".

The immediate relatives attended the wedding breakfast at the Trent House, Campbellford, where Mrs. Dunlay received dressed in navy crepe with black accessories and wore a corsage of Briarcliffe roses. Mrs Mahoney also received and was attired in grey crepe with black accessories, and wore a corsage of Briarcliffe roses.

Later a reception was held at the home of the bride. For her wedding trip to Brantford, Niagara and the U.S.A., the bride wore a grey gabardine suit with navy velvet accessories and topcoat of rose polo.

Nettie McKenzie Mission Band

The Nettie McKenzie Mission Band met in the primary room of Knox United Church, Wednesday, with 24 members and three guests present.

GlenCrawford was in the chair for the meeting. Mrs. J. James gave the financial statement. Dennis McDonald gave a reading.

The worship service title "Deciding to Learn About God" was conducted by Gail and Judy Marilyn Barry. Gail and Judy Deck lit the candles and Daisy Panter read the scripture and a prayer. Sandra Lambe and Sandra Dilder took up the offering.

St. Paul's YPS Holds Fall Rally

The Young People's Societies of Peterborough Presbytery held their fall rally in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Wednesday night. Guest speaker was Rev. A. E. Toombes of Campbellford, who gave an address and showed colored slides on India.

Miss Barbara Luther of Peterborough gave a full report of the provincial meetings and world convention that took place in Toronto, and the Young People's camp, Glen Mohr.

Miss Ruth Curtis, Peterborough, gave a report on the provincial convention of the Young People's Societies in Hamilton on the week-end of October 7.

Mr. James Dutton, chairman of the board of administration of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, also spoke and brought greetings from the board.

Three representatives from the Provincial Young People's Society were present from Toronto. They were Provincial President George Malcolm of Knox College and Mr. and Mrs. Roger John of Toronto. They spoke briefly on behalf of the provincial organization.

The following list of officers were presented by the nominating committee and accepted for the 1951 Presbyterial executive of the Young People's Society, Peterborough Presbytery: President, Barbara Luther, Peterborough; vice-president, Archie McCook, Campbellford; secretary, Ruth Curtis, Peterborough; treasurer, John Weatherson, Warkworth; worship convener, Mrs. S. Whitred, Hastings; missions convener, Rev. A. E. Toombes; stewardship convener, Rev. J. Green, Keene; fellowship convener, Jean Smith, Peterborough; visual aids, Rev. R. D. Duncanson, Norwood.

Mrs. Bruce Gills of Campbellford and Rev. James Ritchy of Campbellford were chairmen of the rally.

Marilyn Clarke Becomes Bride of Donald Barton

HAVELOCK, Nov. 2—(ENS)—Pink and white 'mums and evergreen formed a lovely setting in Campbellford United Church on Wednesday afternoon when Marilyn Lorraine Clarke, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clarke of Campbellford, became the bride of Murray Donald Barton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Barton of Havelock. The Rev. D. Mansell Smith performed the ceremony and wedding music was played by Mr. Charles A. Howey.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin with floor length veil of white tulle. She carried a cascade of American Beauty roses.

Miss Helen Owens of Belleville, cousin of the bride, was senior bridesmaid wearing a floor-length gown of pink nylon net over satin, with matching headdress and mittens.

Miss Barbara Clarke, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid, gowned in blue taffeta with matching headdress and gloves.

Mrs. Everett Mechetuk, aunt of bride, was matron of honor, wearing a gown of yellow nylon net over taffeta with matching headdress and gloves. They all carried variegated 'mums. The groom was attended by Mr. Edward Barker of Havelock and the ushers wre Mr. Everett Mechetuk of Campbellford and Mr. Randal Anderson of Havelock.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where the bride's mother received in a gown of navy blue tissue faille with grey accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore a light blue jersey gown and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Otto Sarginson, Mrs. Charles Southworth and Miss Thelma Owens served about 60 guests from Toronto, Belleville, Havelock and Campbellford.

For travelling to Niagara Falls and points south, the bride chose a skipper blue suit with black accessories, and corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Barton will live at Havelock.

Friends Shower Bride-to-be

HAVELOCK, Nov. 2—(ENS)—A surprise was provided Miss Marie Cosgrove, a bride of Saturday of this week, when she was guest of honor at a social gathering on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. A. Russell, which was arranged by her fellow-workers in the local Bell Telephone exchange.

During the evening Miss Cosgrove was presented with a beautiful two-tone wool blanket, the presentation was by Mrs. E. Collington on behalf of the staff who are: Mrs. A. Russell, Miss Isabel Mathison, Miss Ruby Buckland, Miss Eleanor Forsyth, Miss Beverley Bennett.

The evening was spent in playing crokinole. Lunch was served from a bride's table centred with an ornament in the form of an umbrella with white candles in crystal holders on either side with pink and white streamers, completing the decorations.

BabyBandMothers Hear Miss Young

Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society was the guest speaker at the mothers' meeting of the Mark St. Baby Band which was held at the residence of Mrs. K. Armstrong, 13 Cricket Place Wednesday evening. Miss Young gave an interesting talk on the work of the society.

President Mrs. R. Wood presided for the business period. It was decided to have a bowling party for the members on Nov. 24.

Mrs. H. Cawker was in charge of devotions. The scripture reading was given by Mrs. W. Atchison and Mrs. H. Guppy read a poem "A Mother's Prayer." Mrs. H. Green and Mrs. W. Lawson also gave readings.

Mrs. H. Cawker and committee served lunch. Those helping were: Mrs. W. Lawson, Mrs. M. Green, Mrs. M. Ward, Mrs. D. Miller, Mrs. W. Sanderson and Mrs. P. Cooper.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. Hamley, 617 Beverley St.

Grenfell Mission Plans Fall Tea

Members and guests of the Grenfell Mission held their autumn meeting Wednesday in the Green Room of the YWCA following a luncheon.

The history of the local branch since its organization in 1907 was compiled and read by Mrs. Gordon Langley, honorary president.

A very satisfactory treasurer's report was given.

Plans were made for the fall tea to be held December 7 at the residence of Miss Clara Morris, Homewood Ave. The handicraft at the tea will be in charge of Miss Linden Hall, 17 Fleming Place. The handicraft wil arrive at her home shortly and will be obtained there until the tea.

Mrs. D. Anderson and Mrs. B. L. Barns are in charge of the Grenfell Mission Card and they can be obtained now.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Experimenting with Pastry Most Delightful Pastime

During the past week I have been doing some experiments with pastry.

I was commissioned to do this for a firm that is planning to make sausage rolls for the wholesale trade.

I thought I knew quite a bit about pastry but I have learned more, faster, than I thought there was to know in a lifetime of cooking.

I tried flaky-thick, flaky-thin, flaky with lard and butter, flaky with lard and shortening.

I tried tender pastry, thick and thin; then with bread and pastry flours, and three different kinds of shortening. The best pastries, if cost is disregarded, are the two which follow.

I have a tendency to get into a rut with some of my standard recipes, even with all of the experimenting that I do. Do you do that too?

When I queried my friends—Barb and Eleanour and my sister—they agreed that these pastries were a welcome change from their regular procedures.

If you would like a sure-fire hit try the Tender Pastry with Gravenstein apples and old cheese for your next apple pie. Invite a guest, for this is a honey.

Tender Pastry

(This is so good and keeps so well, I have made this up into a six-cup-flour batch.) Six cups bread flour, 1 lb. best quality shortening or lard, 2 teaspoons each baking powder and salt, one egg in measuring cup filled full with whole milk.

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Mix in the shortening with the finger tips until it resembles oatmeal in size. Put egg in measuring cup, fill it up with whole milk, and add to the dough and mix in with a knife or pastry blender. This amount makes six pie crusts of generous size. If to be kept in refrigerator for use during the week, wrap in double thicknesses of wax paper then in tea towel OR keep in covered honey pail in refrigerator.

Flaky Pastry No. 1

Six cups pastry flour, 2 teaspoons each baking powder and salt, 1 cup butter, 1 cup lard, 1 cup ice cold water. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Work the lard into them with finger tips. Add the water by sprinkling it over the dough, and cutting it in with a knife. Roll out. Spread sheet of dough with one-third of the butter, roll up like a jelly roll, roll out. Repeat this spreading of butter and rolling up and rolling out twice. Chill overnight before using for pies or pastries.

This is based on flaky pastry No. 1, but bread flour is used in place of pastry flour, and a good quality shortening is used in place of butter for the spreading and rolling. The chilling is important. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr.

This makes a particularly delicious crust for a lemon pie.

My lemon pie filling is as follows: In top of double boiler mix 1 cup sugar, ½ cup flour and 2 tablespoons cornstarch, ½ teaspoon salt; when mixed stir in 2¼ cups boiling water, and stir over heat until thick, then cook, covered, over boiling water for 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Beat 3 egg yolks with ¼ cup sugar, and pour hot mixture over them, stirring and return to double boiler and cook 2 minutes. Remove from heat, add 6 tablespoons lemon juice, 3 tablespoons grated lemon rind. Cool. Pour into baked shell cover with meringue made of 3 stiffly beaten whites and 6 tablespoons sugar. Bake meringue in slow oven.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Refrigerator Cheese Pies Easy to Make, Tasty Change

For any number of delicious dessert ideas you must have "250 Luscious Refrigerator Desserts" sixteenth in the series of twenty-four cookbooks being released a book a week to readers of the Examiner. These cookbooks are full of easy-to-follow tested recipes that will delight novice and experienced cooks alike, and the photographic illustrations give added ideas for serving and trimming.

Not all of the refrigerator desserts are rich puddings, ice creams, or mousses. Here for instance, is an easy and economical recipe for excellent cheese cake that can be made well in advance and brought out to delight a party of ten or twelve people:

Refrigerator Cheese Cake

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
2 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
3 cups cottage cheese (dry)
1-3 cup lemon juice
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 recipe Cereal Crumb Piecrust

Soften getalin in water 5 minutes. Cook slightly beaten egg yolks, salt, milk and sugar in double boiler until thickened, stirring occasionally. Add lemon rind and gelatin and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Chill. When gelatin begins to thicken, beat in cottage cheese, lemon juice and vanilla with rotary beater. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and whipped cream. Butter bottom and sides of 2 (9-inch) piepans. Line pans on bottom with crumb crust saving ¼ cup for the top. Pour in cheese mixture and sprinkle remaining crumbs on top. Chill 4 to 5 hours or overnight before serving. Serves 12.

To get your copy of the Refrigerator Dessert Book simply clip a coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present it with 25c at the Examiner or to your carrier or at Braund's Home Food Markets. Or if you prefer to obtain your copy by mail send the coupon with 30c (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

Like an Angel of Mercy to blemished skin

Specialist's 4-Step Beau. Routine Helps 4 out of 5 to Softer, Smoother, Lovelier-looking Skin—in 2 Weeks!

● If your skin gets dry or rough, if blemishes sometimes mar its loveliness—here's vital news.

181 women with just such troubles, followed a new beauty routine developed by a noted specialist. They used one medicated greaseless cream—Noxzema Skin Cream. After one week, the majority showed remarkable improvement. At the end of the test, results were astonishing! Actually, 4 out of 5 showed softer, smoother, lovelier-looking skin in only 2 weeks.

Here is the Specialist's Routine:

Morning—1. "Creamwash with Noxzema." Apply Noxzema all over your face. With a wet face cloth wash your face with Noxzema—just as you would with soap. Note how clean your skin looks and feels. 2. Dry face. Smooth on a protective film of greaseless Noxzema as a powder base.

Evening—3. Again "Creamwash with Noxzema." See how easily you wash away make-up, the day's dirt and grime. 4. Now massage Noxzema into your face. Pat on extra Noxzema over any blemishes to help heal them.

Limited Time Offer

Try Noxzema. See if it doesn't help your skin look lovelier. Act now. Time is limited. Get the big 93¢ jar for only 79¢. At all drug and cosmetic counters.

Appoint Judge Board Chairman

OTTAWA, Nov. 2—(CP)—Judge Archibald Cochrane of Brampton, has been appointed to act as chairman of a Board of Conciliation in a dispute between The Canadian Press, national news-gathering co-operative, and the American Newspaper Guild. The Board will deal also with a dispute between CP's radio news subsidiary, Press News Limited, and the Guild.

Judge Cochrane's appointment was announced by the Labor Department in the absence of a joint recommendation as to a chairman from Herbert Orliffe, Guild nominee on the Board, and Gordon R. Munnoch, K.C., company nominee.

Judge Cochrane, 59, a native of Kingston, has been Judge of the County Court of Peel since 1946. A veteran of the First World War, he graduated from Osgoode Hall after reading law in Belleville. He was senior deputy chairman of the mobilization board for Military District No. 2 during the Second World War. Recently he was appointed chairman of the reorganized Windsor Police Commission.

Navy's Cruise Good Propaganda

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 2 (CP)—Rear-Admiral E. R. Mainguy, commander of the Canadian Special Service Squadron, said Wednesday night that the squadron's European cruise is designed to show other members of the North Atlantic Pact that Canada is interested not only in safeguarding peace and freedom but wants to co-operate in making this effective on a world-wide basis.

He said it is also hoped that the Canadian officers and men will see for themselves there is much in common between Canadians and the "peoples of the nations we are visiting."

The aircraft carrier Magnificent arrived Wednesday with the destroyers Micmac and Huron for a four-day visit. It is the first time Canadian warships have visited Lisbon.

Mainguy said the three destroyers originally scheduled to accompany the visiting squadron now are "co-operating with other United Nations units in the Korean war."

(The Athabaskan, Sioux and Cayuga are serving with the U.S. fleet in Korean waters).

Halt Bingo Letters

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP). — Postal officials are stopping delivery of mailed literature advertising bingo games, a post office department authority said Wednesday. The official said this action conforms to a long-standing departmental regulation that material promoting illegal activities cannot be transmitted through the mails.

Cost-Of-Living Survey To Be Issued

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (CP). — Housewives will get a chance Friday to see how successful the government has ben in waging its battle against inflationary prices.

At 3 p.m. EST the Bureau of Statistics will issue its survey of September living costs as compiled in its official cost-of-living index.

After seven leaps in 1950, the index in August stood at an all-time high of 169.8, with peaks reached in five of its six sub-groups—food, rent, fuel and lighting, home furnishings and miscellaneous.

Compiled on the basis that 1935-39 prices equal 100, the index has jumped 7.5 points in a year—from 162.3 in August, 1949, to 169.8.

Most of the upward push has been in food prices, though there have been small upward movements in all other sub-indexes, even in clothing, the only sub-group that has not yet reached a peak.

Living Costs Climb

Living costs are climbing, too, in the United States. The U.S. government's consumer price index for Sept. 15 inched up 0.5 per cent from the previous month and stood at 173.8—73.8 per cent more than the 1935-39 average and only 0.4 per cent below the record high of 174.5 in August and September of 1948.

Food prices in Canada have been steadily advancing since last December. In August the sub-index stood at 218.8, marking an 11.8-point gain from 207.0 a year ago.

Rents in Canada have been inching up steadily since 1933. In August the sub-index stood at 135.5, a gain of 11.6 points from 123.9 last year.

Fuel and lighting costs have been climbing since May, 1949. This sub-group in August stood at 140.8, marking a 9.3 point advance from last year's 130.1.

In a brief climb since May this year, the home furnishings and service group was boosted to 171.1. In August last year the index stood at 167.4.

PARAPLEGIC GETS DEGREE — Roland Millette, 24, paralyzed from the waist down since he was 15, uses his wheelchair as a desk while completing his education. Recently he was awarded his B.A. from the University of Ottawa. Millette, a native of Nicolet, Que., hopes to leave his Montreal hospital soon and study law.

Voters Reject $25 Million Civic Centre Plan

EDMONTON, Nov. 2—(CP)—Edmonton ratepayers Wednesday voted "no" to a $25,000,000 scheme for a streamlined civic centre.

They rejected a scheme whereby a group of New York backers would finance a project making an undeveloped four-block area in the heart of the city into a "miracle mile."

There would have been a large civic auditorium, parking space for 4,800 cars, parks and modern office buildings.

But although 60 per cent of the voters favored the plan, a majority of 66 2-3 per cent was needed.

That vote was the main issue. Election of five aldermen was regarded with fair interest, but some aldermen expressed more concern over the outcome of the miracle mile than in their own re-election.

For four months the plan has been the topic of violent debate. Civic officials, newspapers and radio stations took sides on the matter. Citizens discussed it on street corners. On election day an aircraft flew overhead with a streamer urging voters to reject the scheme.

18,000 Voted

Some 18,000 of an estimated 33,000 eligible voters cast ballots.

Though the vote appeared to settle the future of the miracle mile plan, negotiations with the city for a similar project may still continue.

Because of a "tax free" clause under which the New York financiers would have obtained a lease on the four city blocks, the door remains open for other offers to build a miracle mile.

In Alberta no tax concessions can be granted by a city without a provincial agreement to the civic charter. The amendment given Edmonton permits the city to negotiate similar proposals with "the same or other interested parties until March 31, 1953."

MILITARY ATTACHE—Col. J. M. Houghton, OBE, 34, has been appointed military attache to the Canadian mission at Bonn, Germany. Col. Houghton was born in England, but considers Brockville, Ont., his home. He will leave for Germany Nov. 10 aboard the Empress of France.

J.W. Noseworthy Speaks To Durham CCF

The CCF of Durham County held a supper meeting in Orono Tuesday evening. The special speaker was Joseph Noseworthy, MPP of South York. He was introduced by Spence Cheshire of Fraserville, the president. Mr. Noseworthy stated that with 60 per cent of the world's population hungry, Communism with its promises of food was a very real threat. He believed that Socialism was the best way to combat that threat.

At the present time between seven and eight hundred million people were under Communism, and there are agents at work in every country.

In the case of Korea, the United Nations was fortunate that when the communistic forces of North Korea attacked, the United States had armed forces so close as Japan. For the next outbreak the U.N. might not be so advantageously situated. He stated that for the last five years the U.N. had not been able to make progress on account of Russia blocking measures suggested by other countries. Russia had lost all the confidence she had built up during the war years.

Mr. Noseworthy predicted a provincial election in 1950 or 1951. There were representatives present from Bowmanville, Port Hope, Janetville, Millbrook and Fraserville, as well as Orono.

Ernest Dent welcomed the visiting members on behalf of the Orono CCF.

Predicts Lower School Rates

OMEMEE, Nov. 2— (ENS). — Better school rates were predicted Monday evening at a meeting of the ratepayers of Omemee High School District. Meeting was to discuss a larger High School area.

The proposal, said the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, chairman, would mean lower rates for both Omemee and Emily residents. Under the present setup, Emily ratepayers were paying higher rates than the citizens of Omemee.

The proposed enlarged area, said Mr. Zufelt, would include only the area from which Omemee High School now draws its punils.

The proposition made by the Board was that Emily residents continue to provide for transportation of their own children, and that the village be taxed 1 mill higher, as they have no transportation problem.

James Carroll, teacher at Downeyville, said the size of the proposed school area was not too large, and that the school would be in a position to give more individual help than schools in larger areas.

Ratepayers from Sections 1, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12 and 13, and Omemee attended.

William Hubble 81 Wednesday

NROWOOD, Nov. 2 (ENS). — On Wednesday William Hubble of Queen Street celebrated his 81st birthday. Mr. Hubble is very active around his home. He was born in the Township of Methuen, son of the late John Hubble and Sara Drain, and moved to Stony Lake at the age of 18, where he spent most of his 81 years as a farmer. He came to Norwood 30 years ago, and 22 years ago he married Mrs. Maude Casemen. He is a member of the Baptist Church.

Old Country Club Hallowe'en Party

The Old Country Club held a Hallowe'en party Tuesday night which included games and a ghost walk through the YWCA.

The following members were awarded prizes for the best costumes: Mrs. B. Gilmour, Mrs. E. Pearse, Mrs. D. Lauoie, Mrs. E. Stevens, Mrs. R. Kilborn and Mrs. D. Thomas. The judges were president, Mrs. E. Ray and Miss Marian Foster.

Lunch was served by Miss Ella Custance, Mrs. Norrad, Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. D. Lauoie and Mrs. Cox.

PETER ROBINSON CHAPTER

The Peter Robinson chapter meeting was held Wednesday evening in the YWCA. Mrs. H. Baker, regent, was in the chair.

The film convener, Mrs. H. Keefer showed two films, "The Gaspe" and "Waltzes by Michael Piastro and his orchestra."

Final arrangements were made for the Christmas tea which will be held in the YWCA on December 2. Miss Mary Greer will be in charge of bazaar novelties. There will be a draw for two pieces of luggage.

Two new members were voted in. They were Mrs. E. A. Outram and Miss Tilling.

Mrs. F. Buckland and group served refreshments.

Denounces Conference

LONDON, Nov. 2—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Attlee Wednesday night denounced as "bogus" the forthcoming Communist-backed "peace conference" in Sheffield, England. In a speech at the Foreign Press Association dinner here, he bitterly attacked Communism and accused adherents of the Cominform of causing bloodshed and disturbances all over the world.

To Try Examinations

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 2 (Reuters) — Red-headed Laurie Scott, 17, for 10 years a prisoner in an iron lung, plans to take his high school examinations in five subjects this year. He will write with a pencil held between his teeth.

Three Cars Collide Fenders Damaged

Three cars tangled in an accident at Sherbrooke St. and Albertus Ave. while one car, driven by Arthur Beardsmore, 555 Sherbrooke St., was passing a parked car about noon Wednesday.

Beardsmore told police he was driving east on Sherbrooke St. and pulled out to pass the parked car where, the owner, Alex Whiteside, was sitting behind the wheel. As he was passing, his car met in collision with another car driven west by Murray Esson, R.R. 3, Peterborough.

The impact swung the rear of Beardmore's car around and it hit the parked car. Fenders on all three cars were damaged. Thrown forward by the collision, Mrs. Beardsmore cracked the car windshield with her head, but suffered no apparent injury.

Traffic Officer Harold Mesley investigated.

Advises Daughter Forget Movies

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 2 (AP)—The wiry, deeply-tanned man who was pushing equipment around the movie set was Harry Moran.

"Been at the studio (Universal-International) 30 years," he said proudly. But though he worked so long in the glamorous industry, fame never touched him—until his young daughter began playing tennis.

Young Miss Moran is named Gertrude, also known as "Gorgeous Gussie." She parlayed a pair of fancy pants into international fame. I asked Moran what his attitude was toward his daughter's scanty attire.

"I approve," he replied. "After all, the pants have gotten her a lot of publicity and put her in a position she can get a $75,000 contract for a professional tennis tour."

By Chance

The panties occurred quite by chance, he declared. "She only posed in them to help out the British designer who made them for her," he said. "And after she posed in them, she got to play in the middle court at Wimbledon, which is usually reserved for champions. Right in front of the Queen and her daughter."

Gussie's latest outfit—leopard shorts—are the real McCoy, he added. "When she was touring in India, some man shot the leopard and gave her the skin," he said. "There was a lot left over after the shorts were made from it."

Tennis Better

Despite Moran's long association with the movies, he has advised his daughter against them. "I have told her to stick to tennis, which is something she knows well," he said. "I've seen too many come and go at this studio. It's a tough business."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 35¢ at any druggists.

Had Weak, Nervous Stomach Limbs, Back Pained Badly

"Entire System Was Rundown" Says This Woman. Got Headaches, Dizzy Spells, Felt Fatigued. Praises Syntona For Grand Relief

MRS. E. SAUNDERS

No person can feel well when the stomach is upset and, out of order. Gas, indigestion, sick, nauseated feeling, sour acidity, accompanied by loss of appetite, nervous irritability and lack of energy are among the most common symptoms experienced by men and women everywhere. Many people suffering this way for years have found prompt and gratifying relief by taking a short treatment of Syntona Herbal Compound.

Here is the experience of Mrs. E. Saunders, 13 Cathcart St., Hamilton, Ont., as told in a recent report:

"I have suffered from stomach disorders for the past four years and felt so rundown and miserable I didn't know what to do. I would have awful gas and sour acid risings after my meals. Throbbing headaches and dizzy feelings were almost a daily occurrence. I became extremely nervous, couldn't sleep at night and my back and limbs began to pain so badly I often didn't feel like working at all.

"After taking everything I knew of without benefit, I read about Syntona and decided to try it. In a very short time I was feeling better, so I continued taking it until I was able to eat all my meals without discomfort afterwards. Now, I am not troubled with gas, sour stomach or headaches, the dizzy spells and aches and pains are gone away and my strength has returned. Also, my nerves are calmed down, so I sleep well, and am now feeling like myself once more."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Ottawa Limits Dividend Rates

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 — (CP). — The government has decided to limit further the proportion of life insurance company profits on which the companies may distribute dividends, Finance Minister Abbott announced on Wednesday night.

The move will be made in legislation to be introduced at the next session of Parliament. Designed to protect the public, the action will alter existing practices only slightly, but is being taken because of "indications of recent speculative activity."

At present, under the Canadian and British Insurance Companies Act, companies may devote only 10 per cent of their insurance-business profits to dividends to shareholders. In practice, the larger companies themselves have been limiting this to 5 per cent, 2½ per cent, or less. The new legislation will maintain this policy.

'Quake Damage

NEW DELHI —(CP)— Latest estimates show that total damage to tea gardens in the Assam earthquake last July is about $40,000,000. Eighty per cent of this was in damage to buildings and laborers' houses while losses to the tea crop itself were 750 tons, or three per cent of the crop.

Must Avoid Security Betrayal of 1930s Pearson Warns U.N.

Entire U.N. Front Reeling Back Under Red Blows

SEOUL, Nov. 3—(AP)—Allied forces struggled in a drenching rainstorm tonight to rescue remnants of two trapped American regiments on the sagging United Nations line in northwest Korea. The downpour hurt the Allies more than it did the resurgent North Korean Reds and their Chinese Communist comrades. It meant potent U.N. airpower would be curtailed, if not stopped until the weather clears. A combined Chinese and Korean Red counter-attack had sent the U.N. forces reeling back in virtually every sector of the flaming northwest front. The Reds, at one point, were only 47 miles north of their fallen capital of Pyongyang.

One U.S. withdrawal—on the west coast road—pulled a tank-led spearhead 50 miles back from its forward advance 15 miles south of Red China's Manchurian border.

After the downpour Friday evening, Allied forces neither advanced nor retreated.

Just Jockeying

There was movement on the northwest front but AP correspondent Jack MacBeth said U.S. 1st Corps spokesmen described it merely as "jockeying for position."

One South Korean unit was reported in contact with the enemy in the Unsan area. Army spokesmen did not elaborate.

The Reds had dealt the Allies serious blows throughout the area. Much equipment was captured by the Reds, including 13 American tanks.

Only U.S. Marines in the northeast were on the offensive. And their thrust was blunted by a fierce encircling move.

U.S. Eighth Army headquarters called the situation 'very serious'. A U.S. 1st Corps spokesman said it was "not so good as it could be and not as good as we would like it".

However, Gen. MacArthur's spokesman in Tokyo described the main battle, around Unsan, as a large-scale enemy defensive action and not a counteroffensive. Two U.S. cavalry regiments are cut off there.

Keep Initiative

The spokesman said UN forces still retain the initiative in North Korea.

The intelligence officer said reinforcements, reorganized units and wintry weather played heavy parts in the Red assault.

These were the developments in the various sectors:

West Coast—The U.S. 24th division was forced to withdraw as much as 50 road miles to Chongju to avoid entrapment. Commonwealth forces fell back there, too. The surprisingly-strong

Paper Firms Raise Wages For 12,000 Men

TORONTO, Nov. 3 —(CP)— Twelve Canadian paper companies announced today they have granted interim wage increases to 12,000 employees.

Under an agreement signed with representatives of nine international unions, a six-per-cent increase is granted all employees except paperworkers, who get a straight six-cent hourly wage increase.

The boosts are effective Nov. 1. They raise the basic wage for all classes from $1.05 an hour to $1.11. The present contract will expire April 3, 1951.

The announcement came in a joint statement from A. A. Schmon of St. Catharines, president of the Ontario Paper Company Ltd., and J. Arthur D'Aoust, vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers (AFL).

The statement said the increases were agreed on Thursday at a meeting here between company and union representatives.

Unions receiving the boosts:

International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers; International Brotherhood of Paper Makers; International Association of Machinists; International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; International Union of Operating Engineers; International Longshoremen's Association; International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen and Oilers; International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners; International Brotherhood of Plumbers and Steamfitters.

May Call Off Peiping Visit

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 3 — (AP)—India hinted today that a Tibetan delegation may not proceed to Peiping after all to negotiate with Red China unless the Communist invasion of the priest-ruled country is stopped.

The government released the texts of an exchange with the Chinese Communist government at Peiping. India accused the Chinese Reds of greatly increasing the "drift towards general war" by their attempt to impose a decision by military force.

India's latest note, dated Oct. 31, charged the Chinese Communists with resorting to force against a "peaceful people" without provocation or justification and declared:

"In view of these developments, the government of India is no longer in a position to advise the Tibetan delegation to proceed to Peiping unless the Chinese government thinks it fit to order its troops to halt their advance into Tibet and thus give a chance for peaceful negotiations."

The seven-man delegation, headed by Finance Minister Tsepon Shakasna, now is at the border city of Kalimpong. It had planned to leave for Peiping this coming weekend.

Chinese 150 Miles From Tibet's Capital

KALIMPONG, India, Nov. 3—(Reuters)—Chinese troops advancing into Tibet have reached a point only 150 miles from Lhasa, the capital, authoritative reports reaching her today indicated.

The Dalai Lama, temporal and religious leader of Tibet, accompanied by Regent Takta Rimpoche and the cabinet left Lhasa for an unknown destination, the reports added.

A political change-over was reported to have taken place in Lhasa.

Details on the change-over were not immediately available.

Earlier reports here had suggested the 16-year-old Dalai Lama might take refuge in one of the Himalayan states of Nepal or Bhutan where the Bhuddists recognize him as their spiritual master.

Large Meteor Startles Many Citizens

Wild Reports Flying As Great Flash Seen Many Miles

OTTAWA, Nov. 3—(CP)—The dazzling meteor that streaked across eastern Ontario, Quebec and Northeastern United States skies Thursday night was a "fireball"—one of the brightest kinds of meteors known—that apparently burned itself out in mid-air, Dr. Peter Millman said today.

The Dominion Observatory meteor expert, swamped with telephone calls, said he now was in the midst of plotting the course of the planetary fragment which appeared to have moved from a north to south direction.

Only two meteors are known to have fallen in Canada in recent years. One was of stone and iron, recovered from a Benton, N.B., farm on Jan. 16, 1949. Now on display at the National Museum, this meteor weigh about three pounds with a length of six inches and a thickness of three inches.

One Near Dresden

Another was located in 1939 near Dresden, Ont. It weighed nearly 100 pounds. Purchased by the University of Western Ontario at London, a fragment was presented to the National Museum and is on display here.

The occurrence at 7.35 p.m. EST—gave rise to wild reports of all descriptions among thousands of residents who saw it. Today, astronomers—confident it was a meteor—placidly set about the business of collecting reports which eventually would indicate just how large the meteor was, what parts of the country it affected, and just how rare it might be.

A welter of early reports indicated the phenomenon was seen within a radius of at least 150 miles, and that it lit up that area "like daylight." It was seen at Utica, N.Y., and startled a motorist at Quebec City so that he stopped his car suddenly. Quebec is nearly 300 miles from Utica.

The brilliant light had its immediate reaction in telephone calls to newspaper offices, police, and anybody who cared to listen. Radios blazed with fantastic reports.

Lots Of Ideas

People thought it was lightning, a flying saucer, an atomic bomb, an exploding airplane or—the most persistent rumor—a rocket flare set off by the RCAF at nearby Rockcliffe air station.

The latter rumor had its basis in the fact that the air station here has been doing experimental work by night photography, using a special type of flare. Many Ottawans, who saw the whole sky light up as though dawn had broken, put aside first reactions of a Russian atomic bomb to conclude that it was a Rockcliffe flare.

This idea turned to wonder and awe when it was reported that the phenomenon had also caused "daylight" in Montreal and parts of New York State. But Dominion Observatory expert Dr. P. M. Millman labelled the flash as a meteor—"definitely."

Violent Tremors Rock Northern Australia

DAWIN, Australia, Nov. 3 (AP) —Violent earth tremors shook parts of Northern Australia early today. No serious damage was reported.

People rushed out of their swaying houses in alarm. Aborigines in their compounds showed signs of panic, but quieted down when the tremors ceased.

The tremors lasted four to eight minutes.

In Sydney the quake was recorded at Riverview Observatory starting 36 seconds after 1.34 a.m. today (10.34 EST Thursday).

It was the severest shock recorded at the observatory in several years.

Weds 17th Time

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Nov. 3 (AP)—James F. Williams, 64, of Cedar Rapids is a bridegroom—for the 17th time. The oft-wed laborer was reticent about his latest matrimonial venture but said he was married Oct. 27 to Mrs. Laura A. Martin, 70. His latest marriage climaxed a mail courtship started through a matrimonial bureau.

Waiting Word Where U.N. Use Canadians

OTTAWA, Nov. 3 (CP). — Canada is still awaiting word on the disposition of its special army brigade, Defence Minister Claxton said today.

"We are hoping for word from day to day," the minister said as he arrived home from Washington talks among defence ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty nations.

Mr. Claxton said the government was still to be advised on where the brigade would go, and when it would move. This word would come from the unified command of the United Nations.

The minister, in a brief interview after disembarking from his plane, said he had been in close touch at Washington with General George Marshall, United States defence minister; Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the U.S. chiefs of staff, and other U.S. defence chiefs.

No Announcement

But he declared he could say nothing publicly about the conversations.

Mr. Claxton expressed interest in news from Yokohama that the advance party of the special brigade had landed there on the way to Korea, but he had no further comment on that.

He was accompanied to Ottawa by Defence Minister Shinwell of Britain and War Secretary Fockema-Andreae of The Netherlands.

The two European cabinet ministers are in Canada for four days of discussions and inspection of Canada's facilities for training and arming her forces.

They will place a wreath on the national war memorial and then launch a series of receptions, talks, dinners and a visit to Kingston, Trenton, and Montreal.

Picket Lines Let Navy Pass

MONTREAL, Nov. 3—(CP)— Picket lines were opened to the Navy Thursday at the strike-bound Montreal plant of the Canadian Tube and Steel Products Limited where more than 1,000 employees have been on strike since Tuesday in a dispute over wages between the Company and the United Steel Workers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.).

The Royal Canadian Navy took delivery of a shipment of special rivets which are to be finished elsewhere for experimental work. The striking workers consented to pack the goods.

Provincial government officials are still working on conciliation. Settlement may be worked out during the weekend, it was learned today.

Fear 40 Dead As Plane Said Missing

Aircraft From Bombay Believed Lost Near Grenoble Area

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 3—(AP)—An Air India Constellation plane carrying 40 Lascar seamen and a crew of eight was long overdue here today on a flight from Bombay to London, and may have crashed in an Alpine snowstorm.

A spokesman for the line in London said the four-engined plane, chartered by a British shipping firm, was bringing the Lascar (East Indian) seamen to Britain to join a cargo ship.

Airport officials estimated the plane had only enough fuel to keep it aloft until 9.30 a.m., EST.

Authorities at Geneva airport said the plane left Cairo at 8 p.m Thursday, EST, on the non-stop last leg of its flight to Geneva.

Over Grenoble

The plane's last radio contact with Geneva airport was when the pilot indicated his position was over Grenoble, France, 65 miles south of Geneva in the Rhone valley. There was no immediate report from Grenoble of a crash there.

The weather over the Alpine region between Geneva and Grenoble was heavily overcast with frequent rain showers and snow at higher altitudes. A general alert was sounded throughout the Alpine region covering areas of Switzerland, France and Italy.

A flight control official at the airport said it was astonishing that there should be no news of the plane after five hours, despite the comparatively short distance remaining for the flight.

"It is possible," an official said "that the pilot's last received position report may have been based on a navigational error."

3 Continents Fight Locusts

LONDON, Nov. 3 (Reuters).— Anti-locust squads on three continents were mobilized today to deal with great swarms of the flying insects now threatening crops and vegetation.

The locusts have appeared in Northern Kenya, Africa, "weeks earlier than expected" the headquarters of the desert locust control in Nairobi, Kenya, reported today. Weather conditions have favored their southward movement from the deserts of Somalia and Ethiopia, where they are breeding.

In India, people in the suburbs of Bombay today watched black clouds of locusts suddenly swarm on to fields near the sea and destroy standing crops and plants within three hours.

On the western desert border of New South Wales, Australia, millions of locusts were reported to be breaking down the last defences of Australians fighting to save vegetation. Flame throwers were being used.

VICE-REGAL VIEW—Painting typically-Canadian landscapes is one of the chief hobbies of Viscount Alexander, whose term as governor-general has been extended for a year. He is shown working on a view of the parliament buildings, as viewed from the Quebec side of the Ottawa R er.

First Group of Canadians Have Arrived In Yokohama

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Nov. 3—(CP)—The advance party of Canada's Special Brigade reached here today after a smooth two-week Pacific crossing from Seattle. The 350 men will shove off almost immediately for Korea on the same ship. It is believed the advance party will move into the area north of the 38th Parallel within a few days, but definite plans have yet to be announced. The troops were unaware they were headed for Korea until a Canadian Press reporter told them at the Yokohama pier. The men in the advance party looking fit on their arrival here, said there was little seasickness during the crossing. Their transport, the James O'Hara, just missed a typhoon off Japan.

Head For Pusan

The ship leaves Yokohama Sunday and will probably arrive at Pusan, Korea, Tuesday.

Whether all of Canada's 11,000-man brigade, recruited following a United Nations call for armed forces to fight aggression, will go to Korea has yet to be announced.

Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated Wednesday that plans then called for part, but not all, of the force to go to Korea. Since then, however, United Nations forces have suffered setbacks in Northern Korea as a result of the intervention of Communist China and the general revival of Communist opposition in Korea.

Village Councillor Arrested 2nd Time

WOODBRIDGE, Ont., Nov. 3 (CP).—Village councillor Fred Armstrong, 49-year-old contractor who is alleged to have broken out of his cell following his arrest on a drunk-driving charge, was arrested again Thursday night.

Chief Constable Herb Weatherall said Armstrong gave up without a struggle when police found him at home.

Armstrong, serving his second term as councillor of this village 10 miles north of Toronto, is charged with breaking custody, malicious damage, drunk driving, failing to produce a driver's licence and failing to carry a registration permit for his truck.

Police said he was penniless when arrested. He had been unable to go to his bank for fear of being arrested.

Candidates For Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 3 —(AP)—William Faulkner, Mississippi novelist, and Bertrand Russell, British philosopher, head the list of about 50 candidates for the 1950 Nobel literary prize, Stockholm literary circles said today.

Car In Flames Woman Jumps

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 3 (CP)— Mrs. Donald Pigeon, 28, of Eastview, Ont., is in hospital here suffering from injuries suffered when she jumped from a speeding and flaming car seven miles west of here early today.

It is reported that the floor matting of the car driven by her husband ignited from a short-circuit under the dashboard, and, terrified by the flames, Mrs. Pigeon opened the door and jumped out of the moving vehicle. She suffered gravel burns to both legs and a possible knee cap fracture.

Two transport drivers aided the couple, one bringing the injured woman to hospital while Mr. Pigeon rode in the other driver's truck.

SINGAPORE, Nov. 3—(AP)— "Europeans" fighting with Malayan Communist bandits have turned out to be just Red terrorists with fake moustaches. A Chinese killed in Pahang State recently was found to possess theatrical moustaches in his pack.

Can't Allow Small States Fall Singly

Reminds Vishinsky United Nations Assembly Not Purge

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—(CP)— L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, told the United Nations General Assembly today that the world should not allow a repetition of the betrayal of collective security as happened in the 1930s.

He spoke just before the western-backed anti-aggression plan was ratified by the Assembly.

"We are not going to repeat the mistakes of the 1930s when collective security was betrayed and when States fell one by one before the aggressor."

"We are not going to repeat the mistakes of June, 1950, when we were not organized to carry out quickly the security obligations we had undertaken when we signed the (U.N.) charter."

He maintained that the anti-aggression proposal would not, "as some friendly critics in Asia have stated," organize the assembly for war.

Not Enough

He said that it would not be enough for a few countries to take action with regard to the earmarking of part of national forces.

Pearson spoke after a series of Russian-bloc speeches against the plan forced postponement of a scheduled debate on human rights violations in Russia's Balkan satellites.

At one point Pearson criticized Andrei Y. Vishinsky's debating methods and told the Soviet foreign minister "this is the general assembly and not a purge."

Greek Cabinet Drops Populists

ATHENS, Nov. 3 (AP).—Premier Sophocles Venizelos today formed his fourth Greek government in 11 months, dropping Constantin Tsaldaris and members of his Populist (Royalist) party from the coalition cabinet.

All other members of Venizelos' last government—representatives of the premier's Liberal party and of vice-premier George Papandreou's Social Democratic faction—were retained. They take over portfolios held by the Populists.

The Populists were blamed for scandals involving millions of dollars at the Piraeus, Athens' port. Tsaldaris' refusal to withdraw from the government brought Venizelos' resignation Thursday. Later, King Paul asked the Premier to form a new cabinet.

More UK Security Forces Than Reds Die In Malaya

KUALA LUMPUR, Nov. 3 — (AP).—The casualty list is rising steadily in the war against Communist terrorists in the Federation of Malaya. It's not a one-sided picture either. The losses among British security forces still are running higher than those inflicted on the Communist bands.

Total Communist casualties up to Oct. 1 were 2,720. The figure included killed, wounded and captured.

The terrorists have killed or wounded 3,177 civilians, regular, special and auxiliary police. This includes 334 civilians listed as missing but presumed to have been killed.

All of the casualty statistics cover the period since the emergency proclamation of June 1, 1948, under which British troops joined local police authorities in battling the Communist terrorists.

Chinese make up most of the terrorists killed. They number 1,357. Malays, Indians, Indonesians, Siamese and Sakai comprise the rest of the list.

The last report on military casualties—up to July 1—showed the British army lost 113 men, including Indian Gurkha soldiers. A total of 188 were wounded. Losses in the RAF were 27 killed and one wounded. The Royal Navy listed one wounded.

Some British authorities are hopeful that during 1951 it will be possible to withdraw the 17,000 British troops from Malaya. With this idea in mind, special companies of police are being organized on a semi-military basis to take over the jungle warfare.

• Britain is sending jet planes to Malaya to aid in the air strikes against Communist terrorist "breeding places" in the dense jungle.

Close Friends Declare Shaw Willed Himself To Die

AYOTT ST. LAWRENCE, England, Nov. 3 (AP)—Close friends and nurses who saw George Bernard Shaw in the closing days of his life agreed today the old sage willed himself to die.

Last Tuesday he turned to Gwendoline Howell, one of his two nurses, and said, "You are only trying to keep me alive to preserve me as a curiosity. I've finished. I am going to die."

Then he lapsed into coma. And at dawn Thursday he did die.

Several times in his last months he had shown that death would be a welcome visitor. Last July, writing birthday wishes to 80-year-old author Helaire Belloc Shaw said to Belloc's daughter:

"Tell Helaire that if he still wants to live to be 100 he won't when he is 94. I am longing for my eternal rest."

Shaw was 94 July 28—the day before Belloc's 80th birthday.

It was disclosed today that the great playwright had written one last book to be published in December—"Bernard Shaw's Rhyming Picture Guide to Ayott St. Lawrence."

Harold White, director of the Leagrave Press, publishers of the book, said it contained 60 simple snapshots of scenes in the village, most of them taken by Shaw himself last summer.

There's a picture on each page, with a verse description.

He died before he saw the galley proofs of his book—a tribute to the little village of 110 persons where he spent 42 years of his life.

His home will be enshrined as a literary monument by the National Trust, a government-sponsored organization for the care of historic spots.

Labor Government Majority Cut To Five As Conservatives Take Oxford By-Election

OXFORD, England, Nov. 3— (Reuters)— The Conservatives held the Oxford seat with a doubled majority over the Labor party in a by-election here Thursday for a vacant seat in Parliament.

The Conservative candidate, H. F. L. Turner, gained a majority of 7,198 over the Labor government's choice, S. Kersland Lewis. But many of these votes may have come from Liberals who in the February general election polled 7,000 and this time had no candidate.

The result shaved the Labor government's working majority in the House of Commons to five.

The by-election was necessary because the former Conservative member for Oxford, Quintin Hogg, succeeded to a peerage and thus became a member of the House of Lords on the death of his father, Lord Hailsham. Hogg won for his party in February with a majority of 3,606 over his Labor opponent.

Final voting figures were: Turner (Conservative) 27,583; Lewis (Labor) 20,385; Conservative majority 7,198.

Federal Agents Move To Nip Assassins' Plans

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3—(AP)—Federal agents moved on far-flung fronts today to nip any off-shoots of the plot to kill President Truman which ended in blood-splattered failure for two Puerto Rican revolutionaries Wednesday.

The President continued to show no emotion at his escape from the guns of two fanatics who were felled, one of them shot dead, at the steps of his official residence.

But the guard around him was increased and the Federal Bureau of Investigation and secret service men moved swiftly in an attempt to track down any of the pair's accomplices who might be dangerous.

The FBI ran into a mystery in New York.

The 22-year-old widow of Grisello Torresola, would-be assassin who was killed in front of Blair House, disappeared from her hotel a few hours before the arrival of FBI agents who had been looking for her.

Vanishes With Baby

The widow was carrying her six-month-old baby daughter. She had been traced to a hotel, but left it 2½ hours before the agents arrived.

There are indications that a federal grand jury investigation into the assassination plot may be made in New York. Subpoenas were issued for three Puerto Ricans—one a convicted revolutionist—after they were arrested at the apartment of the other conspirator, Oscar Collazo.

Collazo, 37, was arraigned formally in Washington on a murder charge and held without bond for a hearing Nov. 21.

The murder charge was the outgrowth of the fatal injury of Leslie Cotfelt, one of the White House policemen and secret service agents who turned back the attack in a volley of bullets.

CAVAN TOWNSHIP ROAD 1950 is not too inviting to the motorist. However the road is on the 13th concession along the border of the Cavan swamp and has always been a sink hole. Still residents of the vicinity and those who have to travel over claim that this is no excuse for it remaining a bog hole.

Leave Indo-China Frontier Wide Open To Communists

SAIGON, Indo-China, Nov. 3—(AP)—French troops have abandoned the big Chinese frontier Fortress of Laokay, yielding full control of the northwest Indo-China frontier to the Communist-led Vietminh Army. A French military spokesman said French forces moved from Laokay Thursday and that the garrison's withdrawal is progressing favorably. The garrison is retreating west into mountainous country occupied by Thai tribesmen, he said.

The garrison consisted of a battalion and a half, numbering about 1,200 men. It included African Senegalese and North African Algerians as well as Indo-Chinese colonial forces.

The spokesman said the rear-guard of the withdrawn garrison was being harassed by Vietminh troops. The evacuation began Wednesday and was completed Thursday.

Weather Bad

Rainy-season mists are blocking the French air force from covering the retreat. Planes roared in a steady parade Wednesday out of the Hanoi air base, 220 airline miles southeast of Laokay, but by Thursday fog had closed in, grounding all planes.

Laokay had been under constant Vietminh pressure in recent weeks though in the last few days the attacks by the forces of the Moscow-trained Nationalist leader Ho Chin Minh had slackened somewhat.

French withdrawal from the isolated post, once a key point on the now-inoperative Haiphong-Kunming railway, had been predicted unofficially since the French in October withdrew from all other major posts on the Chinese frontier except Mongay and Dinhlap, on the eastern end of the line.

Piano Quartet To Play At Army Musicale

The Salvation Army's second Sunday afternoon musicale of the present season will be held at the Salvation Army temple Sunday at 3:15 p.m.

Guest artists will be Miss Alison Harewood, timbrelist, and a piano quartette composed of Gwen Craw, Mrs. S. J. Richardson, Charles E. Allen, and Major Cyril G. Everitt.

The program is as follows: senior band playing Salute to America; the songsters singing Gloria In Excelsis by Mozart; several numbers by the young people's band, and the piano quartette playing the William Tell Overture.

Communist counter-attack in the Unsan area endangered their eastern (right) flank.

Imperial Bridgehead

Unsan area—Elements of two U.S. 1st Cavalry Division regiments still were cut off south of Unsan, about 65 miles north of the captured North Korean capital of Pyongyang. The enemy knifed to within two miles of Kunu, south of Unsan and 47 miles north of Pyongyang, imperilling the Allied Chongchon bridgehead.

Far North—U.S. Pilots reported menacing new Communist movements in the Communist Manchuria-Korea border area along the Yalu River. They said the forces were moving toward Korea.

Northeast — U.S. marines launched a drive on the Changjin (Choshin) reservoir, but were slowed almost immediately by Red attacks on their open right and left flanks. A 1st Marine Division spokesman said the counter-attacking Reds were Chinese.

Allied reinforcements were rushed to the western front in an attempt to stop the rising Red tide.

Went North

U.S. 2nd Division troops went northward to the Chongchon River, about 40 miles north of Pyongyang. They presumably were at Anju, site of the Chongchon bridgehead.

The Reds were only 17 miles northeast of Anju.

After its hasty withdrawal from the north, the U.S. 24th Division was 23 miles west of the bridgehead. The 24th's armored units had rolled to within 15 miles of the Manchurian border, in the extreme northwest corner, before turning back.

The Reds were using rockets and heavy artillery. They were pushing 20 miles south of Unsan, toward Kunu and Anju.

Reports to Eighth Army headquarters said one regiment was cut off two miles west of Unsan, and about half a battalion of another was surrounded south of the city. The 1st Cavalry Division had rushed to the Unsan area in an effort to relieve the badly-mauled 6th Korean Division.

The latest US intelligence estimate placed total North Korean strength still operating at 26,000 men. The spokesman said this has since been "revised upward considerably." He did not give the new figure.

More Reinforcements

He said more Red reinforcements are moving toward the Unsan region. Air observers spotted an infantry column wearing bright green uniforms five miles north of Unsan. Their nationality was not determined.

The US Marine drive toward the Changjin reservoir, supported by an aerial assault on a big Red convoy, was the only bright spot of the day.

Base Metals Continue Advance On Exchange

TORONTO, Nov. 3 (CP). — Base metals continued Thursday's advance and climbed to new high ground as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Leading issues, including Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, Noranda, Quemont, and Steep Rock gained up to $1.25. Despite the strong gains the list had some regular tendencies with Waite Amulet, Golden Manitou, East Sullivan and MacDonald lower. United Asbestos, trading for the first time today, was very active and sold at $1.11.

Industrials were mixed after yesterday's big gains and prices stayed in a narrow path. Moore Corporation, a manufacturing of business forms and other office supplies, was a standout with an $11 gain, following news of a proposed four-to-one stock split and an increased dividend. Other changes were limited to fractions and agricultures; constructions, refining oils and manufacturing companies showed a majority of losses in the groupings. Papers, banks and textiles advanced and the rest of the board was mixed.

Junior and senior golds declined. Senior producers lost up to 25 cents while junior producers showed a wide list of penny losses.

Western oils advanced slowly following yesterday's losses.

Name Calling

The Canadian minister, head of the Dominion's U.N. delegation, referred to Vishinsky's attack Thursday on U.S. delegate John Foster Dulles during the assembly's debate.

Vishinsky called Dulles a warmonger and a falsifier of facts. The Russian was censured at the time by assembly president Nasrollah Entezan of Iran, who warned the delegates that the U.N. is not a place for personal attacks.

The assembly prepared today to ballot on the anti-aggression resolution. Its adoption was considered certain in view of the overwhelming approval the proposal received in the 60-member political committee.

Wanted Winter Jailing 1st Time; Got It Second

Harold Brady, 48, no fixed address, who said he hasn't worked for four years, asked to spend the winter in jail and was sentenced in police court today to four months in the Ontario reformatory.

"This is the man who was here about three weeks ago," Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said. At that time Brady also asked to spend the winter in jail, but was given 15 days in jail.

"Anything wrong with your health?" Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, asked Brady.

"No," was the answer.

"When did you work last?" the magistrate queried.

"Four years ago," the accused said.

"You have a certain degree of frankness about it," the magistrate observed with a smile.

The throng included the greatest assemblage of Catholic prelates in the 200-year history of the Roman church.

Hint Atomic Shells Likely For Battles of Future

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3—(AP)—Enemy troops on future battlefields may be blasted with atomic weapons, launched by both the army and the air force, a Defence Department report indicated Thursday night. The atomic bomb, up to now, has been a strategic weapon, for destruction of cities, but not for tactical use against forces in the field.

In their semi-annual report released Thursday night the armed forces, now engaged in strictly orthodox warfare in Korea, took a long look ahead and talked of an arsenal of new weapons being developed or in the research phase.

The army, in its report, said that new systems for guided missiles, recoil-less weapons "and the family of atomic weapons are designed or being designed for use by our army."

The atomic weapons family obviously includes, besides the explosive bombs themselves, such things as radiological equipment for poisoning areas.

Added Significance

These broad hints contained in the reports of the armed forces take on added significance when related to two other recent developments:

1. The current effort of the North Atlantic Treaty organization countries to provide a military system that can cope with 175 Russian army divisions. Numerically, that is far more strength than the pact members expect to have ready by 1953 when the plan calls for about 40 divisions on the central front of Europe.

2. A statement a few months ago by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, that the atomic bomb can be used as a tactical, as well as strategic weapon.

The tactic Bradley conceived was this: If enough ground forces can be mustered to man natural barriers, such as rivers or mountain chains, they can compel any invader of Western Europe to funnel his attacks through certain corridors. There will be the target for atomic attack on the invading troops. Concentrated, compressed into relatively-small zones, enemy division then become a "profitable target" for the expensive A-bombs.

Howe Decides To End Ban On Capital Goods Soon

OTTAWA, Nov. 3 — (CP) — Trade Minister Howe has decided to remove restriction on the import of capital goods from the United States at the earliest possible date, informed quarters said Thursday.

Capital goods include such items as building stone, locomotives, automobiles in completed form, and industrial machinery in general.

All that remains to be decided, said informants, is the timing. Mr. Howe's advisers have suggested the controls be lifted January 2 the day on which remaining restrictions on consumer goods will be withdrawn by Finance Minister Abbott.

It still is possible that the controls may be continued until March 31. This would give the Trade Department more time to reorganize the capital goods control branch and possibly turn it into a priorities division.

Such a division would be linked with its counterpart in the United States to deal with allocations and priorities of materials needed in defence production. It would function under the Canada-US Industrial Mobilization Pact, signed in Washington last week.

Emphasis, however, is placed on the January 2 date in view of the general bright picture in Canadian trade, US pressure to have Canada lift all import controls, and the lack of further need in Canada for emergency exchange austerity.

Large Meteor

Takes It Calmly

While residents here were frantically trying to find out what had happened, Dr. Millman, top meteor expert at the observatory, took it calmly. He went to a movie, leaving his competent, 16-year-old son Barry—who helps him in astronomical observations—to get details from anyone who saw it.

Reports that an RCAF "rocket" had caused the disturbance were pooh-poohed here by Air Force officials. These reports stemmed from an official of the Colonial Airlines at Syracuse, N.Y., who said the United States Air Force had informed his company that the RCAF had warned airlines they would be sending up flares for the next three or four nights.

Senior Air Force officials here said emphatically that no flares had been set off Thursday night.

Substantiating the meteor theory was the fact that the light was not accompanied by any sound. This is typical of meteors but not of rockets.

Back Up Belief

Meanwhile reports from the observatory at Harvard and from meteorological officials at Montreal backed up the proposition that it was just a big meteor and nothing more.

Most observers saw it as a bright whitish-blue light which turned pink and left a trail of orange sparks behind.

Meteors are not unusual, although one of this size is not often seen. They are small pieces of matter thrown into the earth's gravitational field from space, and they ignite from the intense friction caused when they hit the earth's atmosphere. Usually, they burn themselves out before reaching the ground.

22 Canadians To Attend Peace Congress

TORONTO, Nov. 3—(CP)—The Canadian Peace Congress today announced the names of 22 Canadians who will attend the "second world peace congress" in Sheffield, England, starting Nov. 13.

(Morgan Phillips, chairman of the British Labor Party, last week called the congress the work of the Communist-inspired "British peace committee," said to take its orders from Moscow.)

The Canadians:

Dr. J. G. Endicott, Toronto, chairman of the Canadian Peace Congress and a former United Church missionary to China; Mary Jennison, Toronto, executive secretary of the same organization; Jean Pare, Montreal, chairman of the Montreal Peace Council and an organizer for the Communist-dominated United Electrical Workers (Ind.); Dr. Daniel Longpre, Montreal physician; Adelare Houle, Timmins, member of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), another Communist-tinged union; Mrs. Rae Luckock, Toronto, president of the Congress of Canadian Women; Ray Gardner, Victoria, former Vancouver newspaperman; Alex Gordon, Vancouver, whom the Congress described as "spokesman for workers in British Columbia's fishing industry"; Arthur Wray, independent Social Credit member of the Alberta Legislature for Banff-Cochrane and president of the Alberta Peace Council; Frank Maricle, director of District 4 of the Farmers' Union of Alberta; Arthur Roberts, Drumheller (Alta.) Valley coal-miner; Wilfred Duffield, Oshawa, an automobile worker; James Cook, Hamilton, a steelworker; Stan Thornley, Toronto, a rubber worker; Arthur Mould, president of the London (Ont.) Peace Council; Mary Clarer, who the Congress said gathered more than 2,000 signatures for the Congress' peace petition and "co-authored the song, 'Put My Name Down'"; Leslie Morris, Toronto, editor of the Canadian Tribune, a Communist weekly newspaper; John Boyd of the All-Slav Committee; Misha Korol, of the Association of United Ukrainian Canadians; Kalervo Ketola, Vancouver, of the Finnish Organization of Canada; Joseph Zuken, Winnipeg school trustee and lawyer, of the Council of Jewish Organization; Mrs. Endicott, of the Toronto Chapter of the Congress of Canadian Women.

Show Goes On

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)— The Musgravetown fair was held as scheduled, although the building burned down the night before and part-time farmers, decided the show would go on in three smaller buildings. Despite loss of some exhibits, it was a big success.

Field For Diesels

MONTREAL —(CP)— A leader in early development of diesel-electric rail transport, Canada remains a natural field for its further development, says I. I. Sylvester, diesel application engineer. Canada now has 572 diesel-electrict locomotives in service or on order, he said.

Coldwell Raps Canadian Support Of Spain

SASKATOON, Nov. 3.—(CP)—CCF Leader Coldwell Thursday night criticized the Canadian delegation to the United Nations for voting to admit Franco Spain to UN specialized agencies.

Mr. Coldwell, himself an advisory member of the Canadian UN delegation, said in a speech that on the Spanish question he must break with Canadian foreign policy for the first time since the UN was formed in 1945.

The CCF national leader is attending the party's provincial convention here.

"Franco's association with Hitler and Mussolini left his hands stained with the blood of many democratic Socialists who once lived in Spain," Mr. Coldwell said. "Canada should at least have abstained from voting, as did the United Kingdom.

Strong Disapproval

"I have been in general agreement with Canada's policy in the United Nations, and at times I have been very proud of it, because of our happy knack of finding acceptable compromises—but I now find that I must express my strong disapproval of our delegation's action on the Spanish question."

The CCF leader also criticized the "political and military aggression" of the Soviet Union. He had the utmost respect for Christian Pacifists who were critical of UN military action to halt aggression. But he had no respect for the agents of a foreign power who did everything within their power to undermine the democratic way of life.

To persons who had distributed Communist propaganda leaflets at the meeting, Mr. Coldwell said that "if a pamphlet like this were given out at a meeting in Soviet Russia, you would be shot at dawn."

REVOLT REMAINS — The bodies of two anti-American Puerto Rican Nationalists lie in the courtyard of La Fortaleza Palace. They were shot by police during an attempt to assassinate Gov. Luis Munoz Marin. Munoz' office is directly behind the UN flag on the balcony.

Northumberland-Durham Counties Council Approves New Offices

COBOURG, Nov. 3 (ENS). — Northumberland and Durham Counties Council at the close of the November session accepted the recommendation of the special county property committee in regard to assisting the town of Cobourg take the necessary steps to provide more room in the town hall for counties' offices.

For some time there has been felt a need for a barristers' room and a place to interview witnesses. At present witnesses are interviewed in the law library.

Reeve Roy Dodge told the council that it was estimated that this would cost around $15,000 and if the counties council were interested, the town would get more detailed figures. Reeve Frank George, Brighton township, chairman of the committee, said that the council might be inclined to go fifty-fifty on the cost.

The following accounts, passed between sessions, were listed by the finance committee:

Administration of justice, $4,347.06; maintenance of indigents, $11,457.85; registry offices, $1,641.58; counties roads, $170,105.08; counties home, $19,185.33; counties jail, $6,678.55; child welfare, $12,831.16; municipal government, $16,925.87.

The county property committee reported that inspections of the four registry offices, jail and counties' offices revealed everything in fairly good order. The committee recommended new lights for the Cobourg registry office, painting the floors in the Port Hope registry office, new cellar steps at the jail, office equipment for the probation officer of the family court and a grant of $100 to Let. G. Rea of the Cobourg Salvation Army for his work at the counties home and jail.

The legislative and bylaws committee endorsed resolutions from Welland regarding the legalization of sweepstakes in Canada and asking that the earning allowance of old age pensioners be raised.

The reforestation committee recommended the purchase of 260 acres of land in Haldimand township for reforestation purposes.

The Board of Management of the Counties home recommended an increase of $150 per year in the salaries of the superintendent and matron and reported on some improvements to the institution.

Presbytery Heads Elect Mrs. C. Bell

The semi-annual meeting of the executive of the Peterborough Presbytery United Church Women's Association was held in Grace United Church, on Wednesday afternoon.

Attending also was a good representation of the presidents from the women's associations in the presbytery.

Mrs. E. Wand presided over the meeting. The recording secretary, Mrs. Chas. Barnard of Baliieboro, read the minutes of the annual convention which was held in Lakefield in April.

The Rev. M. J. Aiken, president of the Peterborough Presbytery brought greetings from the presbytery and encouragement in theeir work. He stressed guarding against over-effiency in regard to the administration of our churches, whereby people, especially younger people, might be driven from the church through not being allowed full use of the church's properties.

Menace in Efficiency

Efficiency is a good virtue, but when overdone can become a menace, he stated.

A short qestion period was held in which presidents presented the difficulties that might arise in their particular associations. These were discussed for the benefit of all.

Mrs. Wand informed the meeting that due to illness she would be unable to complete her term of office as president. Mrs. C. Bell, first vice-president, was elected active president for the balance of the year.

Mrs. P. H. Darling of Lakefield, was elected citizenship convener and Mrs. E. Johnston of R.R. 3, Springville, was elected visiting convener.

A donation of $25 was voted to the Dominion Council.

Reports were given by Mrs. Morton, literature secretary, Mrs. H. Lowes, life membership secretary and Mrs. E. Rath, press secretary.

The ladies of Grace Church served luncheon.

Drove Car 21 Years Without Accident Then Had Two Within Few Minutes

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 3 — (ENS).—John Kerr of Fort Stuart in the Bancroft district, thinks he had better stay away from Campbellford in the future. Mr. Kerr has been driving since 1929, and says he has never even scratched a fender, until his luck changed suddenly on Thursday afternoon.

Pulling out from the curb on the Grand Road, Mr. Kerr was struck by a car travelling in the same direction driven by William H. Heath of R.R. 1, Stirling. In that mishap the left front fender and side of his car was damaged. The other vehicle received similar damage to the right side.

About twenty minutes later, after having the damage appraised, Mr. Kerr was travelling along Bridge Street, when a car driven by Edward Quinn of R.R. 1, Codrington pulled out from the curb in the same manner, and caved in the right side of his car.

Mr. Kerr was a dejected character, as he stood on the roadway surveying his 1950 model sedan with fenders and doors on both sides caved in. "I'm afraid to try to drive through town again," he said, "they'll probably try to drive over top of me next time I don't think I'd better come back to Campbellford any more."

Chief George H. Hardy investigated both accidents.

Western Honey Menaces Ontario

The Central Ontario Beekeepers' Association held a meeting Wednesday evening in Peterborough. Mr. Thomas Shields, manager of the Ontario Honey Producers' Co-operative of Toronto spoke to the members. He spoke of the competition which honey producers of Western Canada, other provinces and the United States are giving the Ontario producers, and said that the Ontario legislature is expected soon to pass legislation which will cut down the amount of honey imported from these foreign provinces. Even if the words "import" and "foreign" were not on the speaker's lips, they were in the approving audience's minds. Under this expected legislation the other provinces (and the U.S.A.) would have to sell their honey at, and not below, minimum Ontario wholesale prices.

* * *

Goody! Goody! Keep out that foreign stuff from Manitoba, Quebec and other provinces. Set up tariff walls, or other ramparts just as good, around this sacred agricultural province of Ontario. Let all the provinces set up barriers between each other. Let's have ten states within the one state. The provinces already prohibit "importing" each other's beers and liquors, except under special licence. Quebec has led the way in prohibiting the "importation" of pure foods, by banning Ontario margarine. Now we are expected to see Ontario carry this sort of nonsense one step further; to ban by hook or regulation, the sale of other provinces' honey.

* * *

What in the world are these provinces of ours coming to? Is each to be a tinpot dictatorship, a nation within a nation? Is the British North America act to be flouted again and the welfare of the whole country to be subjected to provincialism? The B.N.A. Act does not give the provinces the right to control trade and commerce. Such legislation as Mr. Shields and his beekeepers expect the Ontario Government to pass to protect Ontario honey (and prices) seems to be nothing less than artificial restraint of trade across provincial borders which have not, and should not have, customs barriers. If the Ontario legislature brings in a bill such as the beekeepers propose, its authority to do so should be challenged immediately. Canada is one country, even in matters of buying and eating honey; it is not a conglomeration of ten states each with its own inviolate national sovereignty . . . We hope that the beekeepers of Ontario get stung through such tactics.

Trygve Lie's Reappointment

As expected U.N.'s Secretary General Trygve Lie has been reappointed by the Assembly to his position for a further three years. Technically, it is an extension of his term, not a reappointment. The Security Council must make the recommendation for appointment. It failed to do this because of the Russian veto. So the United States and his other sponsors put the matter to the Assembly, which has power to extend the term of office.

The United States insisted on Mr. Lie, to vindicate its stand on Korea and the Secretary-General's action in calling on the United Nations to take part in that action. Russia insisted that Lie should go, for the contrary reasons. The United States is fully justified in its position. No other person proposed by Russia could have mustered even a majority vote in the Council and the U.S.A., in saying that it would veto any candidate's name other than Lie's had as much right to use the veto as the U.S.S.R.

If Mr. Lie had not been reappointed, how could any successor ever fulfil the post dutifully, knowing that Mr. Lie had been dropped merely because he did his duty. That is the moral issue.

The U.S. method of by-passing the Security Council on this matter, when it was unable to reach agreement on a point it had the duty to decide, is in line with the proposal last month, and accepted by fifty of the sixty nations, to circumvent the Security Council veto by taking matters to the Assembly. This proposal was thoroughly examined by Elmore M. McNaughton in his Peterborough address last week, and seems the only feasible way to make U.N. function as a preserver of peace and a fighter of aggression. The method has worked in the question of the naming of a Secretary-General.

The Death Of Shaw

Someone asked us yesterday, when the news came that Bernard Shaw was dead, "What made him a great man?" The answer, we feel, must be that his greatness lay in his ability to do with ease and style what other men, if they can do it at all, do clumsily and with difficulty. He was unquestionably one of the greatest masters of English prose who ever lived; his name is fit to stand above Sheridan and Goldsmith, and on a level with the name of Swift. He was a great playwright, and of the fifty or so plays which he wrote during his lifetime, there are probably fifteen which will hold the stage as classics. He lived a great life, showing courage, taste and breadth of interest himself and inspiring those qualities in countless other people. These are unquestionable claims to greatness.

He was a reformer and a political thinker, and brilliantly successful in these two allied fields, but because reform and politics are by their nature evanescent things we put them considerably below the greater qualities which we have named above. History is strewn with the tombs of reformers and political thinkers who are as dead as mutton. It is as a literary artist that Shaw will live.

Great numbers of people knew him only as a wisecracker, whose gibes at human folly were frequently quoted in the newspapers. It was the people who knew him only in this very limited capacity who hated him. When a blacksmith is at work, he throws off galaxies of sparks, but it is foolish to assume that he is making nothing but sparks. The enduring article which Shaw was making was a shelf of books and a theatre stocked with admirable plays. The sparks glowed brilliantly in the air, and when they lit on something soft, they burned it, but they were only sparks, after all.

Ninety-four years: a long life. Goethe, with whom Shaw might fitly be compared, died at 83. Voltaire, with whom Shaw was sometimes compared, but whom he far surpassed, died at 84. The death of this extraordinary, contradictory, great-spirited man leaves the world for the moment at a loss, for there is none to step into his place as the first literary genius of our day.

Not To Korea

The war in Korea is not over. The violent fighting near the Manchurian border and the American regiment of several thousand men who are virtually encircled by Red forces, show that there is fighting strength left in the Korean Red hulk, due probably to an infusion of border Chinese blood. But lacking any confirmation that Red China is committing herself to anything but the defence of her own Manchurian border within that border, the Korean war must end shortly, or bog down for the winter into dismal frontier sorties. In either case, further combat troops are not needed in Korea. Prime Minister St. Laurent has recognized this in his Wednesday statement that the bulk of Canada's Special Force will not go to Korea.

This is a sensible decision, and it was probably taken with the concurrence and advice of American and other U.N. military planners. If a total of a thousand men are sent, as suggested, they will have rehabilitation, reconstruction and observation duties. Thus the Special Force can be kept intact as a fighting unit, and take its winter training in the U.S.A. as a full combat brigade. (To call this force now numbering nearly eleven thousand men a "brigade" or a brigade group is something of a misnomer even if the authorized establishment gives it the appearance of a brigade. A Canadian brigade ordinarily has some 3,000 men; the Special Force is the size of a division.)

Although the Special Force will not go to Korea, men joining it for active duty need have no fear that they will not "see the world". Europe beckons. So urgent is Canada's and the western world's need for trained men under arms, that the recruiting drive across the country (a recruiting unit has been in Peterborough this week) should be carried on with even greater intensity than it had at the beginning of the war in Korea.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: When did Peterborough become a city?

It is the incorporation as a town in 1850 that we are celebrating this year.

ANSWER: 1905.

ALPHA: Would you be prepared to give your readers a short course on the art of opening oysters?

ANSWER: Not in print; it would be too lurid. I will say that your chief equipment should be a very large supply of cuss words, a chisel, hammer, hack-saw and some bandages. If inlanders insist on eating oysters in the home-opened half-shell they should develop the technique and stomachs of the surf scoter, which lies in northern oceans but is sometimes seen on the Great Lakes. This bird, like human inlanders, has no special tool or technique to open the shells of oysters and clams (i.e. it has no beak equipped for the work). So it swallows the oysters whole. This method is, of course, a little rough on the gizzard. In order to get the meat of the oyster, the surf scoter has to swallow stones with which to grind the shells. When the shells are thus ground, the food inside is digested. By the way, the sound of this process in the gizzard of the surf scoter is the noise which annoys an oyster.

Oyster shells, at least those of the excellent P.E.I. Malpeque Bay oysters, are tough as rocks. They are rocks—calcium. I broke the steel blade of garden pruning scissors on one the other evening, in a profane, impotent attempt to open it with them.

DEAR ALPHA: (1) This being Peterborough's Centennial year, how does it compare with other cities and towns such as Belleville in area, population, hospitals, newspapers, paved streets etc., and anything that makes a city good to live in?

(2) Who built the first road between Peterborough and Port Hope, when was it built and how was it paid for?

ANSWERS: (These are answers held over from last week, when Alpha had not enough energy left from partridge-puffing to dig out the information. This is the result of his rejuvenation and digging.) To Question 1: Consult the "Second Annual Economic Survey" 1950, of the Province of Ontario, prepared by the Ontario Bureau of Statistics and Research Department of the Provincial Treasurer. A copy must be in the Public Library. If not, there will be one at the City Clerk's Office. See also the Annual Report of Municipal Statistics, published by the King's Printer for Ontario; to be found in the same places. (2) Consult Howard Pammett's History of Peterborough appearing in instalments in each Saturday's Examiner, especially No. 28 (July 22) and No. 32, (August 19th).

P.S. Is this method of answering an encouragement to do your own homework?

* * *

ALPHA: Why does the Examiner have those two little stars on the top right side of the front page, next to the words "Five Cents"? Have they any public meaning, or are they merely some private sign to printers and publishers?

ANSWER: Such a use of asterisks is common among newspapers. They indicate the edition of the paper, one star for first edition, two for second, three for third, etc. The Examiner puts out two editions: the noon edition with one asterisk; this edition is intended primarily for many rural subscribers whom the evening paper would not reach on the day of publication; and the evening or city edition, which has two asterisks. This second, city, edition is the main one. Very rarely does the Examiner publish a third edition; only for such outstanding late news as the declaration of war, the end of war or some other extremely important local or natural event which occurred too late for inclusion in the second edition.

* * *

I HAD already written this answer to your question, when a three-star Wednesday edition of The Examiner came into my hands. The story of that is as follows: First reports of the attempted assassination of President Truman on Wednesday afternoon began to come in over the teletype only ten minutes before the city edition was to go to press. These first meagre reports were rapidly edited and set in type and included in the regular city edition. But more news kept coming in, and the story became bigger. So the managing editor decided on a "re-make" of the front page, to give the story the prominence and complete coverage due it. Thus a three-star edition was born. The first several thousand copies of the Examiner distributed that afternoon were of the regular two-star edition; but the presses had been caught in time by the new three-star edition to provide many thousands of readers with the two-line, eight column headlines and full story to the minute of the shooting on the steps of Blair House.

By the way, the first edition used to bear the heading "Peterborough Examiner", and the second, main, edition "Evening Examiner". Since the publication of the special Centenary number (last July 14th) and the adoption then of the new motto, both editions bear the same heading: "Peterborough Examiner".

Some big metropolitan papers try to disguise their editions by using such terms as "Final Home Edition", "Final Edition", etc., so that each reader thinks he is getting the latest news. The asterisks tell the true tale. "Final Edition" may carry three asterisks, but the canny reader avid for the very latest may find that there is some other "final" which is really later, because it has four or five stars. Some papers keep the sequence of editions rather private and do not use asterisks—just fancy names.

The Future of G.B.S.

By IVOR BROWN

TO eminent authors there comes, in old age or after death, a period of neglect, even of denigration. Then they are rediscovered (e.g., Trollope) and a boom period sets in: after that the recognition may be general and steady.

Bernard Shaw never went out of vogue in the way that others have done. Dwindle he could not. He never grew old in spirit and never sat back. At no period could he be overlooked. He towered—and towers cannot be made invisible by pretending that they are only chimney-pots. That opinions once deemed daring should become commonplace is inevitable; it is, after all, exactly what the spokesmen of the new ideas want, if they are honest propagandists. If youngsters now yawn at "The Anarchists' Handbook" and regard its epigrams merely as a lively expression of views commonly held, then G.B.S. has conquered. He has changed public opinion, which is exactly what he set out to do. The more a rebel is regarded as a back number by the undergraduate, the more has he triumphed in his occupation.

* * *

HOW then will Shaw's work be regarded "forty years on?" It is an easy guess that the plays with most narrative value will outlast the discussion pieces which remain excellent reading but are hardly improved by performance. If you can read three of the discussion-plays, with the admirable and irresistible prefaces, for less than the cost of a stall to see one of them (with no preface), then the book-seller obviously provides a better bargain than the threatre-manager.

But such early pieces as "Arms and the Man," "Candida," "The Devil's Disciple," and "You Never Can Tell" are enriched by good performance and therefore will remain immortal theatre. Of "St. Joan" there is no question; for in this Shaw's ingenuity managed to make the Saint an essential and instinctive Protestant without offending the more sensible Catholics. There is no better "copy" than theology spoken with the tongues of men, not submerged in the arid doctrinal disputations that have so often turned the most exciting of all subjects into a dullness beyond endurance. The story of the Maid is so poignant as to defy the deadening hand of the deadliest of bores: with Shaw's genius added it made a play inevitably canonised by public judgment.

Come what may to our mad and menaced world, a finely phrased discussion of First and Last Things, and of the conflict of the individual vision with the Church Organised, will never fail to grip. Ibsen's struggle of the Alone-Standing Man with the Compact Majority is here translated to the battle of Conscience and Church, with all the rich eye-appeal of medievalism, with all the powerful mind- appeal of Shavian dialectic.

Again, where Shaw touches poetry—a vague word, but hard to escape—as in "Heartbreak House," where old Shotover has the rapt eloquence of a major prophet, or in the first and last episodes of "Back to Methuselah," there is surely permanence. The middle of this "Metabiological Pentateuch" can fade out; its excursions into Eden and "As Far as Thought Can Reach" are deathless matter.

* * *

SHAW's politics have been too wayward to make an enduring body of doctrine. They will be re-read for their wit first, of course, but for their wisdom much less. He consistently and gaily contradicted himself. Having announced that there is no more atrocious crime than trying to mould a child's mind, he then praised Soviet Russia, which was doing exactly that.

He has been more consistent in his defence of oligarchic Socialism and in his contempt of democratic facades. But the Fabian Socialism (or State Collectivism) to which he was so faithful—his admiration of the Webbs was unquenchable — seemed, almost before his death, to have become unexciting to the public, which began to find nationalization turn grey and wearisome in its grasp.

Along with Shaw's taste for Webb-footed bureaucracy there was, however, a liking for the shrewd, sardonic aristocrat; "Gentleman Johnny" Burgoyne, of "The Devil's Disciple" is re-embodied more substantially time and again, in King Magnus of "The Apple Cart," for example, and in Warwick of "Saint Joan." In his contempt for Parliamentary shams and manoeuvres and for intriguing place-hunting politicians, Shaw may have anticipated a developing mood of the twentieth century's latter half.

* * *

BUT one thing ought to be assured: the permanence of Shaw's writing as a model of clear and vigorous statement. He said many things which are questionable or even foolish—inevitable occurrence in one who poured so much from his far-ranging mind—but never a thing that was cloudy, clumsy, or vague. Even when he dealt with matters that might be called mystical, Shaw's mind was lucidity's model, and his prose an example for all time of proper words in proper places. If school-masters have any sense, Shaw will be made and will remain prominent in the text-books of composition. And it is a tribute to his victory as propagandist that the views so cogently expressed will no longer shock a parent or light a fire in the rebellious schoolboy.

Barbaric Practice

(Brantford Expositor)

The widespread use of the steel trap in capturing fur-bearing animals has been under criticism for years. The condemnation of the practice as inhumane and barbaric is somewhat justified in view of the excruciating pain the trap causes animals which are held in its vice-like grip. Cases have been known where the unfortunate victim has gnawed off the leg or the tail caught in the trap to escape the agony.

The use of the trap to capture wildlife has been abolished in some sections of the United States, but in Northern Canada, which contains many valuable fur-producing regions, the steel trap is the most popular method of catching small game.

Professional trappers who conduct their business in a big way, usually lay a network of trap lines, extending 20 miles or more. Animals caught along the lines might suffer as long as a week before the trapper could reach them and put them out of their misery.

Referring to the situation, the Guelph Mercury comments: "The use of deadfalls and other methods of trapping in vogue prior to the introduction of the steel trap entailed little, if any, suffering; they were humane in that their victims met instant death. Not, however, until public opinion is thoroughly awakened in this regard, will the cruelty incidental to the use of this inhumane instrument of torture, the steel trap, be eliminated."

That may be true but would it not be practical to suggest that the appropriate government department take the matter in hand?

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord God planted a garden eastward in Eden; and there he put the man whom he had formed. And out of the ground made the Lord God to grow every tree that is pleasant to the sight, and good for food; the tree of life also in the midst of the garden, and the tree of knowledge of good and evil.....

And the Lord God commanded the man, saying, Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat: but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die.

And the Lord God said, It is not good that the man should be alone; I will make him an help meet for him. And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beast of the field, and every fowl of the air; and brought them unto Adam to see what he would call them: and whatsoever Adam called every living creature, that was the name thereof....

And the Lord God caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, and he slept: and he took one of his ribs, and closed up the flesh instead thereof; and the rib, which the Lord God had taken from man, made he a woman, and brought her unto the man. (Gen. 2: 8, 9, 16-19, 21, 22.)

* * *

Let no man deceive you with vain words ....And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them....Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light. (Eph. 5: 6, 11, 14.)

* * *

The night is far spent, the day is at hand, let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light. (Rom. 13: 12.)

Letter To The Editor

CORPORAL PUNISHMENT AND DISCIPLINE

Sir: This week I visited my home city of Peterborough, which is celebrating its centenary, with a special pride in a long record of fair play and justice. However I was very shocked to discover that a gross injustice had been visited upon one small handicapped child. Wednesday of this past week she was sent by a Peterborough doctor to a Toronto specialist for examination. Upon her return to King George Public School she was ridiculed, not for the first time, because of her slowness. At this point her teacher decided to apply corporal punishment, and use her as an example to teach a lesson to the other slow members of the class. This was done at the front of the room with the assistance of another teacher.

Recognizing the magnificent work being done by most of our teachers, often burdened with too many pupils, and sometimes underpaid—can we allow such a calloused and vicious display of behaviour to pass without mention? Under the most trying conditions the average human being recognizes that partial paralysis, and the use of only one hand is liable to make any child of some ten years a little shy and retiring. Is it then asking too much that a teacher with special training to deal with, and a certain ability to understand children, be reprimanded for the use of corporal punishment as a means of discipline, particularly with a handicapped child. To take physical and social advantage of such a child is definitely unethical and cowardly and reeks a little of the middle ages.

As a Director of a Child Centre, I am dealing each day with timid, backward, overbearing, maladjusted and defective children. In our years of experience, in spite of a shortage of staff, we firmly believe that kindness, love, understanding, a faith in and a confidence won, is the best method of achieving positive results. It is to be hoped that in the interests of this child, and all children, this method of corporal discipline will be discontinued.

The adult who must resort to force when handling children is a failure and has been outwitted by those children. Peterborough can continue its fine achievement of justice and pair play by discouraging such disgraceful occurences.

Yours sincerely,
(MRS.) W. J. INWOOD.

The international service of Radio Canada is inaugurating the sending out of radiotelephone emissions destined for Russia. Here is a form of propaganda which Canada could very well get along without. Why not leave it to the United States, which is marvellously equipped for it and has the necessary resources? Why are we determined to play the Great Power when we are not one?

BUY A POPPY
For Remembrance Day

Tomorrow is Poppy Day...

SATURDAY, NOV. 4th

Saturday, Nov. 4 has been designated Poppy Day by the Canadian Legion. It is a privilege for each one of us to purchase a Poppy in memory of those who laid down their lives in the service of their King and Country.

This year Remembrance Day comes to find us facing another threat from tyrannical armies. It finds us, too, accepting this challenge, as did those brave Canadians in past years. In such manner is democracy defended. Not by depriving others, and ourselves of liberty, but by defeating those who would deprive us. Today we are mustering all of our might and joining forces with our allies. Today we are meeting this threat to liberty in all parts of the world, fighting this many-headed monster of decadence wherever we can, aware that our kind of liberty never loses.

Here and There In Sport

An attack on referee Bobby Brennan in a Quebec Junior Hockey game in Montreal last Sunday has brought suspension to six players of the Three Rivers Reds.

Allan Mudie, considered chief offender, drew a 10-game suspension at a meeting of the referees' board of the QAHA Thursday night. Mudie hit Brennan in a fracas which broke out after a game won by Montreal Nationales 9-8.

The other suspensions are for one and two games and are staggered so that Three Rivers won't be too shorthanded for any game. Guy Talbot will be out for two games, and Marcel Joannette, Jim Hayes, Jean Bernaquez and Marcel Bonin for one each.

Gentle reminder to Mayor Don MacKay of Calgary: the Ottawa Press Club want the Condolence Cup back.

It really isn't much of a cup—about the size of a baby's mug—and it isn't steeped in tradition However, it embodies a lot of sentiment as it's the only trophy in existence awarded annually to the team that loses the east-west Grey Cup football final at Toronto.

Calgary Stampeders won't need it this year—they didn't even make the western Canada Conference play-offs—and the cup is needed before the big Nov. 25 game so that the presentation may be made in Toronto to the coach of the losing club a few hours after the classic ends at Varsity Stadium.

Brooklyn Dodgers have named Fresco Thompson and Emile (Buzzy) Bavasi, two of Branch Rickey's brightest aides, to fill the big shoes of the departed general manager.

Both Thompson and Bavasi, general manager of Montreal last year, were appointed vice-presidents by president Walter O'Malley who said they will share the general managership duties Rickey handled so ably during the last eight years. The 69-year-old Rickey was both president and general manager until he resigned last week.

Next on O'Malley's agenda is the managership. Right now Burt Shotton, Rickey's field boss, still is the manager. But the betting around Brooklyn's headquarters was that Harold (Pee Wee) Reese, Dodger captain and shortstop, would be at the helm when spring training time rolls around.

Dixie Walker, the "Peepul's cherce," in his Brooklyn playing days, also was rated a possibility for the manager's role.

O'Malley, however, indicated Shotton still was in the running.

"Shotton is still the manager," he said in answer to a question. "No decision will be made until I have a good talk with him. He is a very fine gentleman."

Ascot racing authorities are planning a world championship horse race with the richest purse in British history to mark the 1951 Festival of Britain.

Entries are to be invited from Canada, the United States, the Republic of Ireland, South Africa, New Zealand, France, Belgium and Italy as well as Britain.

The purse will be £20,000 ($60,000). The race will be for three-year-olds and upwards, run over 1½ miles. It will be called the "King George and Queen Elizabeth Festival of Britain Stakes."

Sammy Snead, never playing better golf, came slamming through the third round of the north and south open tournament Thursday with a six-under-par 32-34—66 to charge into the 54-hole lead by two strokes with a 205 total.

His three-day spree of 68-71—66 left him 11 under par and two shots in front of Johnny Palmer, the leader through the first two rounds at Pinehurst, N. C., and Jim Ferrier, Canadian open champion from San Francisco, who is No. 2 money winner this year back of Snead.

Palmer three-putted the last hole for a par 72 today, while Ferrier also needed three putts there, but earlier misery on the way to the carpet gave him a total of six for 71.

Lone remaining serious challenger going into today's final 18 holes was Tommy Bolt, former Texas campaigner, now registering out of Durham. He had 68 Thursday for 208, three strokes back of Snead.

Yukon vs. Mask In Feature Bout

Yukon Eric lost little time in accepting the Masked Marvel's demand for a match, and the two will headline next Tuesday's wrestling card at Brock Arena. It looks from here as if The Mask has taken on quite a job for himself. The Alaskan is one of the best grapplers in the game and it will occasion no surprise if the hooded one's identity is revealed.

The Mask with two straight victories here, along with his manager, figure they can just about whip anyone. Just what type of an attack they have planned on huge Eric will be interesting to see. This bout should be a humdinger and would easily draw 12,000 customers in Toronto.

The remainder of the card will be announced tomorrow, but the main bout is just about the best news grapple fans have received. Manager Jim Laidlaw is already arranging for more ringside seats to accommodate the large crowd expected.

Loney Of Riders Awarded Russel Trophy

TORONTO, Nov. 3 (CP). — Don Loney, Ottawa Rough Riders' brilliant 26-year-old snap, has won the Jeff Russel Memorial Trophy for 1950.

He was told about it during practice in Ottawa Thursday night. "Swell," he said. Then he went back to the drills, preparing for Riders' last game of the year against Hamilton Tiger-Cats Saturday.

Loney was picked from the eight nominees by the officials and five governors of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union. The award goes to the player in the league deemed most valuable to his team as a player and sportsman.

Bob McDonald, 18-year-old Hamilton half, won the rookie award. A junior last year, he scored one touchdown in eight games this season.

Riders can't possibly make the league playoffs this year. But Loney talked about the importance of winning Saturday's game rather than about the trophy.

If Riders win, he said, they could wind up the season only two points behind the first-place Toronto Argonauts and that wouldn't be too bad."

Mother Pleased

The big reaction in the announcement came from his mother—"Mom" to all the Riders and a rabid football fan.

"Isn't that marvellous?" she said.

Loney joined Riders four years ago from Toronto Argonauts. Since then, as snap on the offence and centre secondary on the defence, he's been regarded as one of the best men in the game.

He has played nearly 60 minutes in every contest when he's been in shape and his team-mates claims that he's in almost every play.

Also nominated for the award were outside Bill Stanton of Ottawa; halfback Tommy Manastersky and inside Ray Cicia of Montreal; halfback Edgar Jones and snap Jake Gaudar of Hamilton and halfback Billy Bass and snap Ed (Buckets) Hirsch of Toronto.

School Soccer League Enjoys A Fine Season

The public school soccer teams had one of the best seasons in history. Weather was perfect, except one day when three games were cancelled through rain, but they were played at the end of the schedule. Here are the standings:

In the senior group seven teams played six games. Central won the league championship and possession of the Kinsmen Cup and the Sportsmanship (Optimist) Cup for the senior division.

In the intermediate series Confederation nosed out King Edward in the last game to win the league championship by one point and take possession of the G. N. Gordon Trophy for 1950. In the Sportsmanship (Optimist) Cup, Prince of Wales and QA-QE were adjudged by the official referees in the series on a points basis.

May's School team captured the Lions Cup, emblematic of the junior championship of the league. The five teams played four games each. May's also won the Sportsmanship Shield.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A few revisions have been announced in the OHA senior "B" schedule, so you fans who clipped it can amend the list accordingly. On Dec. 12, Nylons play at Queen's, while Jan. 8 now has Queen's at Nylons, with Petes at Belleville, this latter one being switched from Dec. 18. The changes haven't aided the Petes any, but Convener Lorne Cook of Kingston says there'll be no other changes made. The local Eagles are off today to play Nylons in Kingston, while the Petes are idle till Monday when they trek to Belleville. Then then go to Kingston on Wednesday to meet Nylons, and have Queen's here next Friday. Eagles are at home next Wednesday to Belleville. The juniors open Nov. 15.

Scribe George Carver says that Moe Gobeil is lining up a stronger Quinte senior crew than in some years. A new goalie named Jack Keays comes over from Trenton Flyers, and the defence will be Lou Schmidt of Trenton RCAF along with Joe Nolan, Tom Schreider and Doug Free. Hm, we thought Nolan was coming out with Petes. Up front there's Leo and Vern Goyer with Tim Williams on one line; Pete Jones, Keith MacDonald and Doug Day on another; and Brian Mulvihill, Johnny Green and Jack Wardhaugh on the third. Later, they'll get Paul Gagnon, speedy RCAF forward. The boys from Bella Villa could make a lot of trouble for other teams yet in this season's race.

Diagram For Gridders

Ace Percival, coach of Sports College, comes out with a grid diagram for an attacking team. Up to your own 25-yard line, he calls the danger zone and advises simple plays and kicks on first or second downs with the wind. Block like fury and get the ball out of there. The careful zone is from there to the 45. Advice here is take few chances, throw no flat passes, use safe plays and steady ball handlers. Between the two 45-yard strips, he says: "Excellent passing zone, long and short ones mixed up; use wide plays, lateral passing plays, fake passes, and generally open up."

* * * * * *

And then we come to the special play zone from the enemy 45 to their 25 as you drive in. Use trick plays, plunging the most successful plays you have, with the percentage shortening up on forward passing. And don't forget to go for single points or placements in a tight game. Finally there's the scoring zone when teams should keep cool but drive hard, using the payoff plays and the top ball carriers. A trick play might payoff when an ordrinary one is stalled. Don't pass if the ground attack is working. All this may sound pretty elementary to most football coaches, players and fans, but how often is the pattern followed by teams? It's just common sense laid down in a simple way.

Three Teams In Action

PCVS juniors and seniors are off tomorrow for COSSA semi-final games in Belleville, the Londry lads going at one p.m., with the Goulding crew playing immediately afterward. Word came through this a.m. on the junior arrangement. No grid action here on the morrow, the SPS teams having completed a good season. Orfuns clash with Parkdale Lions in Oakwood Stadium at 2.15 (fast time) on Saturday, the Lions having a lead of six points in their ORFU intermediate "B" semi-final series. Winner of this goes into finals against Toronto Ryerson Tech or Sarnia, probably the former. Cobourg Ghosts nurse a three-point lead over Dundas on the latter's grounds tomorrow in the "A" semi-finals.

* * * * * *

Two girls' basketball league contests billed for the YWCA gym this evening. Nurses Jrs. take on Black's at 8.15, and this one is followed by a tussle betwixt Normals and CGE at 9.15. Lots of action expected by the lasses during the first half of their schedule. The league may be enlarged shortly to take in several more prospective entries. Schedule will be released ere long. The YM house leaguers are getting warmed up, and Marines are working out for an OABA intermediate "A" team now, with a "B" entry possible, too. The PCVS cagers will get going right after the grid season winds up in two more weeks.

Says Charles May Quit IBC

By JIM HOLTON.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 3 (AP). — Ezzard Charles, world heavyweight champion, may bolt the International Boxing Club, top ring promotion outfit in the U.S.

Jake Mintz, the Cincinnati Negro's co-manager, has been feuding with I.B.C.' matchmaker Al Weil. Their differences came to a head Thursday night in a squabble over a preliminary card on which Mintz was trying to place another boxer.

"I don't need Al Weil or the I.B.C.," Mintz sputtered.

"This is the showdown. If those guys in New York don't see things my way, we're through."

Mintz and Weil first bumped head-on before Charles' recent scrap with Joe Louis. Since then all Mintz' business with the club has been carried on through I.B.C. president Jim Norris.

"Jim's been fine," Mintz said. "I hate to make a break with him."

The present Mintz-Weil row centres around Levi Bryant, a heavy handled by the Pittsburgh manager. Mintz asked the I.B.C. to give Bryant a preliminary spot on a Garden card late this month. Norris, Mintz declared, relayed Weil's "no" and Mintz Thursday night replied with an ultimatum —"put Bryant on the card or we quit."

Charles has a contract with the I.B.C. which runs until next May, but "it doesn't mean a thing," Mintz declared, without elaborating.

Passes, whether forwards or laterals, tend to throw the game open, providing a more colorful play than the steady flow of plunges and runs. They also can easily slow the game down if many are incompleted.

Most coaches teach their forward passers to held the ball with the hand stretched between the belly and the and of the ball, the tips of the fingers along one seam. Some players use the index finger pointing towards the point.

The ball is cocked in the hand and wrist behind the ear, the opposite arm extended out forwards for balance. The player's weight should be shifted to the rear foot before the throw.

As the passer is throwing the ball, it should be tilted upward as the fingers slip off it. At the same time the weight should be shifted gradually from the rear foot to the forward foot so that the body is behind the throw. Just as a baseball pitcher requires a follow-through so does a football passer.

Deception is the key to a passer's success. Don Griffin, formerly of PCVS and now with Queen's University, developed deception not only for football but also for basketball.

Cincinnati Downs Indianapolis 4-1

By The Canadian Press.

Cincinnati Mohawks are back in a first-place tie with Cleveland Barons at the top of the American Hockey League's western division. The teams have been battling hard for the lead since the season started and Thursday night Cincinnati downed Indianapolis Capitals 4-1 while Cleveland rested. Each of the top teams has 16 points.

Pittsburgh Hornets whipped St. Louis Flyers 4-1 and Providence Reds pushed around New Haven Eagles 7-3 in the only other games played Thursday night.

Leafs Pile Up Victories Edge Montreal In 2-1 Tilt

By The Canadian Press.

If Conn Smythe ever had any misgivings about the "boys" on his Toronto Maple Leafs not growing into men fast enough, they should be dispelled by now. His veterans aren't causing him any worries either.

The proof is reflected in today's standings the Leafs are leading the league by five points over Montreal Canadiens on a record of seven wins, two ties and a single loss in 10 starts.

The Leafs Thursday night stretched their string of undefeated games to nine, edging Canadiens 2-1 in Montreal. It was their second successive victory over the Habitants, beaten 5-3 in Toronto Wednesday.

In other games Thursday night New York Rangers rallied while shorthanded in the third period to tie Detroit 2-2, and in Chicago the Black Hawks dumped the winless Boston Bruins 5-2.

Combine Efforts

Rookie Tod Sloan, a "boy" of 22, and veteran Cal Gardner, an "old man" of 30, combined to sink the injury-riddled Canadiens before 14,652 fans. Both scored in the third period.

Sloan's goal on a backhand shot nullified a first-period goal by Ken Mosdell of Canadiens. Gardner's winning tally was on a slap-shot effort.

Defenceman Wally Stanowski, who saw little action last season and early this campaign because of injuries, saved the Rangers from defeat at Detroit. With teammate Nick Mickoski sitting out a charging penalty, Stanowski led a daring attack which caught Detroit by surprise as they were preparing a power play.

He sailed in on the astonished Detroit goalie, Terry Sawchuk, and sank a nifty 25-foot angle shot to give New York its fourth tie in seven games.

New York opened the scoring on Alex Kaleta's first-period goal. Joe Carveth tied it up for Detroit, who went ahead in the middle session on a goal by Ted Lindsay.

Scores Twice

At Chicago, Roy Conacher scored twice to run his lifetime record to 20 since he joined the NHL in 1938. He missed the war years of 1942-5. A crowd of 10,201 saw the Hawks sweep into a 3-0 first-period lead, and the luckless Bruins never got close.

Rookie Vic Stasiuk opened the scoring after less than two minutes of play. Veteran Gus Bodnar made it 2-0 three minutes later and Conacher got his 199th goal before the mid way mark.

Johnny Peirson got Boston's first goal early in the second period, but Gord Fashoway, another Hawk rookie, ran the count to 4-1 near the end of the session. Conacher got his 200th tally in the third frame and Lorne Ferguson banged in Boston's final tally while Chicago was shorthanded.

The Hawks Thursday announced that forward Jim Conacher has been suspended indefinitely for refusing to play for their Milwaukee farm club after his salary was cut. Conacher, who was obtained from Detroit in 1948, played two full seasons for the Hawks.

Woman Heats Coins Burns 9 Children

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 3 (AP). — A middle-aged woman who burned nine children in a "trick or treat" incident Hallowe'en night may escape prosecution if she apologizes properly.

Herbert Shapiro, assistant county solicitor, said yesterday he had prepared an information charging the woman—who was not named—with "torturing and tormenting" the youngsters.

He said she now is suffering with pangs of conscience.

"We are going to give the woman a chance to contact the parents of the children and make apologies," Shapiro said. "If they agree to drop the charges, none will be filed."

Shapiro said the woman admitted heating coins in a pan and offering them to the children after they were invited into her house to sing while she prepared a "treat."

Road Company Helps Legion Build Park

MARMORA, Nov. 3 (ENS) — When Marmora Legion was stumped recently with a children's playground they had planned east of Crowe River on Highway 7, a construction company gave them a hand.

The veterans were without machinery to build a wall or dike to protect the park from spring floods. Major Percy Gray, past president of the Legion, asked a road construction company working near Marmora if they would dump some fill in the park.

The company dumped hundreds of truckloads of fill on the land, and then sent in a bulldozer to level the fill and cover it with soil.

The Legion expects to finish off the job in easy stages.

TOP APPRENTICE—It seems a habit around Toronto's racetracks in the fall season to pick a favorite apprentice jockey. This year it's 17-year-old Darrell Hartley, of Calgary. In eight days of racing Darrell chalked up 12 wins and captured the imagination of punters and racing men. Born in Crothers, Sask., the youngster is saving his fees and purse-shares for a hoped-for ranch out west.

Would Curb Players Getting Releases

GUELPH, Nov. 3 (CP)—The Ontario Hockey Association moved Thursday night to make it more difficult for players to get a release from Class A club after signing.

The OHA's Junior A council voted to ask the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to pass a regulation making it impossible for any player who got paid $1,000 or more during the previous season to appeal against his club's refusal to grant him a release.

The council also decided to ask the CAHA to put major and junior "A" series on a contract basis. The proposal has been considered—and rejected—for the last two years.

Charge Uprising Coming In Hong Kong

TAIPEI, Formosa, Nov. 3 (AP) —The newspaper Hsin Sheng Pao said today that Chinese Reds are planning an uprising in Hong Kong.

The newspaper, mouthpiece of the Formosan provincial government, quoted "reliable sources from Canton." It said the plot was drawn at a conference conducted by Gen. Yeh Chien Ying, top-ranking Red leader in South China, with the objective to free prisoners from local jails and arm them to take part in an underground attempt to capture government buildings.

Independent quarters at this Chinese Nationalist capital were skeptical. A Communist attack on Hong Kong, they declared, would be taken to amount to a formal declaration of war against Britain.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Max Bentley of Toronto and Maurice Richard of Montreal were in action Thursday night, but the two players remained tied in the National Hockey League scoring race as both went pointless.

Richard, with his nine goals and three assists, and Bentley, with four goals and eight assists, continue to pace the pack with 12 points, three more than their nearest opponents.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts.
Richard, Montreal	9	3	12
M. Bentley, Toronto	4	8	12
Sloan, Toronto	6	3	9
Gardner, Toronto	4	5	9

District Dart League Now Being Organized

Stan Holton of Calladine's last night won the Gainey prize for high scoring in the Legion Dart League, having a total of 127 points. Albert Clark of Selkirk's was second with 126 and Chuck Telford of Silver Moon third with 121. Tops for teams in the competition were Wigley's, Silver Moon, Kawartha, and Hatton's, each winning two and dropping one. The standing: Hatton's, Kawarthas, Millard's, won six and lost three each; Silver Moon, Calladine's, Gannon's, won four and lost five each; Wigley's and Selkirk's, each won three and lost six.

A city dart league of eight teams has been formed, and any others of at least six players may apply. Teams ready now are: Sergeants' Mess 50th Battery, Peterborough Legion, Lakefield Legion, Brooklyn Bums (Ashburnham), and CGE. Other teams in this district wanting in should apply to the local Legion Branch.

Remarkable Achievemen

LONDON, Nov. 3—(Reuters)—Britain's visible exports equalled her imports at the end of the third quarter of the year, Lord Jowitt, the Lord Chancellor, told the House of Lords Thursday night. He said it was a "remarkable achievement," and the first time it had happened in a long time.

Hastings Laymen Meet At Stirling

MARMORA, Nov. 3—(ENS)—Annual banquet and meeting of Hastings Deanery Laymen's Association was held in the Community Hall, Stirling, on Wednesday evening.

Catering was by the ladies of the congregation of St. John's Church, Stirling. James Holt, president, was toastmaster. Rev. A. J. Anderson, rector of Stirling, extended welcome to the gathering. Twenty-five dollars was voted to the Moosonee appeal.

The invitation of St. George's Trenton Laymen's Association to hold the 1951 annual meeting there was accepted. The election of officers came next on the agenda, resulting as follows: president, Wilfred Davenport, Trenton; vice-president, William J. Barlow, Bonarlaw; secretary-treasurer, Carl R. Whittemore, Deloro (re-elected). After some musical selections by two members of the stirling association, roll call was taken.

E. T. Nayler, Madoc, and Earl Morrow, Stirling, were elected as delegates to the Diocesan Laymen's Council of which Charles H. Buskard, Deloro, is president.

The secretary treasurer then reported on the Moosonee appeal, after which Ron C. Ward, Peterborough, regional director of the National Film Board, as guest speaker, outlined work of the council with respect to education and showed two films.

Carl Lynch, Marmora Wins Scholarship

MARMORA, Nov. 3 (ENS). — Carl Lynch, son of Reeve and Mrs. V. M. Lynch of Marmora Village, and third year student at Queen's University was awarded the J. J. Denny Memorial Scholarship of the value of $100, awarded annually to the most deserving student entering third year of mining and metallurgical engineering.

Mining Activity Assisting Development Of Northern Area

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) A detailed picture of northland development—new schools, hospitals, air strips, docks and hotels —was given here recently by Resources Minister J. H. Brockelbank.

The minister had just a one-week inspection tour of northern Saskatchewan.

He said the la Ronge area, 150 miles north of here, shows definite promise of becoming a mining centre and jump-off place for settlements farther north. Tourist traffic had increased through the area.

A cross-strip at la Ronge airfield was being built. A repair depot, nose hangar, ramp and dock were being constructed at the seaplane base used by Saskatchewan government airways.

A government barge service was linking Fort Black and Ile a la Crosse, Beauval and Buffalo Narrows. Buffalo Narrows had become an industrial settlement with a fisheries operation and fish-filleting plant. There was a new hotel and two extra schoolrooms had been provided.

At la Loche, near the Alberta border, a mission sawmill was making lumber for local use. The town had a hospital and school.

Hunt for Uranium

Goldfields, hot-spot of Saskatchewan's uranium hunt, is in "process of resurrection after being out eight years," Mr. Brockelbank said. A hotel had opened. Because mining and prospecting was on the increase, a resident geologist had been sent there by his department.

At Nicholson Mines, near Goldfields, a 30- to 50-man crew had cut roads. Electricity was being piped from Wellington Lake power plant, built during the earlier boom days of Goldfields by Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company.

At Eldorado, where more uranium is sought, a new cookhouse and cafeteria had been built for about 150 men. Two underground shafts had been cut to reach pitchblende deposits.

A road linking Stony Rapids with Nisto Mines, on Black Lake, in the extreme north, had been completed. Buildings at the mines were being winterized to permit year-round operation. At Stony Rapids, an airstrip had been completed, along with a dock for barge traffic on Lake Athabaska.

A new hospital and school had been erected at Sandy Bay, near the Manitoba boundary, to serve the area around the Island Falls power plant which produces electricity for Flin Flon, Man.

Agriculture was progressing fast at Cumberland House, in eastern Saskatchewan at about the same latitude as The Pas, Man. About 150 acres were being farmed now.

AROUND THE HOME

There are many other interesting little ideas like these in the booklet "Around the Home". Write for your copy to Tom Gard, c/o MOLSON'S (ONTARIO) LIMITED, P.O. Box 490, Adelaide St. Station, TORONTO.

Tom Gard's Note Book

It's time to wind up the gardening season for another year. It hardly seems possible that winter is just around the corner and that semi-hardy plants require mulching again, but my youngest hauled his skates up from the basement yesterday — a sure sign, if there ever was one.

Roses call for special attention. Bedding roses can be treated as illustrated in the diagram. Something new for mulching hybrid teas and hybrid perpetual roses, as well as many bedding plants, came to my attention last year. Glass-fibre insulation that contains little plastic or resin water-proofing material was spread as a blanket over the plants. Hybrid perpetuals were wrapped in burlap and then covered with the insulation materials. This mulch allows free circulation of air and permits water to pass through to the soil. I certainly intend to try it myself this year.

Table-leg Lamps

This winter promises to be a pleasant one. New neighbors moved in next door and the man of the house—Herb—has a marvellous home workshop. He seems to have all the tools that an amateur could ever hope to master. Just yesterday Herb was showing me a smart pair of lamps he was making out of old oak table legs. Evidently a niece of his was being married and as any appropriate gift would cost a small fortune, he was putting his talent to good use.

Serviette Rings

Seeing Herb's tidy workbench shamed me into pushing my way through the debris of my own for a general housecleaning job. Imagine my surprise to find that my youngest had taken over a small corner and is making a set of serviette rings for Mother's Christmas present. The idea was picked up in his handicraft period at summer camp and he's taking no chances on not having them completed in time—maybe I should take the hint!

Jolson Played With Brother In Vaudeville

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 3 (AP)—When Al Jolson died last week, many people learned for the first time that he had a brother.

But to the people in show business, the story of Al and Harry Jolson is a legend.

"People are surprised to learn about me, because I wasn't in the Jolson pictures," said Harry, who bears a resemblance to the late star. "I always tell them that while Al and my mother and father were playing their scenes in our dining room, I was out in the kitchen washing the dishes."

Also not shown in the film biographies were the two Jolson sisters, now dead.

More Errors

He added that the film version of how Al entered show business was incorrect.

"I got Al into show business," said Harry. "Since we were rabbi-Cantor's sons, we sang in the choir and were used to appearing before the public. I was older than Al and I was the black sheep. I was always getting jobs at the burlesque show, singing and selling stuff between acts.

"Like all kid brothers, Al followed my example and I helped him get started. When I ran away with a show, he got the same idea."

Al, who had a "beautiful little soprano," returned home when his voice changed, Harry related. The older brother, who was doing well in vaudeville, suggested they team in an act.

"But I can't sing; my voice is changing," protested Al. "You can whistle, can't you?" Harry replied.

Team Born

And so the team of Jolson and Jolson began. Later they were joined by an older vaudevillian named Joe Palmer. Harry showed me some yellowed theatre programs billing "Jolson, Palmer, and Jolson" in the early 1900s.

When Harry fell ill in New Orleans, Al deserted with Palmer, Harry said. That was the end of the brother act. Harry went on as a single act and was successful, especially in England. But he was always in the shadow of his younger brother's fame.

When vaudeville started to die, Harry's singing career faded. He became an actor's agent and handled Al and Ruby Keeler for seven years.

Say Contracts In Building Still Soaring

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Building contracts let in October were nearly three times as great as those awarded in October last year.

Last month's figure, says MacLean Building Reports, Ltd., was $251,258,000. A big slice of it was $100,000,000 in contracts for construction of the Quebec North Shore and Labrador Railway, but even without these the month was far ahead of a year ago.

The 10-month volume now is $1,262,027,000, or $360,639,800 ahead of 1949's 10-month figure.

All categories of construction were up in October, and all regions gained.

Gold Comment

The current news letter of the Canadian Metal Mining Association says in part:

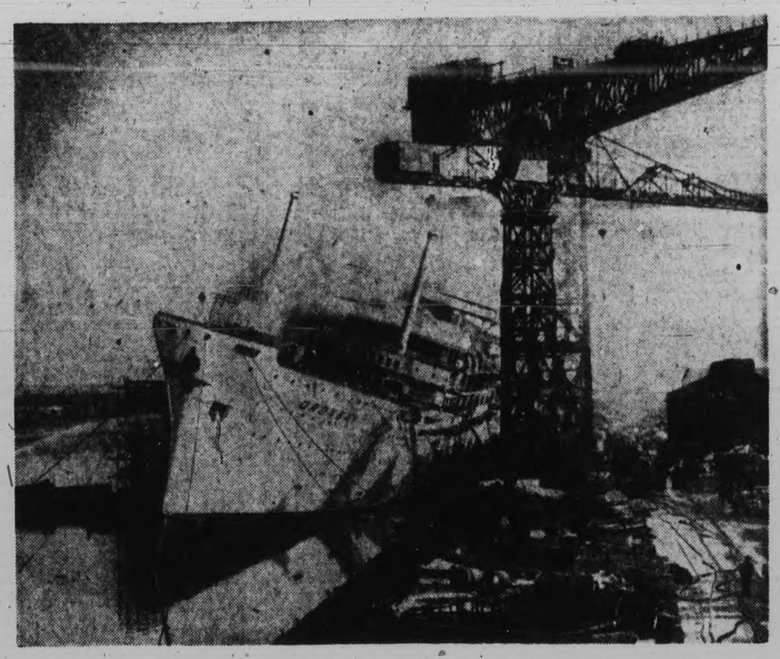
"Announcement that financial assistance to gold mines will be continued on a reduced scale during 1951 means another temporary breathing spell, but increased difficulties for marginal producers. . .

"Gold mines around the world have been caught in a tightening squeeze during the last decade. Costs have risen sharply; but, while other products have risen in price accordingly, there has been no corresponding increase in the price of gold. . .

"The principal benefit of cost-aid payments has been that they have enabled gold mines to weather the storm of the last three years, to maintain employment and the economic life line of the communities which depend on them.

Opens Up North

"Some 120,000 people live in these communities, many of which are completely isolated, dependent either wholly or in large part upon the gold mines.



"Further, it is the search for gold which has opened up the Canadian north, established settlements and led to the discovery of other mineral wealth. . . .

"Announcement of continued assistance for 1951 recognizes that the emergency is not over. . .

"The long-term answer must be either a sharp drop in costs or a higher price for gold. And costs are certainly not going down."

Change Administration

TORONTO, Nov. 3 (CP) — Changes in the administration of the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board will enable injured workmen to get their cheques more quickly, Board Chairman Eugene E. Sparrow said Thursday night. He made the statement in a speech to the Accident Prevention Association of Ontario.

THE BURNING 28,000-TON LINER "Oronsay" lists dangerously at Barrow-in-Furness, England, this week, at her dock where the vessel, the biggest being built in Britain at present, was being readied for her maiden voyage to Australia in March. The fire raged 18 hours before being brought under control, and total damage has not yet been estimated. The cause of the fire was not revealed. The Oronsay was launched last June.

Havenga Powerful Key Figure In South African Political Life

JOHANNESBURG — (CP) — The key man in South Africa's delicately balanced political picture is Finance Minister N. C. Havenga, staunch upholder of the policy of equal treatment for the two white sections—English and Afrikaans-speaking.

As leader of the Afrikaner party in the government coalition Havenga holds the balance of power in the Union parliament. He commands only a few seats, but with his tremendous personal prestige he is the one man to whom large numbers of English-speaking people look as a safeguard of their rights.

Prime Minister Daniel Malan's Nationalist party at present holds a majority of 11 seats, including nine Havenga supporters. The last general election was in May, 1948, and Southwest Africa parliamentary elections were held Aug. 30, this year, resulting in the present party standing:

Nationalists	76
Afrikaner Party	9
United Party	65
Labor	6
Reps. of Natives	3
Total	159

Liked By All

Havenga is seen as the one man who can prevent the remaining major steps in Prime Minister Malan's apartheid (race separation) policy being taken before the 1953 general election. He is contemptuous of what he calls "party political propaganda" and all sections have high regard for him.

The opposition United party pays tribute to Havenga's integrity and within its ranks has members who look to Havenga as leader of a possible new grouping. Dr. Malan's Nationalist party consider that the opposition is wasting its time in trying to woo Havenga, and pays tribute to his loyalty in the coalition.

English-speaking people look on Havenga as the safeguard of their language and traditions. Colored people look to him as the guardian of their franchise rights. An important plank in Dr. Malan's policy of apartheid is the restriction of the native franchise by a simple majority vote in parliament if necessary, but Havenga stands by the spirit if not the letter of the South Africa Act and will not support any restriction of colored rights unless it is brought about by the wish of a substantial majority.

Africans are impressed by Havenga's stand for their parliamentary representative of three native seats, which is another target of the apartheid policy. Here too Havenga insists that any change must be by the will of a substantial majority of the white electors.

Thus the spotlight has swung to Havenga since the death of Field Marshal Smuts, his only rival in prestige with all groups of the population.

See New Approach

Dr. Malan has already announced that he will make a new approach to Havenga on the question of restricting the colored franchise. The Nationalist leader has the increased bargaining power of being able to offer another one or two cabinet seats to the Havenga party. But those who know Havenga do not think that he can be lightly persuaded.

Havenga's importance jumped immensely when the death of Smuts brought about fluctuations in both the Nationalist and United parties. Eric Louw, minister of economic affairs, has warned Nationalists against attempts to achieve new groupings of parties, and Senator H. F. Verwoerd, considered a certainty for a cabinet post, has declared that "imperialist" opposition will try to undermine the Nationalist party.

On its own side the United party is facing a re-shuffling. The first rumblings of reorganization are being heard as the parliamentary leader, J. G. N. Strauss, battles at provincial party congresses to gain the position of national leader left vacant by the death of Smuts. He is opposed by men who have one eye on Havenga.

Gets New Kidney Feeling Fine

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP) — A dead woman's kidney transplanted into a once-doomed woman's body June 17 is functioning, the surgeons who performed the unprecedented operation reported today.

Their tests have indicated, however, that its activity is below par. And they add that conclusions "are necessarily withheld until there is more evidence of the permanency of the graft."

The operation that may bring medical science to a new frontier—the successful transplant of whole human organs—was described in the journal of the American Medical Association.

The "human guinea pig," Mrs. Howard Tucker, 44, reports that she feels "fine" and is able to carry on her usual household activities. Ten weeks after the operation she was able to take a 300-mile automobile trip to attend a convention. For a week she participated freely in banquets, dancing and other convention activities.

"I hope the operation will mean something to the medical profession and to other sufferers elsewhere," she says.

New Orleans Charm Gives Rare Personality To Town

By JACK SCOTT

You'd like New Orleans. One writer (Arthur Brisbane, if I remember rightly) has said, "The two most interesting towns in America are your town and New Orleans". Personally I'll still give the title to San Francisco. But this old and busy port, thickly built on a crescent of the muddy Mississippi, has a rare personality. Part old-world charm, part hoyden.

The old French quarter—the Vieux Carre—is the city's No. 1 attraction. This is headquarters for New Orleans' raucous night life, tuned to a solid Dixie beat.

By daylight it's a slumbering place with quiet charm. Buildings of faded calcimine tints, shrimp pink and blue lavender, with beautifully wrought iron balconies, face on the narrow streets. Writers and artists and other bums hang out here and it's an entertaining experience to relax under a canopy at one of the coffee houses and watch the passing show.

Wear Life Jacket

There are on view a number of eccentrics, including one ragged-looking fellow who lives in quiet terror of the Mississippi. Always wears an immense life-jacket.

Also, of course, the usual number of creative-type Bohemians on display. I picked up a copy of the French Quarter News which contains some of the work of this clan. One untitled story — complete—was this: "A broken stairway suspended in pulse-motion grazes a ghost-gray wall. Its shadow phantoms into an illusion of dimensions, but there is only that gray-ghost wall. An ant slid into a crevice." How's that?

We had coffee and piping hot French doughnuts, which are covered with icing sugar, in the Cafe Du Monde, one of the original French market coffee stands. When the waiter brings your order you must clamp a hand over the doughnuts or they will float away. The coffee itself is strong chicory.

Orleanians say of it:
Black as night
Sweet as love
Hot as hell
And if it don't stain the cup
It was not made well.

Board Steamer

One of the most pleasant ways to spend an afternoon in New Orleans, especially if you're weighted down by kids, is to board the broad-beamed river steamer "President," and go for a trip on the Mississippi.

The day we made this excursion was staggeringly hot, but there was a cool breeze coming down the old Mississippi and, also, there were colored waiters poised on the balls of their feet all through the ship to bring you mint juleps on the dead run.

Might mention here that there's probably no city in the world where liquid spirits are so easy to obtain. "Package stores," as they're called, are everywhere. Many remain open all night for cases of emergency. The sauce is also on sale in drug stores. But then so is nearly everything else. Went into one drug store where they sold fresh oysters.

The "President" cruises sedately along the shore, whooping hoarsely at the heavy river traffic. You see ships from ports all over the world loading and unloading green bananas marching along an endless conveyer belt, bales of compressed cotton, drab green army trucks and tanks being loaded aboard transports for destinations unannounced.

Mississippi Gambler

A running commentary comes over a loud-speaker system, delivered by a man who looks and talks like a Mississippi gambler in a string tie.

Ahead and behind small ferries swim like fat ducks across the sluggish brown river to the suburb of Algiers. You see the broad main thoroughfare of Canal Street, which divides New and Old Orleans and the route of the Mardi Gras parade (they are still talking respectfully of the vats of champagne consumed last spring by "King" Louis Armstrong). You drift lazily past the strange cottage of a Mrs. Doullot, a bungalow topped by a steamer's pilot house, for Mrs. D. is the only licensed lady pilot on the Mississippi. And on past a derelict stern-wheeler right out of Huckleberry Finn, and — waiter! another li'l ol' julep, please!

Then you see in the distance the Chalmette Monument, scene of the Battle of New Orleans in 1815 where Andrew Jackson lost six men and the British lost 2,000, a snatch of history which our lecturer delivers with rather too danged much relish.

Helped Down

Trip lasts two-and-one-half hours and is most relaxing. Indeed some passengers are so relaxed they have to be helped down the gangplank.

Orleanians, as a breed, seem to be wonderfully casual by day, if a little hopped-up at night.

One of the finer sights of the city may be seen along the promenade of Lake Pontchartrain on New Orleans' northern limits where many citizens go to net crabs. Each fisherman has five or six nets which he flings out from the promenade into the lake (where by the way, we've been swimming each day) and the procedure then is to sit and wait. It is the world's most drowsy sport and, what's more, produces results in the form of a small, electric-blue, hard-shelled crab that makes delicious eating.

Eating is Something

Eating is something to be spoken of here in hushed, reverential tones. You have a choice of dining in everything from grand old ballrooms under crystal chandeliers to intimate patios and courtyards where you sit under the starlit open sky and the breeze rustles the magnolias and fronds and the flame of candles.

Our slim budget of US dollars denied us these treats—we just pressed our big noses up against window panes and watched—but we went a little wild in a place called the Chicago Pizzeria where the pizza pie makes violin music in the tummy.

Mind you, a lot of this is patently tourist stuff. If you stroll a block or two from the charm you will run smack into a big, bustling city that doesn't give a hoot for its magnolias (except to put their essence into a perfume bottle labelled Magnolia Kus-Kus) and where men talk proudly of the city's output of fertilizer.

But if you stick with the magnolias and the juleps you'll like New Orleans.

Find Radio Realism Brings Attacks

By HARRY ECCLES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Celebrating its 30th anniversary in the coming week, radio broadcasting with all its great technical advances still draws the odd attack for program handling.

The British Broadcasting Corporation has been under fire since it imposed a radio and television ban on the comedy "Party Manners." Now it has drawn a broadside from a vicar of the Anglican church.

The Rev. R. J. Bowyer vicar of St. Luke's Church at Derby, charged in his parish magazine that the BBC's choice of plays for its Saturday Night Theatre has become "a nightmare."

He said that a few years ago millions of British radio listeners looked forward to this feature as a pleasant family institution. Now the plays that are presented leave listeners with the impression that Britain "is peopled only by drug addicts, adulterers, murderers or other undesirables.

"The occasional healthy person who has cropped up amidst the debauchery and blood-letting has been as rare as a pound note on the collection plate—and as welcome," said the vicar. "I don't mind blood and thunder on Mondays and Wednesdays. But by Saturday I'm ready for a pleasant bedtime story."

Controversial Plays

Then a BBC recording of the Jean Paul sartre play "Crime Passionel," aired over the CBC Trans-Canada network recently, caused some raised eyebrows among Canadian listeners. Frank language written into the play was left in the radio version. Network officials said the transcription had probably been used all over the world, since the BBC shows go to various countries for rebroadcast.

Canadian radio producers themselves have permission to use profanity with discretion and where it is necessary to the work, but it's not to be overdone.

Like most sartre plays, the broadcast production was controversial. The French dramatist is known as the prophet of Existentialism, an abstruse philosophy popular among certain Paris groups. Two of his dramas, "Men Without Shadows" and "The Respectable Prostitute," met with expressions of boredom and mild disgust when first produced in London three years ago.

Voters To Decide Some Odd Issues In U.S. Election

NEW YORK — (CP) — The United States elects a new Congress Tuesday Nov. 7. But many local issues also will be decided.

In 34 of the 48 states, the voters will register their decision on such diverse topics as prohibition — an old favorite — veterans' bonuses, gambling, old-age assistance, schools, bond issues, taxes, legislatures and civil rights.

The New Hampshire electorate will be asked if they approve removing from the state constitution "the provision that the value of money shall be computed in shillings and pence."

Marylanders will be asked to approve a constitutional amendmen to exclude debts resulting from alimony and support decrees from the law prohibiting imprisonment for debt.

A referendum in Arkansas would make it unlawful to permit livestock to run at large on highways.

Daylight Saving

And an Oregon referendum would prohibit daylight time—unless the governor proclaimed it to conform with adjoining states.

An Arkansas proposal would prohibit the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquor in the state, and the possession of more than one quart of such liquor at one time. A similar proposal in Arizona would authorize local option on prohibition.

Oregon "drys" would prohibit the sale of "promotively" advertised liquor, while South Dakotans are being asked to prohibit the sale of food and alcoholic beverages in the same establishment. That proposal was turned down two years ago.

Four states have gambling issues. Massachusetts votes on a referendum for a state lottery which sponsors say would produce $50,000,000 of which $20,000,000 would be used for liberalizing old-age assistance benefits. The remainder would go for prizes.

Both Arizona and California have proposals to legalize gambling, the former under state control, and the latter under a licence system. Montana will vote on legalizing slot machines.

Blame Parents

SALISBURY, South Rhodesia —(CP)— Delegates to the Congress of the Federation of Rhodesian Industries expressed concern about the lack of enthusiasm and ambition of the average youth. One industrialist blamed parents, saying "there is none of the friendship and understanding today that we had with our parents."

SPEAKER AT THE YOUTH RALLY sponsored by the Peterborough Ministerial Association Saturday night at 7.30 is Col. Robert S. Harewood of the Salvation Army, Left. He and his wife, Right, will also speak at the Sunday services in the Army Temple, and at the Central Ontario Divisional Rally on Monday.

Christ Is Way For Youth Rally Topic

Speaker at the Peterborough Minsterial Association's youth rally Saturday night will be Col. Robert S. Harewood, general secretary of the Salvation Army in Canada.

The rally will be held at the Salvation Army Temple at 7.30 p.m.

Col. Harewood is the son of Yorkshire Methodist parents who migrated to West Australia years ago. For five years, he was field secretary for the southern territory of Australia and the next two years as general secretary for the territory.

Musical entertainment for the rally will be provided by timbrelist Alison Harewood, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Harewood; the saxophone band; a choir of male voices, and the Temple Band.

Motto of the rally is "Christ is the way for youth today."

Jury Finds Driver Responsible For Death

LACHUTE, Que., Nov. 3 (CP)—A coroner's court jury Thursday night found Maurice Larocque, 23, of Chute-a-Blondeau, Ont., criminally responsible for the death of Aime Petrucci, 68, of Montreal, in a highway accident Monday, 10 miles west of here.

The jury, under Dr. Jules LaFleur, of LaChute, Argenteuil county coroner, returned its verdict 20 minutes after evidence was heard.

Larocque was taken to St. Jerome, Que., where he will be arraigned today on either a charge of manslaughter or reckless driving.

KEEP CHIMNEYS AND STOVE PIPES CLEAN

Dirty chimneys cut the proper flow of draft and increase fuel consumption. Sooty stove pipes are sure to rust and will have to be replaced. More important still, such conditions increase the fire hazard in your home! So to get the utmost in performance, safety and economy from your heating system, have chimney flues and stove pipes regularly cleaned and inspected. Such forethought is one of the little things that make up "Good Citizenship".

Tie For First In Bethany Public Speaking

BETHANY, Nov. 3—(ENS)—A public speaking contest was held by the pupils of Bethany school in the town hall on Monday night with Murray Smith and Eleanor Rowan tied for first place. Murray Smith's topic "My Motor Trip West" was an interesting account of his recent trip to Saskatchewan. Eleanor Rowan chose "Paper and How It Is Made" for her subject.

Second prize was awarded to Gail Bristow, who spoke on "The Life of Laura Secord." The third prize winner was Phyllis Bristow, who told of "My Experience In A Thunderstorm."

Other contestants, their topics bracketed, were Laverne Morton (John Deere, Machinery Inventor), Joan Morton (My Favorite Book, the Bobsey Twins), Jack Neals (The Horse, My Favorite Animal), Levi McGill (Carriage Shop to Cloverleaf), Janet Bigelow (Queen Victoria), Bobby Ryley (How I Spent My Summer Holidays), Muriel Sheckleton (Safety Rules).

Prizes were donated by the school trustees and were presented by the principal, Lawrence Millson, who thanked the trustees for their interest and all those who assisted in the program.

Judges were Mrs. Robert Sisson, Mrs. Percy Sarginson and Allan Gribble. A. H. Monk acted as chairman. The junior room pupils, accompanied by their teacher, Miss Marilyn Cavano, sang a chorus.

Following the speaking, the annual Hallowe'en party was held with a great number of pupils and their parents and friends appearing in masquerade costumes.

Prizes were awarded for the best dressed gentleman's costume to Mrs. Charles Reynolds; best comic man's costume, Marie Carr; best dressed lady, Mrs. Isabel Fallis; best comic lady, Mansell Wright; best comic couple Allan Beer and Mansell Wright; best dressed junior girl, Brenda Rowan; best dressed boy's costume, Leone Jordan; best comic junior girl, Dianne Bigelow; best comic junior boy, Malcolm Smelt.

A dance wound up a happy evening with music supplied by Miss Betty Waddell, Miss Evelyn Mantle and Levi McGill.

Plans For Roman Villa Set London Officials Fuming

LONDON, Nov. 3 (CP).—Plans for a Roman villa and rugged Canadian scenery right in the heart of London set the city fathers fuming Thursday.

A councillor, Paul Paget, said it would make London a laughing stock.

"At some future time," he told a council meeting at the Guildhall, "it may be thought that we are beating Nero's record and fiddling 15 centuries after Rome was burned."

Paget was objecting to a report sugesting that Ludgate Hill, which links Fleet Street with St. Paul's cathedral, should be dolled up for the 1951 Festival of Britain in these two ways:

1. Construction of a second-century Roman villa as an "educational feature."

2. A temporary office in the form of a railway coach set in Canadian scenery. This would be used to sell camping equipment and to recruit emigrants to Canada.

Councillor W. Connolly asked whether the emigration office would be "a government thing, or is it going to be run by someone like me who wants to sell emigrants a deck-chair to sit in on the boat to Canada?"

After similar disparaging remarks from other officials, the council decided to refer the report back to the planning committee.

Ludgate Hill is part of one of the worst-bombed areas in London. In the last year, a sidewalk cafe and display stands for gardening equipment have done much to brighten the desolate caves and jagged, shattered walls which lead towards St. Paul's.

U.S. Medical Profession Dazed By Amazing Work Of Pseudo Fake

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK —(AP)— The full story of William Renwick MacLeod, the Canadian who successfully practised medicine in the United States for five years without any medical education, is even more amazing than at first appeared.

MacLeod, 37-year-old native of St. Cecile, Que., was arrested last month at the Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., hospital where he was resident physician. It turned out he had no licence, no medical degree, nor even have a high school diploma. He was sentenced Sept. 12 to a year in jail for illegally practising medicine.

His deception had worked for almost five years without harming anybody. It was bizarre because his dollar profits were small compared to the risk, and he worked where the risk of detection was greatest. He not only practised medicine, he married into a medical family. He worked as interne and resident physician at nine hospitals in New Jersey, New York and Connecticut during the last five years. And while a resident usually specializes in one field, MacLeod "specialized" in at least five.

In one hospital he was resident in neuro-psychiatry. In another, surgery. In another, obstetrics and gynaecology. In still another, he specialized in geriatrics, the study of old age.

At the Brooklyn Women's Hospital he delivered hundreds of babies and the superintendent, Miss Miriam Watnick, said "he was a very good doctor and a nice person."

There is no indication MacLeod tried to practise medicine outside hospitals, but in every other respect he tried to live the medical life as fully as possible. He bought many medical books. He married a nurse. His father-in-law is a retired physician.

Inevitably the family came together to talk shop and there was MacLeod holding his own with experts. Mrs. MacLeod said that neither she nor her father ever suspected that her husband had no legitimate medical training.

The nurse and the doctors with whom MacLeod worked in emergency rooms, in surgery, in wards and delivery rooms, thought well of him and respected him professionally. They found his personality engaging. Patients loved the bogus doctor. One credited MacLeod with saving his life after last rites had been administered during a violent asthmatic attack.

Dr. Ralph Richardson, chief of staff at the Bristol Hospital at Bristol, Conn., said: "McLeod was here for a month or so late last year. Generally he assisted in surgery and also delivered babies. We all liked him, thought he was an excellent man and well-trained. As far as I'm concerned, if he gets a legitimate medical degree I'd like to have him back."

MacLeod told prison officials he was born in 1912 in St. Cecile, Que., and had five brothers and two sisters. At an early age he moved with his family to Maine. It was in Maine that he fell in love with medicine and his idol was a country doctor there. He studied the doctor's medical books and all his life acquired more books and read them religiously. In this way and with his experience in the army medical corps he picked up his knowledge of medicine.

He served in the US army from 1936 to 1939 with the medical detachment at Fort Totten, NY, as laboratory technician. He rejoined the army in 1941 and a year later was tripped up while serving as private in the medical training battalion at Camp Barkley, Texas. A court-martial gave him five years for unlawfully practising medicine, but the army took him back in 1944, again in the medical work.

Young Bride Said Missing Since Saturday

TORONTO, Nov. 3 — (CP) — Police said Thursday night they are looking for 22-year-old Freda Jaworski, who disappeared Saturday, just two weeks after her wedding.

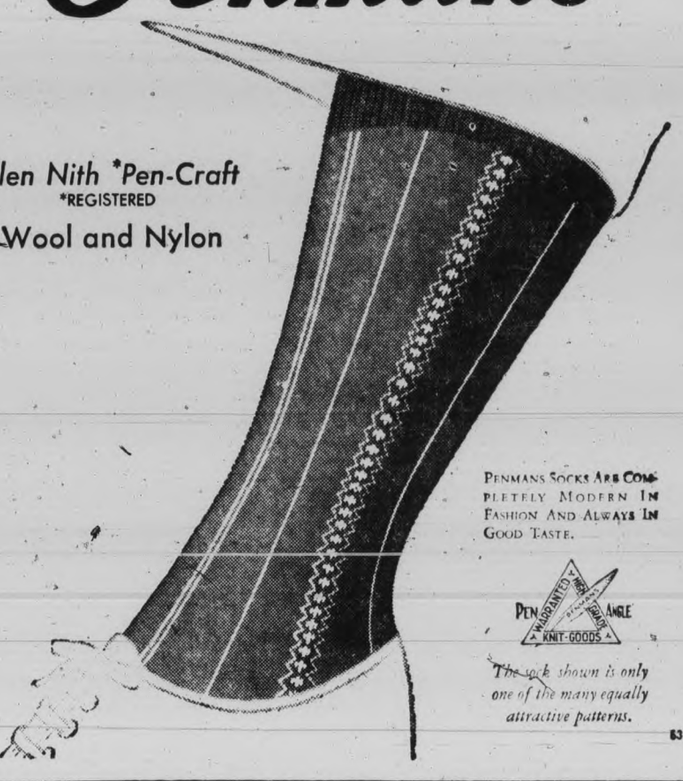
From Levack, near Sudbury, she was en route to visit her parents at Welland Junction when she disappeared, police said.

She drove to Toronto Friday night with a friend of her husband's. The friend said he last saw her when she boarded a street car for Toronto's Union Station early Saturday.

Another friend received a postcard Monday in which Mrs. Jaworski said she found the station closed and was looking for a place to stay until she could get a train to Welland Junction.

Mr. and Mrs. Evariste Lauzon said their daughter never arrived at Welland Junction.

Run Over By Truck



LEVACK, Ont., Nov. 3 (CP)—Floyd Anderson, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson, was killed Thursday when run over by a loaded gravel truck near his home in this mining town 30 miles north of Sudbury. The truck, driven by Armand Beaudry of Chelmsford, Ont., was hauling four tons of gravel to a mine. Police said the child ran into the side of the truck and slipped under the rear wheels.

Trailer Trip Recommended For An Ailing Marriage

By JACK SCOTT.

Today I want to write something a little sentimental about my wife and about wives as a tribe. I never appreciated what a frau goes through until that fateful day when we made the decision to hit the open road in this outsize packing case. That's when my education began.

You know, certain blunt friends of ours, learning of the plans for this trailer tour, were of the flat opinion that it would end in divorce, at the least, and homicide at the worst.

They pointed out all the obvious dangers. No escape from each other or from the kids. We'd have to rely exclusively on each other's company. We'd go bugs in a 20-foot box with two energetic children. And so on. "You will end up barking at each other like chained dogs," one predicted.

Well, we've had a few angry yaps, at that. But on the whole I'd recommend a trailer trip for any ailing marriage and for a number of reasons.

For one thing, it is life in which literally everything is shared, the good times with the bad.

It seems to me that one of the great causes for unrest in most marriages is that the partners never really understand what the other half contributes. Few wives have any real understanding of the strain that goes with most jobs in these worrisome times, never really appreciate the wear and tear on the nerve centres of their bread-winners. And nine out of ten husbands are pathetically ignorant of the energy and devotion it takes to keep a home running, whether it's a mansion of a two-room job on wheels.

Being chained together, in effect, is a drastic solution, but it does produce a new respect for teamwork and for what each of the parties involved contributes to a marriage.

My wife and I agree, and find it curious, that we never felt so close in the sheltered, snug backwaters of the suburbs as we have in hopping from one town to the next, from one minor crisis to another.

The Challenge

I said I wanted my tribute to be to wives in general because I'm convinced that most wives would react to this cockeyed, roaming life as she has. In the first place, being a gypsy just doesn't come naturally to most women and it hasn't come naturally to her.

For me, the trip was like a gold-engraved invitation to make like a beachcomber, as it would be for most men. My razor comes out reluctantly only when some social occasion demands it (and there are mighty few of them when you get beyond the orbit of your home town), a grease-stained sweat shirt, an old pair of flannels and sneakers are my uniform for weeks on end. I revel in the joy of letting myself go to pieces sartorially.

But with a wife — with my wife—this sort of life is not an invitation, but a challenge. She wages a constant, determined war against dirt and dust, struggles endlessly to keep the kids looking their best. The whole instinct is that of the mother wren, to keep the nest spic and span.

Wherever we've stopped in the trailer camps I've seen women at this kind of thing, holding homes together by sheer hard work. There are exceptions, it's true, but most women don't give in.

We've seen some of these caravans, broken down and crammed with children, and you'd think a woman would just say the heck with it and give up. But it seems that the worse the conditions, the more determined women get to fight for respectability and cleanliness. It's a trait that's altogether feminine and altogether wonderful.

When I think of the couples I know who have broken up or are breaking up, folks who have everything for comfortable living, and then compare them with some of these trailer-dwellers, who are making happy marriages out of the grimmest conditions, I wonder if maybe the best tonic for a happy marriage isn't adversity.

Give those failing partnerships a little shot of mutual misery and they might heal pretty rapidly.

Never Still

Since we've been closeted this way for nigh on to six months now, I've had a more or less constant box seat that long run performance known as Women's Work Is Never Done. It's something every young husband ought to know.

A housewife is like a squirrel on one of those circular cages. There's just no end. In a trailer you get a kind of digest version of this ceaseless work, the beds, the meals, the dishes after meals, the cleaning and dusting and washing and polishing, more meals and dishes, the children to be washed and fed and so on and so on. I feel like getting down on my knees and offering thanks that I was created one of these and not one of those.

The performance with the kids, too, is something to exhaust you. We husbands who get our children in small and usually pleasant episodes never know what it takes in psychology, energy, patience and downright selflessness to live with the tots around the clock.

In short, I just had never realized before what a truly remarkable creature I got for a five-dollar wedding ring and a promise. When we get back to civilization I am sure going to be good to her. Why don't you be good to yours?

END OF ASSASSINATION ATTEMPT—One of two men who tried to force their way into Blair House lies in the shrubbery around President Truman's temporary residence. Both men were shot, this one killed. This man was tentatively identified as Grisellio Torresola, of New York. Note the German Luger pistol (arrow) at the man's feet. Three White House guards were wounded in the gun battle.

CCF President Asks Members Protect Gains

SASKATOON, Nov. 3 (CP). — Dr. Carlyle A. King, Saskatchewan president of the CCF party, has called upon CCF supporters to protect the legislative gains made by their provincial government.

In the opening address to the 15th annual convention of the Saskatchewan CCF organization, Thursday, Dr. King warned that the accomplishments of the party could be lost overnight by the indifference of its members. About 330 delegates from 46 constituencies attended.

"If I had a fault to find with the rank-and-file membership of the CCF today," he said, "it is that we are not sufficiently proud of what we have accomplished. Ours is the victory, and we ought to be proud of it. We ought to remember to protect the victory, too."

The last year was one of reorganization and retrenchment within the party, Dr. King said. Surplus money which had been accumulated in the 1949 election campaign was used up, and now the party was back to "financial austerity."

The Saskatchewan CCF had a deficit of $22,488 at the end of the last fiscal year, provincial secretary Ross Brown told the convention.

His financial report showed that for every three dollars received by the provincial party, four dollars were spent.

The party's deteriorating financial position bore a direct relationship to its reduced membership, the report said.

Mr. Brown said, however, that the party had broken even on its operations since May by reducing staff and making other economies.

Veteran Writer Maugham Performing on New York TV

NEW YORK. (AP).—W. Somerset Maugham has started his Broadway personal appearance career with all the quiet and frank philosophy of trader Joe Horn, the character in his hit Broadway play "Rain."

As the commentator on "Teller of Tales," a weekly television show, Maugham is proving himself a master performer as well as a courageous one. Before he signed to appear on the program Wednesday nights, the noted novelist and playwright had never seen television. And he had to overcome the handicap of a stutter.

But he spoke with engaging fluency in his first appearance. Apparently the stutter only appears when he's surrounded by admirers at literary teas and such.

Other than for his appearances as a narrator on television, Maugham is on Broadway to count his royalties from the new motion picture version of three of his short stories under the title of "Trio," a successor to the earlier successful film of four of his stories under the title of "Quartet." Maugham admittedly is interested in royalties.

When asked about his current labors in New York, he said: "You remember when Charles Dickens came to New York, and they said to him, accusingly: 'You money grubber!!! Well, it's true."

Maugham emphasizes the uncertain character of an artist's income, be he actor, writer, musician, painter or sculptor. He estimates he has made more than $3,000,000 before taxes from his novels, short stories, movies and plays.

"However, I averaged only $500 a year during the first 10 years that I was writing."

Maugham who was born in 1874, has written short stories for 34 years and novels for 33 years.

"I am concentrating on being a television performer now," he said, "and I am not working on any more short stories. As you can see, I am just idling."

Curiously, Maugham's television programs are compelling him to break a strict personal rule which he has long observed. That is a determination not to reread any of his works once he is finished with them and placed them in the hands of his publishers.

Man Pleads Innocent In Investment Case

TORONTO, Nov. 3 (CP)—Lem R. Brooks, 59, pleaded innocent Thursday to a charge that he acted as investment counsellor without being registered with the Ontario Securities Commission.

Brooks is president of Styvesant-North, Ltd.

The charge was laid after a letter distributed to brokers and newspapers in July, 1949. Brooks' lawyer claimed there was no evidence the letter gave any advice to buy or sell stock to anyone.

The lawyer claimed it was "sent out as information to brokers and to keep up contact with brokers."

The case is continuing.

Opens Hospital

ST. MARYS, Ont., Nov. 3 (CP) —Ontario Minister of Health, MacKinnon Phillips, officially opened the St. Marys Memorial Hospital Thursday afternoon before some 300 persons. Representatives from surrounding townships, London, Stratford and St. Marys, representatives of hospital and medical profession from various parts of Western Ontario, and local and district service clubs witnessed the ceremony.

Fatally Injured

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 3 (CP)—William Johnstone, 37, of Windsor, was fatally injured Thursday when he was struck in the chest by an accidental shotgun blast. Johnstone was struck when Robert Zorgit, swinging around to shoot at a pheasant which flew from a ditch, accidentally discharged his gun.

Ex-Mayor Dies

TORONTO, Nov. 3 (CP) — Ebenezer Wilkie Johnston, 66, former mayor of Keewatin, Ont., died here Thursday from a heart seizure. He had been employed by the Lake of the Woods Milling Company for 40 years. He had come to Toronto for the funeral of his brother, Andrew Brown Johnston.

Suspended Sentence

OAKVILLE, Nov. 3 (CP)—Pte Roland J. Paskar won a suspended sentence Thursday on a speeding charge when he told the court his three-year-old son asked him to hurry on their nightly trip to see a train pass through Oakville.

Business Block In Bancroft Hit By Fierce Brief Fire Two Stores, Flats Damaged

BANCROFT, Nov. 3 (ENS)—A brief but fierce fire early Thursday night damaged two stores and upper apartments in the Hastings St. business block of Bancroft. The fire started in the rear of Donald Wilson's clothing store and rapidly spread toward the front. The store was practically destroyed and the stock that was not burnt by the flames was ruined by water and smoke. Damage to Wilson's store and its contents is estimated at $10,000.

The 38-year-old proprietor was overcome by smoke when he rushed into the flaming building to get his account books and cash register. He was rescued by two unidentified men and was taken by ambulance to the Red Cross hospital.

A short time after he revived he lapsed into unconsciousness again, but today he is much improved. Dr. O. W. Anderson of Bancroft gave him medical attention.

Cause of the fire is still not known.

Wilson had closed his shop for the day and was on his way home when informed that it was ablaze. He immediately rushed inside to salvage what he could and collapsed.

Other Shop Damaged

Heavy damage was also caused to the "Treasure Shop," next door, owned by Mrs. G. W. Jones. A considerable amount of her chinaware was broken and there was also water damage.

Overhead two couples were forced to evacuate their apartments and take out their household furnishings to save them from the combined effects of water and smoke.

William Lavalley, 25, and his wife were the victims of bad luck. The young couple had just moved in Thursday and they carried no insurance. The other apartment was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Trotter.

Both Lavalley and Trotter are employed at the Department of Highways garage in Bancroft.

Quick Work

Villagers had high praise for the quick work of the volunteer fire brigade. At one time it looked as though the whole block would be destroyed by the flames but the firemen brought it under control in less than half an hour. The block is owned by Rosa Viscoff of Peterborough.

Premier Frost Will Lay Foundation Stone

Hon. Leslie M. Frost, Premier of Ontario, will lay the foundation stone of Peterborough's city hall on Friday, Dec. 1 during the hour between 3 and 4 p.m.

Plans for this event of the city's municipal centenary are well in hand, City Clerk E. A. Outram reported today. Following the course of protocol the invitation to the Hon. Mr. Frost was conveyed from the council by Hon. Harold R. Scott. Those preliminaries of acceptance are completed.

A reception is being planned for Premier Frost after four o'clock, and a separate social affairs for Mrs. Frost by the wives of the members of the city council and others. Dinner at the Empress Hotel concludes the engagement of Peterborough's neighboring government leader from Lindsay. Hon. Mr. Frost was unable to remain for the commencement program at the Collegiate Institute.

Other members of the provincial cabinet from this district and also members of Parliament are being invited with representatives of the National Trust Company, executors of the will of the late W. G. Morrow, whose bequest of half a million dollars made the new city hall possible. It is understood that the city hall event is the last of the series listed for this year of the 100th anniversary of the incorporation of Peterborough as a town.

Labor Rally Lacks Support

Labor's bid to enter four aldermanic candidates in the next election fell flat on its first try Thursday night when only 11 members of the Peterborough and District Labor Council showed up at the market hall.

By 7.30 p.m., seven members were there; by 8, eleven had showed up, but one left, cutting the number down to 10. At 8.30, the group disbanded. Officially, the meeting was called off because of poor attendance.

Lindsay Teachers Get $120 Bonus

LINDSAY, Nov. 3—Teachers in the Lindsay schools will receive a bonus of $120. between now and December 31, to meet the current cost of living.

This bonus was the result of a board decision following a suggestion by the teachers for a change in the salary schedule, because of the recent rise in the cost of living. The Board will change at the end of the year and the members are only able to make resolutions covering 1950. Consequently, the board was not able to raise salaries and instead granted this bonus.

ELECTRICAL WORKERS' PROBLEMS in Canada and Great Britain were compared at a meeting open to public and unionists on Thursday evening. Act Of Spite Brings Arrest

An act of spite against her cousin landed Isabel Godfrey, 23, of Huntsville in police court today on a charge of false pretences where she was given one year's suspended sentence.

She was charged with representing herself as her cousin, Kathleen Murphy, to get two suitcases and a quantity of clothing owned by her cousin from a railway check room. She signed a slip as K. Murphy.

She was arrested at her home near Huntsville last weekend by Detective-Sergeant W. A. (Bud) Clarke and Constable Allen Edmison.

She had obtained the check ticket when she borrowed her cousin's coat which had the girl's wallet containing the ticket in a pocket.

The two girls had been travelling together from Huntsville to Hamilton, and then intended coming on to Peterborough, checking their suitcases before them. The Murphy girl stayed in Hamilton while the Godfrey girl rode on to Peterborough where she collected the suitcase.

"I didn't mean to steal them. I wanted to get even with her," Miss Godfrey said. "They wouldn't fit me anyway."

"You must realize this is a very foolish thing to do," Magistrate W. R. Philps, K.C., said.

"I was supposed to be married in a couple of weeks, but now I'm not sure if I will be," Miss Godfrey said.

The magistrate said he was going to put the girl on suspended sentence because "it looks more like foolishness than anything else."

Youths in Liquor Cases

Pleading guilty in police court today to a charge of obtaining liquor while under the age of 21, Donald Weatherson, 20, Warkworth, was fined $10 and costs in police court today.

Arthur Makepiece, 20, Comber, Ont., pleaded guilty to a charge of having liquor illegally in his car and was fined $15 and costs.

Industry In Same Hands British Unionist Charges

Alarm over the outcome of nationalization of industry in Great Britain was expressed Thursday night by Frank Haxall, assistant general secretary of the Electrical Trade Unions of Britain. Mr. Haxall, a recent fraternal delegate to the United Electrical Workers annual Canadian convention, spoke to about 100 union members and members of the public at the Brock Street Summer Gardens. UE locals 524 and 527 sponsored his visit.

A trade unionist since he was 16, Mr. Haxall had two main criticisms of the present nationalized industries:

One, "the same people" are running the industries as ran them before they were taken over from private enterprise; the ETU wants the unions to be directly represented on the managing body of the particular industry.

Hasn't Changed Hands

According to Mr. Haxall, the Labor Government claims the workers haven't the qualifications to run their industry; they haven't the technical education. "It hasn't really changed hands," he told the Peterborough audience, "with the exception of one or two people on central or area boards."

The speaker's second objection was "compensation to the previous owners is so great that it is a burden on the nationalized industry." While not advocating outright expropriation, he said the compensation must be scaled down.

Mr. Haxall was bitter over the recent sentence of a month's imprisonment on British gas workers who insisted on striking. It is true the legislation has been in effect since the beginning of the war, he said, but the pledge of Ernest Bevin, then minister of labor, was that the legislation would be repealed at the end of the war.

"It is now five years since the war ended but the legislation still exists," he said.

Another Labor government policy Mr. Haxall strongly attacked was the policy of "wage freeze." Organized labor agreed to help in the country's post-war drive for increased production and they were prepared to agree to a wage freeze. But with this stipulation, that the workers be given a "fair share" of the increased profits, if any, that came with increased production.

Wage Freeze a Fallacy

"By 1948 it was absolutely clear that the whole policy of wage freeze, as far as the workers were concerned was a fallacy; profits were reaching unprecedented heights."

At the recent convention it was decided to abolish this policy and the same thing happened at the Labor party convention shortly afterwards.

Mr. Haxall made a strong plea for peace. British workers know something about war and don't want another dose of it, he said.

"It would appear from the press that if it weren't for Russia there would be peace. Russia, they say, has now become an imperialist nation."

This view was received with considerable scepticism by British workers, he said, because of a long association with Soviet workers. A recent delegation from the ETU visited the Soviet and found that the slogan "peace" was displayed even at public entertainments.

It takes many years of propaganda to condition a people for war he said. The Soviet government couldn't hope to carry the people with them by reversing this sentiment overnight.

T. P. Davies, president of Local 524, made a presentation to Mr. Haxall on behalf of the District Council. C. R. Sullivan, area representative, was in the chair.

Businesses Fail When They Do Not Serve

Ninety-five per cent. of people who fail in business fail because they do not provide the service to the public they are supposed to be selling, George W. Allen, Toronto, sales and advertising counsellor told members of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce at its first meeting of the fall at the Empress Hotel, Thursday night.

Pointing the way to success in business, Mr. Allen said business must have a sincere desire to provide a service to their customers.

"Most of us stop when service begins to hurt us," he said. Men who fail in business go only part way in providing a service. When it begins to cost the business man something to satisfy a customer, he is unwilling to lose that money. He fails to realize he will reap more in the long run by spending a little money in the present to satisfy a customer.

Most Are Honest

Business men often worry about being swindled by unscrupulous customers taking advantage of a generous service policy of a business. But surveys have revealed, he said, that only two per cent of the population are dishonest in doing business. It was worth being cheated by that two per cent to build up a steady patronage by the other 98 per cent, he commented.

Failures in business ventures fail because "they don't show trust in the people they are doing business with". A sincere desire to serve the public must come from the heart he said.

Too many men in business are willing to give service only to those customers who look as if they had money. A woman with very little who comes into a store and buys a bag of potatoes and some other bulky parcels is left to get out of the store as best she can. But clerks and managers trip over themselves to cater to a customer who looks prosperous.

People are looking for favorable attention and they will come back to the store which gives it to them, he stated.

Keeping Customers

Business men spend time and money on advertising campaigns and attractive store fronts, but do little to keep a customer once he has entered the store. Owners of businesses don't investigate to see why the customers they had don't come back.

People selling something to the public must give their customers confidence in the product they are selling and be prepared to back up that confidence. No head of a business should lose touch with his customers by hiding in an office at the back of a store.

"Success is not built by mechanical salesmanship. It must come from the heart," Mr. Allen declared.

The speaker was introduced by Rod Macdonald and thanked by Joe Jebson. P. D. Scollard, president of the Chamber, was chairman.

A list of 21 men was presented to the members by a nominating committee which the Chamber approved to stand for election in December to 15 positions on the Board of Directors. Of these some are already directors: P. D. Scollard, Ross Thompson, Ted McKay, Bert Austin, Gordon Dobbin, J. E. Girven, John Madden, Charley Pilon, Bob Peirson and Jim Dutton Jr.

The other members who are standing for election are Percy Dallen, Ernie Young, Don Lewis, Ben Myers, Ken Dalrymple, Gord McGavin, Vert Reynolds, Charley Huffman, George Cheattle, E. G. Baker, and R. B. Arnold.

Truck Man Sues For $35 Wage Gets It, Less $12

A squabble over payment of wages was settled in police court Thursday by ordering George H. Jeffrie, Lakefield to pay $35 wages he admitted owing to David Byers, less $12.95 gas and repair bills Jeffrie claimed.

Byers testified he worked for Jeffries as a truck driver and had $35 in wages coming to him.

Cross-questioned by Jeffrie about an incident Oct. 1, Byers admitted he had been out driving in the truck assigned to him with Isaac Taylor, another driver.

He admitted gas was bought and signed for, but said he had refused to sign for the gas and Taylor had signed the bill amounting to $3.95.

"But," he said "there's no point in bringing all that in. I was acquitted of that before. All I want is my 35 bucks."

Jeffries suggested that he had refused to sign the gas bill because he knew he was not supposed to take the truck out on Sunday.

"No," Byers answered. "I had it out lots of other times."

'Anyone Could Do It'

"Do you remember you were in someone's yard and creased up a fender of the red truck?" Jeffrie asked Byers.

"Oh, anyone can do that," Byers answered. "I couldn't help it."

Byers admitted he had "a few beers" Oct. 1 and drove to Curve Lake with Taylor. Jeffrie said as far as he could find out, Taylor and Byers bought some gas during the morning, drove to Curve Lake and then returned to Lakefield. There they had an argument about where they were going to next. Near the Lakefield cemetery, Taylor took the keys from Byers and threw him out of the truck.

Ended In Curve Lake

Later the truck ended up in the lake at Curve Lake and had to be towed out. Jeffrie said damage to the truck amounted to $131.46 and probably more. He said Byers was responsible for this damage even though he had not been driving the truck at the time because the truck was under his care and he had no authority to drive it off the job except to and from work.

Jeffrie also claimed the price of the gas required to fill the tank after the Oct. 1 episode.

"This is a type of civil case that can be brought into this court, but is seldom done," Magistrate Philp said.

He said he thought Byers could not be held responsible for damage done to the truck after he had been forcibly ejected from the truck. He allowed Jeffrie $9 for the fender crease made earlier and the $3.95 gasoline bill, even though Byers had been careful not to sign it.

Obituary

LAWRENCE T. McKIEVER

Lawrence Thomas McKiever, 15, of 240 Munroe Ave., died suddenly Thursday evening at his home. He was the son of Justin McKiever and Helen Hanrahan, and has lived in Peterborough for the past four years. He came here with his parents from Douro.

He suffered from rheumatic fever as a boy and the disease left him with a heart condition.

He attended Immaculate Conception School, and at the time of death was in grade 8.

He leaves his parents, two sisters, Mrs. Ralph Van Allen (Hilda) of arnia and Bonnie at home, and one brother, Edward, at home.

The funeral will take place Saturday from his late residence to Immaculate Conception Church where requiem mass will be said at 9 a.m. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Douro.

Two Youths Told In Court To Get Work

"At your age you should be considering something else besides trying to get by without work," Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., told two youths in police court today when he found them guilty of vagrancy.

Constable Dennis Traynor testified he arrested the youths, Kenneth Moher, 16, of 295 Lake St., and Raymond Lester, 20, of 290 Queen St., in the early hours of Tuesday morning, near the CPR station.

He first saw Lester running from the station under the Jackson Park bridge beside the station building. He walked over to the edge of the bridge and saw Lester crouching on his hands and knees beside the bank of the creek.

He asked Lester why he had run from the station building and Lester answered: "I don't know."

Nothing Missing

He took Lester into the station and into the washroom where Lester's suit coat was hanging on a door. The man in charge of the station said as far as he knew nothing was missing from the station. Lester had been hanging about the station about an hour.

The officer checked the spot where he saw Lester crouching and found two bottles of beer. In the creek water close by he found five more bottles of beer.

He said he also saw Moher there, but he disappeared.

After putting Lester in the police cell, he searched for Moher and found him walking on Aylmer St. near Lake St. He said Moher didn't give any satisfactory answer to why he was out at that time of night.

Neither Lester nor Moher offered any defence in their trials. They both said they weren't working.

"I would suggest," said the Magistrate, "that both you boys get jobs. I don't think you can say it's impossible to get jobs these days."

He fined Moher $5 and costs and Lester $10 and costs.

Fireball Startles Night Sky Over County

A large number of Peterborough county residents saw the "fireball" flash through the sky at 7.35 p.m. Thursday night. Few knew what it was and a number of calls were put into the Examiner.

The phenomenon was seen by people in northern New York State and as far east as Quebec city. A "fireball" is described by experts as the brightest type of meteor.

It apparently travelled from south to north and either buried itself in the north country or burned itself out in mid air. Only two meteors are known to have fallen in Canada in recent years.

Wide Speculation

There was wide speculation among laymen on what caused the flash. A woman riding in a taxi in the southend thought it was lightning — "a green-white flash." A hydroman said it looked like an exploding transformer.

A Bancroft telephone operator reported to the Examiner he saw a great flash of light and suspected it was caused by a meteor.

Apparently people in the Peterborough district have less high flown imaginations than some of their southern neighbors. Nobody enquired if it was the flash from an atomic bomb.

Hope To Sell 30,000 Poppies

Schools and factories were canvassed today with poppies in the preliminary step of the annual Canadian Legion (Branch 52, Peterborough) Poppy Day which will be held Saturday. In many of the factories the canvass was made by veterans of both world wars.

Albert Mason, chairman of the Poppy Day committee, said that he expects between 20,000 and 30,000 small poppies will be sold. In addition Branch 52 will have nearly 8,000 large poppies and 2,000 car stickers.

This year the local branch hopes to better the 1949 total of $3,507.12 in their annual drive. The money contributed by the public gives employment to disabled veterans of both world wars, and financial help to widows and orphans of veterans. Locally Poppy Day helps to swell the welfare fund of Branch 52. This fund is spent on veterans and their dependents who are financially up against it.

Sunday night the annual Remembrance day church parade will be held to St. James' United Church. Members of the Branch 52 (men), Branch 452 (women) and the Ladies Auxiliary will fall in at the Legion at 6.15.

John Edmison New President of Junior Farmers — Who Should Pay For Soil Conservation Is Forum Subject — Farmer Fined $250 For Cutting Trees Without Permit — Demand For Sheep Greatly Exceeds Supply — Holsteins Average $1,072 At All-Canadian Auction.

John Edmison, of Smith township, is the new president of Peterborough Junior Farmers' Club. He was elected at a meeting of seventeen directors Thursday night.

The other officers for 1950-51 are: Reg Ferguson, vice-president; Miss Elaine Savigny, secretary; Jack Matchell, treasurer; and Miss Blanche Quinn is reporter.

Mr. Edmison succeeds Burritt Mann who has been president of the club in a year marked by broadened activities and helpful contribution to the rural community, especially in support of the boys' and girls' clubs which the Juniors sponsored.

The annual dinner of the Junior organization is Tuesday, Nov. 7, at the Empress Hotel, at 6.30 p.m. The guest speaker will be Dr. G. E. Reaman, head of the English department of the Ontario Agricultural College. Demand for tickets was reported encouraging. Juniors are hoping that parents of the younger club members this season will bring them along.

Cost Of Conservation

"Who Should Pay for Soil Conservation?", Farm Forum subject Monday, Nov. 6, covers a lot of ground, inviting discussion from the general to the particular. It ranges in scope from one man's farm to the nation's agriculture. A committee appointed by the Ontario legislature studied this problem in a broad survey of the province a year ago. Its report has been published. Recently this same question of land use was considered by representatives of the Ontario Department of Agriculture in this district. They recognized a practical phase of it in how they can make this project of soil conservation more attractive and appealing to the average farmer. It is a complicated, important, personal and national matter.

In the personal aspect of it, one group of farmers contend that the cost of efficient maintenance of their land should be borne by their industry of farming. They say that with adequate income from their investment of money, labor, skill and equipment, comprising their entire industrial plant, they are quite capable of attending to the effective use of their land.

That farmer cites the analogy of manufacturing business, which must make a profit if it is to survive. The year's operations, normally at least, should provide for upkeep and reserves as well as the other requisites of a going concern.

Recalling the experience of the decade of depression, these farmers say they have no alternative but to let their land, equipment, buildings, livestock deteriorate and become run down, when their cost of production exceeds its returns. That type of farmer knows the story of land use, the necessity of accurate bookkeeping, and the other deails of his business. If he has to operate at a loss, in spite of his economies, long hours, and the depriving of his family of the way of life common to the general community, he is left without the means of maintaining the fertility of his soil, of which the nation regards him as a trustee. That is an adequate statement of his attitude which gives a primary rating to markets, and the returns they provide him.

SCRAMBLE FOR SHEEP

Norm McConkey is ready to endorse the reported statement of J. W. Graham, Ottawa, of the federal Department of Agriculture's production service, that the demand for breeding sheep is "terrific."

"I think that if I had 1,000 ewes I could have sold them in the last month," N.W. said. "There were three men here Saturday from Bruce Mines, Madawaska and Sturgeon Falls who were particularly keen about buying. The Madawaska man was insistent that my wife should agree to show at the Royal. Finally, he set out to get me, and I met him on the way to the house from a field. I thought I'd never get rid of him, especially when he offered me twice what they were worth."

Looking back into the news columns reporting Mr. Graham, the following are salient points: "From coast to coast breeding ewe stocks have been liquidated to an all-time low. I have an order on my desk for 500 head from an American source, and it can't be filled... Stocks of sheep in Canada have slipped from about 4,000,000 during World War II to about 2,000,000. I think it is the lowest in 29 years. Stocks in the USA are down from 60 million to 30 million.

"Canada normally consumes about 100 million lbs. of wool a year. In some years she has been able to produce 20 million lbs. I doubt whether she will produce more than 7,900,000 lbs. this year."

✦ ✦ ✦

CUT TREES WITHOUT PERMIT

A Norfolk county farmer was recently fined $250 and costs for cutting down young trees on nine acres of his property without permission from the county conservation commission.

This commission was set up in 1947 and 1948 in bylaws defining its authority which received the approval of the Minister of Lands and Forests. Ray Corner, the defendant, admitted to Monroe Landon, chairman of the Commission, that he should have obtained a permit, according to the evidence for the prosecution. Some 30,000 feet of pine were included in the operations which were carried on contrary to the county council's bylaw.

Commissioner Landon said that on 10 square yards he had counted 23 white oak stumps and seven white pine, all below the legal diameter and height. He testified that men were engaged in cutting "all tree growth" on some seven acres. Trees varied in diameter from one inch to eight to 10 inches.

1950 WOOL PRICES

"I know that some of you farmers own sheep," said W. H. J. Tisdale, assistant general manager of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, in his talk to the members of Peterborough District Co-operative Services last Friday night.

"You should all have them. They are going to pay us in the next three or four years."

This year at shearing time, the going price was 30c to 35c. Before all the wool was out of growers' hands we were putting out settlements at 40 to 42 cents. The price kept on going up. Since then settlements have been up to 50 cents. If the growers did not have a co-operative, the price of wool to them might have been 35 cents or less."

Must Make Profit

A co-operative was a form of big business, Mr. Tisdale said. It signified the desire of a group of people to get their products to market in better shape, and receive more of the consumer's dollar out of such products. On the other hand it was intended to supply people with various kinds of goods as economically as possible. But it wasn't any different from any other business.

"It is not the be all and end all in the way of solving our problems in marketing and purchasing."

A co-operative business must show a profit, Mr. Tisdale said, and it must be financially sound. Those were the aims of any individual man in business. He had to be looking ahead. He would probably have to go to the bank and borrow, but he had more than just the year's outlook. "That is something we must emphasize."

Stimulus of Competition

"We handle 70 per cent of the Canadian wool clip, and I don't think we want the other 25 or 35 per cent. We'd get too lazy if we had it all in our own hands."

Mr. Tisdale said the wool firm in Peterborough of G. Whitaker & Co. was alert, friendly competitors. "I regard Mr. Gordon Monkman, their manager, as a good friend. That company provides necessary competition. It helps to keep us on our toes. I don't believe I am in favor of a compulsory market."

Speaking of mistakes, Mr. Tisdale recalled an experience in about the third year of the Wool Growers, who are now 30 years in business, in which advance payments to producers were made too large in what looked like a good market.

"We had to go to shippers and ask them if they'd mind giving us back some of that money because we had paid them too much. We pretty nearly didn't weather that storm. If we weren't good friends of our banker, I don't think we would have. We lost a lot of shippers, and took time to get them back. We learned that lesson in our third year."

In sound financing, Mr. Tisdale stressed his advice: Be sure and keep back enough money from payments for your reserves, for contingencies.

"Today we are doing around $2,000,000 business. Our fixed assets, property, reserves stand in the neighborhood of $500,000."

"Whose money is it? It's not mine. It belongs to about 10,000 sheep men from coast to coast. It is their capital working for them. If I am working for them, my main job is to keep up our reserves, keep our financial position sound, and use our capital wisely."

Mr. Tisdale said that after 32 years "we have reached the place where perhaps we don't need anything further in the way of reserves. In the last three years it has been possible to rebate a cent a pound to each of our shippers. That money is entered to the credit of their accounts."

✦ ✦ ✦

FARM WOMEN'S VALUE

Of course it is invidious to equate the average farmer's wife in dollars, leaving cents entirely out such an arbitrary reckoning. However, Dr. Margaret S. McCready, director of Macdonald Institute, Guelph, quoted from U.S. agricultural statistics, an approximation of $63,000 to $65,000 over the rural wife's lifetime. It was rather significant, she said, that no value was placed on the farmer.

Other figures from the same source indicated that a farm operated by a bachelor had much lower economic worth than one operated in partnership of man and wife.

Dr. McCready was guest speaker at the annual dinner of Elgin county Junior Farmers.

The farm home, she said, should keep pace with its industrial plant, its buildings, field husbandry, livestock and working equipment.

"The reason women sometimes weep is because often they find it difficult to work out their economic problems alone. If we believe that our homes are the nation's biggest business, then our men should realize that it is vital business for them to know more about the home and home economics".

Dr. McCready ventured a prediction that some day young men may attend some of the classes in home economics in Macdonald Hall.

BOB NIXON IN EUROPE

Robert Nixon, son of Hon. Harry Nixon, guest speaker at Brant county Junior Farmers' dinner, related some of his observations in a tour of western Europe this summer. To watch the change in farming methods from train windows offered many surprises.

"Near Paris, most of the farms were modern, well equipped with latest machinery. Farther on I saw men working in the fields with scythes. Still farther to the east, they were threshing with flails. In northern Italy the harvesters in small fields seemed almost to cut each stalk separately."

In England he was impressed by the extent of land taken up by hedges between fields. Mr. Nixon regarded it as a wasteful arrangement.

HOLSTEINS AVERAGE $380

Sale of 56 Holsteins at Glanworth Oct. 27 realized $21,372 for an average of $380. Top price was $535 paid by R. W. Nixon of Ilderton, Ont., for a five-year-old cow. B. J. Ver Hoven of Detroit bought seven head for $2,910. Richard E. Powers of Leslie, Mich. bought eight head for $2,895.

71 HOLSTEINS AVERAGE $1,072

Holstein breeders must have been highly encouraged by the All-Canadian sale of 71 head for a total of $76,150 at Toronto CNE Coliseum. Top price was $6,000 paid by Wm. J. Murphy, Lindsay, for a seven months bull calf from the J. J. E. McCague herd, Alliston. It was reported that Mr. Murphy bought Glenafton Highmark for a foreign breeder. He was sired by the six times All-Canadian Marksman.

Second highest price was $5,400 for Houckholme Majestic bought by Mrs. B. M. Hallward, North Hatley, Que., from J. E. Houck, Brampton. Top price female was Raymondale Abbekerk Best, bought by C. J. Cerswell, Beeton, from Raymondale Farm, Vaudreuil, for $3,600. Mrs. Hallward paid second top female price of $3,000 for a 12 months heifer bought from Brown Corporation, La Tuque, Que.

Premier Walter Jones, Prince Edward Island, drew good prices for several animals he consigned to the sale. A five year old bull Browns Master Darkey went to C. M. Bottema and Son, Indianapolis, Ind., at $2,700 and Hamilton Fistrict Cattle Breeders Association, Hannon, Ont., paid $2,250, for Abegweit Jupiter, nine-months-old son of Darkey.

Nine bulls averaged $2,441; 11 milking females $931; 47 bred heifers $754; two open yearlings $812. Oxford Holstein Breeders' Association paid $2,000 to Richard Schleissner, Jerseyville, Ont., for a son of Ajax; and Eastern Ontario Cattle Breeders' Breeding Association, Kemptville $1,100 to Graymar Farms, Oakville, for a six-months-old son of the $10,000 Milord, Dr. Jose Figueroa.

CANADIAN HOLSTEINS WIN IN CHILE

Holsteins of Canadian breeding won five of the eleven bull classes and six of the seven female classes at the National Exhibition of Chile held recently at Santiago. Canadian bred females were named grand, reserve grand and junior champions and a Canadian bull was junior champion. There were 536 Black and Whites entered. These were roughly half of North American origin and half of European origin, the two types being judged separately by George M. Clemons, secretary of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada.

The grand champion cow in the North American section was Glenafton Laurel Phoebe bred by J. J. E. McCague, Alliston and owned by Jose Barros. She was also a member of the winning get-of-sire by the Canadian bull Montvic Rag Apple Marksman. Reserve grand champion was Strathaven Sovereign Annette, bred by Jas. R. Henderson, Portsmouth, Ont., and who accompanied her noted sire Sonniwilk Sovereign when he went to Chile two years ago. Another Henderson bred heifer, Strathaven Inspiration Annette, was junior champion. She is by Hays' Inspiration and out of a Sonniwilk Sovereign daughter.

Sons and daughters of Glenafton Rag Apple Alert, who went to Chile from R. H. McIlquham, Lanark, Ont., and J. J. E. McCague, after winning two All-Canadian awards, were prominent in the junior classes, two sons winning their classes and a number of his progeny standing near the top. An Alert son, born in Chile, was named junior champion.

The champion Chilean born female was out of a cow bred by Clarence Hetherington, Brownsville, Ont. In the aged cow class four of the top five animals were Canadian bred.

SEES COUNTY A DESERT

Waterloo county council will make a soil erosion tour of the county Nov. 8. It is being arranged by E. L. McLoughry, agricultural representative, who told the council that unless an intensive campaign of reforestation, water conservation and proper management is begun, the county will be a desert in 25 years.

The council decided to look over their municipal domain, investigate the need of reforestation and also the advisibility of establishing farm ponds.

WINS TORONTO TRIP

Orland Brown of Asphodel, top boy of the local tractor club, gets a free trip to Toronto. Thursday Nov. 15, with all the other county tractor club winners of the province, as guest of the Massey-Harris Co. Their headquarters will be the King Edward Hotel, and the day's program includes the annual boys' and girls' dinner at the Royal York.

✦ ✦ ✦

ENTER NATIONAL FINALS

Murray Pimmett and Francis Walsh, of Otonabee have a plush week in store for them beginning Sunday, Nov. 12. They are two of the 116 farm club winners from across Canada who have qualified for the national finals in Toronto Monday, Nov. 13.

The Peterborough team won the Ontario inter-county judging competition in beef cattle at OAC Guelph several weeks ago. National titles in Candian boys' and girls' club work for 1950 will be decided when the provincial winners come together in Toronto on the day preceding the opening of the Royal Winter Fair.

Robert T. Bell, assistant agricultural representative, has been keeping his beef club finalists in competition fettle this week in judging workouts on classes of animals from selected herds. One of the places they visited was the Col. McAlpine farm, and they had a similar engagement at the Don Head Aberdeen-Angus farm today.

The two boys are leaving Saturday afternoon for Toronto, and report Sunday at the Royal York Hotel for breakfast. In the afternoon there is a sightseeing tour, followed by buffet supper and reception at the hotel, where they will stay while in Toronto.

Monday is the day of the finals, ending with dinner and friendship dance.

Breakfast is scheduled for 7.45 Tuesday. At 9 a.m. the juniors leave for a tour of packing plants. In the afternoon they go to the Royal Winter Fair, and at 6 p.m. they attend the agricultural dinner at which Lord Beaverbrook will be the guest speaker, and wind up the day as guests of the Winter Fair at the evening horse show.

John Fisher will be the speaker at the Wednesday breakfast; then a tour of Massey-Harris Co. plant, with lunch. They have the afternoon to spend at the Fair. At 5:30 is a main event of the week's program, the 20th annual boys' and girls' club dinner. Foster Hewitt will be the speaker. After dinner the club members will attend the Ice-Capades show.

Thursday is a tour of the Niagara-Hamilton district. In the afternoon the boys visit International Harvester plant and the girls go to Mercury Mills. Dinner in Hamilton; then back to Toronto, and take sleepers to Ottawa.

Breakfast Friday is at the Chateau Laurier; tour of Ottawa, and at noon they will be received at Rideau Hall by the Governor-General Viscount Alexander and Lady Alexander. Luncheon at the Chateau Laurier is at 12:45 p.m. with Dr. J. G. Taggart, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, as guest speaker. In the afternoon the young folks make a tour of the Parliament Buildings. The Ontario and western teams return to the Chateau where they have an hour in the swimming pool, dinner, bowling, and the week ends at 10 p.m. in sleeping cars on the homeward trip to Toronto.

James D. Moore of Ottawa, public relations officer of the Canadian council on club work, reports 68 boys and 48 girls comprising the touring youngsters. Expenses are paid largely by various industries who are interested in this phase of the club activities of Canadian boys and girls.

Young Farmers Compete In Tractor Training Tests

TOPS HOLSTEIN SALE AT $6,000—J. J. E. McCague, Alliston, Ont., (left) received $6,000 from Wm. J. Murphy, Lindsay, Ont. (centre) for this seven months old Holstein bull calf Glenafton Highmark, at the All-Canadian Sale in Toronto. This was the highest price of the sale in which 71 head brought an average of $1,072 and 22 sold for at least $1,000. At the halter is Mort Butchers, herdsman for Mr. McCague.

Seek To Reduce Delays In NZ Seaports

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N. Z. — (CP) — Before the war overseas vessels could turn around in New Zealand ports in less than three weeks. Now they spend an average of more than seven weeks on the New Zealand coast and the increased delay is one of the major problems of a Royal Commission set up to examine all aspects of waterfront work in New Zealand.

Even in the past year the average time spent in port has increased from 40 to 51 days. It is part of a broader problem. Ever since the war the waterfronts have been the most disturbed section of the New Zealand industrial scheme. There have been constant disputes and stoppages, repeated demands by longshoremen for increased pay, and of course the ever-longer delay in turn-around.

The dispute culminated in two waterfront strikes recently, the second of which was openly called by Prime Minister Sidney Holland "part and parcel of the cold war being waged throughout the world."

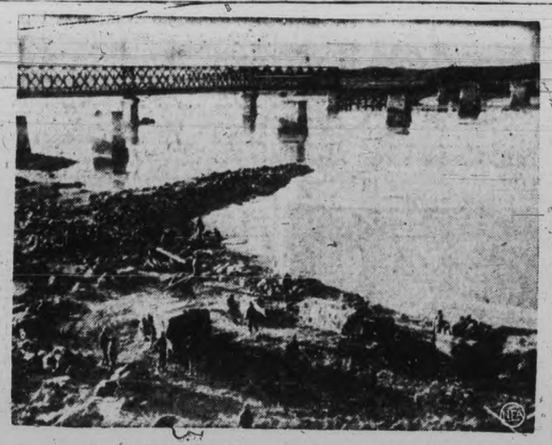
Divergent Views

The Royal Commission will have to judge between widely divergent views. Some interests tend to place the major blame on the watersiders, claiming that they are handling less cargo, causing unnecessary stoppages over trifling grievances, bringing in new restrictive practices, increasing the time spent on breaks for morning and afternoon tea and the like, abusing the "spelling" system under which only part of a gang works while the remainder rests, and show a grave lack of responsibility and goodwill. They allege that among the union leaders are men who constantly break solemn undertakings to abide by agreements.

Unions Reply

The longshoremen on the other hand blame unsuitable equipment and sheds, congestion at the cocks, shortage of railway wagons to handle cargo, delays in removing goods from sheds, and numerous other causes. The waterfront industry commission in its latest report points out that larger vessels bringing heavier cargoes have contributed to the longer time spent in port, and supports the claim that shortage of berthage space, shed accommodation and other facilities to handle cargo, has contributed to the delays.

The Royal Commission will have to decide to what extent these various factors have contributed to the slower turn-round of ships, and will also have the task of recommending ways of restoring harmony to the waterfronts. The slower turn-round and recurrent stoppages have already resulted in shipping companies imposing a surcharge of 7½ per cent on freight to Auckland and other ports are in danger of having a similar impost added. The Auckland surcharge has been temporarily suspended until the Royal Commission's findings are known.



Set-up Different

The existing waterfront set-up differs from that existing in other New Zealand industries. The powerful and militant Waterside Workers' Union has a limited membership and can be entered only by election. Its chief officers are not Communists, though there are Communists holding high office. However, it is affiliated with the Communist-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions.

Members or the union have complete preference in the employment of labor, and non-unionists can be engaged only when no more unionists are available. So powerful is the union that employers almost never engage non-unionists while the union is on strike. The union has won for its members a basic wage higher than that ruling for skilled tradesmen in other industries.

Manitoba Interested In Honey Board

WINNIPEG, Nov. 3 (CP)—F. R. Garland, manager of the Manitoba Co-operative Honey Producers Ltd., said Thursday that Manitoba producers would be interested in formation of a Dominion honey board if more provinces establish provincial producer boards.

"The matter is under consideration in Ontario where the beekeepers recently voted on the issue," said Mr. Garland, "but the results are not known. The subject will be taken up at next week's convention of Manitoba beekeepers."

Hit All-Time High

TORONTO, Nov. 3 (CP) — Power demand in Southern Ontario and the Thunder Bay districts was at an all-time high in September, the Hydro Electric Power Commission said Thursday. Peak demand in Southern Ontario was 15 per cent higher than in September, 1949, and in Thunder Bay was five per cent higher.

Allowed Keep Deer

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 3 (CP) —A Fort William motorist found out that it is some compensation to have a hunting licence when your car kills a deer on the highway. L. J. Gagnon reported to provincial police that his car had struck and killed a deer on the Nipigon highway east of here. Damage to the car was estimated at $150. Because he possessed a hunting licence for the current year, the motorist was allowed by fish and wild life branch officials to keep the deer.

Won't Go Over Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Nov. 3 (CP)—Leslie Sanders, New York interior decorator, said Thursday he has cancelled plans to go over Niagara Falls in a barrel. The stunt had been scheduled for Sunday. Sanders said he plans to make the trip next spring.

Bag Brush Wolf

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Nov. 3 (CP) — Two pheasant hunters from Fort Erie, Leslie Thompson and Earl Maichoss, bagged a brush wolf in Bertie Township Thursday. Game conservation officer Roy Muma said they'll get the wolf bounty on it—$25.

National Church For Natives African Problem

JOHANNESBURG (CP) — The first signs of creation of an African native church are becoming apparent since the government's policy of apartheid, or race separation, started to take effect.

Some believe that the African native, taking readily to Christianity with fervor and enthusiasm, may find in his own national church a shelter for what he regards as repressive action. Others however believe such a movement might develop undesirable tendencies.

The apartheid policy is fully supported by the Dutch Reformed Church of which many colored people are members, and it also has the tacit approval of the Church of England.

Gives Official Lead

Now the president-general of the African Congress, Dr. J. S. Moroka, has given the first official lead to the trend for a native church. "There is nothing that will make you strong and a power in your own country unless you have your own national church," he said.

But the extent to which the aims of the new church coincide with the desires of the natives has yet to be proved. Many have already turned to the Roman Catholic Church because of its excellent mission work.

The Rev. J. B. Webb, a Methodist minister who took part in the funeral services for Field Marshal Smuts, sees nothing but danger in the creation of an African National Church. He said he believes it would be likely to become more National than Christian.

Separatist Movement

A move away from the Dutch Reformed Church has already begun among natives in the Cape Province. The Rev. L. D. Merkel, a pastor known as "Little David" among the natives, has preached his last sermon in the Dutch Reformed Church.

Nearly 1,00 natives, some of them travelling many miles, attended his first service in the newly-created Calvanist Protestant Church of South Africa, held in the open air near Capetown.

"The policy of unending trusteeship is no longer acceptable to us," said a manifesto of the new congregation. "As we claim to have reached maturity we feel capable of managing our own church affairs.

Story of Queen Victoria Chosen As The 1950 Royal Film

LONDON, (AP).—The King and Queen are going to the movies Oct. 30 to se a fictionalized slice of family history. It's "The Mudlark," a story about Queen Victoria and a little ragamuffin who breaks into Windsor castle.

The film was produced in Britain by Twentieth Century-Fox with Irene Dunne, the only American in the cast, playing the role of Queen Victoria.

King George himself had an official part in selecting the picture as the royal film for 1950, that is, the film chosen for a royal performance.

The royal family had already shown an active interest in the filming of the story and held a lengthy discussion with Miss Dunne. Queen Mary, who had bought two copies of the novel on which the movie is based, incidentally advised Miss Dunne that Queen Victoria had a "sweet voice."

Queen Mary, who has not attended any of the royal film performances since the war, has arranged to see the picture in private at her home.

Guidance From Palace

But the committee which makes the selection of the royal film was faced with a delicate problem. The picture occasionally treats Victoria and the throne with a familiarity which the committee thought might not be proper for a royal showing and they decided to seek guidance from Buckingham Palace.

In reply they got a message saying in effect that the King hopes he will see the same version of the film that is to be offered to the public. That decided the committee, and incidentally, proved sweet solace for Miss Dunne and Twentieth Century-Fox.

The selection of Miss Dunne to play a British Queen had set off a storm of criticism in the press and movie industry here. Then the same critics set off a vocal barrage when it was announced that the American-produced and directed film had been entered in the list of competitors for the royal film performance.

Other leading roles in the picture are played by Alex Guinness as Disraeli; Beatrice Campbell as the queen's lady-in-waiting, and 12-year-old Andrew Ray as "The Mudlark."

Norwood IODE To Help School

NORWOOD, Nov. 3 (ENS) — Meeting of the IODE was held in Legion Hall Thursday, with fourteen members present, and Mrs. A. M. Weir, Regent, presiding.

Reports were received from the different secretaries and treasurer. The Regent reported the salvage drive a success.

Ten dollars was voted to each school to be used for prizes at discretion of principal and committee.

Plans were made for a Poppy Tea and Sale to be held in the Legion Hall November 4, and a euchre at a later date.

It was decided that the chapter would purchase floor covering for Legion Hall kitchen.

The Regent agreed to look after packing of November and December overseas boxes. Mrs. Fuller and Mrs. Griffin were hostesses for the tea that followed the business meeting.

Pair Face Charges Of Armed Robbery

TORONTO, Nov. 3—(CP)—Two youth today were charged with armed robbery following the holdup of a west-end grocery store Thursday night.

Police arrested Manuel John Cleveland, 18, and an unidentified juvenile in a downtown parking lot after one of the youths pulled a gun on an attendant. They said Cleveland had a .22-calibre revolver when arrested.

The pair were nabbed less than three hours after two youths held up Sam Piccolo and robbed his store of $10.

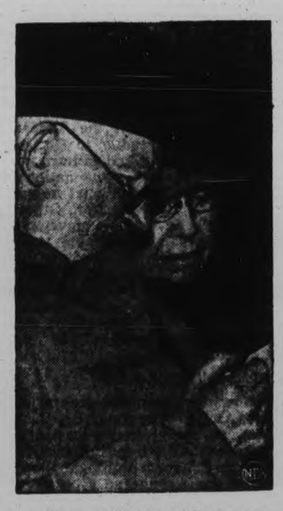
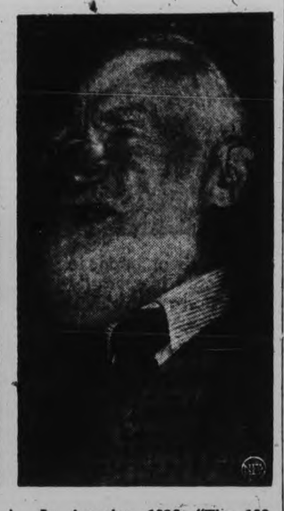
Gone Is Author-Playwright With the Acid Wit, The Socialistic Theories and Flowing Beard



George Bernard Shaw died at the age of 94 at his home in Ayot St., Lawrence, England, after suffering a relapse in his recovery from a broken thigh and a kidney ailment. Here, in pictures, are captured some of the facets of the character and phenomenal career of a great genius.



The lean and hungry Shaw of 1879, a budding author, age 23. In 10 years (1875-85) he earned less than $30 by writing. Had smallpox; grew the beard.

The great dramatist, at work in his outdoor writing shed, 1945. In the small hut behind his Victorian mansion in Ayot St. Lawrence, Shaw wrote prodigiously. Besides turning out books, essays and new plays, he wrote the screen plays from his earlier works — and personally supervised collection of the royalties.

Shaw (1931) and his camera-shy wife — formerly Charlotte Payne-Townshend, a rich Fabian Socialist. They were inseparable for 50 years.

In America, 1936. "The 100 per cent American," he quipped, "is 99 per cent idiot." But . . . "fortunately, the more I insult them the more they adore me."

The wood-chopper. Until age took its toll, he went to the woodpile daily for his exercise. A famous picture showed him in a miner's helmet ("to keep the chips from falling in your eyes when you're chopping wood"). Visitors to Ayot St. Lawrence called him "a human dynamo." He settled there because the tombstone of a woman who died there at 85 said she was "cut off in prime of life."

Great Caesar! After holding out against movies for years, he worked with Hungarian Gabriel Pascal to turn his plays into a film fortune. At 90, Shaw mapped a five-year work plan.

The final illness — Recuperating from the broken thigh and complications. Doctors sent him home from the hospital early in October in hopes it would renew his old desire to live. His only joy was in heated verbal exchanges with his nurses. He told a nurse to go to hell; didn't want any doctors around. Shaw had said of his illness, "If I survive this I will be immortal."

See Prospects For Big BC Steel Industry

VANCOUVER, Nov. 3 (CP) — Prospects for a major steel industry in British Columbia are becoming brighter.

The nucleus—a rolling mill and steel plant—is here, and industrial leaders have interested the federal government in a major project.

Fisheries Minister Mayhew has made a personal survey of the plants in operation, and is to hold conferences with representatives of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. Ltd.

He has made no comment since his survey, but on arrival from Ottawa earlier in the week said a steel develoopment for B.C. is almost a certainty.

One proposal calls for a $2,500,000 smelting plant in Vancouver to smelt B.C. ores for pig iron or billets.

There are several iron-ore deposits, with a potential 12,000,000 tons. One is at Zeballos, on Vancouver Island, where deposits may contain 4,000,000 to 8,000,000 tons.

Supply Situation Grim

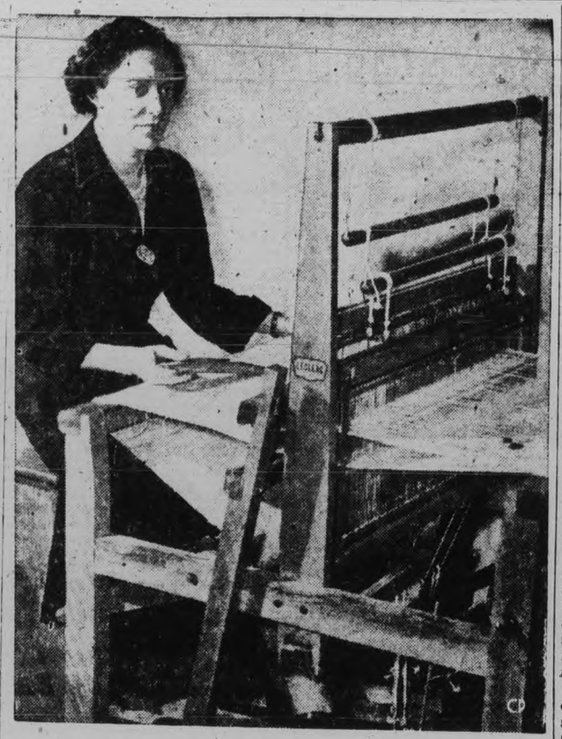
In both Canada and the United States the steel supply situation is grim. Huge defence orders are eating into supplies.

B.C. and Alberta have an abundant supply of coal for steel furnaces. The coal is rated especially high for coking purposes.

A steel industry on the coast would require a federal subsidy, possibly half the cost of building the plant.

D. J. Proudfoot, member of the B.C. legislature for Victoria, said Thursday that every effort should be made to interest industrialists in a steel mill.

"We have been without a steel mill too long," he said. "The need for one has been long evident . . . it would be a success."



A mill could be built and put into operation in a year or 18 months.

The Vancouver Rolling Mill, in operation for some years, it tied in with the Vancouver Steel Co. Ltd., which produces 30,000 tons of steel billets each year. They are turned into bars, rods and shapes at the rolling mill. Some scrap used to feed the big electric furnace at the mill is imported from Alberta.

Raise Taxi Fare

OTTAWA, Nov. 3 (CP) — A 10-cent-a-trip increase in Ottawa taxi cab fares, effective Nov. 15, was authorized Thursday by the Ottawa Police Commission, acting on an application from the Taxi-owners Association. This will boost the initial fare from 35 to 45 cents.

Former Newsman John E. Munro Dies

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 3 (CP)—John Ewart Munro, 58, a former daily and weekly newspaperman, died in hospital here Wednesday night. He had been in poor health for three years.

Mr Munro was a reporter for the Brantford Expositor, the Hamilton Herald, the Toronto Globe and the Canadian Press. He served overseas in the first world war and was wounded three times.

He was a member of the press gallery of the Ontario legislature and of the press gallery of the House of Commons. In 1926 he became editor of the Meaford Mirror and left newspaper work 10 years later to become postmaster of Meaford. He retired in 1947.

A sister, Winifred, of Port, Elgin, Ont., and two brothers, Bruce of Windsor, and the Rev. Donald Munro, of Carleton Place, survive. Ross Munro, of Ottawa, former Caandian Press war correspondent, now with the Southam Newspapers, is a nephew.

Say Investments From Abroad Top $53 Million

OTTAWA, Nov. 3 — (CP) — United States investors gobbled up Canadian securities so fast in August that they led to Canada achieving unprecedented net monthly sales of $53,900,000, the Bureau of Statistics reported Thursday.

When the dollar was set free Sept. 30, officials stated that the main reason was the heavy pressure of speculative money flowing into Canada in such large quantities that it could not be matched by Canadian exports. Thursday's report showed just how vast this demand for Canadian securities was. Practically all of Canada's bond and security sales in August were made with U.S. investors, the bureau said.

As a result of August's heavy demand for Canadian securities—a repetition of the demand which began to develop sharply in June and July—Canada's cumulative sales balance to all countries during the first eight months of 1950 advanced to $73,300,000.

In security trade with the United Kingdom, the smallest volume since August, 1949, was recorded. Canadian investors purchased about 10 times more from Britain than Britain did from Canada. The figures: Sales to the U.K., $100,000; purchases from the U.K., $1,000,000.

London Man Jailed 7 Years

SIMCOE, Nov. 3 (CP)—John D. Henson, 36, of London, was sentenced to seven years in Kingston penitentiary by Magistrate H. P. Innes here Thursday.

Henson was sentenced to seven years for being armed by night with intent to commit an indictable offence, three years on a charge of being in possession of burglar instruments and two years on each of two charges of escaping custody. The terms are concurrent.

"I have given this case much thought during the past week," said Magistrate Innes before passing sentence. "You are a dangerous man to be loose in public and a menace to society."

Henson was arrested Aug. 27 and in an attempt to get away was shot in the leg by Provincial Constable Roy Burkett. He later escaped from Norfolk General Hospital and again from Norfolk county jail.

Want Provinces Rule Bus Lines

OTTAWA, Nov. 3 (CP)—H. J. Curtis, president of Colonial Bus Lines, said Thursday jurisdiction over the operations of bus lines should be left with the provincial governments.

He made the statement in his presidential address to an opening meeting of the 20th annual convention of the Dominion Motor Coach Association.

While the association was ready to co-operate with the federal government in an emergency he said, the operation of bus lines whether they be local, inter-city, inter-provincial or international was best administered under provincial authorities.

Some delegates to the convention expressed belief in interviews that propane gas may replace oil and gasoline in Canadian buses within the next few years.

It would cost up to $2,000 a bus, said the delegates, to make the conversion from gasoline or diesel oil to propane gas. However, several American companies have already made the switch and have reported good results.

At present the cost of propane gas is about two-thirds that of gasoline.

LEVIN, N.Z. —(CP)— Digging postholes on a farm near here a workman struck what he thought was a rock. He laid a charge of explosive and blasted a hole in the principal water main supplying this town. The storage tanks had been emptied before the damage was repaired.

Missing Plane Has Been Found

LAC AU SAUMON, Que., Nov. 3 (CP)—A float-equipped Norseman plane, on a flight from Newfoundland to Toronto, landed on the lake in this small Matapedia county village at 5 p.m. EST Thursday because of poor visibility.

Only passengers aboard the small craft were its pilot, J. Justin of Toronto, and R. Rutherford of Oshawa.

The pilot said he was "amazed" to learn the plane had been reported missing and said poor weather between here and Mont Joli airport, 60 miles west, was the only reason for the landing.

The pilot declined to say who owned the plane but said it was on its way from Newfoundland to Toronto. He said the craft would take off "first thing in the morning."

The plane was reported missing by RCAF research and rescue centre at Halifax when, after stopping at Charlottetown for refuelling, it did not show up at Mont Joli several hours later. Mont Joli was a scheduled stop on the plane's flight plan.

Lac Au Saumon is about 40 miles from the New Brunswick border.

New Premier Rejected By Korea

SEOUL, Nov. 3—(AP)—The Republic of Korea National Assembly refused today to confirm President Syngham Rhee's appointment of Pauk Nak Choon as a premier. The vote against Pauk was 100 to 21.

Other opposition to Rhee's administration was expressed in a petition demanding the resignation of the entire cabinet. Signed by some members of the assembly (number not reported), the petition blames Rhee's cabinet for the war.

Rhee had sought approval of Pauk as successor to Lee Bum Suk, who resigned as premier last spring.

MIRACLE MILE — This is an artist's sketch of the proposed $25,000,000 city centre for Edmonton which voters turned down this week by a small margin. The scheme was proposed by New York financial interests, who sought a tax-free, 69-year lease on the four-block area and agreed to pay an annual rental of $50,000. The city would have had a share in the profits and become owners of the property on termination of the lease.

Roosevelt Statement Rubbish, Churchill Says

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP). — Winston Churchill, in the latest chapter of his memoirs, politely raps Elliot Roosevelt's knuckles for publishing "rubbish" about the Casablanca conference in 1943.

On several points, the former prime minister disputes Elliott Roosevelt's version of the historic meeting between Churchill and President Roosevelt. Elliott attended the meeting with his father and wrote about it later in his book, As He Saw It.

In the installment of his own story, serialized in Canada in the Montreal Standard, Churchill points out that he was anxious for Gen. Charles de Gaulle to attend the conference.

Churchill says:

"It is very odd to see the account which the President's son, Elliott Roosevelt, gives of this in the book which he hastened to write about the confidential talks he heard at the meals to which he was brought by his father.

Just In Reverse

"He seems to suggest that the President suspected me of trying to stop de Gaulle coming, and objecting to his being brought there, whereas I was putting the utmost pressure possible to get him to come. This rubbish has had wide and long currency."

Expanding his sentiments about de Gaulle at the time, Churchill adds:

"I knew he was no friend of England. But I always recognized in him the spirit and conception which, across the pages of history the word 'France' would ever proclaim. I understood and admired, while I resented, his arrogant demeanour.

"Here he was—a refugee, an exile from his country under sentence of death, in a position entirely dependent upon the good-will of the British Government and . . . the United States."

Churchill also mentioned the much discussed unconditional surrender policy announced at Casablanca. Cities of this policy have argued that it prolonged the war. In 1949, Churchill said, the first time he heard the words, unconditional surrender, was at the Casablanca meeting, when President Roosevelt announced the policy to the press.

Churchill says he does not recall discussing unconditional surrender with President Roosevelt after hearing from his own war cabinet on Jan. 20.

Surprise Move

"Meanwhile," he says, "the official joint statement was being prepared by our advisers and by the chiefs-of-staff. There is no mention in it of 'unconditional surrender.'

"It was with some feeling of surprise that I heard the President say at the press conference on Jan. 24 that we would enforce 'unconditional surrender' upon all our enemies. It was natural to suppose that the agreed communique had superseded anything said in conversation.

"In my speech which followed the president's, I, of course, supported him and concurred in what he said. Any divergence between us, even by omission, would have been damaging or even dangerous to our war effort. I certainly take my share of the responsibility, together with the British war cabinet."

Fowler Answers Price Protests

MONTREAL, Nov. 3 (CP) — Recent price increases by a number of Canadian newsprint companies, which resulted in protests from several United States organizations have prompted a reply from the Newsprint Association of Canada.

R. M. Fowler, president of the association, says in an open letter replying to one from Charles G. Nichols, president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, New York, that the newsprint association has nothing to do with the sale or pricing of newsprint. These matters are handled by the individual companies.

The letters were released today.

Mr. Fowler's letter remarked that Mr. Nichols, in his official capacity, says in effect:

"Please don't raise the price of newsprint because that way increase advertising rates and cost us more money.

"Inflation is a bad thing . . . we may have to turn to other advertising media and that may somewhat reduce the demand for newsprint. And, anyway, Canadian newsprint mills are making good profits and should be content with less so as not to start this pyramid of inflation."

Constant Two Years

Until the recent price increase announcements, Mr. Fowler said, prices for Canadian newsprint had remained constant since Aug. 1, 1948, which was not "starting" anything. Also, the Canadian newsprint price index had been constantly and steadily below the wholesale commodity price index in the United States. He added:

"The costs of making newsprint have increased rapidly in the last two years while Canadian newsprint prices have remained unchanged. Wages have increased each year . . . pulpwood that now is being cut is likely to cost $3 to $4 more a cord than last year. Many item coming from the United States—sulphur, transportation, machinery and only to mention a few—have increased in price."

Sunday School Marks Hallowe'en With Party

WARKWORTH, Nov. 3 (ENS) —A Hallowe'en masquerade party was held in the Sunday school rooms of St. Paul's United Church for the intermediate classes of the boys and girls with their teachers, Mrs. H. G. Lester and Mr. Bruce Birney. There were 24 boys and girl present and five adults. Lorraine Skinkle was the winner for the best dressed girl in costume while Graham Lester won first for the best boy in costume and Everett and Nelson Westfall tied in the prize offered for the comic costume.

After the judging had taken place and the prizes had been awarded, games and suitable Hallowe'en contests were held which were enjoyed.

Unpopular Pets

MUNICH, Germany, Nov. 3 —(Reuters)—Police rushed to a vacant lot Thursday when passersby saw children take a bundle of snakes and lizards from a sack and begin to play with them. Police chased the children away and caught 80 snakes, some of them poisonous, and a South American lizard. Five snakes escaped. The sack of snakes had been stolen from a travelling show. Police believe the thief tossed it away as soon as he discovered what he had stolen.

Modern Methods Bring Short Hours

NORWOOD, Nov. 3—(ENS)—Donegal Farm Forum held the first meeting of this season at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Brown with an attendance of 34. The topic under discussion was "Can we farm on shorter hours?" Opinions were varied whether they could farm on shorter hours, but all agreed if they had modern machinery and equipment, more help and better financial means, it certainly is possible.

Hallowe'en games were played and lunch served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Doreen Brown, Mrs. Gideon Brown, Mrs. Wilfred Buck and Mrs. Arnold Stevenson.

Charge UK Conservatives Creating Trouble With US

LONDON, Nov. 3 (Reuters) — The Labor Government again charged in parliament Thursday that Conservatives are trying to stir up trouble between Britain and the United States.

Hugh Gaitskell, who has just succeeded Sir Stafford Cripps as boss of the treasury, attacked Oliver Lyttelton, one of Winston Churchill's chief lieutenants, for suggesting that the government was working out its rearmament plans on a "business-as-usual basis."

Denying this, Gaitskell said Lyttelton "must not be allowed to make bad blood once again between this country and the United States."

In his first speech as Chancellor of the Exchequer, Gaitskell also replied to Opposition complaints that the cost of living in Britain is leaping upward.

"Between 1947 and 1950 average weekly earnings increased by 20 per cent, and retail prices by 14 per cent," he said.

Too Optimistic

Liberal Leader Clement Davies said the United States was too optimistic about Britain's economic position, which, he said, is still really dangerous.

Calling for a stronger British lead in world affairs, Davies said the United States was the strong partner among the free countries as Britain had been in the past. But, he told parliament, Britain had greater experience in dealing with foreign countries.

"Sugestions should come from us," he declared. "We should not wait for them to be made on the other side of the Atlantic."

The government meanwhile planned its defence against three Opposition motions of censure which will challenge its existence Monday and Tuesday.

A Conservative motion Monday will criticize government housing policy; Tuesday the nine Liberal members will attack Labor's efforts to meet the rising cost of living.

A second Conservative mation Tuesday will challenge the government's growing power over the country's economy.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Whole Grain Muffins Sure Way to Good Health

A heavenly Benefactor made Canada the great grain grower.

Why?

Was it because we are northern people and need a universal food to trade with neighbors for their special products, that we need?

Or, was it because He provided this grain in abundance because it is exactly right nourishment for us in our climate?

This approach of mine is old stuff, for you and I know that the food that is indigenous to our native land is the food that we naturally need.

✧ ✧ ✧

We are familiar with the pleasant custom of Southerners of serving hot breads with most of their meals. That custom requires a full-time artful cook in the kitchen, and at the pace we live and with the prodigious amount of work we turn out this is no longer practical.

However, we can educate our families, by this delightful eating custom, to like and expect and request breads that contain whole grains. Why should we fatten our cattle on the most valuable part of the grain, with the result that our medical doctors are so busy looking after our nutritional diseases that in most large cities one cannot get an appointment until two months hence?

We have to smarten up. We do not have to drug our way to good health—eating our way to good health is much pleasanter.

✧ ✧ ✧

Emem's Whole Grain Muffins

These call for molasses—another unrefined product we should incorporate into our daily cooking in place of refined white sugar.)

One and one-half cups sour milk or buttermilk or sour cream, ¼ cup molasses, 1½ teaspoons soda, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 cups graham flour; ½ cup raisins or chopped dates or prunes are an optional addition. Add the sour milk to the molasses, and stir in the soda until it foams. Add the graham flour and salt and stir until just mixed. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. in buttered muffin tins for about 30 minutes.

✧ ✧ ✧

Rolled Oats Muffins

Soak two cups rolled oats (not oatmeal) in 1½ cups sour milk or buttermilk overnight. When ready to bake next day add ¼ cup mlted butter or margarine, 1-3 cup brown sugar, 1 well beaten egg, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt and 1 cup sifted flour. Stir until just mixed. Have ready hot muffin tins which have been buttered and quickly turn the muffins into them — filling each two-thirds full. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for about 15 to 20 minutes. Serve as soon as possible—although these are good cold too. Wonderful with comb honey.

Rye Muffins

Put sifter over mixing bowl and into it put ¾ cup rye flour and ¾ cup sifted white flour, 3½ teaspoons baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, and sift all into bowl. Beat 1 egg well and to it add 3 tablespoons molasses, ¾ cup milk, and 3 tablespoons butter or margarine or shortening, melted. Stir into flour mixture, beating for 30 seconds. Turn into greased muffin tins, filling them two-thirds full. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 18 to 20 minutes.

If you do not have the recipes for cornmeal gems and bread, and want them, please write to me, through this newspaper.

Neighbors Shower Married Couple

BAILIEBORO, Nov. 3 (ENS)—A large number of friends and neighbors recently assembled in Centerville in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hazeldon (nee Laura Eagleson) who were recently married. Rev. Choate was chairman for the short program of solos by Anne Stewart, duets by Mrs. Kidd and Elaine Jones, Misses Isobel and Shirley Kidd, Mervyn Gray and Henry McIntosh, and a reading by Mrs. Gray.

Miss Betty Joan Howson read the address and Mrs. R. Kidd and Mrs. J. Fair made the presentation of two chairs.

From the United Church choir Miss Elaine Jones read the address and Miss Arnell Wood made the presentation of two blankets.

Lunch was served at the close.

GRANDMA'S A "KRAFTS-MAN"—In Howell, Mich., everyone is talking about Mrs. Mary Kraft, 63-year-old grandmother, shown standing in front of her five-room house which she built by herself. The only help she received was in excavating for the basement when her 13 grandchildren pitched in, plus some finishing touches on the electric wiring and the top of the chimney. Mrs. Kraft is proudest of the fact that her house is only an inch off plumb at one corner. Next projects on her list are a front porch and breakfast nook furniture.

Of Interest to Women

QUEEN OPENS HYDRO SCHEME — Queen Elizabeth pulls a lever at Inverugles Bay, Scotland, sending 100,000,000 kilowatts of electricity into the National Grid. The occasion was the culmination of five years' work and expenditure of £7,000,000 ($21,000,000).

Flin Flon Perched on Rock Strange Town of Oddities

FLIN FLON, Man. —(CP)—The people of this bustling mining town claim the place is like nothing else in the world. They're probably right.

The main section of Flin Flon, where older houses and most business premises are built, is perched on the hard-rock surface of the pre-Cambrian shield. Construction is a nightmare.

Most basements are above ground level.

Sewer and water pipelines run above the ground—some of them over the heads of pedestrians—instead of being buried.

Street lights burn night and day.

If you die in winter, your body goes into cold storage for burial in the spring when the ground thaws.

There are proportionately more children of pre-school and school age than in any other town of the same size in Canada.

Going Ahead

But for all its oddities, Flin Flon (on the Saskatchewan-Manitoba border 400 miles northwest of Winnipeg) is going ahead.

The original above-ground sewer and water system was built in 1932 and services what is now only one-fifth of town. Under way in suburban sections is a program to extend these services to the rest. Mayor Cyril Stevenson said the scheme will cost $1,315,000 "for a starter."

Novelty for Flin Flon

Workmen are enjoying the novelty of putting pipes underground in residential areas where there is enough soil on the hard rock.

Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company, lifeblood of the town, is paying 55 per cent of the initial cost.

The Flin Flon terrain is so hilly that some houses have a 30 to 50-foot difference between back and front yards. Others are perched on the rock with wooden stairways to the street.

Some residents can walk in their front door at ground level and look out their back door to a street 30 feet below.

Stairways are a big part of the Flin Flon sidewalk system. One winds up a hillside with almost 100 steps and several platforms.

The boxed-in sewer and water pipes, packed with sawdust to prevent freezing in Flin Flon's severe winter, are used unofficially as sidewalks. But signs warn residents they navigate them at their own risk.

Typical of the odd location of the town is its baseball park There is a natural grandstand—a huge rock outcropping at least 100 feet high which can accommodate a sizable crowd of spectators.

The marriage of Miss Naomi Kathleen Jones, formerly of Ottwa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones, and Mr. Alfred Mervyn Bonney, of Peterborough, son of Mr. George Bonney and the late Mrs. Bonney, of Toronto, took place recently in Bethel Baptist Church, Toronto, Rev. H. E. Lewis officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Gretchen Jones, as bridesmaid. Mr. George Wren, of Toronto, was best man.

The bride chose for her wedding floorlength gown of white slipper satin designed with a sheer yoke, fitted bodice and a full skirt. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red and white roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hough.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonney will live at 15 Wallace St., Peterborough.

Moore-Dowdall

At St. John's Roman Catholic Church, Perth, Mary Theresa, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Dowdall, Perth, became the bride of Harvey Glen Moore, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moore of Altamont, Man. The Rev. Father Farrell performed the ceremony and said the nuptial mass. Sister Wilfemia, organist, played the wedding music and Miss Margaret Conlon sang.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white slipper satin with net yoke and inserts of lace in the skirt, finished with covered buttons down the back and long sleeves coming to points over her hands. Her fingertip veil of embroidered silk illusion was caught to a close fitting bonnet of net trimmed with tiny seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Only attendant was her sister Mrs. George Kerr, gowned in mauve taffeta with matching headdress and mittens and carrying yellow 'mums.

The groomsman was Mr. George Kerr.

The reception was held at the bride's home. Her mother received wearing a wine crepe dress with black hat and corsage of yellow 'mums.

The couple left later for Ottawa and points east, the bride wearing a grey gabardine suit with black accessories and corsage of talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore will live at 99 Aylmer St., Peterborough.

Commencement At St. John's Separate School

Graduation exercises for the pupils of St. John's separate school were held Wednesday evening in the school auditorium, Jane St., which was decorated in the school colors, gold and green, with yellow chrysanthemums and ferns.

Chairman, the Rev. G. Sullivan, opened the program with "O Canada," followed by a hymn to St. John rendered by the girls' choir under leadership of Mrs. Wm. Prindible and accompanied by Miss Marie Woodhouse at the piano.

Guest speaker, the Rev. J. Coughlin, of the teaching staff of St. Peter's High school, spoke eloquently and earnestly to parents and pupils of the necessity for higher education in the modern world.

Other speakers were Rt. Rev. P. P. Butler, Mr. John McCarney, chairman of the Separate School Board and Mr. J. C. Doyle inspector of schools.

Valedictory was delivered by a winsome miss, Pauline Minicola, who surely carried the banner high for St. John's teaching staff.

Graduates were presented by Father Sullivan and received diplomas from Rt. Rev. J. J. O'Brien who had an ancouraging word for each. They were also given a Missal as a gift from their Alma Mater.

The CWL cash prize to the highest student went to Pauline Minicola and the second prize to Rosemary Jones. Gifts from Rev. Sister M. Garnier to the first three students went to Pauline Minicola, Rosemary Jones and Dorothy Doleman.

The other graduates attending were Donald Boal, Cecile Bartley, June Collins, Patrick Collins, Donald Drummond, Ronald Forbes, Gary Johnson, Anne Lavoie, Ronald McLarnon, Brian Philcox and Larry Prindible.

Miss Teresa McCall, student of music at St. Cecelia's Convent gave two delightful piano solos.

The commencement was under the general chairmanship of the Parent-Teachers Association and the president Mrs. H. J. McLarnon received the guests, assisted by vice president Mr. Fergus O'Connor. Program convener Mrs. B. Monaghan dispensed programs as they passed along the corridor and grade eight boys ushered.

Refreshments were looked after by social convener, Mrs. James Philcox, assisted by Mrs. Helen Shaughnessy as special convener, and the serving was done by their committees and grade eight girls.

Mrs. John McCarney and Mrs. Fergus O'Connor poured tea at the lace-covered tea table, decorated in the school colors with a bouquet of gold chrysanthemums and yellow and green candles.

Hallowe'en Party At Young's Point Is Well-Planned

YOUNG'S POINT, Nov. 3 — (ENS)— It was Hallowe'en. There was never a doubt about that from the time of entering St. Aidan's Parish Hall to the time a stern voice said "unmask."

A "ghost" greeted all who entered, shook hands in a friendly sort of way, and sent them into the hall. What place. A weird, unearthly light shone and set the scene for fun and merriment that followed. Everywhere strang looking figures moved about, from "Mr. Swizzlebaumn" who seemed to be master of ceremonies to the "bride and groom" who wandered aimlessly here and there vainly trying to participate in various games. Cowboys and Indians, ghosts and witches, legendary characters. Adults disguised and undisguised. Even a "policeman" took his stand at the entrance. Games and stunts were carried on, beginning with the old time favourite, "musical chairs" and ending with "ducking for apples." Never a dull moment. The program committee had succeeded beyond expectation, in arranging orderly, well-planned entertainment.

After the unmasking, all were instructed to sit down. A lunch, bountiful and delicious, was served by the ladies' committee. This was truly a fine celebration arranged and promoted by the Home and School Association, assisted by Canon T. J. Fife, the Rev. W. Tonge and members of the school board.

WI Members Told To Widen Horizons

TORONTO, Nov. 3— (CP)— Mrs. Norman White, of Brooklin, chairman of the Central Ontario Women's Institutes, says W. I. members and branches must widen their horizons "to take in the map of the world."

Because of the shrinking world of today, what goes on in other countries is of vital concern to all Canadians, she told delegates to the 4th annual convention.

Delegates representing about 8,000 women in the 258 branches of the area, were welcomed by Mayor Hiram McCallum, who stressed the interdependence of city and rural districts upon each other.

Mrs. J. R. Futcher, provincial president from St. Thomas, urged rural women to walk more for physical fitness.

"We rural women just jump into our cars to go everywhere. We forget the benefits of walking," she said.

Canadian Mink Ritziest in Show

LONDON (CP).—Canada contributed the ritziest touch at a £85,000 ($263,000) show in London's Dorchester Hotel.

Fashion writers said the best thing in the show was an Eskimo Bay wild mink coat, the first to appear in London since pre-war days.

This £6,500 item brought envious sighs from an audience including 400 women. After its purchase by an English woman, an official commented:

"We are very pleased. It is nice to know someone in England will wear it."

With wide sleeves, big cuffs, a ripple back flaring from just below the shoulders and a cape collar that can be hugged around the ears, the coat follows the general fashion trend for this year's furs. Its full length, however, compares admirably with the recent preference for seven-eighth and three-quarter lengths.

Canada's golden seal also made a welcome comeback after an absence caused by the Dominion government's ban on trapping. But mink—much of it Canadian—was the really dominating fur.

There was plain mink, mutation mink, stranded and wild mink, and—perhaps most popular—snow-white mink, a lovely foil for brunette coloring and rich, dark velvet gowns.

Loveliest choices for day wear were silver-blue mink coats and capes. With prices ranging from £3,850 and £4,350, they brought this laughing comment from their announcer:

"Don't forget, prices of furs, like everything else, will go up and up. So buy now."

Fleming-Warner

HASTINGS, Nov. 3 (ENS). — The wedding took place at the United Church parsonage, on Saturday by the Rev. N. Cole of Muriel Doreen, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Warner to Walter Mathew Fleming, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fleming, all of Hastings district.

The bride wore a suit of rust gabardine with navy velvet hat and navy accessories and a corsage of yellow and white roses. Miss Rena Warner, was bridesmaid for her sister and wore a suit of teal blue with gold accessories and a corsage of gold 'mums.

Gordon Fleming was his brother's groomsman.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. Warner received in a gown of black crepe with green hat and matching accessories and a corsage of brown 'mums, assisted by the groom's mother in a gown of black crepe, with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Later the bride and groom left on a trip to points east and USA. On return they will live on the groom's farm at Hastings.

We're Not Trying To Fool Anybody— Any of the Time

Evangeline makes no "cover-charge" for exclusiveness—because exclusiveness seldom represents the best in style and value than can be found—nor do we make any extravagant claims about prices—because price means nothing until you know what it buys. We do not suggest for a moment, that we carry the largest assortments in town—in fact we're very suspicious of superlatives—but—when you're looking for fashionable accessories and sportswear—we do believe you'll find at Evangeline a very satisfactory selection of the best there is on the market—in carefully chosen styles at moderate prices. DOROTHY DIX

Married Woman Misses Excitement of Business Life

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: From my high school days until I married I always worked as a secretary to men, doing interesting and exciting work. I kept my job after I married until my baby came, and then my husband insisted that I give up my work and stay at home and take care of the child, instead of hiring someone else to do it. I agree that it is for the best interest of the child and for four years I have done so, but I have such periods of rebellion and boredom at the confinement and monotony of housework that I think sometimes I can't stand it. And how I miss the contacts of the business world and my own money, the ability to buy things when I want them and lack of good clothes! I am getting a definite inferior feeling with it all. A child is sweet and I love mine, but it does seem as though a woman has to make such a tremendous sacrifice and adjustment when she gives up business just to be a wife and mother.

Dorothy Dix

CHANGED PERSONALITY

ANSWER: The trouble with us women is that we can't have our cake and eat it, too, while men can. If that is one of the great injustices of sex, it is one that Nature imposes upon us, and there is nothing we can do about it.

Man Can Do Both

When a man marries he simply adds the comforts of a home, the society of a wife, the happiness of having children to the joy and independence and interest and excitement he gets out of his career. But wives and careers do not mix. No woman can turn out a really first-class job in either if she is trying to do both. Especially can no woman be a good mother unless she gives her personal attention to her children. No professional tenderness is like that of a mother. No expert can pinch-hit for even an untrained mother.

For everything we get we have to pay, and there is no doubt that the price of a woman's success in the outside world has been to dissatisfy most of them with domesticity and unfit them for it. But there is nothing that can be done about it. It is just one of the immutable laws of life that the woman who has children must pay for them by going through the agony of bearing them and the long years of sacrifice in rearing them. Happy is she who gets joy in doing it. And happier still she whose children reward her with love and appreciation and by being an honor to her.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a man of 40, very shy and sensitive, never married. I have had the hard—or good—luck of falling in love with a lovely 20-year-old girl. Am I too old for her? Is there any way for me to court this girl without everyone knowing it and probably turning her against me with what passes for small-town wit at my expense?

T. A. H.

ANSWER: A man of 40 is a mere lad in these days and, anyway, age isn't a matter of how many candles there are on your birthday cake, but of what is in your heart and head. A lot of us middle-aged people, who still have illusions and faith in God and humanity, find themselves mere infants in the presence of the hard-boiled youth of today.

Whether you are in the same age class with the girl or not also depends upon her. If her only idea of spending a pleasant evening is going to a night club, then she is too young for you. You would be miserable with her. But if she is a quiet, home-loving girl, with the same tastes and ideas you have, the twenty years between you makes no difference.

As for courting her without everybody in the village knowing it and getting funny about it, that is an impossibility. The only thing to do is to disregard it. Give your girl a whirlwind courtship and get it over with. Remember that faint heart ne'er won fair lady.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: You say not to nag, but what do you suggest doing to a husband who has not learned the simplest laws of hygiene, who bolts his food, eats too much and drinks to excess? I love my husband and want to keep him in good health, so I have to be forever after him.

A WORRIED HENPECKER

ANSWER: Nagging would be justified if it ever did any good. But it doesn't. It is one of the things that loses force with repetition. If you correct your husband's table manners once it may make some impression upon him. If you hammer at the way he uses his fork at every meal he makes up his mind he won't be badgered into changing his method of handling it.

SUITS

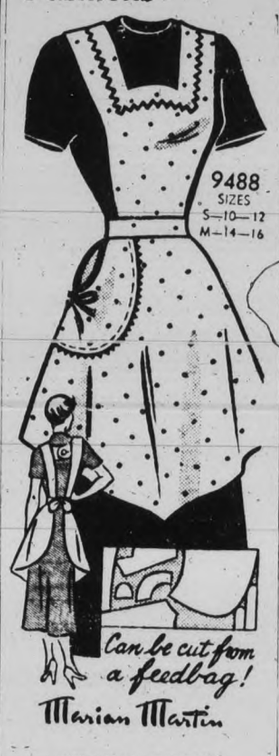
19.95

Ordinarily, we would not run the same "ad" more than once. We have never found it necessary to do so because the outstanding values that we regularly offer are bought up quickly.

However, these suits arrived only last Thursday and because the "paper" was already made-up we could not give our "ad" the space it deserved with the result that it was "buried" and a lot of our customers missed it. "Thanks a lot any way, Mac".

Check these sizes for your suit:

Sizes 11-12, Slick looking Gabardine in Wine, Red, Grey, Beige and Brown . . Lively window pane checks in Green, Wine and Blue, some velveteen trim, others tailored.



Sizes 13-14, Popular Gabardine in Red, Grey, Green and Wine, Windowpane checks and fancy tweeds in Wine, Green and Blue tailored and Velveteen trim . . . Imported pin dots in Green, Blue and Gold. Velveteen Belt and Buttons.

Sizes 15-16, Gabardine in Wine and Green. Pin dots in Green, Blue and Wine, Velveteen trim. Bermuda Doeskin, one each in Tan, Grey and Black.

LAYERS OF CHILLED CAKE and hard ice cream covered with a thick coating of meringue can be popped into a hot oven and delicately browned—that's Baked Alaska.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Baked Alaska Sandwich Delightful Surprise Finish

Every homemaker wants to try something unusual once in a while and for any number of exciting and taste-packed recipes you will want to own "250 Luscious Refrigerator Desserts," the sixteenth cookbook in the series of twenty-four cookbooks being made available to readers of the Examiner.

But for something especially unusual, you must try Baked Alaska. It is given with several variations in the Refrigerator Desserts Book, just as all with the wonderful recipes in the whole series are given with variations to suit your taste or your convenience.

Baked Alaska Sandwich

1 layer of cake (square or oblong)
1 quart ice cream
4 egg whites
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cut cake into halves and trim to fit deep refrigerator tray. Line tray with heavy waxed paper so that paper extends 2 inches beyond each side. Pack ice cream into tray and freeze until hard. Lift ice cream from tray with ends of waxed paper and place one of the halves of cake in tray. Place ice cream on top, then the second half of cake. Chill thoroughly. Beat egg whites until nearly stiff, beat in sugar gradually, add vanilla and beat until stiff. Cover a heavy board with corrugated paper, then with waxed paper, and place cake and ice cream on top. Cover top and sides of cake with the meringue, making sure it is at least 1 inch thick. Bake in very hot over (450 deg. F.) until meringue is delicately browned. Serve immediately. Serves 10.

If refrigerator tray is not available spread firm ice cream between chilled layers of cake, cover with meringue and bake as above.

Use any flavor of ice cream desired. Any kind of cake except angel food may be used.

To get your copy of the Refrigerator Desserts Book just clip a coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper, and present the coupon and 25c at Examiner office, or your carrier or at Braund's Home Food Markets. THE EXPERTS SAY

Soup Good Autumn Menu Uses Up Leftovers Too

By The Canadian Press

OTTAWA, Nov. 3 —(CP)— If mother's wise she'll make soup part of the supper menu these autumn days. The youngsters will like it because it's warm. Incidentally it also is a good way to use up leftovers lingering in the refrigerator.

For instance the remains of last Sunday's chicken could be made into soup. The bones of the chicken along with any extra bits of skin must be crushed down into a sauce-pan and covered with cold water.

Bring to a boil, cover and boil for one hour. Drain off liquid and discard bones.

To the strained liquid add: one-half cup finely diced onion; one-half cup finely diced carrot; one-quarter cup fine noodles (three-quarters of an inch in length); salt and pepper to taste; one cup tomato juice; one cup chopped chicken.

Simmer covered for another hour.

✧ ✧ ✧

Here are three soup recipes the family is bound to appreciate.

Onion soup—ingredients: Six medium-sized onions; two tablespoons mild-flavored fat; two tablespoons flour; one quart brown soup stock; six slices toast; one-half cup grated cheese.

Cook sliced onions in water and cover for one-half hour. Rub through a sieve. Melt fat, blend in flour and gradually add one cup of the stock. Stir until the mixture thickens. Add onions and remaining stock, blending well. Simmer for 20 minutes. Place one slice of toast in each soup plate, add soup and sprinkle with grated cheese. Six servings.

✧ ✧ ✧

Creamy onion soup—ingredients: Three tablespoons mild-flavored fat; 1½ cups finely minced onion; two tablespoons flour; 1½ teaspoons salt; three cups milk; one cup vegetable water, milk or water; paprika; nutmeg; one-half cup grated cheese; two tablespoons chopped parsley.

Melt fat and add minced onion. Saute until a golden brown. Stir in flour and salt. Add milk and vegetable water. Simmer soup, covered, until onions are tender. Season with paprika, nutmeg. Place a tablespoon of grated cheese and a teaspoon chopped parsley in each soup-plate and pour the hot soup over them. Serve immediately. Six servings.

✧ ✧ ✧

Tomato soup—ingredients: one quart of canned tomatoes (cut in pieces); one green pepper (chopped fine); one large onion (diced); one pimento (diced); three stalks celery cut in small pieces; one pint water; two teaspoons salt.

Mix and cook slowly for half an hour stirring frequently. When cooked add one-quarter teaspoon soda. Rub together four tablespoons butter and four tablespoon flour and stir into the tomato mixture. Boil until thickened. Add milk to thin to a creamy consistency (about two cups), serve with crisp crackers.

What's Right

You are taking leave of your hostess.

WRONG: Take a long time about it, so that she won't feel you are rushing away in a hurry.

RIGHT: When you say you must go, get up and go, without lingering, or thinking of just one more story to tell.

✧ ✧ ✧

An acquaintance telephones to invite you and your husband to a party and you don't know whether or not your husband will want to go.

WRONG: Say to the acquaintance: "I'll have to let you know later."

RIGHT: Be more definite and more tactful. Say: "May I check with Jim to see if he has other plans, and call you back tonight?"

Swimming Mentor Honored at YWCA

A tea was held at the YWCA on Wednesday by the members of the swimming committee in honor of Miss Etta Wiggins who has retired from the swimming staff of the YWCA.

On behalf of the YWCA Association, Mrs. T. J. Carley, president, presented a small gift of money to Miss Wiggins in appreciation for her long, constant and sincere services at the Y.

Mrs. Walter Perks, president of the swimming committee gave Miss Wiggins a small gift on behalf of the swimming committees.

Representatives from the board staff and health education committees of the YWCA attended the tea.

Bootleg Hats Paris Racket

PARIS —(Reuters)— "Bootlegged" hats are a secret of Paris millinary circles. They're on sale only to those who know their way around the Paris fashion underground.

The first step is to obtain the address of a good hat-bootlegger —a rare bird because she must have a quick eye, clever hands and many friends.

Then the inevitable climb up flight after flight of stairs to the door which hides a woman's paradise. An eye appears at a peephole. Credentials are checked more closely than if you were being admitted to the vaults at Fort Knox.

Once inside, it is a "prix unique" (one price) system—5,000 francs ($14) for any hat. But the choice includes all the latest models from the leading milliners. If you have your heart set on a little Dior or a wonderful Legroux number which has tempted you, there it is—for 5,000 francs instead of the 20,000 francs which caused you to quail at the thought of your husband's reception of the bill.

A careful explanation to madame bootlegger suffices. She knows every hat in town and is capable of copying it so exactly that even its creator would be mistaken.

According to a lot of people around town, business is "off" . . business is "spotty" . . things are just "so, so". If its the weather and it could be mind you, please don't blame me. I only forecast an open fall because I wanted to get in a few more games of golf. Wishful thinking of course. That's all.

However, getting back to business (incidentally we are not complaining) our entire stock of skirts go on sale Saturday at this ridiculously low price. Even if you don't need one you'll probably say to yourself, "Who would be without one for a teeny $5.

All-wool tartan plaids $5 . . colorful corduroys $5 . . cosy warm wool jersey $5 . . English flannel $5 . . glamorous velveteen (not many) $5 . . pastel plaids $5.

Remember, any skirt in stock for $5.

6—In Memoriams

DETCHER—In fond memory of father, mother and sister (Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Detcher and Ella), whom God called home Dec. 1922, Jan. 1937, Nov. 3rd, 1948 respectively.
Beyond the sunset, O glad reunion,
With our dear loved ones who've gone before.
In that fair homeland, we'll know no parting,
Beyond the sunset, for evermore.
—Sadly missed by Camilla.

REV. B. G. EVANS

Elim Tabernacle Gets New Minister

Newly-chosen pastor of Elim Tabernacle, Simcoe St., is the Rev. B. G. Evans, formerly of the Apostolic Church in Toronto. He replaces the Rev. F. Warburton, who has been pastor for the past three and one-half years and who has accepted Mr. Evan's church in Toronto.

Mr. Evans came originally from Wales and spent many years in the mission fields of Italy and the Argentine, and in Canada, held pastorates in London and Montreal before going to Toronto.

Married with one son, Garth Evans, 19, he says that already likes Peterborough and its people. His congregation numbers about 200.

Used-Car Dealer Sentenced For Scheme

TORONTO, Nov. 3 (CP). — George Roberts, Toronto used-car dealer, will be sentenced today for theft in what the crown described in court as a "shoddy, transparent scheme of juggling one trade-in after another."

Roberts, 39, was convicted on two charges of theft of money and two charges of theft of automobiles left on his car lot for him to sell in the fall of 1949 and the spring of 1950. Police said he pocketed money he should have paid to the owners.

Crown counsel H. H. Bull said that last summer Roberts took three customers' cars to Vancouver and sold two of them. One transaction in which he was convicted involved a man in St. Catharines.

Mr. Bull said Roberts had a record of 11 convictions for fraud in Calgary in 1936.

Conservatives Oppose Tariff Concessions

LONDON, Nov. 3.—(AP). — A Conservative member of Parliament said today his party reserves the right to throw out British tariff concessions and return to the Empire preference system if returned to power.

A. T. Lennox-Boyd told the House of Commons the Conservatives regard as "wholly objectionable" some parts of the international agreements negotiated at Havana, Geneva and Annecy under the "general agreement on trade and tariffs" system. Another of these conferences to break down trade barriers now is under way at Torquay.

"The Government seems strangely sensitive to American views on British Empire trade and is deeply sensitive to American opinion and very largely guided by it," Lennox-Boyd said.

Britain has been bound "for the first time in the history of the British Empire to apply the most-favored nation procedure to Empire countries."

Mrs. J. Moloney Funeral

The funeral service for Mrs. Joseph Moloney, who died Monday, was held Thursday from her home, R.R. 4 Lakefield to St. Paul's Catholic Church where requiem mass was said at 10 a.m. by the Rev. J. V. Masterson. Also present in the sanctuary was the Rev. J. Walsh.

The pallbearers were Cecil Hartnett, Vincent Hickey, Frank Hickey, Steven Moloney, Albert O'Donnell and R. J. Moloney.

Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery, Peterborough. Graveside prayers were said by the Rev. Masterson assisted by the Rev. Raymond Garvey and the Rev. Leo Leahy.

Use Electricity In Blood Study

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 3.—(AP). —The University of Kansas Medical School is using an electric current to imitate the living flow of blood.

This is a new step in medicine, in which the electronic devices are adapted to reading hidden signs of trouble in hearts, arteries and veins. It has been used in experiments on dogs.

The blood stream is an enclosed river filled with many currents. Each current causes a change in pressure. A new electronic needle measures these pressures and changes them into electric current. The needle is faster than anything available.

Looking at the behavior of this electric current is to the medical scientists like being able to see the real blood river. They cannot see everything. But they see the strength of heart beats and the slowing-down effect of the weight or mass of the blood, something that may vary with illness.

They can read the elasticity of arteries. They can detect the existence of blockades of blood movements, due to hardened arteries, and to bottlenecks caused by malformations or disease. They can measure how much friction impedes the flow.

It is hoped that any disease of blood vessels can be detected and that hardening of the arteries can be detected earlier.

Adult Circulation At Library Increases

Records show that the circulation in the Public Library and Branch Library up to October 31 had a total increase of 10,791 over this same period last year, William Graff, librarian, reported to the Library Board, at their meeting Thursday night.

The increase in the adult circulation over last year was 8,262 and in the boys' and girls' department 2,529.

During October the first series of class visits was completed by the Boys' and Girls' Department. All grades from 3 to 8 in Public and Separate Schools have now had one formal visit to the library with their teacher. There was a remarkable increase in registration this month. A total of 230 new members were registered during October.

Miss Genevieve Sullivan visited the Civic Hospital Library and re-organized the library in its new premises.

During October displays were arranged for Canada Book Week, Sea Stories and Public Speaking. A United Nations display for United Nations Week sponsored by the Rotary Club was also arranged.

Canada Will Send Battalion To Korea Late In November

May Ask Dominion Make Jet Bomber Shinwell Reveals

OTTAWA, Nov. 4—(CP)—Britain's Defence Minister, Emanuel Shinwell, says Canada may be asked to produce the new British jet-propelled medium bomber, The Canberra, generally considered an ideal vehicle for the atom bomb. The British minister raised the matter himself during a press conference Friday prior to going into talks with the defence committee of the Cabinet. He put it forward as one way in which standardization of arms could work among Atlantic Pact powers. Both Canada and the United States, he said, might use the Canberra themselves in the build-up of Western military defensive forces.

It was "only an idea—I'm not committed to this."

But his reference gave official weight to reports that Britain would like to have Canada make the new bomber in the big Montreal plant of Canadair Limited, at present producing modern jet fighters for the RCAF.

Mr. Shinwell arrived Friday along with The Netherlands war secretary, Fockema - Andreae. They came up from Washington by air with Defence Minister Claxton, who returned from Atlantic treaty talks there.

Look Over Facilities

The two visitors will spend four days in Canada and will look over this country's training and war production facilities, including the Canadair plant.

Mr. Fockema-Andreae, in a later press conference, expressed his country's gratitude for Canada's gift of equipment for a Dutch army division.

He reiterated Mr. Shinwell's acceptance of the principle of German rearmament as long as it is welded into the common plan for western defence in Europe.

At his press conference Mr Shinwell also said the Korean war has arrested a tendency to drift into a third world war, but "we can't afford to take risks and we don't intend to."

First Canadians Sail Tonight For Pusan Base

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Nov. 4—(CP)—The advance party of Canada's special brigade sailed from here tonight aboard the troop transport James O'Hara on the last stage of its journey to Korea.

The 350 Canadians, who arrived here Friday on the O'Hara after a two-week Pacific crossing from Seattle expect to reach Pusan, Korea, Monday morning.

Latest word is that they will occupy three old school buildings in that Southeastern Korea port. They will wait there until they are notified that reinforcements are on the way. Then they will stake out a training area outside Pusan, probably early next month.

Advanced 24 Hours

On arrival here Friday, the Canadians were told they would sail from Yokohama late Sunday and land in Korea Tuesday. However, sailing time of the O'Hara, which also carries American troops, was advanced nearly 24 hours.

The advance party is made up of specialists such as cooks, clerks, drivers and tradesmen. Its members, 95 per cent of whom are veterans of the Second World War, have received advanced individual training since joining the special force.

They are under command of General MacArthur, United Nations commander in Korea, and will move under his direction.

Hopes Dwindle For Lost Plane

GRENOBLE, France, Nov. 4—(Reuters)—Hopes of finding a missing Air India airliner with 48 persons aboard dwindled today as a 60-mile gale screamed through the Alps, grounding rescue planes and hampering ground efforts to locate the crash scene.

Several ground search parties sent word by walkie-talkie radio that they were giving up the search on the French side of the Alps because of the wind and heavy snow.

The plane could be completely buried in a few days if the snow continues. It would be impossible to find it then until spring.

Geneva airport authorities still are baffled by the sudden disappearance of the plane within 35 minutes of the airport. The plane was flying from Bombay to London with 40 Indian seamen and a crew of eight.

Fear St. Louis Strike Spread To 5 States

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—A telephone strike in St. Louis threatened today to spread to five states in advance of next week's scheduled country-wide walkout.

President Joseph A. Beirne of the Communications Workers of America (C.I.O.) said the St. Louis strike, involving about 3,000 persons, could spread through Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

But it would not be used as an excuse to jump the gun on a national strike, involving 300,000 employees, set for next Thursday.

Federal mediators, meanwhile, worked feverishly against the clock here to thresh out the dispute in time to head off next week's big strike.

French Troops Begin New Foothill Retreat

SAIGON, Indo-China, Nov. 4 (AP)—French troops today began a new retreat, this time from positions in the foothills 45 miles southwest of Hanoi.

Official reports said the small French post of Vubanh and a whole string of outposts and guard towers are being evacuated in a new retrenchment of defence lines around Hanoi, North Indo-China metropolis and key centre of the Red river delta.

Stone From Grave Presented To Indians

OHSWEKEN, Ont. Nov. 4 (CP)—A piece of smoothly-polished "greenstone" taken from the grave of a Maori king was presented to the Six Nations Indians at a ceremony Thursday at the Iroquois council house here.

The gift from the New Zealand natives returns the honor of a gift of "snow snakes," taken to New Zealand last year by David Smith, 12-year-old son of a Six Nations teacher.

The Iroquois rated the Maoris relic one of their most significant gifts since 1712, when they received a Bible and communion plate from Queen Anne of England.

Young Fighter Dies After Knockout Blow

SOUTH RIVER, N.S., Nov. 4 (CP)—Alex Chisholm, 23, died in hospital in nearby Antigonish early today after failing to gain consciousness from a knockout blow delivered in a fight card here Friday night. His death is believed to be the first Maritime ring fatality.

His opponent in a six, two minute round preliminary was Kid Sutherland, also 23, of nearby Country Harbor. Both weighed 150.

The knockout blow to the jaw was delivered in the first seconds of the second round. Chisholm was carried from the ring and driven six miles to St. Martha's Hospital in Antigonish where he died a few hours later. Most of the crowd of 800 spectators did not know of his serious condition.

Promises Canada's Help To Keep German Freedom

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 4 (Reuters). — T. C. Davis, head of the Canadian mission to West Germany, said today that Canada "will do what is needed" to preserve German freedom.

"What happens here is very vital to us," he told a German audience at the opening of the Canadian Exhibition.

"We propose to do what is needed to see that your freedom —which is coupled with our freedom—is preserved."

Canada needed more people and would welcome German settlers. People of German origin now constituted the third largest ethnic group in the Dominion. They had developed into loyal, first-class industrious citizens.

"When you become a Canadian," he said, "your freedom is guaranteed."

The present division of Germany enabled Germans to see "within the confines of your nation the difference between freedom and slavery."

Germans lay between the free countries of the world and the Russian-enslaved countries. The people of West Germany had of their own volition "chosen to throw in their lot with us of the free world."

"We welcome you and hope and pray the bonds of freedom which are binding us together may strengthen and grow and be indissoluble," Davis said.

Scarboro Man Killed Duck Hunting

Said Alone In Boat Near Campbellford When Gun Discharged

Gerald Osborn Amon, 53 Drake Crescent, Scarboro Bluffs, near Toronto, was almost instantly killed early today when his shot gun discharged in some manner while he was alone in a boat and he received the full charge in the chest.

Amon was one of a party of five adults and two children duck hunting at Cole's Point about eight miles north-west of Campbellford.

Hear Blast

In another boat out of sight of Amon were two others in the party, Bruce Taylor and Leslie Harper, both of Toronto. When they heard the shotgun blast, they thought Amon had found some ducks and rowed over toward the sound of the blast. They found Amon's body in the boat. He was dead.

Amon's wife was believed not with the party, but at her home.

Details were not readily available.

Living Costs Rise Again

OTTAWA, Nov. 4 — (CP). — Living costs made their eighth advance in nine months during September, moving the cost-of-livng index up 0.9 points to a peak of 170.7 from 169.8, the Bureau of Statistics reported Friday.

Prices generally were higher all along the consumer front. One major exception was meat prices which decreased after a sharp upward drive during spring and summer months.

Prices increased for eggs, butter, milk, coffee, fruits, coal and coke, fall and winter clothing, footwear, tires, certain drugs and other items.

With September's advance, the Bureau estimated that living costs had climbed 69.3 per cent since August, 1939. The index is calculated on the basis that 1935-1939 prices equal 100.

Level Off

On the wholesale front, prices during October appeared to level off. An official said this stemmed probably from the government's move to free the dollar and the subsequent rise in the dollar on the New York market.

However, he did not believe this levelling-off would be long maintained. Some dealers, he said, already were increasing their prices which would tend to eliminate the anti-inflationary effects of the dollar change.

On the consumer level, the food sub-index advanced 1.3 points to 220.1 from 218.8—a gain of 15.1 points from 205.0 a year ago.

Prices for eggs, butter, milk, coffee and fruits well over-balanced declines in meat and fresh vegetable prices.

Conductor Wounded

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 4—(CP)—A Canadian Pacific Railway conductor was shot and wounded Thursday night while sitting in the cupola of a caboose as a freight train passed Gurney, about 30 miles east of Schreiber. Condition of the conductor, William Alcorn of Schreiber, with a wound just below the left armpit, is not serious.

India Offers To Shelter Tibet's Boy Ruler

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 4—(AP).—India has offered to give asylum to the Dalai Lama, boy ruler of Tibet, should he flee his capital of Lhasa to avoid capture by Chinese Communists, officials disclosed today.

Foreign ministry officials viewed with skepticism hearsay reports fro mthe border point of Kalimpong that the priest-ruler and his elderly regent already were fleeing from the remote capital on the roof of the world.

But they admitted puzzlement at the long silence of Dr. S. Sinha Indian diplomatic representative in Tibet.

His last report, received Oct. 30 still is the only reliable news received directly from the Tibetan capital so far. It said Chinese Communist troops then were 200 airline miles east of Lhasa.

His report also inquired whether the 16-year-old Lama would be given refuge in India if he desired it. India's reply was that asylum would be granted any legitimate refugee.

Many Rumors

Rumors are generated briskly at Kalimpong, on India's north border, where they are picked up from groups of Tibetan traders who arrive after a three-week trek from Lhasa with their merchandise-laden yaks—the beasts of burden in that primitive region.

Many such reports lack substantiation from other sources.

The Kalimpong correspondent for the Calcutta newspaper Statesman reported Friday night that the Chinese Communists were within 150 miles of Tibet's capital.

The invaders were said to have reached Ngchuka, on the route from Jyekundo in the Chinese province of Tsinghai. It is considered the easiest road to Lhasa.

PlanFurtherDiscussion On Police Pensions

WINDSOR, Nov. 4 — (CP) — Board of Control decided Friday night to discuss further reorganization of the police department with Windsor police commission before fixing pensions for former Chief Claude Renaud and Deputy Chief W. H. Neale.

Mayor Arthur J. Reaume said Renaud would receive $2,190 and Neale $1,792 annually if the recommendation of the commission that both men be granted full pensions were followed.

The mayor said the cost to the city of the two pensions would be $2,825 annually. Previous participation payments to the city pension plan would net Renaud about $721, and Neale $434 each year, and the city would make up the balance.

Before making any recommendations on the subject to the council, members of the board will meet with the police commissioners on Nov. 13.

Soviets Sore At Santa Ban Yule Appearance

BERLIN, Nov. 4 (Reuters). — The Russians are sore at Santa Claus. Toy manufacturers in the Soviet zone of Germany have been forbidden to produce Santa Clauses or Christmas angels, the West Berlin newspaper Die Welt said today. Instead, they have been told to make dolls wearing blue shirts and carrying blue flags of the Communist youth organization.

Allied Line Stands Firm Against Reds

Confirm 2 Divisions Of Chinese Fighting In Korea

SEOUL, Nov. 4 (AP)—Allied forces formed a firm line today against Chinese and Korean Communist resistance—a line that stood unbroken in the face of renewed Red attacks.

A U.S. Eighth Army spokesman said "the equivalent of" at least two Chinese divisions are battling United Nations forces in northwest Korea.

On the Korean east coast, the U.S. Marines still were in trouble.

The victory that had seemed so simple last month had changed complexion. One high-ranking Eighth Army officer said the Reds probably have 300,000 troops deployed along the Korean- Manchurian border.

The spokesman said the Chinese Reds may have 1,000,000 or more troops within "committing distance," meaning they could strike from their present locations.

Have No Proof

However, intelligence officers said there still is doubt about whether Red China has sent regular divisions into Korea.

As yet there was no "pattern or proof."

In the most crucial area, at Unsan and Kunu inland from the west coast, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said the entire withdrawal strategy is "almost complete.

The situation there appeared, on the basis of field dispatches, to be stablized.

In northwest Korea, half of a trapped regiment of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division escaped to the new UN defence line from a trap sprung Thursday by the Korean Reds, aided by Chinese Communist troops.

Run Into Trouble

On the northeast front, the American Marine 7th Regiment ran into trouble on a drive northwest of Sudong, 20 miles north of the east coast industrial city of Hamhung. The marines are driving toward the Changjin reservoir, one of two power dams serving both North Korea and Southern Manchuria.

The weather continued bad for Allied air forces. Intermittent rains and low clouds hampered close fighter support. Observation planes were able to spot enemy forces moving southeasterly from the Yalu River boundary of

Dollar Reserves No Longer Law

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (CP) — The New York Times says today in a dispatch from Torquay, England, that the international monetary fund has found monetary reserves of Britain and three other commonwealth countries are no longer "very low."

The Times says the advice was sent to the Wrold Trade Conference at Torquay. The fund had advised the conference that the four countries have no further excuse for maintaining their present discriminatory restrictions on imports from the United States and other parts of the dollar area.

Besides Britain, the sterling-area countries concerned are Australia, New Zealand and Ceylon.

The fund had said the reserves of the three countries were neither "very low" nor in danger of "serious decline."

The Times says that under the terms of the general agreement on tariffs and trade to which these countries adhere, this finding of the fund is binding as to facts.

Under terms of this same agreement, the newspaper says these countries no longer have the right to discriminate against dollar goods when such a finding has been made.

Reds Propose Conference For Unification of Germany

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—A Russian proposal to talk over a Communist plan for unifying Germany appeared headed today for quick rejection by the United States, Britain and France. A note proposing a meeting of foreign ministers of the four countries to discuss the plan was handed Friday night in Moscow to the French, British and U.S. Ambassadors.

The Communist plan, first proposed Oct. 27 at Prague, calls for creation of an all-German constitutional council to set up a single government for the entire country. It also would ban German rearmament and require withdrawal of occupation troops.

American officials termed the new Russian invitation "a propaganda stunt" aimed at scuttling western plans to rearm western Germany as a barrier against Communism.

Cool Reception

They confidently predicted London and Paris would give it a similar cool reception.

Western leaders already had denounced the plan as a Moscow-inspired effort to sow confusion in Germany and France.

One of its main points was a proposal that the United States, Britain, France and Russia pledge "they will not allow remilitarization of Germany and her being dragged into any aggressive plans."

It also called on the four countries to "carry out" the 1945 Potsdam agreement on "stabiliz-

Cocktail Party For Octopuses

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4 (AP)—A cocktail party in honor of three octopuses was held at the California Academy of Sciences Friday night.

These are unusual octopuses. They are expected to live longer in captivity than any others of their species.

The reason is a specially-built tank of refrigerated water in which they live at Steinhart Aquarium in Golden Gate Park.

Water from the Pacific Ocean is pumped to the aquarium, strained of sand, filtered for carbon dioxide and refrigerated to between 49 and 54 degrees Fahrenheit.

In such an environment the octopuses may live for a year or more. In ordinary aquarium tanks they usually live only a few weeks. In their natural habitat they may reach the ripe old age of 11 or 12 years.

Scientists and lay members of the academy inspected the new installation, poked the octopuses with a fish net to make them swim around, and drank cocktails.

The octopuses didn't take anything.

Pearson Gives Vishinsky A New Lesson In History

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(CP)—L. B. Pearson Friday gave Russia's Andrei Vishinsky a lesson in analytical history.

Canada's External Affairs Minister, speaking on the western-sponsored plan to authorize the U.N. to meet aggression with force, assailed the Russian Foreign Minister on his interpretation of Berlin-Moscow relations in 1939.

In Vishinsky's discussion of the veto-proof resolution, Pearson said, the Russian assured the U.N. that the sole purpose of the Soviet German Pact of 1939 was to enable the USSR to fill gaps in its defences for the attack it knew was coming.

"I must tell him frankly that his account of that episode simply will not wash," said Pearson.

"If that is a true explanation, why did the Soviet Union do its best, after the destruction of Poland, to force the nations of the British Commonwealth and France to stop fighting Hitler; and why did they accuse them of aggression in continuing the war?"

Pearson said the Russian version of what happened in Korea last June is "equally flimsy."

Vishinsky had insisted that it was Russia which tried to bring about a cease-fire in Korea to stop the war, and that it was the United States which did not permit this Pacific solution.

When the North Koreans were streaming triumphantly south, Pearson said, it was the Security Council and not the Soviet union which asked for a cease-fire.

"That was a splendid opportunity for the Soviet Union to support an appeal to cease fire . . .

"So far as I am aware, there was no whisper of support . . ."

Princess Pats Chosen For Service

Remainder of Brigade Will Be Sent To Washington Base

OTTAWA, Nov. 4—(CP)—Defence Minister Claxton announced today that an infantry battalion and supporting troops from Canada's Special Brigade will move to Korea late in November.

The battalion selected is the Second Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

The remainder of the Special Brigade will remain in Fort Lewis, Wash., where it will be available for service required of Canada as a member of United Nations and of the North Atlantic Treaty.

Head For Fort Lewis

Mr. Claxton said that arrangements have been completed to move the 11,000-man special force to Fort Lewis for training purposes. The movement will begin Nov. 15 and will be completed on Nov. 23.

Mr. Claxton said in his statement:

"Arrangements have been completed whereby the Canadian army special force will proceed to Fort Lewis, near Seattle, as planned. The move will begin Nov. 15 and be completed on Nov. 23.

"Before proceeding all members of the force receive four days leave in addition to time for travel to and from their homes.

"As at present planned, late in November one infantry battalion with some supporting troops will move directly to Korea where it will continue training and assist other United Nations forces. The

First Snowfall In S. Ontario

TORONTO, Nov. 4 (CP).—The season's first snowfall in southern Ontario, general in the region Friday night, today moved slowly northward.

The weather man said prospects were for a cold, wet and windy weekend with snow changing to rain later today. Sunday probably will be cold with cloudy skies.

About 2½ inches of snow fell at suburban Malton. A high of 40 degrees was expected today. Temperatures were just above freezing this morning, in contrast with Wednesday's 74 degrees that broke records for that date.

Slush Causes Accident Roads Bare By Noon

Snow and slush on the highways this morning accounted for an accident involving a passenger car and a furniture company truck. The car was coming north on Highway 28 over Larmer's Hill, 1½ miles south of Fraserville at ten o'clock this morning, when it slid in the slush and went out of control. At this moment a Cherney Bros. truck was coming over the hill.

The truck hit the car broadside and both were quite badly damaged. However, the man and wife in the car, and the truck driver and his passenger, were only slightly scratched. An ambulance which went out from Peterborough found its services unnecessary. While Cobourg Provincial Police questioned the two drivers, the other two waited in Cunningham's General Store, Fraserville, taking refuge from the wet snow.

Highway 28 Bad

Highway 28 out of Peterborough was in wretched driving condition until noon. Two cars were ditched before Springville, and some Peterborough motorists starting out for Toronto gave up the struggle after a few miles and returned to Peterborough.

Indonesians Capture Rebel Capital

Reject UN Proposals For Mediation Said Internal Matter

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Nov. 4 — (AP) — Indonesian troops have captured the town of Amboina, capital and defence stronghold of the rebel South Moluccan Republic, the government announced today.

The capital, located on the Island of Amboina where Indonesian troops made an amphibious landing Sept. 28, fell Friday at noon.

Amboina island is one of the Moluccas, between the Celebes and New Guinea, where last spring Rebels proclaimed a Republic independent of Indonesian federal control.

Central government forces invaded the key rebel island Sept. 28.

A United Nations commission in Indonesia last month urged that military operations be halted, and offered its good offices for a peaceful settlement.

Rejected Overtures

Indonesia rejected these overtures Oct. 10, contending that the Amboina issue was a domestic one and beyond UN jurisdiction.

The Jakarta government's view is that the rebellion was brought on by failure of the Dutch to maintain discipline over native Amboinese troops of the former Netherlands East Indies army after granting Indonesia independence. These troops formed the core of the rebellion.

Whether the fall of Amboina town means an imminent end to Amboinese opposition remains to be seen.

Spent 7 Nights In Police Cells

A Peterborough youth, Ray Brown, of no fixed address, who spent seven nights in the last two weeks as a lodger in city police cells, was found guilty of a charge of vagrancy in police court Friday and fined $5 and costs or five days.

Constable Dennis Traynor testified the 20-year-old man said he had a room at Bill the Greek's place on Aylmer St. but he was often locked out.

Constable Traynor said he learned Brown had not paid for his room and was locked out because he didn't come in before three and four a.m. He often slept in the CPR station on Canada Bread building, the constable said. Brown told the court he was working.

"This is an exact repetition of two or three weeks ago," commented Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw. "If he comes back again I propose to ask for a reformatory term."

Kathleen Stokes Coming To City

The Peterborough Choral Society's opening concert will feature a Canadian artist who has won a permanent place in the hearts of music lovers throughout the United States and Canada.

Playing the Choral Society's new Hammond organ, Kathleen Stokes will be heard in a wonderful variety from the classics, semi-classics and popular numbers.

The chorus of the Choral Society will present five numbers and three soloists will sing classical selections.

The concert will be held at the Collegiate Auditorium on Friday at 8.15 p.m. with William Sims conducting and Olive Searles as accompanist.

LAST OF THE LEAVES

Those old Lombardy poplars at the corner of Park and Charlotte Streets were clinging to their green-gold foliage this morning as the first snow of the winter changed the whole aspect of the recent scenery. They have been spectators for nearly a century, at least from the days when the old Burnham house stood along in the big field bounded by Park, King, Charlotte and Monaghan Road. There is a new and attractive row of them at Park and Westcott Streets.

United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers (AFL) will meet here Sunday to decide on union policy in future negotiations. Officers from locals in Belleville, Havelock and Lakefield will confer with Canadian representative, Maurice Lachapelle. In October the union signed a one-year contract with the American Nepheline Co., Lakefield, the chief tiem being a wage increase that averaged seven and a half cents.

Seven Men Enlisted In Recruiting Drive

A week-long drive in the Peterborough district for the Canadian Army active force resulted in seven prospective recruits being sent to Kingston. This is the third Canadian Army mobile recruiting team to be in the district in the past two months.

Four of the seven recruits were from Peterborough, M. J. McCann, R. F. Sullivan, K. W. McElroy, R. J. Dundas and B. H. Hunt. These men were sent to Kingston for further tests and medical examination by Sgt. R. K. Baker, one section of the team, who were at the Peterborough armouries throughout the week.

Capt. J. P. MacDowell, Queen's Own Rifles, recruiting officer for Eastern Ontario, worked in Lindsay, Fenelon Falls and Bobcaygeon as well as Peterborough. From Fenelon Falls he recruited Allan Northey and Allan Junkin.

Next week Capt. MacDowell's team will be in Port Hope, Cobourg, Bowmanville, Millbrook and Norwood.

Full Intervention Of Chinese Propaganda Hint

HONG KONG, Nov. 4. (AP)—The Chinese Communists have opened the floodgates of propaganda, and the ensuing roar sounds as if they intend full-scale intervention in Korea.

Already the growing evidence that the Chinese have entered the Korean war to a limited extent is causing uneasiness in non-Communist areas of this part of Asia.

The feeling in this crown colony on the edge of Red China is that the world is only a narrow step away from a third great war.

And such a war would bring the heavy force of Communist arms to bear against such a small, non-Communist areas as this.

The prevailing opinion here still is that the Chinese Communists have only a limited objective in mind in Korea. Most observers believe they are worried about the Yalu River power grid, which supplies electricity to much of Manchuria's industries.

Another Explanation

Another explanation is that the Chinese Communists simply want to establish a buffer zone between Manchuria and Korea. Manchuria is the main industrial area in which the Chinese Communists say they intend to build a modern China. They always have been hypersensitive about Manchuria.

On the other hand, the new outbreak of propaganda with its overtones of intervention sounds ominous.

The Peiping radio says it has received "thousands of letters" from persons "anxious to join their Korean neighbors in annihilating the aggressive American hordes" in Korea.

Observers recognize this as a Communist effort to condition their people for war. And they believe it sounds more like full-scale rather than limited intervention.

Manchuria, but there was no indication that the movement was on a large scale.

Planes were supplying two battalions of marines cut off on their drive to the power dam in the northeast. One battalion was encircled just west of Wonsau, where the marines landed last week. Other units were strung out more than 100 miles from the Sudong area to a point 30 miles south of Wonsan.

There was no further word of another unit of the 1st cavalry—about half a battalion—that was trapped west of Unsan in the heavy Communist counter-thrust.

The U.S. 1st cavalry had gone to the rescue of the badly-mauled South Korean 6th division, which plunged spearheads last week all the way to the Manchurian border.

The Red counter-attack, in and around Onjong, cut the 6th division into pieces.

Generally, the U.N. lines were holding firm in the vicinity of the Chongchon river, but the Reds were keeping up the pressure. The South Korean 1st division was under a seven-hour assault seven miles south of Unsan.

In Tokyo, MacArthur's intelligence spokesman said only minor readjustments remained to be made. He added that the situation was better Friday than it was Thursday, when the U.S. 24th division was forced to fall back as much as 50 miles to safeguard its right flank on the west coast.

The spokesman said new positions were formed both for defence and for the next U.N. action.

Centreville WMS At Hutchinson Home

CENTREVILLE, Nov. 4 (ENS)—Mrs. Richard Hutchison was hostess to the WMS of Centreville Presbyterian Church on Wednesday afternoon with 30 members present and two visitors. Mrs. Roy Brackenridge, president, was in charge. Mrs. Willis Hall was appointed secretary for the WMS monthly magazine, "The Glad Tidings," and all members were urged to subscribe for the coming year. A nominating committee was appointed to draw up a slate of officers for 1951.

Miss E. Donaldson, library secretary, asked members to return library books next meeting. The scripture was read by Mrs. R. Bonner, Mrs Eagleson and Mrs. Ralph Creer. Passages from the study book "Among Koreans in Japan" were given by Mrs. Jay Whittington. Mrs. W. Hall and Miss Donaldson.

Mrs. Wm. Morrison was in charge of the business meeting when estimates and plans for new cupboards in the church kitchen were discussed. It was also decided to paint the exterior of the Sunday school hall.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. Isbister and will be the annual meeting.

Mrs. Hutchison and committee served a delicious lunch and a vote of thanks was given the hostess by Mrs. D. Rutherford.

HELD IN CONSPIRACY—Flanked by detectives, Mrs. Rosa Collazo, 40, wife of one of the two men who tried to kill President Truman, leaves New York's Federal Court, under $50,000 bail. Mrs. Collazo, whose husband was wounded in the attempt, was held on a charge of "conspiring to injure" the president.

No Information Be Given About Deserters—Claxton

OTTAWA, Nov. 4 (CP). — Defence Minister Claxton has ruled that no information be issued on absenteeism and deserters among Canada's 11,000-man special force.

The Canadian Press submitted a series of written questions to the National Defence Public Relations Office concerning the number of absentees and deserters. The answer was: "No information."

On Oct. 19, newspaper reports gave 703 as the official number of absentees after completion of four-day basic-training leave. Later the same day a Defence Department spokesman confirmed this figure as correct. The figure was said to contain 100 men classed as deserters—absent more than 21 days.

Mr. Claxton indicated that a statement on absentees would be issued but subsequently decided not to issue new figures.

Most of the force now is on seven-day embarkation leave. According to reliable information only about the equivalent of one battalion—1,000 men—will go to Korea. However, it is believed the authoritative view that the rest of the force would train in the states and later go to Europe was based on conditions in Korea prior to the recent sudden reverses of UN forces.

However the Defence Department has let it be known that no information will be made available on absenteeism on completion of embarkation leave.

Warsaw WMS Elects Officers For 1951

The annual meeting of the WMS of the United Church was held on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Wm. Darling presided. Taking part in the program were Miss Clara McCracken, Mrs. Harold Payne, Mrs. Dyson and Mrs. Geo. Taylor.

Mrs. Dyson read the report of the nominating committee and presented the slate of officers for 1951 as follows:

Honorary president, Mrs. Geo. Taylor; president, Mrs. Geo. Dyson; first vice, Mrs. Wm. Darling; second vice, Mrs. Harold Ray; secretary, Mrs. Ada Edwards; treasurer, Mrs. Harold Payne; temperance secretary, Mrs. Clara McCracken christian stewardship, Mrs. T. Russell; supply secretary, Mrs. Geo. Taylor; missionary monthly, Mrs. F. Sidey; press secretary, Mrs. Harold Payne.

Lunch was served by Miss Clara McCracken and Mrs. Harold Payne.

Harwood Institute Meets In Milne Home

HARWOOD, Nov. 4 (ENS). — The Harwood Institute branch, with 27 present, met at the home of Mrs. Gordon Milne, on the Harwood-Gore's Landing road on Thursday. The district president, Mrs. H. Eagleson gave a very splendid paper. She was thanked by Mrs. J. R. Meggs.

Mrs. R. E. Drope, the president, presided and roll call was a Hallowe'en experience. Several brought articles for save the children fund. A letter was read from the Cobourg branch of the Red Cross, with special thanks for the quilts received for Winnipeg relief. Members were asked to give any material available to Mrs. F. Stevens to make up slippers for children.

Mrs. R. S. Johnson explained a 25 cent bazaar sale, sending post cards asking friends for articles for bazaar to the value of 25 cents. It was decided to take up the project. It was agreed to have a euchre in the community hall, every other Wednesday. Refreshment committee to be half of the Institute members, alternately.

What About Temptation? Way Of Honesty Is Best

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Scandal-shrieking headlines on the front pages of our newspapers attest to the fact that there is a marked tendency in our modern world to treat acts of lust as an inevitable part of everyday life.

Hardly a day passes that a sordid, sin-steeped, modern-day story of the Garden of Eden is not hurled into the eye of a public that seemingly can no longer be shocked.

I think it was Oscar Wilde who quipped, "The thing to do with temptation is to yield to it." That quip is, perhaps a clue to the grim and terrible tragedy of Wilde's life, a brilliant existence that dissipated into glimmering ugliness. Ironically, Wilde, in his novel, "De Profundis," touched upon the life and teaching of Jesus. What a pity that the record of Jesus' three-fold temptations did not arrest Wilde's moral decadence.

Sex temptation has been dwelt upon by psychologists, novelists, playwrights, sociologists and psychiatrists. They have saturated the air with high-flying words like 'regressions', 'inhibitions'.. It is to be regretted that they have not dwelt, with equal insistence, upon "restraint," "conscience" and "resistance."

Long ago in the early life of Israel a moral leader warned his people, "Be sure your sin will find you out." And sin has been finding people out—both individuals and nations—all through the ages.

Great and good men sometimes white some foolish things. The poet, Walt Whitman, wrote foolishly, when he suggested that because animals didn't mourn over their sins, human beings shouldn't do so either; he might better have said that humans might mourn over their sins before they committed them.

The moral law of the universe is as true as when the words were written: "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." The operations of that law are sometimes obscure but the saying is apt and the exception proves the rule.

There is only one right and true course in life. It is the way of honesty, and of decency and fairness in all human relationships. Any deviation from that way brings trouble, even though cause and result are not always clearly seen. And the impulse to deviate from that way, through desire or self-interest, is temptation.

It is not something to be yielded to, but to be forestalled or conquered. The Master's was the true wisdom, when He taught us to pray: "Lead us not into temptation."

Urging Hipel Seek Leadership Ontario Liberals

PRESTON, Ont., Nov. 4 (CP)—Norman O. Hipel, former provincial cabinet minister, said today he has been urged to seek the Ontario Liberal leadership.

He was approached Friday by "quite a big delegation" of party members. He said of their suggestion:

"I haven't decided. I feel that I could be of real service."

A successor to Farquhar Oliver, who has resigned as provincial leader, will be picked at a party convention starting here next Saturday. Mr. Hipel said he will not commit himself until the convention.

He was Liberal member of the legislature for Waterloo South from 1930 to 1943. In the Hepburn government he was at various times minister of labor, lands and forests, welfare, public works and provincial secretary. He also was speaker of the legislature and, more recently, served two years as president of the Ontario Liberal Association.

Two Cars Collide In Heavy Traffic

Cars turning in all directions at the complicated intersection of Park and Reid Sts., were blamed by two drivers for their vehicles colliding Friday about 5.40 p.m.

Car driver Richard H. Chambers, 295 Townsend St., told police he was driving north on Reid St. and turned into Park St. At Sherbrooke St., which also enters the intersection, his car met in collision with a truck driven by Harold D. Ferguson, 220½ Brock St.

Ferguson told police he came to a full stop at Reid and Park Sts., but traffic turning in front of him obscured his vision and, starting up, he failed to see Chambers' car until too late to avoid a crash.

Chambers also said he did not see Ferguson until the last moment. Damage was done to both vehicles. Constable John Morrow investigated.

Doctor Never Missed Meeting Since 1902

ROSENEATH, Nov. 4 (ENS)—A large number of Roseneath people attended the funeral of the late Dr. E. W. Hayden at Trinity United Church, Cobourg. Dr. Hayden was a former physician in Roseneath and was a past president of Roseneath Agricultural Society. In 1902 he was president of the Agricultural Society, and from that date had never missed attending the annual event. In 1949 he was presented with a gold watch by the Fair Board in appreciation of his services.

Mrs. Hayden, the former Clara Dunn, was a former secretary of Roseneath Women's Institute.

Dr. Hayden is survived by his wife and a daughter Grace, two sons Harold and Drumble.

Interment was in the Cobourg Union Cemetery.

American officials scoffed at these points. They contended Russia has flagrantly violated the Potsdam provisions against rearming the Germans by creating and equipping an army of some 190,000 east Germans.

Russia is obviously trying, they said, to block the plans of the 12 Atlantic Pact countries for including German military units in their proposed integrated military force in western Europe.

battalion selected is the Second Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry.

The remainder of the force will continue training at Fort Lewis and be available for service to assist in discharging undertakings by Canada under the United Nations Charter or the North Atlantic Treaty.

To Be Relieved

"All Canadian forces — Navy, Army, and Air Force — employed in the Far East will be relieved by other units and men in rotation if their stay is prolonged."

It was learned that the Princess Pats were chosen because they had proceeded to the advanced stage of their training faster than other units of the special brigade.

It is not expected that they will do any fighting in Korea until at least two months after their arrival there. They will continue training and possibly do some police work.

It also was learned that the remainder of the brigade will go to Korea if it is still needed there when it has completed most of its training. Otherwise, it likely will go to Europe.

AT PACIFIC FRONT—Dave McIntosh, Canadian Press staff writer, has just flown to Japan with a Canadian crew of the Korean air lift. McIntosh, himself a combat veteran of the RCAF, was at dockside in Yokohama when the transport James O'Hara arrived with the advance party of Canada's special brigade, whose departure from Seattle he had covered two weeks earlier. He will spend some weeks reporting from the Pacific war area.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Nov. 4 (CP) — Brisk trading developed on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange Friday as aggressive demand saw commercial buying by shippers and export concerns, particularly in oats and barley. There were wide gains in flax on strong processor demand.

Class 2 and IWA wheat were down a half cent. No export business was reported in wheat, but coarse grains were being consigned to United States ports in quantity.

Lantern Explodes Kitchen Damaged

HARWOOD, Nov. 4 (ENS). — The home of Earl Sherwin was partially burned on Wednesday evening when a lantern exploded and the flames spread to the ceiling. Mr. Sherwin's arm was badly burned when he tried to put out the flames. He rushed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harris to put in the fire alarm, as there is no telephone on the Sherwin place. When help arrived Mrs. Sherwin had the fire under control from water from a cistern at the back door. Mr. Sherwin was taken to the Cobourg General Hospital for two hours to have his arm dressed, and later returned home. The main damage was to the kitchen.

May Lift Ban On Envoys For Spain

U.N. Assembly Ready To Revoke Law, Gaining Nothing

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—The United Nations was expected to revoke today its four-year ban on sending Ambassadors to Franco Spain and to grant Spain the right to join organizations affiliated with the U.N., but not to join the world body itself.

Although the United States is supporting the move to lower the barriers raised against Spain in 1946, President Truman made it clear at his press conference Thursday that it would be a long time before he sends an American Ambassador to Madrid.

The U.S. position is that the U.N.'s anti-Franco resolution has failed to accomplish any worthwhile aim and is just an irritation to those countries—chiefly in sentimental ties with Spain.

Assembly action on Spain ends one of the busiest weeks the UN ever has had.

Stinging Defeats

During the week Russia suffered four of her most stinging diplomatic defeats. These were:

1. Extension of Trygve Lie's term as secretary-general for three years despite Soviet threats not to deal with him.

2. Passage of the U.S. anti-aggression plan which by-passes Russia's Security Council veto by giving the Assembly military power to combat threats to the peace.

3. Approval by the political committee yesterday of a companion measure—called "Peace Through Deeds"—which defines aggression as the greatest crime against mankind. This was passed after rejection of a Soviet "peace plan" based on the Stockholm peace resolution which the west denounced as highly misleading.

4. Condemnation by the Assembly yesterday of three Russian satellites—Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania—for flagrant violation of human rights. This resolution was sparked by the imprisonment of Joseph Cardinal Mindzenty and the imprisonment and execution of other religious and political leaders.

Takes Three Tries To Get Fighting Cow To Market

FERONIA, Nov. 4. — Snow White, the little cow that fought a bear, was loaded into a truck after a 45-minute struggle with five men and shipped off to market in Toronto Friday.

Reputedly the meanest critter in he north country, Snow White is a runty white bovine about the size of a pony. She was hauled into the back end of the truck only after she had been lasooed and blindfolded. She was prevented from charging drayers and farmhands by two ropes held by men on each side of her.

Friday's effort to get it to market was the third one.

A week ago, Snow White went berserk as efforts were made to load her. She charged cattle dealer Ernest Unger, injuring him in the thigh. A second loading attempt met with failure too, and farmer Norman Lennox, in whose fields an attempt was made to fatten her, thought she would have to be shot in the field.

"She charged around like a roaring lion" said Lennox. "She is really loco."

The animal had been purchased early this summer by William Unger from a settler. For three years it had run wild in the bush.

It early displayed its savage nature and its horns were sawed off as a yearling. Once the tiny white beast actually chased a bear from the settler's farm, district residents say.

"Thank goodness we've seen the last of her. I'd like to see what happens when those fellows at the stockyards unload her," said Lennox.

Quebec Studies CBC Application

QUEBEC, Nov. 4—(CP)—The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's request for authority to build a television transmitter on Mount Royal in Montreal is being studied by the provincial government.

Premier Duplessis told his weekly press conference Friday he has received a fresh request from the CBC for permission to go ahead with its plan for the Mount Royal television transmitter.

The site chosen by CBC engineers is the property of the city of Montreal. Since Montreal is administered under a provincial government charter, the city cannot dispose of properties accorded it under the charter unless such right is specifically mentioned in it.

This is the reason why during the 1950 session of the legislature the City of Montreal sought, in a private bill, the power to authorize the CBC to construct a television transmitter.

The Legislature granted this power to the City of Montreal on two conditions: 1—Approval of city council; 2—Approval by the provincial cabinet through an order-in-council.

The city council has authorized the CBC to go ahead, but the provincial cabinet has not yet approved.

Premier Duplessis said he has received "protests" over the CBC plan from private radio concerns, which he said are opposed to the creation of a CBC "television monopoly".

Study Question

The premier said his government will study the whole question.

He has indicated in the past that his government will not say yes to the plan for the Mount Royal Television Transmitter until the CBC allows the Quebec government to set up its own broadcasting service.

A bill for a government radio network has been passed by the provincial legislature but cannot be applied until the CBC gives the Quebec government permission to enter the broadcasting field.

Mr. Duplessis also discussed the province's industrial expansion and talked of visits from Anton Gray and Jules Timmins, respectively presidents of Quebec Titanium Company and Hollinger North Shore.

The Titanium-ore development at Lac Allard, the titanium refining plant at Sorel, and the $200,000,000 iron-ore project, in Ungava, coupled with the 200,000 horse power hydro-electric power development at Chute du Diable by the Aluminum Company of Canada, added up to "immense" industrial enterprise that would benefit their regions, the province and the whole country.

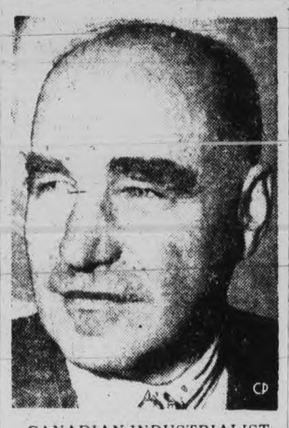
Mrs. W. Turney Made Life Member Of Circle

WARKWORTH, Nov. 4 (ENS)—The Circle of the Cremahe Baptist Church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Dingwell, Sr., Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Moran Grills, the president, opened the meeting with singing of hymns. The roll call and the minutes were given by Mrs. C. Rusk, the ladies answering with a verse of scripture. Delegates were chosen to attend the November association meeting in Campbellford.

Mrs. J. B. McKagne made the presentation of a life membership to Mrs. Wallace Turney, it being a gift from her family, and she spoke of the many years of faithful service that Mrs. Turney had given to the Circle.

The speaker for the evening was the Rev. Mr. McDowell and he was introduced by the pastor, the Rev. Beach.



Say Stint In Korea To Be Sapper's Last

PUSAN, Korea, Nov. 4 (Reuters)—For a Canadian among the 2,000 British reinforcements arriving here Friday, the stint in Korea will be his last in the British army.

The Canadian is Sapper Joseph Gallagher, of Kingston, who served 5½ years with the RAF in the Second World War and then transferred four years ago to the army.

Gallagher, now in the 29th Brigade which arrived here Friday, said he will go back to his wife in Canada, when he wins his expected release in April after 10 years' service with British forces.

"I will be glad when we get the job over and get back," he said.

CANADIAN INDUSTRIALIST—Harvey Reginald MacMillan, of Vancouver, is one of Canada's foremost industrialists with huge lumber, shipping and cannery interests in British Columbia. He was president of Wartime Merchant Shipping, Ltd., a Crown corporation operated during the Second World War, and has held other high government posts.

Choose Site For Fire College

TORONTO, Nov. 4 (CP)—The new Ontario Fire Marshal's College will be located near the Provincial Lands Department's Forest Ranger School at St. Nora's Lake, eight miles south of Dorset in Muskoka, it was learned Friday.

Besides instruction in the latest fire-fighting equipment and methods, the school will emphasize civil defence work. Firemen from many parts of the province will be trained in protection against the after-hazards of an atomic bomb attack.

Provision for the school was made by the provincial legislature last year. At first it was planned to locate it near a university with the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph a likely choice.

However, it was learned that decision was made to locate it at St. Nora's Lake because the forest ranger school, situated in an 18,000-acre forest, has space available and also maintains large fire-fighting services. Announcement of this site is expected in a few days.

Attendance at the school will be voluntary but the province will share with each municipality the costs of firemen sent to it.

Melody Lingers

YORKTON, Sask. —(CP)— A century-old music box set into a family photograph album has been presented to the Yorkton museum by 91-year-old B. Muir of Saltcoats. The music box, which plays for 15 minutes when the album is opened, is in perfect working order.

Here the council president, Mrs. R. J. Marshall of Agincourt, Ont., hands the resolutions to the prime minister.

Sell Oil Land For Two Million

EDMONTON, Nov. 4 (CP)—Another $2,759,746 was added Friday to Alberta's bulging coffers following the auction of oil rights on 73 quarter sections of Crown land.

Income from the sale raised the proceeds of such lease sales in the present fiscal year to approximately $26,300,000. The total was 22,600,000 last year, and the government budgeted for $6,500,000 this year.

Biggest income was from the Redwater field 45 miles northeast of Edmonton, where six tracts of 160 acres each were sold for $1,883,871. Top price was $937,000. The land was spotted around the fringes of the field, Canada's largest.

Included in a selection of miscellaneous tracts were seven quarters near the southwestern corner of the Leduc oilfield, 18 miles southeast of here. Five were sold. Highest price was $100,251.

For the first time, the government put on the block two quarters in the Golden Spike field, eight miles west of here, home of Canada's biggest oilwell, Imperial Schoepp No. 1. It had an initial potential flow of 10,000 barrels daily.

Our Moribund Railways

Peterborough is served by both the C.N.R. and the C.P.R. More accurately, both companies have stations in the city, trains which run in and out, and offices which will receive and send telegrams when they are open. To call what the railway companies give Peterborough and its populous district "service" is a laughable exaggeration.

* * *

The two stations are exactly the same—have the same wickets, the same types of benches and lavatories, the same poor lighting, the same village appearance (except for enlarged freight sheds)—as fifty years ago when the population of the city was about 10,000. This sameness is intended to suit Peterborough in 1950, when its population is 37,000, and the figure does not include a large suburban population.

* * *

The two railway companies have, all told five trains daily going west (destination Toronto) and five trains daily going east (with destinations variously Port Hope, Belleville, Ottawa and Montreal). These are daily except Sunday. On Sunday, by the railways' apparent theory, nobody wants to enter or leave the city; although three trains sneak in or out at inconvenient hours to pick up incidental wayfarers who might be travelling that day. (We except from this criticism the C.P.R. special which takes week-enders back to Toronto at 5:30 p.m. on Sunday, but woe betide the unwary Peterborough traveller by train who wants to get back after lunch and before two in the morning.) On the face of it five trains daily in each direction, and three on Sundays might seem an adequate schedule. It is not. In the first place, the only reasonably fast run in or out of Peterborough is the direct C.P.R. Toronto line. The C.N.R. via Lindsay is indirect and slow. The C.P.R. to Montreal (at night it goes via Ottawa, where passengers have to surrender their berths about sunrise) makes some fifty stops. Connections with main line fast trains are few and slack. And there is a remarkable duplication of schedules. Let us look at these.

* * *

The second C.P.R. morning train to Toronto leaves at 7:10; the C.N.R. at 7:3 . The C.P.R. 5:10 to Toronto is duplicated by the C.N.R. to Toronto via Lindsay, leaving at 5:30 p.m. The C.P.R. from Toronto going east for Ottawa and Montreal arrives a few minutes before noon; the C.N.R. from Toronto destined for Port Hope and a Montreal connection, arrives a few minutes after noon. The only C.P.R. Sunday train to Toronto leaves at 5:30 p.m.; the only C.N.R. to Toronto on Sunday leaves at 7:10. Thus the companies compound their lack of service by duplicating each other's.

* * *

This ridiculous business has gone on for years. The schedules were the same in 1940, and the service as bad in 1940 as now. Yet Peterborough has grown fifty per cent in the ten years, from 24,531 in 1940 to 36,700 this year. Do the companies ever study their local time-tables with a view to giving better service? Does it occur to either to change schedules from one decade to the next if circumstances suggest it? Probably not; they do not seem to give a hoot about Peterborough travellers' needs; Peterborough is expected to adjust itself to the railways. Does it occur to the companies that greater and profitable use could be made of the Port Hope-Peterborough line as a feeder to the main line trains and schedules? Have they ever tried putting on that line a speedy one-car shuttle service?

* * *

We forebear at this moment from mentioning the week-end, or the night telegraph service offered; the way the stations are disposed not to answer telephone inquiries about trains; the hundreds of times each year trains are inexplicably late, while the office board reads 'On Time'.

* * *

The fact of the whole matter seems to be that the railway companies are not interested in giving good service to cities like Peterborough. They concentrate on the Toronto-Montreal, Toronto-Hamilton, or Toronto-Windsor runs, and let other places take whatever crumbs of service the railways feel disposed to provide. And the railways are so rigid in their customs and policies that, from a Peterborough point of view, they are rusting away, while the bus companies and trucking firms thrive on business the railways are too moribund to stoop for.

Toward Restoring the B.W.I. Market

We have commented several times during the last two years on the mutual importance to the two, of trade between Canada and the British West Indies. We have deplored the artificially-induced decline of that trade in the last two years, forced by the shortage of dollars in the sterling area.

During and immediately after the war ties between Canada and the colonial islands off the American coast, collectively known as the British West Indies, were remarkably strengthened. The sinews of this new strength were trade, but there came into being with it closer cultural relations, better mutual understanding, and warm friendliness between these two North American Commonwealth groups. B.W.I. students came to Canadian schools and colleges. Our servicemen stationed there during the war, tourists and businessmen travelling between Canada and the B.W.I. by Canadian planes and ships, and the reciprocal appreciation of each other's contrasting climates and complementary products, have made for such cordiality that there is talk in some quarters of B.W.I. federation with Canada.

This pleasant state of affairs was given a jolt two years ago when the dollar difficulties of Britain, banker for sterling countries like the B.W.I., caused the imposition of trade and exchange controls. The peak annual trade of the first three post-war years of $70 million, four times the pre-war rate, slumped drastically, and B.W.I. purchases in Canada became a comparative trickle. B.W.I. buying in Canada was cut more than half. The 'Lady' ships of the Canadian National could not muster paying loads. The restrictions were eased a little early in 1949 but the renewed dollar crisis in mid-summer brought further controls. B.W.I. purchases of primary Canadian products like apples, fish, dairy goods and paper were completely cut off.

The picture has brightened again, chiefly because of the substantial increase in the British Government's gold and sterling reserves. A new agreement has been signed, to go into effect at the beginning of January, which relaxes the restrictions and will again permit the B.W.I. to import basic items now banned, and thus restore what might have become a lost market to Canada. They will be under quotas, however, limiting purchases to one-third to one-half of the 1946-48 shipments.

The balance of trade between the B.W.I. and Canada has always been heavily in favor of Canada. The British Government, itself in a tight dollar position, is not overly anxious to cover annual dollar deficits in this trade, even when it can. A vigorous and thorough examination of the commercial possibilities between the two regions, and Canadian encouragement of B.W.I. exports, may further strengthen the trade which geographically, politically and culturally is advantageous to both peoples.

The Midas Touch

Our eye is caught by a reference in the Ottawa Journal to the fortune of a Miss Henrietta Sarah Fisher, of Sheffield, England. She died recently and left an estate valued at £1,491,899. The British Treasury has taken death duties to the extent of £1,142,698. The charities which are her heirs will receive £349,201. Not much out of such a large fortune.

For the present, at least, the day of large fortunes is done. But it will come back again. It always does. At many periods of history governments have found ways of taking money away from those who have it, but the human desire to acquire wealth always reasserts itself. The fact is that the talent for collecting money is like the talent for creating poetry in this one respect—it cannot be kept down. The poet will speak, and the acquisitive man will acquire.

There is no getting around the fact that some people are cleverer with money than others. It is a pipe-dream to suppose that money can always be kept in circulation, without anybody arresting and deflecting considerable quantities of it. For money is to the born financier what women are to the Don Juan and objects of art to the connoisseur—he will find a way to get it, whatever obstacles lie in his path. And it has not been shown that he is less fit to have it than a government which may lack his talent in money manipulation.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Toronto City Council has resolved to begin all its sessions with the Lord's Prayer. And if ever a body needed to be forgiven its trespasses—

An Italian in Milan will soon go on trial for stabbing both his first and second wives. The Brantford Expositor suggests that he is in a rut. But we predict that he will soon come to the end of his rope.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.
Honoured Sir:

On behalf of our client, Mr. Richard Dandiprat, we write to ask if it would not be possible to settle your difference with him in some amicable way which does not involve court procedure. Lawsuits among neighbours are to be avoided whenever possible, as we are sure you will agree. We learn to our amazement and chagrin that Mr. Dandiprat has written letters to you in which he virtually confesses that it was he who imprisoned a skunk in your car while you were absent from home in September 1949. This was indiscreet, but Mr. Dandiprat is a man of loveable and open nature and concealment is distasteful to him.

At this joyous season, so close to Hallowe'en, when the hearts of all men are touched with lovingkindness, we venture to suggest that if you care to pay some small sum—we suggest $2,500—to Mr. Dandiprat as recompense for all the mental distress which your threatened lawsuit has cost him, the matter can be closed with good will on both sides.

Yours in a spirit of neighbourly forgiveness,

JASPER RAVEN,
(For Raven and Craven, Solicitors).

To Raven and Craven

Sir: So, you are crawling are you? Whining for mercy, eh? No, no, gentlemen I intend to roast your client Dandiprat before the fire of enraged public opinion. To your roost, Raven! To your lair, Craven, lest you perish with Dandiprat in the whirlwind of my wrath!

Yours in triumph,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.
Honoured, Esteemed—nay, Beloved Sir:

Oh, Mr. Marchbanks, what a bitter tale I have to tell! Last week, with Hallowe'en approaching, we sent two or three of our secretarial staff into the cellar to bring up the base burner which heats our office in the winter months. Hallowe'en is, as you know, a festival dear to the hearts of lawyers, and Mr. Jabez Mouseman loves to see the flames flickering behind the little mica windows in the stove when the great day dawns. The girls got the stove into the office, and with some difficulty they set it up, and fitted the stovepipes into the wall. But when it came time to light the fire, ah, then ——. You know how impatient the old are, Mr. Marchbanks. My dear father, Mr. Jabez Mouseman, seized what he imagined to be some valueless material from a filing cabinet, and lit the fire. Unlucky fate guided his hand. It was your file, and all the evidence, so carefully piled up, and all the incriminating letters from Dandiprat are gone.

But the law is not without resource, sir. We shall rewrite all the documents, from memory, as soon as possible. We shall even provide facsimiles of the signatures. In the end the evidence will be better than ever. But for a month or two we shall be wise to allow the case to drift along without too much activity.

Yours in sorrow,
MORDECAI MOUSEMAN,
(for Mouseman, Mouseman and Forcemeat).

P.S.: The cost of restoring the evidence will add considerably to your legal expenditure, but Let Right Be Done is the motto of our firm.

To The Rev. Simon Goaste, B.D.
Dear Pastor Goaste:

In the course of your theological studies, did you ever run across anything which would give you a clue to the exact temperature of Hell? I find that among my friends there is a widespread notion that Hell will be hot. My own conviction is that it will be cold.

Frankly, if I had the management of Hell I should arrange for it to be a place where everybody had to sit on kitchen chairs, in a bad light at a temperature of about 45 degrees Fahrenheit, reading the Canada Gazette. A few aeons of that would show sinners what was what.

Yours reflectively,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Amyas Pilgarlic
Dear Pil:

Last week a man I know won nearly $30,000 on a sweepstake. I saw him soon after he received the news, and wrung his hand. A kind of glory seemed to emanate from him, like heat coming out of a stove in a railway station. And I recognized it for what it was: it was Luck, which is a very real spiritual agency, and one which the clergy have unaccountably neglected.

But if Luck is indeed a quality of the spirit, the modern age is unfriendly to it. Nobody wants anyone else to be Lucky; they just want them to be secure. I calculated that by the time my friend has paid entertainment tax on his winnings (unless he can persuade Haubergeon Hydra to look upon it as a capital gain) and has made propitiatory donations to a few of the charities who will have seen his name in the papers, he will be lucky if he gets the price of a first-rate dinner out of it. But Luck is a wonderful thing, whatever a harsh world may do to dim its glory,

Yours,
SAM.

To Chandos Fribble, Esq.
My Good Fribble:

You are interested in all sorts of educational schemes; why don't you organize a special Master Class in playing God Save The King, for the benefit of pianists who come to us from outside our borders?

Last week I attended a concert at which a young man who had come a great distance to play the piano gave a magnificent performance. He slapped and cuffed the instrument with the utmost style; he hit it mighty wallops which caused its legs to quiver at the knees; he played music of such difficulty that my jaw fell and my ears stuck out on stalks. But when the end of the concert came he played God Save The King with two fingers, in octaves, in the key of D flat minor, and even at that he did not make much of a job of it. My feeling is that he had probably heard the tune discussed, at some time, but had never seen the music.

Now I am not a great whooper-up for God Save The King; I do not feel that my loyalty is appreciably increased by hearing it four or five times a week. But if it is to be played, let us by all means play it well.

Could you arrange, therefore, to have a competent teacher from the Royal Conservatory on the job at every Customs House in Canada, so that no pianist can enter our land who had not had a thorough lesson in the proper way to render our national anthem? It is not really difficult; I can play it myself, given the music, and a comfortable stool.

Yours in the interest of better endings for otherwise enjoyable concerts.

SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

Letters To The Editor

WE ARE GEARED FOR WAR

Sir: I note that reader Veritas in his letter to the editor "Warns Against Russia" Oct. 27, objects to some very sensible statements in your editorial "Peace-Mongering" Oct. 21. Says Veritas: "...it would be a blessing for humanity if men like Mr. Churchill were heeded, and their timely warnings promptly attended to..."

Looking the facts in the face, as Veritas advises, it can readily be seen that humanity has been amply blessed with directed activities such as Mr. Churchill, and less important statesmen and military geniuses are qualified to plan.

In your article "Peace-Mongering" you ask "...what hope is there to keep the peace and keep it less expensively than now...?" It is quite obvious that we of the West, as well as the Communists, are well organized in gangs which effectively prevents co-operation on a worthy cause such as peace; we can wish for peace, or probably pray for it but there is no basis for a hope of attaining it, yet the cost of our ill-directed effort for peace continues to climb.

If a man says that he is a Communist or a Christian or Mohammedan or a believer in democracy I think that I should respect his right to express his opinions, but if he is a member of some organized group I am not likely to graciously submit to the will, the neurotic feelings or the selfish desires of his group to dictate my thoughts or moral actions.

All organizations have some good features, such as the Golden Rule, to talk about; though I don't suppose that it has been considered in any recent peace conferences for it is generaly far less understood and used socially than the slide rule is applied mechanically. The evil effects of palaver and strong-arm of organized groups far outweigh any good that may result from the occasional mention of some cardinal virtue.

If we are socially, economically and industrially geared to a war psychosis, and Russia doesn't want war (as some statesmen have told us) we shall see to it that she changes her mind.

Yours truly,
W. H. ROSEBUSH.

ARE PETERBOROUGH PEOPLE DIFFERENT?

Sir: In the Toronto Daily Star, dated October 13, 1950 under the headline SUNDAY SPORTS (from the Peterborough Examiner), I notice that our fair city of Peterborough, is not in favour of Sunday sports. Who is not in favour of Sunday sports, the City Council or the average working people, who work all week?

This article goes on further to say "our people do not like noisy games on Sunday." Are the people of Peterborough any different from the people of Toronto or other cities where Sunday sports are allowed?

What harm is there in going to a ball game, or hockey game for relaxation on a Sunday afternoon? Golf is a form of sport, and I am sure many citizens of Peterborough play a round of golf on Sunday.

Thank you very much for your valuable space.

POPPY FUND

Sir: On this weekend the citizens of Peterborough will once more be asked to remember the dead of two World Wars by wearing a poppy and, where possible by displaying a wreath in places of business, churches, schools, and in the windows of their homes.

The red blood poppy of Flanders is immortalized as an emblem of sacrifice and remembrance for the honouring of the thousands who died in foreign lands, laying down their lives for those things which we as Britons cherish. It speaks to us of sacrifice. It calls upon us to remember not only those who have died but those they left dependent, those who still suffer from honourable wounds and disability. It challenges us to serve in peace as in war; to help those who need our help, to protect those who need our protection.

When we display these emblems of remembrance made by the hands of disabled veterans who offered themselves in one defence, we remind ourselves and our children of the terrific price that has been paid for our freedom, and also shows the world that these heroes and what they died for shall never be forgotten by us.

The funds contributed by the public provide employment for disabled veterans, help veterans and the widows and orphans of veterans to obtain their just recognition in the form of pensions and allowances through the Canadian Legion Service Bureaux, and also provide our local Legion branch with welfare funds which are used to assist veterans and their dependents who are in distressed circumstances.

The Legion slogan "Wear a Poppy for Remembrance" is a good slogan. It is one that deserves the support of every citizen.

Officers and members of the Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Legion appreciate the generosity and co-operation of our citizens in the past, and as chairman of the 1950 Poppy Day Campaign in this community I solicit your wholehearted support.

Yours sincerely,
ALBERT MASON, Chairman.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

And Job spake, and said, Let the day perish wherein I was born, and the night in which it was said, there is a man child conceived. (Job 3: 2, 3.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Man that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down: he fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not. (Job. 14: 1, 2.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Lord, what is man, that thou takest knowledge of him! Or the son of man, that thou makest account of him! Man is like a vanity: his days are as a shadow that passeth away. (Ps. 144: 3, 4.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be.

So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God. But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. (Rom. 8: 6-19.)

"Throwing stones all night at my window to remind me to save you your copy will get you nowhere."

There isn't a city in Canada that will display more "Gone Huntin'" signs on business doorways than Peterborough, as of this weekend. Heads of industries and their workmen, shopkeepers and city fathers are heading for the deer country in droves. What other city advances its weekly city council meeting so that the Chief Magistrate and his Aldermen can join the chase? Little wonder about this situation when you consider that within a County radius of 60 miles, more deer are shot than any other place in the Province.

In the Fall of '49, an average of one deer to every three and one-half hunters was the toll. This year the take should be better still. An open winter and favorable breeding season has increased Kawartha deer herds considerably.

Some minority groups will scream, "Stop this butchering."

Not very humane sort of talk, that.

Is it better to allow their increased numbers to starve in hundreds during the coming deep snows? Or, would you prefer to have them pulled down in their winter yards by increasing packs of wolves? You don't like either? Of course not. All this conservation business that helps to keep us writer fellers in business, and Heaven knows we do enough preaching, is nothing more than the organized control of wildlife. Hunting is one of those controls, for, waste of our heritage is a cardinal sin.

What Gives Hunters Their Fever?

To bear out the statement about wolf slaughter to deer herds, listen to a trapper's tale from Cochrane this week. He states that a pack of ten wolves which he saw on the ice of the Abitibi River last winter were responsible for the wiping out of 30 deer; he caught six predators. And in the Nighthawk Lake area a Conservation Officer set poison in a deer carcass and poisoned six wolves within a short range. Gives you some idea.

What makes a deer hunter tick? It is hard to say but they appear to fall into two categories. First there are those whose heads are crammed with graphs, charts and costs. They try to size up the whole thing in the light of cold cash calculation. Dog and gun licenses, ammunition, clothing and food, a few jugs of Kawartha Karousal and time lost from business all add up to quite a sizeable dollar outlay. They don't have any fun on the hunt while thinking about the cost and they spoil the outing for their buddies.

The opposite type of hunter seldom gives the cost a thought. It means a session in the wilds that benefits his health and rich social contacts with his fellow man (where else can you learn more quickly about a man than in camp?) and it all adds up to a whale of a lot of fun. When the season is over he looks forward to the next and, if he is wise, has given close attention to futuring his game supply. He won't shoot a partridge covey down to its last bird. He doesn't set the game limit as a MUST, but stops when he has had a fair amount of sport. And he knows it is wise not to return to the same area just because there was good hunting in that locality the day before.

Campbellford's Lost Hound Depot Example

Boys of the Campbellford Fish and Game Protective Association have organized a great scheme for the deer hunting season. They are setting up lost hound depots on strategic roads leading into their various game districts. Stray dogs may be taken to these places and fed until worried owners call for and claim them after the hunt. A fee from five to $10 will cover boarding costs, payable to the pound keeper.

Peterborough FGP, not to be outdone, have jumped on this essential service bandwagon and are setting up similar depots in our County. There will be one at Apsley and storekeeper Bob Beal of Burleigh will operate a second. Three more, not determined at time of writing, will likely be at Buckhorn, the east end of Stony Lake and in the Catchacoma areas. Names will be announced as soon as possible.

During the past week outdoor film fare was tops in entertainment.

On Monday evening Fish and Game Club sponsored veteran lecturer William Lang in a two-section color film of trailer life from Mexico to Alaska. The second half, Canadian Rockies, Yukon and Alaska section, was the best part of the show for me. Sequences of various classes of Rocky Mountain Sheep was marvelous camera work. I would like to have seen the general story broken up by extreme close-ups, especially to show coloration of the wide range of trout which Bill caught in remote spots everywhere. The show drew more than 700 spectators, many of them complete families. A very creditable effort for the Fish and Game Boys. Let's have a show a month along these lines. You will have a large following in no time.

If Hollywood moviemaster Walt Disney never makes another picture, he may rest on his laurels on his technicolor production Beaver Valley now showing at a local theatre. Placed on the same bill with Stevenson's immortal Treasure Island, it eclipsed TI for my monies, and I mean monies, for I saw it twice. Not being apt at Hollywood superlatives, I can only say that I never expect to see it's like again. If every conservation club on the continent showered him with awards and honors, it would still be insufficient praise for the best outdoors movie ever made.

With bush fire hazard at Autumn low, the Lands and Forests lads up thataway have a new slogan. Instead of saying "Be Careful with Fire," it's now BE CAREFUL WITH FIREARMS.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

On Death

The autumn with its fruits provides disorders for us, and the winter's cold turns them into sharp disease, and the spring brings flowers to strew our hearse, and the summer gives green turf and brambles to bind upon our graves . . . .

It is a mighty change that is made by the death of every person, and it is visible to us who are alive. Reckon but from the sprightfulness of youth and the fair cheeks and the full eyes of childhood, from the vigorousness and strong flexure of the joints of five and twenty, to the hollowness and dead paleness, to the loathsomeness and horror of a three day's burial, and we shall perceive the distance to be very great and very strange.

But so I have seen a rose newly springing from the clefts of its hood, and at first it was fair as the morning, and full with the dew of heaven, as a lamb's fleece: but when a ruder breath had forced upon its virgin modesty, and dismantled its too youthful and unripe retirements, it began to put on darkness, and to decline to softness and the symptoms of a sickly age; it bowed the head, and broke its stalk; and at night having lost some of its leaves and all its beauty, it fell into the portion of weeds and outworn faces.

Progress of Peterborough XLIII

Incorporation 1850: Livestock Roamed, Business Boomed and Fires Plagued

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

Peterborough requested incorporation in 1846, but Parliament did not pass the Act of Incorporation, introduced by James Hall, M.P., until 1849, to be effective January 1, 1850. The town, within the original survey limits, was divided into east, centre, north and south wards, each electing three aldermen. These had to be male, over 21 years of age, with freehold property of £250, or renters paying £30 a year or more; no clergy, teachers, doctors, or officers could qualify. Only male property-owners and tenants paying yearly rental of £6 could vote.

The Council was given power to pass bylaws regulating: roads streets, wharves, bridges, shores, sewers, circuses and exhibitions, theatres, auctions, games, businesses, inns, saloons, cemeteries, hospitals; controlling animals and poultry, safe driving and riding and swimming, sales of merchandise, marketing of produce, weighing of goods; enforcing sabbath observance, chimney-sweeping, prevention of fires, disposal of ashes and garbage, cleaning of wells and cisterns; preserving property and good order, preventing and punishing breaches of the peace; financing administration by levying taxes on real property not to exceed 9d. in £1 annually, and on vacant lots 1d in £1 annually, plus 1 farthing in £1 to keep the streets clean.

First Council

The first Council elected were: EAST WARD: John Hall (miller), T. Harper (landowner), T. Benson (school superintendent); CENTRE: R. Ridley (storekeeper), James Hall (MP), W. Eastland (storekeeper); NORTH: W. S. Conger (sheriff), J. Harvey (builder), D. McDonald (blacksmith and wagonmaker); SOUTH: C. Hudson (storekeeper), E. Chamberlain (builder), P. Ryan (tanner). Council elected Thomas Benson as first Mayor, and the following were appointed: Clerk: W. H. Vizard; Treasurer: R. Nicholls; Chief Constable; Wm. Cummings; Fire Inspector; John Davis; School Superintendent: D. Griffiths; Assessor: D. Hopkins. Between January and April, 1850, twenty bylaws were approved laying a base for civic administration, including: No 1, Rules of Council; No. 2, Town government; No. 3, Granting of licenses; No. 4, Appointment of officials; No. 5, Prevention of fires; No. 6, Weights and measures; No. 7, Dog tax; No. 11, Purchase of Colborne Hotel, beside market square as town-hall; No. 12, Imprisonment of offenders; No. 16, Statute labor; No. 18, Regulation of inns and taverns. Mr. Dobbin in "Our Old Home Town" gives details of some of these bylaws; he also explains the slight discussion at Council meeting as being due to previous gatherings of Council cronies around the store in James Stevenson's general store, where most decisions were made.

After Mr. Benson, the Mayors of Peterborough were: 1851, Charles Hudson; 1852, James Hall; 1853, Charles Perry (miller); 1854, James Stevenson (storekeeper); 1855, James Hall; 1856, W. S. Conger; 1857-59, James Stevenson.

In 1851, the town has 2,191 people in 358 families; 1,034 were Canadian-born, Irish 670, English 240, Scots 157, Americans 74, etc.

Fields in Town

Within the town, 25 landowners held 1,203 acres of which 392 were cultivated and 546 in pasture; also 67 cattle, 56 horses, 41 hogs and 39 sheep, which in spite of a bylaw, were continually running on the streets. There were 338 houses (9 stone, 12 brick, 278 frame, 39 log), 65 stores, 6 hotels and taverns, and 3 public buildings. Industries listed in 1851 were: 2 flourmills employing 5 men, producing 9,000 bbls. yearly; 2 sawmills with 11 men producing 1,200,000 ft. yearly; 4 foundries with 17 men; 3 distilleries with 7 men; 2 tanneries with 10 men; 1 carding and fulling mill with 6 employees; among smaller shops were 10 bootmakers, 7 blacksmiths, 7 carpenters, 3 wagon and carriagemakers, 3 tin and coppersmiths, 3 masons, 1 axemaker, 1 rakemaker.

In 1851 the Council built a gravity sewer south from Hunter to King along George Street, thence to the Otonobee; except for several bylaws, there were no other sanitation measures. Public feeling grew to have the old burying-ground (the site of Central Park) closed as a health measure; the County Council deeded this land to the town, and it was closed in 1854. After some debate about setting up a municipal or private cemetery, the Little Lake Cemetery Company was organized in 1851 by President Conger with James Hall, W. Cluxton, T. Benson and R. Dennistoun; they obtained forty acres for about $200 on the old Indian village site south of Little Lake. In 1851 the Methodists set up their cemetery just north of town, and four years later the Roman Catholics began theirs south of town. The Council petitioned the Government in 1852 to grant the town a large swampy area south of Townsend street extending west to the CGE stie that it might be drained and George street extended southward; the government offered to sell it to the town, but before this was completed another fever epidemic in 1854 caused much distress.

Town Hall Built

A two-storey white brick Town Hall and Market House was completed on the Market Square late in 1851, for $6,000. Along the Simcoe and George Street side of the square, private builders were given 21-year leases, and a building boom began in the area. Among the chief builders were R. Rowe, A. Rutherford, D. Taylor, D. Carlisle, J. Spenceley, Wm. Roe, and Wm. Toole. In 1852 Charles Perry (who had a general store at the corner of George and Hunter) built two brick blocks on the southeast corner of George and Simcoe, occupied by J. Gelm (wholesaler), D. G. Hatton (drygoods), R. Dennistoun (lawyer), etc; these buildings were burned in 1857, and a market block with shops opened there the next year. In 1853 Robert Romaine opened the Review print-shop farther south.

UNUSUAL WEATHER REPORT

An abundant shower of curates has fallen upon the north of England.

CHARLOTTE BRONTE
1816-1855)

Opposite on the west side of George Street, several brick blocks were completed by 1856; Pat Ryan's north of Charlotte (3 storey) with his tannery in the yard behind; E. Burnham's block to the north, occupied by Harvey's, Hall's, and Ferguson's stores; in 1858 Caisse's Hotel was opened, near the site of the present CNR office. North of Simcoe on the west side of George St., Cluxton built a four-storey brick block, before 1856, and later Stevenson (tin and coppersmith) and Bradburn (general merchant) built similar blocks adjoining. John Haggart's brick block next to the Dispatch office nearby was completed in 1852, and the Rowe block contained Best's general store to the north. At the southwest corner of George and Hunter, J. Henthorn by 1856 had a three-storey block, after an earlier fire in 1859 he added two stores on George Street, and in 1862 two more.

At Aylmer and Simcoe, Wm. Hall opened a brick harness shop in 1856. At George and Brock, the Dixon brick was built in 1857, containing Menzie's Bookstore, Pentland's dental office etc., close to the new American (McGregor) Hotel on Brock Street. By 1856 the McFarlane and the Hall two-storey brick blocks were completed on Hunter east of George St. J. Edwards built a three-storey block on the southwest corner of Hunter and Queen. In 1857 the Bank of Montreal built a brick office on the southeast corner of Simcoe and Water (now the Peterborough Club). Next year Nicholls and Hall completed two large three-storey blocks on Simcoe near Water on the north side. To complete the cycle, the Council before 1860 completed a three-storey brick block, costing $4,000, opposite on the south side of Simcoe, containing a fire station and municipal offices. Between the brick blocks of the business district, many smaller frame stores and shops were also erected in this decade.

Other Shops

In 1850 Thomas White opened a boot shop on George Street, and Henry Lawson began making fanning-mills at the corner of George and Brock. Soon after, Thomas Hutchinson (on London), R. Waddell (on George) and D. MacDonald (near Hall's Mills) began waggon, buggies, sleighs, barrows, etc. John Douglass (on Hunter) began the same trade in 1854, and Wm. Metherall (on Murray) in 1855. Henry Edmison, a George St. blacksmith, was making steam-engines. Robert Kingan, who had earlier been a Presbyterian minister and a teacher, opened a hardware store in 1852 at the corner of Hunter and Chambers Streets. In 1856 Wm. Hamilton reopened the old Harvey foundry on Murray west of Reid, and Wm. Toole started a planing mill at Bethune and Murray. R. Henderson started a drygoods store beside Nicholls and Hall on Simcoe. W. H. Wrighton in 1858 started a grocery at the corner of George and Brock next to McGregor's Hotel. W. Swayne made furniture on George north of Hunter, and to the south was Haffey's "Cheap for Cash" Clothing Store. Coulter's Drugstore, Morrow's Stove Store, Walton's Saddlery, Ward's Confectionery, Henthorn's Bakery, and many others lined George Street, with business spreading along Water Hunter, Simcoe and Charlotte streets also.

Some of the Peterborough industries have already been mentioned. The directory of 1858 stated: "In and near Peterborough are seven sawmills capable of cutting 325,000 ft daily; four flour mills capable of making 370 bbls. flour a day, two axe and tool factories, two large foundries and several small, one large waggon-shop and several small, also shingle-mills, planing mills, sash and door factories, cabinet shops, etc. . . . " In general, it can be estimated that in the prosperous 1850s the mills, stores, shops and hotels (and saloons) of Peterborough more than doubled; by 1857 the total assessment was $987,768 and the tax-rate about 12 mills. In addition to the Bank of Montreal, the Commercial Bank in 1852 opened a branch in Cluxton's store, and in 1856 the Bank of Toronto made James Hall its local agent (replaced in 1858 by Alex Munroe). Although markets were booming and employment high, municipal debentures were selling in Montreal at 22% discount, indicating the strain on the municipal budget.

Housing

The same trend occurred in housing, as the town (excluding Ashburnham) had by 1861 3,979 people (2,051 male, 1928 female) in 622 families, living in 655 houses (18 stone, 68 brick, 539 frame, 30 log), with 40 vacant houses and 16 being built. There were 79 carriages kept for pleasure, and 25 for hire. Town livestock included 227 cattle, 193 horses, 238 pigs and 33 sheep. Conger, Ferguson, Hall and others organized the Peterborough and Colborne Building Society in the late 1840s, which built many houses before it was dissolved in 1858. Of the new houses, there is space to mention only a few: James Hall (later sheriff) about 1850 built a brick house at the southwest corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets. Captain James Wallis, moved to town from Fenelon Falls, built a mansion named "Merine" about 1858 on an extensive estate beyond the western boundary, with wide verandahs, tennis courts and sunken gardens, surrounded by three farms for raising purebred stock; this estate has recently been subdivided into 180 building lots. Finally, a photograph has been preserved of the roughcast two-storey house at the southwest corner of Reid and Charlotte streets in which Rev. V. M. Clementi lived in 1856.

The possibility of fires was one of the chief worries of the council and people of the town in the 1850s. Bylaws prescribed heavy fines for citizens who put stovepipes close to wooden partitions, failed to clean out their chimneys regularly, and did not keep water pails handy and appear at any fire promptly with them to help extinguish it. In 1850 W. S. Conger was appointed chief engineer and J. R. Benson his assistant, with John Davis fire inspector.

Two volunteer companies, totalling 30 men, were organized, the fire engine and hose company, and the hook and ladder company, outfitted with uniforms but receiving no pay. When the alarm bells rang, the volunteers raced to the fire station to get their equipment and drag it to the fire (usually visible all over town); other citizens raced there with their pails to form bucket brigades. Forty men began to pump on the fire-engine as soon as one end of the hose had been put into the river or creek, while the chief engineer and his helpers spurred them on with loud orders. About 1860 the council built three large water tanks underground, of timbers and lined with clay plaster, filled with water and with a manhole in the top—one at the corner of Brock and George, one at George and Market Square, one at Aylmer and Simcoe; as the water in these tanks soon became discoloured and foul, it ruined the houses and furniture not damaged by fire, as well as the clothes of the firemen. The hook and ladder company spe-

OLD TOWN CLOCK OF OLD CITY HALL is shown in this photograph taken July 12, 1891, prior to an Orange Walk. The first town hall and market building was a two-storey white brick structure halfway along the block, built in 1851. (See today's Progress of Peterborough). Its clock was added later. In this photograph, taken from Simcoe St. looking south along George, it has no north face; instead is a sign advertising W. J. Morrow, Grocer, Tea, Wines and Liquors.

1866 Directory Predicts Factory Future

By COLLETTE FERGUSON

Population of Peterborough and outskirts, 1949, 44,762. Population of Peterborough, 1866, 5,000.

These population figures were taken from two municipal directories: the first published by Vernon Directories Limited, Hamilton, in 1949 and the second compiled by O. L. Fuller and published by Blackburn's City Steam Press, Toronto, in 1866.

An up-to-date city directory can be obtained by any interested citizen, but the 1865-66 directory is a collector's item, according to William Graff, librarian. This particular directory belonged to the late Miss N. Simmons and was given to the library by her niece, Mrs. C. Conroy, 11 Rubidge St.

The Fuller's Counties of Peterborough and Victoria Directory for 1865 and 1866 sold for $1.50. According to the title page it contains a separate alphabetical directory of every town and village in both counties "together with an appendix of useful information."

Each municipality is discussed in a short resume of its location, appearance, chief importance and other items of interest.

Peterborough in 1866 compared favourably with any town in the province in appearance, and commercially it presented an aspect of thrift and enterprise, which spoke in the highest terms for the business prosperity of the place, according to compiler Fuller.

Handsome New Stores

"Within the last few years a large number of handsome stores have been erected on George and other principal business streets, and the rapidity with which these have found tenants is a sure indication of the healthy state of the commercial affairs of the town."

Mr. Fuller, 84 years ago, saw a bright future for this town. Looking into the future, he wrote, "Peterborough undoubtedly possesses all the requisite qualifications required for the making of an important manufacturing town. The almost exhaustless power supplied by the Otonabee River, together with the very extensive timber districts in its rear offer facilities for manufacturing which are certainly equal to those possessed by any other community in the province."

At this time, Ashburnham was incorporated as a separate village. The population is stated as 1,000.

Lindsay, with a population of 2,000, Mr. Fuller considered to be situated in the midst of one of the richest arable counties in Canada.

Other Centres

Other communities and their populations included in the directory are: Bridgenorth, 120; Bobcaygeon 400; Ennismore 75; Hastings, 600; Havelock, 30; Keene, 350; Lakefield, 300; Norwood, 550; Omemee, 550; Warsaw, 150.

Muskoka Falls, "a small village in the Township of Draper and County of Victoria" with a population of 100, has only two people listed in the directory—a general store owner and a tavern keeper.

In 1866 there were 22 post offices in the County of Peterborough and 29 in Victoria County.

R. D. Rodgers was warden of Peterborough County. F. Wm. Haultain was the Peterborough County member of the Legislative Assembly of Canada and James H. Dunsford represented Victoria County.

Charles Perry was mayor of Peterborough in 1865. The members of the town council were: North Ward, William Toole, Henry Lawson, John Whyte; Centre Ward, James Stephenson, William Helm, Angus Williams; South Ward, Elias Burnham; Edward Chamberlain, Thomas Leonard; East Ward, Duncan McNaughton, Charles Ormond, Thomas Chambers.

Today Fuller's Directory is of marked historical interest but at the time of its publication it served the same purpose as directories used today. It was a business convenience that was financed not only by the payments of its subscribers, but by advertisements that make up more than half of its contents.

After 1½ Years At Springville Dutch Family Adopt Canada

By DON GRANT

In Canada for only a year and a half, Roelof Flokstra, his wife, Jantje, and children, Hilbert, 11, Frederik, eight, and Roelofje, seven, have discovered already many of the things that make Canada wonderful to live in.

This Dutch family was directed to the Cathcart farms near Springville through the Landverhuizing Nederland den Haag, an emigrants' agency, to work as domestics and eventually to become Canadian citizens.

The Flokstras are most impressed by the lack of social barriers in Canada. They contrast this with Holland where the barriers were quite rigid between rich and poor people.

Mr. Flokstra gave a rural instance of the kind of difficulty encountered in Holland. If a boy met a girl, whether they would be able to see each other again, would depend upon how many cows each family had. If the difference was too great either way, they wouldn't be allowed to see each other again.

Gradually the Canadian language is becoming part of the family's new life. In fact Roelofje, the youngest, has forgotten most of her native tongue. When faced with the decision whether to read a Dutch or English book, Roelofje chooses the English because it is easier for her to read. Her letters to Holland are a mixture of English and Dutch.

Dutch is spoken in the home but through mingling with Canadians, the Flokstras have learned enough to converse easily in our language. When the children speak to each other, it's English.

At Church

As attendants at the Springville United Church they find it not unlike their church in Holland. The Flokstras have noticed two slight difference in procedure: The people never pray in unison in Holland and they sit down when they sing hymns.

Although the Canadian weather affected them at first, it agrees now with the whole family. The warmer summer weather combined with our hills, in contrast to Holland's flat lands, tired Mr. Flosktra in his first few months here.

Holland's canals are not missed too much. Happily Mrs. Flokstra noted that a little creek flowed nearby, deep enough for swimming. Frederik who couldn't swim at first is now like a fish.

Probably because there was little snow in Holland, the Canadian winter sports are most popular with the children. On a hill behind the home the children spent most of their leisure time tobogganing. Skating rivals the snowy pastime.

Real Cowboy!

Young Frederik, eight, seemed to be a full-blooded Canadian, for on his hip he carried a gun and holster. But he was a peculiar cowboy; he had his pockets filled with eggs.

Progress in the Cavan school, two miles from the Flokstra home, has been made under several handicaps, the change of language and teaching systems. Despite these the children have advanced to the stage where they are on a par with their Canadian classmates. Playing with the children there has helped them considerably with the language.

Holland's famed wooden shoes are still used by the Flokstras in the every-day work around the barn. Their supply was low when a recent Dutch emigrant brought out two new pairs for the parents. These new machine-made shoes cost $3.25 for the men's and $2.75 for the women's.

Canada's deep snow prevents the shoes being worn in the winter. But as soon as the snow begins to disappear the wooden shoes re-appear for the spring, summer and fall seasons.

Mrs. Flokstra still favors the wooden shoes because they can be washed easily and because they are easy to slip on and off.

Possibly more fortunate than some other Dutch immigrants because they are on one of the more progressive farms in the area, the Flokstras have not words to express their warm sentiments towards Manson Cathcart, their employer.

Shortly after their arrival, Mr. Cathcart gave the back part of his home to the Flokstras. This section was moved to the north side of the Cathcart home and there the Flokstra Canadian home has been modelled. Besides the work on his own house, Mr. Flokstra has re-modelled the Cathcart residence inside and out. His ability as a carpenter is quite evident.

All in all the Flokstras consider Canada to be their country now. The family like living here but Mrs. Flokstra, a little homesick, would like to return home, only for a short visit.

Looking into the future Mrs. Flokstra said: "I like living here. We haven't any money to start for ourselves but that will come slowly."

Eagles Edge Nylons, 6-5 To Tie For Top Position

KINGSTON, Nov. 4—Staging a whirlwind finish that was dramatically effective, Peterborough Eagles edged the flashy Kingston Nylons for the second successive time this week when they scored twice late in last night's senior battle in the Harty Arena and registered a hard-earned 6 to 5 victory. Eight hundred and twenty-nine fans were in attendance and they witnessed a thrilling duel that might have had a different result had Nylons steered clear of the penalty parade.

The Eagles, swooping in during the early stages of each period, went into the lead three times but Nylons roared back to gain the ascendency twice only to have the verdict slip out of their grasp when the visitors turned on the power with a vengeance during the last four minutes. Better condition was assertive and only remarkable goal-keeping by Glynn Udall prevented the Eagles from salting away the victory when the local defence was skated off balance.

Penalties Hurt

Nylons handicapped themselves when they received 19 minutes in penalties as again; 12 meted out to the Eagles. Joe Watts topped the offenders with two minors and a major while two other local defencemen, Ken Murphy and Bob Londry, spent four and two minutes respectively with the penalty timekeeper. Those sentences hurt the Nylon cause and sapped their powers of resistance during the last fateful minutes when the Eagles were seeking the "kill".

The Eagles, skating at top speed, threw up such a tight checking barrage against the Gerow-Partis-Catlin line that Nylons' dangerous scoring brigade was restricted to one goal which was racked up by Gerow early in the struggle. The wily Ken Partis and the crafty Joey Catlin had to settle for an assist each during the night's play.

Despite the fact that Referee Bill Holway handed out 14 penalties the game was productive of only one outbreak and even that could hardly be called a serious disturbance. Some of the victims pleaded innocence of foul intent but were given the heave-ho with the quality of mercy not even slightly strained. The taking of liberties with the rules is reserved only for the professionals and none of same was on parade last evening.

Opens Scoring

The Eagles, with Rochetta doing the sniping and Crowley the assisting opened the tallying 31 seconds after the game began but Nylons recovered their poise in jig time and hustled with such dynamic effect that Gerow, aided by Partis, hit the rigging at 5.04 and B. Joyce assisted by "Duddy" Aitken broke the deadlock at 7:10.

Smith and Godfrey combined to force a 2-2 deadlock 13 seconds after the middle session began. Godfrey did the puck carrying and Smith the scoring. At the three-minute mark the Eagles struck again with Crowley engineering the attack and Rochetta scoring.

Bob Boone, unaided, got that one back at 6.15.

In the last period Milne took a pass from F. Mortimer and his shot eluded Udall. Londry drilled the disc past goalkeeper Nicholls from a scramble in front of the net. Catlin and Gerow each earned an assist. Jack McKeown, Doug Patterson and Bob Joyce produced a bit of puck juggling which culminated when McKeown outguessed Nicholls and shot Nylons in the lead for the last time. It was a close fit the rest of the way until the weaving "Monty" Montgomery soloed for the tie-breaker at 16:35.

At 19:16 Parnell tricked the defence and passed the puck to Crowley, who, unmolested, bore down to sink the payoff shot.

Crowley of the Eagles was the visitors' top point getter in last night's struggle. He scored one goal and had two assists and shaded his teammate Rochetta, who hit the net twice. Bob Joyce paced the locals with two goals and an assist while Walter Gerow was next in line with one and one.

Eagles Goal, Nicholls; defence, Smith and Godfrey; centre, Rochetta; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley; alternates, Hill, D. Mortimer, Montgomery, Parnall, Milne, F. Mortimer, Burns and Lalonde.

Nylons: Goal, Udall; defence, Londry and Watts; centre, McKeown; wings, Potts and Armstrong; alternates, Patterson, Murphy, Partis, Catlin, Gerow, Fowler, Joyce and Aitken.

Referee—Bill Holway. Linesman, Art Casterton.

McGillis Leads City League After 21 Games

High pinnage of 3,493 went to McGillis in the City Bowling League this week. Ray Clifford of Cavanagh's hit high triple of 843 and the Cavanagh team put together 1,247 to take down team's single individual honors. Roy Suddards had high single of 348, as he closely followed Ray Clifford's total with a neat 803 effort. Other good games were rolled by Clifford with 321 and 318, Bill Miller 310, Frank McCormack 306, and Herb Correll 305.

Campbell and Best blanked Clapper's for the lone whitewash of the night. Four-point margines were taken by Bond's, Cavanagh's, Swartz, McGillis and Sunocos over Fashion Craft, Shockey's, Esquires, Dunn's and Ted Moore's respectively. McGillis leads with 34 points, as Shockey's are next with 32, then Cavanagh's with 28 and Sunocos with 24 after 21 games bowling and 78 games yet to go in the long season.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles has been offered a $100,000 guarantee to meet Jersey Joe Walcott in a title bout in Atlantic City next Feb. 22.

Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager, made the offer and said Walcott would take a percentage of the receipts for another crack at Charles. The champion won a decision over Walcott June 22, 1949, at Chicago to gain National Boxing Association recognition as titleholder. Since then Charles has earned undisputed rights to the championship by defeating Joe Louis.

Bocchicchio said an effort would be made to have the International Boxing Club promote the fight or release Charles for the bout.

If staged, the bout would be in Convention Hall, which has a seating capacity of about 41,000 for boxing. Walcott is listed by the NBA as the leading contender for the championship.

Argentina defeated the United States 64-50 Friday night to win the world amateur basketball championship before a crowd of 25,000 in Buenos Aires.

A shouting, jubilant crowd paraded through downtown Buenos Aires in the bigest victory celebration seen here in the memory of sports fans.

Argentina is assured of keeping the title until 1954 when the next world championship will be played at Sao Paulo, Brazil.

A. Sidney Dawes, president of the Canadian Olympic Association, says that hockey has been confirmed as a competition on the program of the 1952 winter games at Oslo, Norway.

"The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association will select a satisfactory team to represent Canada and has offered to meet all expenses," Mr. Dawes said.

Sammy Snead bested par by two strokes Friday with a 35-35—70 finish to romp home a four-stroke victor over Johnny Palmer for his second straight north and south open golf championship with a 72-hole score of 275.

Snead, leading money winner of professional golf two years in a row, pocketed $1,500 in first money in the $7,500 at Pinehurst, N. C., event to boost his year's earnings to $35,258.

Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y., was third with 281, while tied for fourth with 282 were Julius Boros, Southern Pines, N. C., and Tommy Bolt of Durham, N. C.

Lindy Berry, the talented Texan tosser for Edmonton Eskimos, was the best passer in the Western Football Conference this season.

Statistics show Berry tossed 129 completed passes in 254 attempts for a passing average of 50.8. His heaves netted 2,201 yards and 10 of the passes were good for touchdowns. Only on 20 occasions were his passes intercepted.

Runner-up in the pitching department was Jack Hartman of Saskatchewan Roughriders, who completed 78 out of 162 for an average of 48.1 close behind was Calgary's Keith Spaith with a 47.1 mark—124 completions in 263 tries.

Irish wrestler Danny O'Mahoney, who campaigned in the United States and Canada for many years, died Friday night from injuries suffered in an automobile accident. O'Mahoney's car hit a parked truck near Fort Laighaise, Ireland. Both his legs were broken.

Coach Wally Masters of Ottawa's last-place Rough Riders of the Big Four Football League says he doesn't know his plans for next year.

He was non-committal about a report that he didn't expect to be around with the Riders for another season.

"We've got a losing team," he said, "and when you have a losing team, usually the coach is it. But the club executive hasn't said anything to me about it."

Wins Oratory Prize In County Competition

ROSENEATH, Nov. 4—(ENS)—Grant Waldie won the prize on his essay "Save the Wild Flowers," a county competition for school children sponsored by the Grafton Horticultural Society. The essays were judged by Mr. A. A. Martin, Brighton, public school inspector for East Northumberland.

Grant is the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Waldie, Roseneath, and passed his Grade VIII examinations at mid-summer at Roseneath Public School. The essays were written in the early summer but the result of the judging was not known until this week.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Gary Kearns has been chosen the most valuable player in the Peterborough Minor Baseball Association this season. He wins the Fred Craig Memorial Trophy as being most valuable to his team, the southend bantams, managed by Ed Woodcock. They went right to the OBA finals ere bowing to Ottawa. Gary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Kearns, 131 Princess St., is a starry second-sacker and also helps out at times on the mound. A heady young player, he hustles all the way, is a good hitter and thrower, and quite fast on the paths. Also goes in for several other sports, and shows a lot of leadership. Our congrats to him.

Alex Kay, commissioner for minor ball here, picked young Kearns after a lot of thought. He liked a number of others, too, in the PMHA, including pitcher Frizzelle and outfielder Strickland of the same club. But he had to give it to Gary. The Examiner puts up this annual trophy—a new one each year—in memory of Fred Craig, former sports editor. It has been won previously by Jack Sisson, Al Menzies, Ken Pammett, Don Pagett, and Sam Murphy. All fine ballsters. The presentation is usually made in the spring as it takes time getting the trophy order filled and to have it suitably engraved.

Yukon Eric And Mask

There's a real promising pro mat card billed for the Brock next Tuesday night. None other than Yukon Eric against the Masked Marvel in the main bout. The semi-final has whirlwind and popular Pat Flanagan facing horrible Hi Lee. Then, Dan O'Connor will try mayhem on Bobby Nelson in the prelim. Every one of those six grapplers is a big attraction for mat followers, and no doubt a big city and district crowd will attend. Yukon Eric has an amazing pull at the gate wherever he goes, though he features nothing but sheer strength. Of which he has enough for half a dozen ordinary men. Looks like he could take care of half a football line himself!

Secretary Crown and his Central School senior soccerites deserve credit on taking down senior honors this past season. So do Confederation intermediates and May's juniors on taking titles, and their teachers and the others in this lively loop are doing a fine job in coaching and refereeing the boys as a free contribution after school hours. Stroyan Leith has made a selection for a first team from the association like this: J. Macklin (QA) goal; D. Goldie, R. Linsey (Conf.) fullbacks; B. Martyn (C), S. Brooks (C), D. Patten (C), halfbacks; B. Simpson (KG), B. Chamebrlain (Conf.), L. Lunn (C), B. Dubay (QM), A. Little (Conf.) forwards. Second team: R. Hobart (KE) goal; K. Beck and R. Graham (QM) fullbacks; D. Sloan (Conf.), P. McIlmoyle (KG), B. Floyd (Conf) halfbacks; B. Chambo (PW), A. Curtis (KE), R. Miller (Conf.), R. Butler and D. Patterson (C) forwards.

Lacrossers Have "Do"

Ostrander's threw a windup party at South Beach for the local senior lacrossers, some 30 players, officers and guests attending. Players were presented by Ostrander's—who don't expect to sponsor the club next year—with initialled tie clips. The club presented Arn Dugan with a beautiful pocket watch, a chain being added by the sponsor, for leading the whole senior "A" group in scoring this year in a swell showing. Popular and capable Prexy Paul Irwin spoke on the successful season the club enjoyed before big crowds, and Ken Kingston (head of the PMLA) expressed thanks to the president and executive for a good job done. The club will reorganize early.

As we were to leave by 10 this a.m. for Toronto and the Orfuns' grid playoff, we had to do the column a bit in advance and therefore haven't the dope on the Eagles' puck fray in Kingston. It should be in elsewhere, and we can comment on it again. Eagles are at home next Wednesday to Belleville, an unknown quantity yet. The Petes are away to the Quinte town Monday and they play Nylons in Kingston on Wednesday, then coming home to play Queen's on Friday. Our junior Oddfellows swing into action against the Belleville Rockets here one week from next Wednesday. That's the OHA setup concerning our three clubs for the next week or so.

Hither And Yawning

The "Y" volleyballers start their six-team loop today. A hoop tourney will be held at the "Y" on the Collegiate early next month for men's and boys' teams, an open affair for good prizes. Mary Morton had high single of 306 in the YM girls' bowling league. Roy Suddards showed the way in the City League with a single of 348. In girls' basketball last eve in the YWCA, Normals took CGE by a 20-7 score whilst Nurses Jrs. came up with a neat 20-15 victory o'er Black's. Stan McCurrach was named chairman of the sports committee of the CGE Social and Athletic Club recently. Queen's Gaels are minus three regulars for their game with Mustang today. Samola, Perrner and Sheridan being on the injured list. Local puck Eagles finished strong in a hot OHA senior tilt at Kingston last night ot edge the Nylons 6-5 and tie for top spot with the Petes. Got to pack the snowshoes now and head for Toronto's Oakwood Stadium.

Canadian Football

By DON GRANT

Canadian football is noted for its colorful running plays, for after the backfielders have had their 10 yard blocking, they're on their own.

American football allows blocking the full length of the field. The American run is not as colorful because the backfielder does not use the straight-arming, pivoting and change of pace as the Canadian.

A good straight-arm is rare in local games. This simple means of defence for the runner is a dangerous offensive weapon as well. The ball carrier should invite the tackler to dive by carrying his arm in a running position. As the tackler dives, the loose arm should shoot out at the helmet, the elbow locking at the moment of contact, and the heel of the hand meeting the helmet with a shocking effect. If the straight-arm is signalled before the tackler dives, he may grab the arm and drag the runner down.

Aside from the straight-arm, the runner should develop the side-step, the cross-step and a deceptive change of pace. A cunning backfielder will run at full speed only when he needs it to outwit a tackler. A burst of speed just at the moment the tackler prepares to dive often means success.

Before the runner may try his broken field ability, he must work his way through the line, unless he has received a lateral pass from another plunger who has broken through. The plunger should carry the ball close to his stomach with both hands cradling it. His body should be bent over the ball protecting it from the opposition's hands. The knees should be carried high with short, fast steps making the tackle as difficult as possible for the defence.

Once into the open, shifting of the ball becomes important to the ball carrier. He should have the ball with the fingers completely covering one end and tucked tightly in the arm-pit.

Falls Six Storeys

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—A 38-year-old man plunged six storeys to his death from a Rockefeller Center building Friday, narrowly missing pedestrians on crowded Fifth Avenue. The man was identified by police as Guy Bowden, assistant treasurer of the Aluminum Import Corporation. The company has offices in the British Empire Building, from the roof of which Bowden jumped or fell.

Normals Win As Nurses Down Black's

As Normals sailed through the CGE 20-7 Friday night in the Ladies' Basketball League, the Junior Nurses bettered Blacks 20-15.

Black's, with Rosy McInroy, Carol Ferguson and Rita Naylor scoring, went up 11-6 in the first half of the game with the nurses. The Civic's Jean Bell held the girls in the game with all the points. With Jean Bell again holding forth in the second, Nurses recovered to outplay Black's as their defensive system wobbled. The best Black's could reply was with two field scores by Edna Nice and Carol Ferguson.

Nurses' Bell easily led the scoring of the first game with 14 points. Her nearest rival was Black's Carol Ferguson with seven. Mary Braund had four for Nurses while Rita Naylor and Rosy McInroy each had three for Black's.

A Solid Effort

Carol Raper's solid effort in the first half of the second sent Normals away ahead with a 13-2 score. She whipped home nine points while teammates, Joan Krogh had three and Doris Reynolds one, to the General Electrics' field score by Fern Carveth. The score was held down in the second half 7-5, Fern Carveth added four more points to her credit while Marilyn Hollingsworth came through with three of the seven for Normals.

Raper's first half score was enough to take the scoring honors for the game. CGE's Fern Carveth counted six and Normals' Joan Krogh five.

First Game

Black's—McInroy 3, Nice, 2, McIlvena, McKee, Ferguson, 7, McGill, Naylor 3, Laing, McNeely, Flint, Knox.

Jr. Nurses—Braund 4, Bell 14, Jex 2, Armitage, Stackhouse, Luther, Flavelle, Hogg, Hannam, Chestnut.

Second Game

Normals—Reynolds 1, Sine, McKenzie, Krogh 5, Peters, Raper 9, Hollingsworth 3, Lane 2, Butlin, Shunk.

C.G.E.—Barry, Reynolds, Jackson, Greer, Luther, Nixon, Ingram 1, Carveth 6, Fletcher.

Bombers Roll High

Bombers and Aces continued their winning ways this week in the YMCA senior lasses' bowling league, taking all points from Lucky Strikes and Corvettes respectively. Tigers took two from Commandos and the Hurricanes gained two over Glengarry's. Bombers rolled high single game of 1,052.

Norma Stanbury had high three of 682, followed by Mary Morton with 668, Shirley Heckman 659, Betty Castle 635, Z. Bell 608, Marg Arnold 605 and Helen Reid 604. Mary Morton's 306 was the best single as B Castle hit 259, N Stanbury 248, L. Bonney 249, M. Arnold 265, S. Heckman 250, Z. Bell 237 and A. Jackson 239.

JEFF RUSSEL WINNER—Don Loney, star nap with Ottawa Rough Riders for the last four years, has won the Jeff Russel Memorial Trophy as the most valuable and sportsmanlike player in the Big Four Football League. A steady pivot defensively and offensively, Don is 26, weighs 197.

IT'S A RECORD — Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones, so nicknamed for his ability to plunge while playing with the Cleveland Browns, has set an all-time individual record for the Big Four by scoring 102 points to date this season with Hamilton Tiger-Cats. Jones, who tips the scales at 210 pounds, and is is 30 years old, is a triple threat back.

Galt Bows To Guelph 4-2 As Oshawa Edges Barrie

(By The Canadian Press)

The entire Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league was in action Friday night. Galt Black Hawks came out of the shuffle still in front of the tightly-packed league by a narrow margin.

A single point behind them are Barrie Flyers, Guelph Biltmores and Oshawa Generals; two points back are Stratford Kroehlers and St. Catharines Teepees.

The standings got that way when Galt lost 4-2 to Guelph; Oshawa beat Barrie 4-2; St. Catharines pounded Toronto St. Michael's College 7-1; Toronto Marlboros upset Stratford 4-2 and Windsor Spitfires beat the winless Waterloo Hurricanes 6-1.

In the senior circuit, Toronto Marlboros went out in front by beating Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen 4-2 in Toronto. But Hamilton or St. Michael's meet tonight in Toronto and the winner will move into a tie with Marlboros.

Deciding Scores

Marlboros, defending Allan Cup champions, won the game in the first minute of play when Stan Kemp and Scotty Mair each scored. Don Rope added another before the end of the period. Art Hurst got both Kitchener-Waterloo goals, late in the final period and Ed Stankiewicz got the fourth tally for Marlboros.

Galt missed its chance of taking a three-point lead in the league in the first period of their game with Biltmores at Guelph. Ed Lukik and Louis Fontinato gave the Biltmores a lead they never lost. Willy Marshall and Herb Dickenson got the other Guelph tallies with Goose Gosselin and Ken Wharram scoring for Galt.

It may, however, be the last game Marshall plays for Biltmores. A meeting of the OHA executive Friday night ordered Marshall to return to St. Michael's.

Inadequate Salary

In a player trade earlier, Guelph had traded John Negladiuk and Ken Laufman for Marshall. Lauffman refused to play for St. Mike's on the grounds that the Irish salary offer of $75 a week was "inadequate."

The meeting ordered Marshall to return to St. Mike's and Negladiuk to return to Guelph because the deal was not completed. The two clubs, however, may work out a private agreement before the deadline transfer of Dec. 15.

The executive also suspended Coach Rudy Pilous of St. Catharines for 10 games for his refusal to order a St. Catharines player to the penalty box in a Windsor game last week after the officials called a penalty against St. Catharines for banging hockey sticks against the boards. The game was stopped and awarded to Windsor when Pilous refused to comply with the order.

Pilous was absent Friday night when the Teepees racked up their biggest score of the season against St. Mike's. Buddy Boone fired two for St. Catharines with other goals by Frank Martin, Frank Toyota, Pierre Pilote, Jim Robertson, and Gord Lomer. Bill Dinnen got the only Irish goal.

Spitfires Outshot

Windsor Spitfires were outshot 36-31 by the hapless Hurricanes in Windsor but their scores had a field day. Eddie Joss, John Offidani, Al Arbour, Elmer Skov, Earl Johnson, and Jim Anderson all scored. Bud Evans got the only goal for Hurricanes who have picked up only one point in eight starts.

Generals only had 14 shots on the Flyers net in their game at Barrie as against 34 for the Flyers. But Dick Piatowski kicked out shot after shot on the Oshawa cage while Alex Delvecchio scored two and Rio Caron and Lou Jankowski each added one for generals. Real Chevrefils and Lionel Barber scored for Barrie.

Chuck Jamieson, Stan Maxwell, Steve Karrys and Ron Stewart all scored for Marlboros as they beat Kroehlers in Stratford with Brian McFarland and Gord Myles getting the two Stratford goals.

WINS TROPHY — Gary Kearns, of the Southend Bantams in the PMHA, won the Fred Craig Memorial Trophy offered annually by The Examiner) on being judged by Alex Kay, commissioner for minor baseball here, as the most valuable player in the association to his team. The classy young second-sacker is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kearns, 131 Princess St. (Examiner staff photo).

Tweed High School Beat Marmora 18-6

MARMORA, Nov. 4 (ENS). — Tweed High School rugby team ended its series of games with the local High School area undefeated. Playing their home game at Marmora on Friday evening, the Tweed boys won 18-6. Marmora team was weakened, a new absentee being Brownlie, who was ill. Tweed scored a touchdown in the first quarter, added a field goal in the next when Marmora also did their scoring with P. Nicholson getting a touchdown and Killian converting. Tweed scored their second touchdown in the third and fourth quarters.

Leafs Practice Shooting Take On New York Rangers

By The Canadian Press.

New York Rangers gave up on Al Rollins several seasons back when he contracted rheumatic fever.

But Rollins will have his chance to laugh tonight when he guards the nets for Toronto Maple Leafs and faces the Rangers in one of the two Saturday night National Hockey League games.

In the other game, Boston Bruins visit Montreal in search of their first win of the year. They've dropped five. Canadiens, however, are none too happy about losing two straight to the league-leading Leafs, and promise to be somewhat inhospitable.

Rollins will be doing his third relief chore of the season for Turk Broda. In his other games, Leafs beat Chicago 5-3 and Boston 4-2.

Practice Shooting

Leafs, who dropped their home opener to Chicago but now have gone nine games without a loss, worked on shooting drills Friday on their return from Montreal.

Rangers staged a rough-and-tumble workout preparing for the game. They have only one win and four ties in nine starts.

But coach Neil Colville told Toronto reporters that his team "will be all right."

"We haven't reached our full stride," he said. "We've been using four lines and some of the boys haven't had enough work to get them in top condition."

Montreal fans still are talking about the way rookie goalie Jerry McNeil kicked out puck after puck against Leafs Thursday. Leafs outshot Canadiens 35-20 in the game which they won 2-1.

McNeil stopped the score from going higher. In the second period alone he beat Max Bentley on three good chances.

Boston moves on to Detroit for a Sunday game after the Montreal meeting. Rangers travel to Chicago for the only other Sunday clash.

GEORGE STREET UNITED CHURCH celebrates its 115th anniversary on Sunday with special services headed by principal of Queen's University Theological College, the Rev. Dr. H. A. Kent, who is also president of the Bay of Quinte conference. The Church's pastor is the Rev. Arnold A. Mathews. An interior view of the church looking towards the pulpit is shown ABOVE.

George St. United To Mark Its 115th Year Of Methodism

George Street United Church, celebrating this Sunday, under its new pastor, the Rev. Arnold Mathews, its 115th anniversary, has had a long and vigorous history.

Among the memorial tablets on the walls of the church is one which reads: "To the glory of God and in recognition of the debt of gratitude which we who worship in this Church acknowledge to our fathers, whose vision, faith and devotion made possible this building, and whose loyalty has maintained this cause through fifty years of widening influence in the community."

"Erected this Jubilee Year, 1924-1925."

Another tablet honors a devoted member. There are also two large tablets erected in memory of those who sacrificed their lives, and of those who, daring to die, survived.

Beginnings in 1834

In the year 1834 the Legislature Council of Upper Canada made a grant of land for the erection of a structure to be used for divine worship by the Methodists of this area. This land is that which now faces the present George Street Church. A small frame chapel was erected thereon, and in 1843 this chapel was moved and converted into a parsonage. The building of a larger church began, members of the congregation transporting large timbers from their farms to the mills for shaping into beams and joists.

This church of grey plaster with its galleries and boxed family pews was built on the same property as the chapel, and was known as the Wesleyan Methodist Church of Peterborough. By 1853 an addition was needed. In 1872 the present desirable location was procured, and on Christmas Day, 1875, the new church was opened for the worship of God, and dedicated to serve posterity.

Architect of Metropolitan

The story of its building and financing is one of courage, industry, and sacrifice. The material cost was over $60,000—a very large amount for those days. A Church Union of 1884 united Wesleyan Methodists, Bible Christians, Methodist Episcopal, and Primitive Methodists.

A handsome pipe organ was installed that same year. The graceful Tower was added in 1891, and is almost a replica of the Tower of Metropolitan Church, Toronto. The same architect designed both buildings.

Unique in the history of Christendom was the birth of the United Church of Canada on June 10th, 1925. The Memorial Sunday School Hall was completed in 1927, and part of the very handsome "Henry Stabler Legacy" was used to instal a larger three-manual Casavant organ in 1931. Renovation and re-decoration were carried out in 1936, through the generosity of the members and friends of the congregation, and the Women's Association.

In 1947 new flooring and new oak pews were installed throughout the auditorium, and the whole interior handsomely redecorated.

This coming Sunday, November 5th, George Street Church, with the Rev. Principal Kent, M.A., D.D., F.R.S.A., of Queen's College, Kingston, as special preacher, will celebrate the One Hundred and Fifteenth Anniversary of the beginnings of Methodism in Peterborough.

THE REV. PRINCIPAL KENT

Marmora

Rev. W. C. Stevenson, newly appointed pastor of the Pentecostal Church here has arrived from Arnprior to take up residence here with his mother.

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Morley (nee Audrey Phillips), in the town hall on Friday evening, the newlyweds receiving many useful gifts. Dancing was enjoyed and refreshments served at the midnight hour.

Work is being rushed on the new Sacred Heart parish hall in order to have it ready by the date of the annual bazaar which opens on November 15.

The Women's Association of St. Andrew's United Church are marking St. Andrew's Day with a turkey dinner to be held in the church hall.

PARK ST. DRAIN'S LAST REACH of open ditch, from Brioux Ave. to the Otonabee River, has been converted into a modern concrete duct. Curran and Briggs, contractors, are completing the work this week, including the earth fill over the enclosed drain. It is believed that the old drain was dug more than 100 years ago, when Peterborough was municipally part of North Monaghan township, extending from the river north to the vicinity of Sherbrooke St.

Park St. Drain First Major Works Project In Days When Peterborough In Township

Curran and Briggs, construction contractors, completed Friday the Park St. drain, a community improvement job that was begun in the crude form of an open ditch more than 100 years ago.

"We expect to be all cleaned up by Tuesday," said A. R. Cuthbertson today. "We poured the last of the cement Friday afternoon."

Mr. Cuthbertson has been the company's supervisor of the work.

In all probability the present city of Peterborough was part of North Monaghan township when the digging of that ditch from the vicinity of Sherbrooke St. to the Otonabee River was a project for draining the central west end of the municipality.

Since then it has been gradually disappearing in sections, the last of which from Brioux Ave. to the river is about to be filled in. The ground will be graded, a sidewalk will be laid probably next year, and the old ditch will soon be forgotten.

Record of this community project may be buried in some of the local municipal files, but in recent years there has never been any trace of the Park St. drain's planning and undertaking.

That section of the city north from Patterson St. at Rubidge St., and gradually reaching westerly across Charlotte and Park Sts. and up to Weller St. had an ancient reputation of being "springy," and to such an extent that the Park St. drain emerged perhaps from considerable debate and estimating of cost.

Local tradition has offered the opinion that this work was not laid down for the benefit of North Monaghan township as such but for its expanding northeastern urban corner as it fulfilled earlier predictions of development as a community on the banks of the Otonabee River.

Open To Patterson St.

The ditch remained open all the way up Park St. to the vicinity of Patterson St. or farther some fifty years ago; and according to memory that extended over 90 years the Park St. drain was flowing, and evidently had been completed some time earlier.

That is the county record of this first of the major public works of the community, an assertion which appears to be warranted from the facts that are known. The drain was walled with timbers on either side, to a height of about 12 feet, and its covering boards became a sidewalk, up past the Canadian General Electric Company to the neighborhood of Sherbrooke St.

As Peterborough's housing area moved into that section, the ditch had to be replaced, presumably by pipes. It was then filled almost to the CPR. Open and uncovered sections remained here and there in the blocks to Lansdowne St.

The final reach of the drain extended south from Brioux Ave. The last preceding filling had been along the Ovaltine property frontage.

Followed Annexation

Ratepayers today know the modern and final chapter. It began with the annexation of that section of the township south of Lansdowne St., and the transfer of liability to the city for the maintenance of the drain. Rapid development of all that area east and west of Park St., now almost entirely occupied with houses gave new sharpness to the drain problem.

It was a menace to the safety of children and of motorists as a result of the remarkable increase in traffic on Park St.

The present council decided that this open ditch should no longer be accepted as part of the scenery by any responsible administration, and in that view, it will be recalled, they were fully endorsed by the Ontario Municipal Board.

Holding Up Progress

The Board in its local session told objectors to the project that they simply could not continue to hold up civic progress.

Mr. Fred Briggs said Tuesday afternoon that only a few days' work remained. There was a final junction of the rectangular new concrete drain and the six-sided drain which the city had laid some years ago in front of A. Wander Co. Incidentally, it extends along the north side of Lansdowne St. westerly from Park St. almost to the CNR.

"We came in here on July 31 and we were pouring cement by Aug. 12th," he said.

Curran and Briggs have done other work in the district, but this was their first contract with the city of Peterborough.

90 Tons of Steel

Mr. A. R. Cuthtbertson, who was in charge of the job, said there were 90 tons of reinforcing steel used in the construction of the conduit which is already covered with soil up to the last link.

The interior dimensions of this duct are 4½ feet high and 6 ft. 2 in. wide. The walls are 11 inches of concrete thickness on the floor and nine inches on the top and sides. Steel reinforcing rods are ⅝ of an inch in diameter.

"We have got along very agreeably with the city's representatives your engineer Mr. Chalmers, and Mr. James Burgess of his department," Mr. Cuthbertson said. "Our relations with them were always harmonious. We saw more of Mr. Burgess who impressed me as being very efficient and diligent." Mr. Burgess is street commissioner and assistant to Mr. Chalmers.

In assessing the cost of this work, city council contended that it should be done as a local improvement, but as a concession to the property owners, because Park St. had become heavily travelled, the city increased its part of the cost to 75 per cent. Of the remaining 25 per cent, the owners on the west side of the street, where the new work has been done, are charged two-thirds of that 25 per cent, and the owners on the east side pay one-third.

Debentures to be issued amount to $75,000, which evidently includes the Caddy St. culvert in the Curran and Briggs contract.

First Marriage Performed By Magistrate

The first civil marriage to be held in Peterborough under the new provincial marriage law was performed this week, just one month after the new law came into effect.

Magistrate W. R. Philp KC married Joel MacArthur and Mary Bowman, both residents of Campbellford in a brief ceremony in the magistrate's office in the county court house building. Almost no one knew that the marriage was taking place.

The new marriage law authorizing magistrates and county judges to perform marriages came into effect in Ontario at the beginning of October. It was introduced at the request of a large proportion of the province's clergymen. When news of the new law was first announced during the summer, the opinion of most of Peterborough' ministers, a survey revealed, was that it was a good thing.

Ministers expressed the belief that there were people who had no desire to be married in a church because of no religious beliefs and there were ministers who did not want to marry some couples for a variety of reasons. Before the new law was enacted, couples and ministers had no alternative. Many ministers felt obliged to perform marriages for that reason alone. The new law was designed to overcome that difficulty.

Claims Paid Pass Million

The Canadian General Electric Mutual Benefit Society has paid out a total of $1,023,425 up to August 31, 1950 in claims to CGE employees, according to C. H. Kercher, president of the CGEEMBS.

At this same date its membership reached 12,989 employees of whom 6,223 held dependent's coverage. This membership is more than 90 per cent of all those eligible.

The plan first started in February 1946 and now covers all plants and district offices throughout the company. During the first year of activity CGEEMBS membership reached 3,789 including dependent's coverage, and $30,977 was paid out in claims.

During the past three years, the claims paid averaged $52.24 per member. Increases have been made in the daily hospital rate, disability rate and hospital rate for children. This year as in past years, dues were suspended for six months of the year making the cost of membership exclusive of dependents' benefits as low as 20 cents per week.

The MBS plan is run entirely by elected representation. All the administrative expenses are paid by the company, leaving all the employees' contributions available for benefits.

Suffers Gash In Forehead

The first snow of the winter claimed its first accident victim when 70-year-old James Dunlop, 270 Dalhousie Street, was knocked down by a car at Charlotte and George Streets, about 1.35 a.m. today, and suffered a deep gash on his forehead. It was snowing at the time.

In St. Joseph's Hospital today he was reported to be in good condition and scheduled to have the gash sewn up.

Driver of the car, Mervin Loucks, Dorset, Ontario, told police he was driving south on George Street and started across Charlotte Street with the green light.

He saw Dunlop crossing George Street from the east side against the red light. He swung his car to the left, but the right side of his car brushed against Dunlop, knocking him down.

He took Dunlop in his car to the police station and from there to the office of Dr. J. M. O'Brien, and finally to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum, who investigated, also reported that a few minutes before the accident, he had been sent to a hotel on a complaint against Dunlop. He said the man had been drinking and had left the hotel while he was there.

Hastings Car Upsets Driver Uninjured

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 4 — (ENS)—Martin Fox of RR 2, Hastings, escaped injured Thursday night when his car rolled over on the Hastings Road, two miles west of Campbellford.

Fox was driving towards Campbellford when his car struck a rock, went out of control and turned over. The top of the car was knocked in by the impact. Fox was alone in the car.

Provincial D. W. Erskine of Campbellford investigated.

Square Dancing Returns With New Life

Square-dancing, long condemned by popular music fans, has started to take the place it lost many years ago.

Its return has been particularly noticeable during the past two years. Since the war, people of most cities and towns in the United States have taken it up and given it the social position it lost.

Bit Slower In Canada

In Canada, urban dwellers have been a bit more reluctant to accept it, but finally are showing great enthusiasm for it. Mail order catalogues are now advertising shoes, skirts and blouses for square dancing.

Graydon Sheldon, who has been playing for square dances in the Peterborough district for more than 20 years, says the reason for the square dance's return to popularity is twofold.

During the war, people living in the rural areas began to come to the cities, attracted by high wages, and in some cases high living. They brought with them a love of square dancing, which they had developed through years of house parties where little or no round dancing was done.

Before the war, some high schools began to include folk dancing in their curricula, and this, combined with the interest former country people had in square dancing, started the ball rolling.

Square dancing was introduced into Toronto high schools about 15 years ago, and in Peterborough, the Collegiate began teaching it midway through the Second World War.

Today, the PCVS Students' Council is planning to take some of the boredom out of lunch hours with square and round dances held in the gymnasium.

Originated In New England

Origination of the calling for square dances was in the New England quadrille, according to some students of folk dancing. Many who wished to dance were unacquainted with the steps and thus the caller, who explained the steps, came into being.

Another explanation offered for the trend to square dancing is that the steps for the complicated, off-beat rhythms of jazz were too difficult for many people. Rather than attempt the steps, they stood on the sidelines.

They wanted something simple in the way of dancing and when they saw square dancing, they were enthusiastic about it.

Own Vernacular

Like jazz, square dancing has its own vernacular. Ardent fans talk knowingly of a dos-a-dos, grand chains, and promenades, as a jazz addict speaks of riffs, Chicago jazz, and ginger-peachy bebop.

When you go to a square dance, you and your partner are one couple of a "set" of four. The caller, a hardy-looking man, stomps his foot twice, the music starts, so does the caller, and so do you and your partner.

You balance, start into the grand chain, and keep 'moving And if you're not moving when he hollers "Birdie fly out and Hawkie fly in" you've had it.

Payroll Deduction Bonds Nearing $2,000,000 Mark

Peterborough district may reach $2,000,000 in subscription by payroll deduction to the fifth issue of Canadian Savings Bonds. Total for the counties of Durham, Victoria, Haliburton and Peterborough was reported Friday at $1,955,350, an increase of $170,350 this week. A gap of $44,650 remains if the industrial employees decide to reach $2,000,000 before the issue is closed by Tuesday or Wednesday.

In first position is Utilities Commission with 98% of its employees on the subscription list.

Colonial Weaving Company is second with 96 per cent, Fannings Launderers and Cleaners third with 93 per cent of their staff subscribing.

Dominion Woolens and Worsteds are fourth with 86 per cent and G. Whitaker and Co. fifth at 80 per cent.

The Three Big Buyers

Employees of Canadian General Electric Company have accounted for $1,079,700 of the present total. Western Clock are next in volume for $108,050, and Outboard Marine and Manufacturing are third highest for $102,250.

The progress report of the response of the industrial employees follows with figures in first column being amount subscribed and in the second column the percentage of employees subscribing.

Retires After 32 Years With National Grocers

Retiring after 32 years as a salesman with National Grocers Ltd, and the company's predecessor, Thos. Kinnear Ltd., Max Kernigan Friday night was honored at a dinner arranged by the company's employee's committee.

With two other men, Alfred Craig and Ray S. Magee, he was presented with pins, symbols of their membership in the companys newly-formed Quarter Century Club.

About 50 members of the staff, their wives and friends attended the dinner at the Empress Hotel.

General Sales Manager of the firm, Joseph Wiley, Toronto, presented the pins to the veteran employees.

Howard Hammell was chairman of the program. Al Tucker supplied dinner music.

Federal Gov't Given Chance To Buy Hospital

The federal government is being given the first chance to acquire the old Nicholls Hospital property, Ald. E. C. Braund, chairman of the property committee of the council, informed the Examiner today.

"That is the idea of Ald. John Dewart. Whether all the people realize it or not, the country is in a state of emergency, and if the government has any use for the hospital we feel they should be given an opportunity of getting possession.

"That is a temporary hold up in the proceedings since last Monday night.

"If we can get a better bid than the $65,000 of this week, I'd be in favor of letting the property go. Otherwise we have to board it up. I don't think the city has any definite use for it."

The entire plan is about to devolve to the responsibility of the council, Ald. Braund said. It has been for generations in the care and management of the Nicholls Hospital trustees. Then, the city decided to build a new hospital, and eventually appointed a Board of Governors to take charge during the period of change and transition.

To Council's Hands

It was understood that the Governors would cut adrift from the old hospital by the end of October, but Ald. Braund said today he had not yet been notified that the Governors had gathered up everything they intended to retain from the old institution.

One of the conditions mentioned in the J. J. Crowley bid was to the effect that whatever furnishings remained in the building, refrigerators, etc., should be left there from the date of receipt of the letter conveying the offer from a local doctor, according to the city hall information.

"If we can get $75,000 for the property, I'd let it go at that figure," Ald. Braund said, "and I think the people would approve. After all, it is their property." The property includes all the land, the main hospital building, the nurses' residence across the street and the laundry building at the north end.

Scott Finds New Orleans Night Life Fascinating

By JACK SCOTT

We finally got a baby-sitter, at a buck an hour, and Brown Eyes and I went out to have a look at the far-famed New Orleans' night life. Reason we had so much trouble finding a sitter was that we haven't a television set. They say that in all the big American cities now it's just about impossible to get a gal to stay with the kids without TV. And if you've got TV you probably don't want to go out.

Things are supposed to be frightfully decorous now when darkness falls on the delta. The New Orleans newspapers are full of a murder trial centering about a night club in the French quarter and the joints are reportedly being very discreet until the heat is off.

This is an interesting trial, by the way. Seems that a prominent contractor of Nashville, Tennessee, came down here for the Sugar Bowl football game last New Year's Day and passed away rather abruptly New Year's Eve in this club, just when everybody was having so much fun.

Body Exhumed

Some three months after the funeral the contractor's widow got to wondering if it was really a heart attack, as the genial New Orleans coroner had decided. The body was exhumed. It was found that the poor fellow was full of chloral hydrate, which is the nice name for "knockout drops" or the old-fashioned Mickey Finn.

Charged with the murder is a suave Latin night club owner and a raven-haired "B-drinker." B-drinker (or bar-drinker) is New Orleans talk for a hostess or "companion". These gals operate in most of French quarter clubs. It a lonely male patron wishes a little light conversation he may engage one of the ladies, who sometimes double as entertainers. Gal gets a cut on a per-drink basis. In this case the state of Louisiana claims that the lady was also cut in on some of the contractor's gelt after he was rolled, as the saying goes, so permanently.

Injured Pride

This may have injured the pride of the night club proprietors, but the human race being what it is, has increased their business. A large number of cops move from one club to the other, looking stolid (and, incidentally, catching all the shows), and this adds a certain fillip to the festivities.

Bourbon Street, which runs through the Vieux Carre and is one block north of Rampart Street, is the main artery for the clubs, but even if you stroll down into the quiet backwaters of the quarter at night you will hear the pulse of jazz.

It is quite an experience in November to wander through the district with the soft night air warm enough for you to doff your jacket and to listen to jazz, and wonderful jazz, in this place where so much of it was born.

$10 Dies Fast

Bourbon Street, narrow and neon-lit is jammed with pedestrians until the dawn. The tourist and the native alike prowl from one den to the other to catch each show. There is no cover charge, but the tariff is steep. A Bacardi and Coke retails at a minimum of 90 cents. A 10-dollar bill dies a quick and horrible death.

The clubs are tiny and often shabby cells, faintly lit and with the extremes in roccoco decoration. The tourist who dresses formally will feel lost since there's a high percentage of open shirts and any costume short of a bathing suit will suffice.

Dixieland jazz, as you may know, has bounced back strongly this year all over the country and there is some fine, authentic New Orleans ragtime to be heard along Bourbon Street.

Feature Girl Shows

Still, most of the clubs are currently featuring girl shows and strip-tease routines.

The reigning queens are an enormously tall and well-packaged Los Angeles dancer known as Kalantan who does an "exotic" dance, ending in a wild and piercing shriek, all very primitive indeed, and a homely little blonde billed only as "Cupcake" who reads chapters from her diary, a rather frank confession she's been making now nightly for 32 weeks.

These acts and most of the others in the street are presented without any of the usual restrictions of taste or censorship. We happened to be listening to "Cupcake's" secret when a party on an organized "slumming tour" came into the Sho Bar. Several of the ladies were of the dowager type and, were obviously pained by "Cupcake's" reluctance to omit any relevant detail in a long and sad love life.

The two most interesting spots for music we encountered were the Paddock Club and the El Morocco bar. In both cases the bands perform on a raised platform above the bar (there is, of course, no dancing) and the musicians are ringed by admirers.

In both these bands the key men are old-timers, usually dour-looking Negros who make no foolish concessions to showmanship. There are no funny hats, no "novelty" numbers, no stunts. They simply lift those horns, wait for the leader to stomp his foot, and take off. And if you happen to like that kind of music you just never want to leave. Never has music been played with such authority.

The outfit which appealed to us most was George Lewis' Ragtime Jazz Band (clarinet, trombone, piano, drums, trumpet, bass and banjo) which holds court at El Morocco. As in all the clubs Negros are barred and here we noticed men in the shadows of a vestibule come to pay their tribute to the old masters.

The bells in the quarter were chiming two o'clock when we repaired for our coffee and doughnuts at the market place and Bourbon Street seemed to be just coming to life. But at a dollar an hour for baby sitters there's a limit on how gay you can get.

Winter Road Reports To Start On Monday

TORONTO, Nov. 4 —(CP)— Winter road report service of the Ontario Department of Highways will go into operation Monday, it was announced Friday. The service operates on a 24-hour basis.

HOUSE No. 476—The Town of Mount Royal, Quebec, is renowned for its fine homes, and here you see one of the reasons why. An engaging exterior encloses seven rooms, carefully fashioned for livability, by Architect Leonard N. Booth. From sundeck to breakfast nook the house has a friendly, family air about it. No room is particularly large, with the exception of the master bedroom but each is adequate in every way. While the house has a traditional centre-hall plan, the stairway to the second floor is set well back from the front door, overcoming a fault many homeowners feel is all too common with this plan. Few housewives will overlook the top-notch kitchen. It has that much desired "L" shape, with window over the sink, and a handy breakfast table. Children Much Interested In What Library Offers

Four valuable and rare books arrived at the Peterborough Public Library in time for Canadian Book Week, October 30 to November 4. Three of these books are by Peterborough authors and three are first editions.

A copy of "Roughing It in the Bush" by Susanna Moody printed in 1871 by Hunter-Rose, Toronto; a first edition of Catherine Parr Traill's "Letters from the Wife of an Emigrant Officer and a first edition of "Letters and Speeches" of Kah-Ge-Ga-Gah-Bowh or C. Copway, chief of the Objiway Nation arrived by mail from John Forsythe, a bookseller, in Parksville, British Columbia.

The fourth book was "Bibliotheca Canadensis." Manual of Canadian literature by Henry Morgan. Only one edition was printed of this book in 1867 and as a result it is extremely rare. It is one of the first books of this type ever to be compiled and contains interesting data of early Canadian authors.

Included in its contents are short biographical sketches of Catherine Parr Trail, Susanna Moody, Anne Langton, John Langton and Col. Samuel Strickland.

Another Canadian book that has been procured recently is "Canadian Art" a re-issue by Graham McInnes. In the listed allied arts and architecture in this book, mention is made of the Ontario Paper Co. at Thorold and the Canadian Nassua Paper Co. in Peterborough.

In an effort to make Peterborough more conscious of Canadian books, works by Canadian authors were put on display for this Canadian Book Week.

Reading More Books

Reports from William Graff, librarian reveal that citizens have read 10,791 more books this year up to October 31 than for the same period last year. A further breakdown of figures shows the trends of library tastes in the city.

Totals examined up until October 31 for both 1949 and 1950 reveal that this year the total number of fiction books read was 64,000 and non-fiction, 23,069. Last year the totals were: fiction, 61,837 and non-fiction, 21,587.

The non-fiction this year were: philosophy, 1,000; general and periodicals, 2,366; religion, 576; sociology, (social sciences, education, political science), 1,390; natural science, 682, useful arts, 3423; fine arts, 4,095; non-fiction literature, 2,699; history 1,655 and travel, 2,290.

This increase in circulation was also accompanied by an increase in membership, which brings the library membership up to approximately 5,000.

Junior Department

A Canadian Book Week survey of the girls' and boys' department of the library has both its bright and dark side. Here too, an increase in circulation was registered over last year. This increase totalled 2,529 books.

During October, the first series of class visits was completed. All grades from 3 to 8 in the Public and Separate schools in the city have now made one formal visit to the library.

The chief aim of these class visits is to make children of public school age more conscious of boks—both to introduce them to good literature and to reveal to them the interesting pastime of reading. Specific books are read and discussed in these library classes and then the children are allowed, if they wish, to take out books for home reading. Help in selecting suitable books is given by the staff of this department.

Remarkable results have been the outcome of these classes. During October, 230 new members were registered in the department.

Unfortunately however, Miss Lillian Wesley and her staff have not been able to get the co-operation of all the school teachers and parents in this project. The majority of the teachers have hailed library classes an an excellent addition to the school curriculum, but there have been a few who have failed to bring their pupils to the classes or have stated outright that the curriculum is already too crowded and that the library classes should be discontinued.

Reads Well Enough

Similar criticism has also been given the staff from a few parents. In one specific instance a father refused to allow his boy to bring books home from the library. The reason: "He can read as well as me now and that's good enough, he doesn't need to read any more books."

One of the main reasons for parents refusing to allow children to take books from the library, is that they do not want the responsibility of making sure that the books are returned when they become due. William Graff, librarian, reported that during the summer a total of 750 cards were turned in by children, not because they didn't want to read, but because parents refused to be bothered making sure books were returned.

These library classes have been supported by both the inspectors of the Public and Separate Schools of Peterborough. Attendence at the classes is compulsory, but no books are forced on the children to be taken home. Children, who take books out, do so voluntarily.

During the school year each child will make five visits to the library. By the end of the year the library staff hopes that the beneficial results of these classes will overcome the greater part of this opposition.

Admits Burning 168 May Get Off Lightly

CIRCLEVILLE, O. Nov. 4 —(AP).—Robert Dale Segee — a quiet youth who says he burned 168 persons to death in fires he set at the order of a "flaming red Indian"—was sentenced Friday to two terms of two-to-20 years in prison to run consecutively.

Judge William D. Radcliff passed sentence on the 21-year-old roustabout, who pleaded guilty to two minor fires in Circleville.

Segee, who also told authorities he killed four other persons in a pattern of arson and slaying dating back to his sixth year, has admitted setting the 1944 Ringling Bros. circus fire in Hartford, Conn., in which 168 persons died and 250 others were injured.

The consecutive terms means that Segee faces a maximum of 40 years in Ohio penitentiary or a minimum of four years. With time off for good behavior, this could mean a parole for Segee in about 40 months.

Aussie Antipathy To Foreigners Makes Immigration Problem

MELBOURNE, Nov. 4 —(Reuters)— Australia—a country in effect more British than Britain herself — is looking to non-English-speeking countries for immigrants, despite her difficulty in assimilating them.

Unable to get all the immigrants she wants from Britain, she has turned to Holland, Italy, Germany and other countries to maintain the flow in future years. Australia wants 200,000 immigrants a year until 1960 to bring her population to a total of 10,000,000. At present the population is about 8,000,000.

During the last three years 137,000 non-British immigrants have been absorbed into Australian life—although not without some difficulties.

Not All Solved

Not all the problems of absorbing large numbers of foreigners have been solved. Isolation from other world centres has given Australians an insularity which is reflected in their way of life and attitude towards new or changing conditions.

The knowledge that the needs of newcomers aggravate the housing shortage, for example, does not increase the measure of kindliness which Australians might otherwise extend to alien peoples.

The government has expended much money and time and many words in the effort to promote smooth assimilation. But the process is a long one and, unless there is mutual goodwill, it can be a painful one.

Seek Companionship

Non-British immigrants naturally seek the companionship of their fellow countrymen, becoming banded together in suburbs, clubs, societies and other organizations.

There is no open hostility by Australians towards the "new Australians." But the stranger is not slow to sense lack of spontaneity in the welcome and process of assimilation.

Most authorities agree that difficulties arise from language handicaps. Except in a cultural sense, the Australian has no need of anything but English.

While unfriendliness is being overcome, such phrases as "Australians preferred" and "foreigners need not apply" still appear in newspaper advertisements. Yet hundreds open their doors and some have given their daughters in marriage to new Australians.

Sees Huge Industrial Growth Along Fraser River In West

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Fraser River in British Columbia can be used to create one of the great industrial centres of the world, Bruce Hutchison says in his book "The Fraser."

It is estimated that the river can supply 6,000,000 horsepower of electricity, more than half the amount now being generated in all Canada.

"The experience of America in the last generation," says Hutchison, "shows that almost nowhere has power production kept up with the demand for it.

"British Columbia is proceeding on the general assumption that where power is created, industry and the market for power will follow.

Second Factor

"If this assumption is sound in the future, the industries ultimately powered by the Fraser will be at least second factor in the Canadian industrial economy, the other being the industries of the Laurentian valley.

"The effect of this shift in economic balance from east to west, on the economic, politics and living standards of the nation, is beyond calculation."

The Fraser is nearly 1,000 miles long, rising in the Rocky Mountains in the area of the Yellowhead Pass. It flows northwest, then, north of Prince George, turns south for a long run until it heads for the sea and reaches the coast at New Westminster, just south of Vancouver whose site the river built up ages ago.

Hutchison sees nearly 2,000,000 horsepower available in a drop of 1,280 feet in the long reaches between Prince George and Lytton; about 3,700,000 horsepower through diversions to tributaries flowing to the middle-BC coast; and the balance on various tributaries.

He states that the Fraser now is accepted as a national responsibility and national opportunity, one of the largest facts in the country.

Mapping the Fraser

The Dominion-Provincial Board, Fraser River Basin, a committee of four representatives of the dominion and four of the province, now is completing the immense task of mapping the Fraser not only for production of power but for irrigation of land, protection of fish and control of floods.

The book is the 42nd in the "Rivers of America" series, and the fourth on Canadian rivers, following on the stories of "The Saskatchewan," "The Mackenzie," and "The St. Lawrence" by other authors.

Mr. Hutchison writes of the Fraser as one who has known it since boyhood and who loves it. He was born in Prescott, Ont., brought up in Victoria, started newspaper work with The Victoria times, worked with The Vancouver Province and Vancouver Sun, and has, since 1945, been associate editor of The Winnipeg Free Press. He also is author of "The Unknown Country: Canada and her People," and a novel, "The Hollow Men."

The book is illustrated by Richard Bennett, one of the United States top commercial artists, who illustrated the best seller "The Egg and I". He was born in Ireland, but is another product of Pacific coast upbringing, in the Puget Sound country of Washington state.

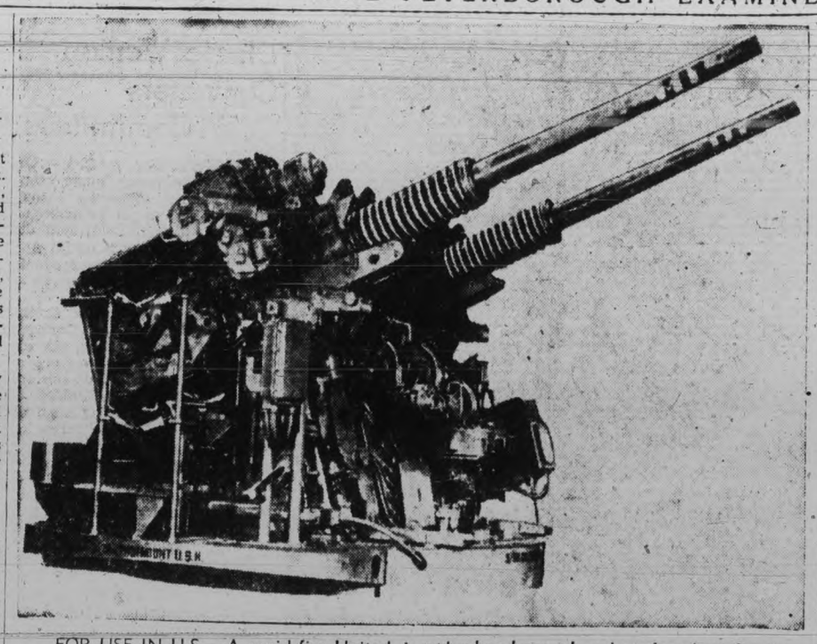
Hutchison sees the Fraser as the deciding factor in making Canada a nation from coast to coast. When Britain failed to establish the international boundary at the Columbia River further south, she was able to success-fully drive a line with the Fraser, without which the whole of the Pacific coast might probably have been lost to Canada.

The Fraser's gold first peopled British Columbia in any number; for years it supplied water transport over much of its length; it gave and still gives the wealth of the salmon fisheries; it provided a way for the railways through the mountain barriers.

The book tells the history of British Columbia in the life of the river, and has the color and incident of exploration, pioneer days, gold-rush and modern industry. It pays tribute to many men, some still living, who were part of the story.

Hutchison regrets that so many have died with their stories forever untold. One feels it is good that there is some one who still knows the story as well as does Hutchison, learned in many cases from the lips of old-timers, and that he now has recorded it.

Pigeons' Record



QUEENSTOWN, South Africa —(CP)— A South African and possibly a world record was established by two pigeons which competed in a 1,000 mile race from Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia. They arrived here at the average speed of 1,400 yards a minute.

Squirrels' Choice

ASCOT, England — (CP) — Officials of an automobile club here found overalls stored ready for a big race had been torn to shreds. Squirrels had used them to line their nests.

BAGPIPER HEIR—John Sutherland plans to buy a new set of pipes and leave Vancouver for Scotland. The 61-year-old piper, scissors grinder and squatter has fallen heir to a small estate left by his brother in Scotland. With him go his 10-year-old dog, Bill. Sutherland has been in the news before as a result of complaints by Vancouver residents that his piping disturbed the peace.

FOR USE IN U.S.—A rapid-fire United States twin-mount, power-driven three-inch naval gun will be built by Sorel Industries, Ltd., Sorel, Que., for the US Navy and the Royal Canadian Navy. A $10,000,000 order has been placed at the plant for the anti-aircraft weapon, described as "the most complicated gun ever built in Canada." This RCN photo was obtained from the US Navy in Washington.

Too Little Thought Given To Planning of Bedroom

The bedroom represents specialized space, requires extra attention. Doors should be concentrated, the bed location carefully considered, and windows located not only for appearance and ventilation but for furniture arrangement. If your room falls short perhaps these hints on arrangements may increase its convenience, decrease your bedroom's traffic problem.

Average homebuilders too often concentrate their planning on the daytime areas of their new homes and spend but little thought on the bedrooms. As long as there is room for the necessary furniture, cross ventilation and light, their design is considered adequate. Designing an attractive living-room or kitchen is, we admit, probably more exciting than planning just how much wall space will be necessary to accommodate twin beds, where the chest of drawers should be placed, or whether all storage facilities could be incorporated into the closet. But though you can create an attractive room by means of decoration, colour, or accessories, comfort and convenience are principally a matter of arrangement. You'll have little time to appreciate the beauty of your room if you must spend most of your time pacing round and round from closet, to chest, to dressing-table.

Where House Not New

However, for the moment we are proceeding on the premise that your home is not new. The room is so laid out that you have to travel from the entrance door clear across the room to reach the closet then back to the opposite corner to get to the only suitable place for the chest of drawers. At present your closet and entrance door are on the same wall with twin beds filling the wall space between them. Because of the windows on the opposite wall you have always taken it for granted that there was no nother arrangement. Are you certain that the beds could not be shoved over against the opposite wall? If the window is small and high there is not reason why the beds can not be placed under it. If it is low, why not treat it as part of the bed making the curtain to serve as a frame both for the bed and window. Use windows on the end wall and the door for winter-time ventilation. In summer you will probably appreciate the more direct currents of air. You might angle the beds into the corner, one on each wall. In general, the bed should be placed on the wall farthest from the entrance door.

Unless you use your bedroom as a sitting-room as well as for sleeping, there is no need for its being of any great size. In fact, the trend seems to be toward making bedrooms smaller and smaller; just large enough to hold the beds and night-tables. The additional area is partitioned off as a separated dressing room. In this manner the cubicle in which the beds are placed can be kept cool enough for sleeping yet the dressing room is always comfortable for dressing or lounging.

Arranging the problem room may take a lot of down-too-earth concentration, but it often draws upon unsuspected ingenunity, which may result in a decidedly more convenient and attractive layout.

Eliminating Some Faults

Let's see whether we can eliminate some of the most common layout faults.

The room is tiny, it's slant-ceilinged and the wall space is so cut up by doors and dormers that it presents a problem with very few satisfactory solutions. The only good size section of the wall will of course be turned over to the bed. There may not be room for even one average size chest but you can use pier type chests either side of a window. Cover the floor from wall to wall with plain carpeting and trye to keep all furniture out of the line of traffic between door and closet.

Your bedroom is only six and one-half feet wide but nearly 20 feet long. You place the bed along the short wall farthest from the entrance. You can use a regular chest but unless you are lucky enough to have sliding doors in this limited space you should place no furniture opposite the closet door. Set your dressing table on the second short wall depending on the decorating to hide the awkward proportions. Paint or paper the short walls in a deep color to draw them into the room.

Sawmills Closed Blames Gov't

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 4 (CP) —Walter Thomson, candidate for leadership of the Liberay party in Ontario, said Friday the province's Progressive Conservative government is to blame for closed sawmills and resulting unemployment in Fort William.

Mr Thomson, member of parliament for Ontario constituency, came here to attend a banquet of the Fort William Liberal Association.

"I find that the sawmill labor situation is due to the negligence of the provincial government," he said in an interview.

"I find them bringing in British Columbia lumber for processing while our own is going to waste . . . I find competent sawyers working as laborers in the mills, finishing B.C. lumber."

He called on the Ontario government to implement the Kennedy report on the forestry industry. He said that under its provisions the lumber and paper-mill sections of the industry could work together to "harvest the forest to the benefit of all people."

Tedious Job Grouping Polio Viruses

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 4 (AP). —The tedious job of grouping viruses in a search for a vaccine against polio is half way to completion.

The Unive ity of Kansas Medical School is doing the work here. Three other universities are working on similar projects sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. All are trying to find out how many kinds of polio viruses there are. These viruses are tiny particles indistinguishable from each other in microscopes.

Three kinds are known. Before a safe vaccine can be made, medical science has to know whether there are others.

The difficulties are almost incredible, as shown by the work assigned here.

The only method is to take a sample of virus from a proven human polio case and then to test it on monkeys. In two years the Kansas group has tested 50 viruses. That has resuired 2,200 monkeys, and cost $140,000.

The Kansas group still has some 50 more polio strains to go. But this second lap is expected to take only about one year.

The encouragement is that no new kind was found in the first 50. Better still, half of these came from all over the United States and from Europe, China, and the Philippines. This indicates polio may be much the same the world over.

All 50 here belonged to only two of the three kinds. One is the Brunhilde strain, named for a chimpanzee at Johns Hopkins University, where it was isolated in 1939. The other is the Lansing strain, named after Lansing, Mich., also in 1939. The third, not yet found here, is named Leon, after a boy who had polio in Los Angeles. It was isolated in 1931.

Poor Men Just Haven't A Thing To Wear To Important Toronto Artillery Ball

TORONTO, Nov. 4 — (CP) — It was the handsome young beaux —not the beautiful belles—who found themselves without a thing to wear for the big ball.

The season's debutantes had their outfits chosen long ago for Friday night's Artillery Ball, first gala event of Toronto's winter social season. So had the men—but the death of a king put a crimp in their styles.

The official order put it this way for officers of the Canadian Artillery: "Court mourning having been announced due to the death of King Gustaf of Sweden, officers will not wear uniforms to the Artillery Ball."

The Artillery proved resourceful as ever. Not a one looked out of place in his white tie and tails as the ball went on, highlighted by the presentation of 34 of the season's debutantes to Lieutenant-Governor Ray Lawson.

Colborne Man Marks Ninetieth Birthday

WARKWORTH, Nov. 4 (ENS) —A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Puffer in honour of Mr. Willis Samis, Colborne, who was celebrating his 90th birthday.

There were fifty-two relatives present to wish him happy birthday and enjoy together an old-fashioned fowl dinner.

The afternoon was spent in music and singing of hymns and reminiscing.

Mr. Samis has two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Melissa Puffer, 86, Mrs. Mary Sommerville, 84, and Mr. Ira Samis, 82.

A unique feature was that there were six relatives present who were from eighty to ninety years of age.

Mr. Samis enjoys splendid health and does not require glasses. He has five sons, 13 grandchildren and sixteen great-grandchildren.

Relatives were present from Toronto, Port Hope, Peterborough, Colborne, Castleton, Brighton, Hilton, Orland and Morganston.

When You Use An OIL BURNING
NORGE
SPACE HEATER
There is more to satisfactory heating than just "taking delivery" of an Oil Heater!
• SIZE MUST BE CHOSEN CAREFULLY.
Undersize means over-firing.
Oversize means dirt and carbon in burner from under-firing in Spring and Fall.
• MODEL MUST BE CORRECT FOR THE JOB.
There are radiant heaters, circulators and radiant circulators. Some with forced air circulation — some without. Each heating problem has its CORRECT solution.
• INSTALLATION
Should only be made where chimney draft is satisfactory, by technicians fully trained and experienced.
Cherney's are fully experienced and equipped to handle your Oil Space Heater requirements for you; from the measuring of your rooms or house—to final connection, lighting, adjusting and testing. Proper instruments and gauges are used to check the draft, level the heater, and check proper burning of flame.
When you purchase a new heating system this Fall we will handle all details for you — even to arranging your oil supply.

WMS Asked For Supplies

Meeting of the WMS of Knox Church was held Friday in the church parlors. President Mrs. Ernest Mesley was in the chair and Mrs. Harold Lewis was pianist. Secretary Miss S. Summers, reported 11 hospital and 20 home calls were made by members. Mrs. J. Allen gave an encouraging financial statement. Mrs. A. Williams read a letter from Mrs H. Rehill, assistant stewardship secretary, suggesting that each member give one dollar extra as a "love gift" for the month of December. Mrs. F. Milburn, supply secretary, presented, on behalf of the United Church Relief Abroad, an appeal for one large sheet, two flannel binders, five boys' sweaters ages 8 to 12 and 10 Christmas gifts for girls 8 to 16. The study period dramatized by Mrs. George Hutchinson and Mrs. George Morrison. Mrs Madge Lindsay represented Mrs Action. The literature secretary, Mrs. Dawson Gourley, introduced "Christ for All Japan." The worship service with the theme, "One in Christ" was conducted by Mrs. R. Hanscom. Mrs Williams read several Japanese poems. The theme hymn, "Holy Spirit, Pray," was sung as a benediction.

Gerald Osborne Wed In Oshawa

St. Gregory's Roman Catholic Church, Oshawa, was setting for the wedding when Joan Marie O'Brien was united in marriage with Gerald Osborne. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. O'Brien, of Oshawa, and the bridegroom the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Osborne, of Peterborough. The Rev. Father Francis Smythe performed the ceremony and said the nuptial mass.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in heavy white slipper satin fashioned with a slim bodice buttoned at the back, and having a high round neckline inset with a yoke of nylon sheer enhanced with ivory toned fine French lace accented with pearls. Appliques of the same fine lace lent interest to the front panel of the skirt which flowed into a long train. The long fitted sleeves were pointed over the hand. Her finger tip veil of tulle illusion was gathered to a white satin bonnet accented with seed pearls and she carried a dainty cascade of fleur d'amour with caladium leaves, one strand of ivy and very small clusters of white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Jack O'Brien was matron of honor for her sister-in-law: The bridesmaids were Miss Joan Mothersill and Mrs. Betty Garrard a cousin of the bride. They wore identical gowns of American Beauty satin, matching buttoned jackets with shawl collars, short white gloves and matching helmets, and they carried white pom poms with Sanser leaves and ivy strands.

Mr. Jack O'Brien, brother of the bride, was groomsman. The ushers were Albert Walker and Fred Osborne, of Peterborough, a brother of the groom.

The reception was held at The Sign of the Gate, Kingston Road, Eas. To receive the guests, the bride's mother wore a floral gown of golden beige tissue faille, a laurel green feather trimmed velear hat with veil and a corsage of yellow and rust pom poms with a green bow. The groom's mother, who assisted, was wearing a navy crepe gown, matching hat and a feathered light pink carnation corsage with matching bow.

Mr. and Mrs. Osborne left in the afternoon for points in the United States where the honeymoon will be spent. For travelling the bride chose a brown crepe dress, a camel hair coat in natural shade, and a burnt orange velvet hat accented with a pheasant feather, brown accessories. On return they will make their home in Oshawa.

Guests were present from Peterborough, Omemee, Whitby, Toronto and Indian River.

List 42 Women As Candidates In U.S. Election

By CRAIG ARMSTRONG.

NEW YORK (CP). — The 1950 off-year United States elections mark another milestone in the saga of "petticoat politics."

Women candidates of the two major political parties — Republican and Democrat — are contesting one governorship, one Senate seat, and 40 House of Representatives seats in the November 7 vote. Candidates of minor parties raise the total to 42, four more than in 1946—last election year.

Mrs. Ana Frohmiller, 59-year-old Democrat, is a strong candidate in Arizona's battle for the governor's chair. Should she win, she would be the only woman governor in the United States and the third woman to head a state government in the country's history.

For 24 years, Mrs. Frohmiller has been auditor of Arizona — traditionally a Democratic state. She won the nomination handily over Governor Dan A. Garvey and a former member of the House, Richard F. Harless. Her Republican opponent is Howard Pyle, a Phoenix radio executive.

Not Much Chance

The only woman Senate candidate backed by a major party is Mrs. Helen Gahagan Douglas, a Democrat. She is running in California. The wife of movie star Melvyn Douglas, she was a popular Hollywood star until she entered the House in 1944 where she fought for price controls, housing and international co-operation.

However, she isn't given much chance of winning—although her campaign received a boost from Vice-President Alben Barkley on his recent political visit to California. Her opponent, Richard M. Nixon, well-known Republican, was an active member of the House Un-American Activities Committee. His supporters claim that he is a "sure" victor.

The only other woman running for the senate is Lillian R. Narins, Progressive party standard bearer in Pennsylvania. Observers give her little chance of election.

One Woman in Senate

The only woman senator at present is Republican Margaret Chase Smith, a white-haired business executive from Maine. She was a member of the House before she was elected to the Senate in 1948. She does not come up for re-election until 1954.

Seven of the nine women now in the House seek re-election. They are: Mrs. Chase Going Woodhouse (Dem., Conn.); Mrs. Cecil M. Harden (Rep. Ind.); Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers (Rep. Mass.); Mrs. Edna F. Kelly (Dem. N.Y.); Mrs. Katharine St. George (Rep. N.Y.); Mrs. Frances P. Bolton (Rep. O.); and Mrs. Reva Beck Bosome (Dem. Utah).

Mrs. Mary T. Norton, New Jersey Democrat and veteran of 22 years in the House, is not seeking re-election because of ill health.

Evenly Divided

Of the 16 candidates for the House put up by the major parties this year, eight are Republican and eight are Democrat. In the 1948 election there were 10 Democrats (one less than in 1946) and five Republicans (one more than in 1946).

The first woman was elected to the House in 1916—Miss Jenette Rankin, a Republican from Montana. Since then 47 women have been appointed or elected to Congress—seven to the Senate and 40 to the House. Nineteen were Republicans, 28 Democrats.

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, Democrat, was the first woman governor. She was elected governor of Wyoming—the first state to give the vote to women—in 1925. The only other feminine governor was Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson who finished a two-year term in Texas 15 years ago.

Omemee Women Discuss Japan

OMEMEE, Nov. 4 (ENS)—"One in Christ" was the dominating theme throughout the worship and the study at the October meeting of Trinity United WMS.

Mrs. A. Rutherford, Mrs. H. Graham, Mrs A. M. Weir and Mrs. G. Smith, with the group leader, Mrs. S. D. Vaughan, presented a series of poems written by Japanese Christians—poems revealing marvellous depth of spiritual vision and Christian experiences. Mrs. L. Casey read the scripture and Mrs. E. A. Corneil sang a solo.

Miss C Connell and Mrs. C. R. Vaughan made the study impressive by impersonating the United Church of Christ in Japan and the United Church of Canada respectively, and presenting the information in dialogue form.

Mrs. S. Moyer, speaking in the capacity of temperance secretary, urged all WMS members to take a definite stand against serving any kind of spirituous drinks in their homes. The treasurer reported a need of increased giving during the remainder of the year in order that the auxiliary may meet its allocation. Mrs. R. Brooks, missionary monthly secretary, announced that she would like all subscriptions for 1951 in early in November.

The theme song "Holy Spirit Pray" was sung as a benediction.

A contest of matching Japanese and Canadian proverbs was carried on during lunch.

600 at "Star Dust Ball" The "Sadie Hawkins" Dance

The members of the Lieut.-Col Agnes Neill Chapter IODE on Friday evening presented their annual Star Dust Ball, the big event of the year which adds variety to usual procedure in being a "Sadie Hawkins" dance. Not that the escorts all got away without paying any expenses of the evening, but at least they had the opportunity to try, and life-size replicas of Daisy Mae and Lil Abner on the stage reminded them.

Blue and silver decorations featured a revolving silver star where the blue bunting held a ceil of colored balloons. Miss Jean Cranfield planned the attractive stardust effects used as well as being responsible for the dance arrangements. Lipsticks were given as favors to each lady and crackers containing paper hats handed out.

The regent, Mrs. Gordon Vallery and vice regent Mrs. Harold Shaw were receiving, assisted by Mayor M. J. Swanston and Mrs. Swanston, Lieut. Col. W. G. Hall and Mrs. Hall, and Mr. Vallery and Mr. Shaw.

Misses Jean Duignan and Joan Magee were taking tickets at the door and Misses Marguerite Dummitt and Jean Hamley were in charge of ushering.

The draw prize of the evening was won by Mr. and Mrs. C. Hancock. Spot dance winners were Miss Doreen Wells and Clare McDougall, Miss Anne Leahy and Bill Johnson.

District Women Conveners Of WI Committees

TORONTO, Nov. 4. (CP) — Dr. Margaret McCready, home economics expert, suggested Friday that training courses be arranged to give domestic employment the same status as other trades and to sell the idea to young people that they are doing a vital job in this work.

Dr. McCready, director of the Ontario Agricultural College's home economics division, was addressing the annual meeting of the Central Ontario Women's Institutes. Mrs. J. G. Snider of Weston was elected chairman on the closing day of the three-day convention.

"There is hardly any business which has not trained help of some kind, and few business men who would carry on without help as indefatigably as our homemakers," said Dr. McCready. "How mothers with young children manage to carry on day after day and have any life of their own is beyond me.

"Unless we, as women, insist that help for homes is as essential as training for any trade we will never get anywhere in this matter.

All-Time Need

"Only in times of depression do we think of training helpers. It is an all-time need."

A petition to the Postmaster-General to have postage rates reduced to pre-war rates was one among a dozen resolutions passed.

Other resolutions urged the Provincial Government to have a number of women included in the new advisory council for the Ontario Agricultural College, that all proprietary medicines containing poisons be plainly marked; that judicial costs in cases attributed to the excessive use of liquor be paid for out of liquor revenue, and "if such revenue is not sufficient, additional taxation be put on liquors used as beverage."

Ask Stricter Censorship

Other resolutions asked stricter censorship of radio programs, eliminating drama featuring murders and holdups; urged the prohibiting of new cocktail bars, and protested against the open Sunday. Resolutions were presented by Mrs. H. E. Birdsall of Birdsall.

Other officers elected were: Vice-chairman, Mrs. W. H. Clugson, Markdale; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Gordon McPhatter, Owen Sound. Board of directors: Mrs. McPhatter, Mrs. Ira Lowe, Durham East; Mrs. A. E. Kennedy, Agincourt; Mrs. J. F. Woodland, Orangeville.

Conveners of standing committees: Agriculture, Mrs. Clarence Marchant, Schomberg; Citizenship, Mrs. R. N. White, Meaford; Public Relations, Mrs. Norman White, Brooklin; Historical Research, Mrs. A. McGee, Fenelon Falls; Home Economics, Mrs. Joseph Hoffman, Havelock; Resolution, Mrs. Birdsall; Junior Institute convener, Miss Doris Riseborough, Uxbridge.

Photographer Violet Keene Brings Her Study Of "GBS"

Violet Keene, photographer, came to Peterborough Friday as the speaker at the Women's Art Association studio meeting, bringing a few of her more interesting portraits and studies, including one of the late George Bernard Shaw, taken when he was 77.

The audience was particularly interested in this picture since news of the subject's death had so recently come. Miss Keene went into detail of the picture taking, when Mr. Shaw helped her set up the camera and equipment, then helped to pack it up again, leaving out one piece which she had to wire him about. She described him as very tall, athletic build, with keen, decidedly blue eyes. He later wrote her about his picture, signing himself "Your flattered sitter."

Photography is a newer type of art or technique, being little more than 100 years old, in the form known today but Miss Keene explained that certain forms of photographic action have always existed. She cited discoveries which have proved the principles were known 2,000 years ago in China, and remarked that the tanning of the human skin by the sun is as much a photographic action as picture-taking on film.

It was in 1827 the process for pictures unaffected by light was discovered, but exposure time was then eight hours and the picture faint. Due to the work of pioneers in photography, it has become the simplified means of expression and no longer is the sitter's head held in a vise to keep it still as was once done — "probably accounting for the expressions on some of the victims in the family albums," said Miss Keene.

"The most expensive camera and equipment does not necessarily mean a good picture", she pointed out, and told a few secrets of the profession that are used to get the desired effect Choosing a background is important to show the best features of the sitter, and the photographer must study the face and decide how to submerge the poorer features and whether a profile, three-quarter or full-face picture should be taken. The angle of the lens must also be decided upon. Age of the subject is an important consideration and in this regard Miss Keene stated that children are very easy to photograph, until possibly the age of ten. Some adults co-operate beautifully and they are usually rewarded with a "good" picture or one in which their individuality has been brought out.

In closing Miss Keene said "What worlds will be opened through the illimitable possibilities of photography?"

President Mrs. N. D. Season opened the meeting with a few explanations to new members on the procedure of the local Association.

Few Mothers Make Effort To Fit Daughters for Life

One of the unexplainable mysteries of feminine psychology is the attitude of mothers toward their daughters and why, loving their daughters as they do, they treat them the way they do.

Mystery No. 1 is that even intelligent mothers so seldom try to fit their daughters for life. Apparently mothers still believe in Santa Claus and think that no matter what happens to other girls their own are going to be saved from all the work and worry and hardships of existence. So she spoils and pampers her daughters. She encourages them in selfishness and extravagance. She goes shabby that they may have fine clothes. She makes callouses on her hands so that they may keep theirs soft and manicured. She is humble before their insults and makes them feel that they are she-who-must-be-obeyed.

Dorothy Dix

She doesn't even teach them how to cook or sew or market, although she is aware from her own experience that these are the things that every woman most needs to know, and that on her skill in the domestic arts will depend much of the success of her marriage.

Every girl who goes into business goes in handicapped by the lack of discipline, the lack of self-control, the laziness and inefficiency that her mother has bred in her. Half of the young women who rush into the divorce courts do so because their husbands do not treat them as their mothers did. They consider it cruel and inhuman treatment to be expected to do their share of work and bear their part of the load in the matrimonial partnership.

Girl Family Goat

Mystery No. 2 is, curiously enough, that mothers consider that they own their daughters and that their daughters have a greater duty to them than their sons have. If there is ever any call for someone to be sacrificed on the family altar, it is always Nanny that Mother picks out for the goat. If there is sickness, it is always Nanny who must sit up and nurse the sufferer. Mother wouldn't dream of asking Tom to do it, because Tom needs his sleep and is tired after his hard day's work. Nanny may have stood behind a counter or pounded a typewriter from early morn till dewy eve, but Mother never remembers that.

Mother never asks the boys to do hand's turn around the house, but she saves up the chores for the girls to do when they come home from business. If there is a call for anyone to give up a career, or stay single in order to take care of old parents, it is always poor Nanny who is elected for martyrdom. Mother considers it the girls' duty, not the boys'.

Mystery No. 3 is why mothers are so anxious to get their daughters married. Most of them have not found marriage a picnic that one could recommend for real enjoyment and a good time. Some of them have had husbands who drank and beat them; some were married to men who were shiftless and no-account; most of them had husbands who never showed them any tenderness nor affection, and who were grouchy and high-tempered and hard to get along with. All of their married lives they have had to work hard, pinch pennies, go shabby and have had few pleasures to brighten their lives.

Not Choosy About Man

One would think that the last thing on earth that a mother would want would be to let her daughter into a life that would be a repetition of hers. But this is not the case. Most mothers are so eager for their daughters to marry that they are not even particular about the bridegrooms and they will actually aid and abet their daughters in marrying men who have malodorous pasts, men who drink too much, men who have no way of providing for a family, men who have never even been able to support themselves.

Why mothers should be so anxious for their daughters to marry, no one knows. It is not because they are a burden on them, because virtually every girl makes her own living in these days and helps her family. It isn't because the mothers think the girls will be happier or better off married than single. It is just Mystery No. 3. And, curiously enough, mothers, are as opposed to their sons' marrying as they are pleased with their daughters' marrying. At a wedding you can always tell which is the bride's mother and which the bridegroom's. The bride's mother is wreathed in smiles. The bridegroom's mother is the lady in tears.

Mystery No. 4 is why mothers seem to think that the marriage ceremony endows a girl with almost supernatural wisdom and bestows upon her the ability to take care of herself. In a word, they think that marriage turns Dumb Dora into Mrs. Solomon, and changes a clinging vine into a sturdy oak. As long as Sally is single, Mother scoffs at her opinions, feels at liberty to correct her, tells her what to do and what not to do and considers that she can't be trusted to go anywhere alone, although Sally may be 40 years old, have a college degree and hold down an executive job.

But if Sally had married at 16 Mother would have immediately thought that she was an oracle and asked her advice and considered her a sophisticated woman of the world.

Funny about mothers, isn't it, and the way they treat their daughters?

Princess Anxious To Visit Canada

OXFORD, England —(CP)— Princess Margaret wants to go to Canada and feels sure she will be able to do so in the next few years, says a Canadian who talked to her.

Dr. John Lowe, Calgary-born vice-chancellor of Oxford University, did a fox-trot with Princess Margaret at an Oxford dance. Afterwards, he told reporters the Princess had expressed a great interest in Canada.

"She was confident she would be able to visit the dominion in the next few years," Dr. Lowe said.

The Canadian educationist once was dean of divinity at Trinity College, Toronto.

QUESTION: Would you please give me a recipe for Grape Pie and Corn Pudding, Thank you. H. H.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER:

Grape Pie (Concord grapes)

Wash and stem concord grapes and measure seven cups. Slip skin from pulp. Heat pulp to boiling and boil 5 minutes. Rub through sieve to remove seeds. Mix together 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 1½ cups sugar, ¾ teaspoon salt, grated rind 1 orange. Stir this into the grape pulp, and cook until thickened, stirring. Add the grape skins and cool. Line a pie plate with plain pastry. Turn the filling into it. Cover with ⅜-inch wide strips of pastry, moistening the ends of them to hold in place at edge. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes then reduce heat to 325 deg. Fahr. and bake 20 to 25 minutes longer.

◇ ◇ ◇

Corn Pudding

Two cups canned or fresh corn cut from cob, 2 cups milk, 3 eggs, 1 tablespoon each butter and minced onion, 2 tablespoons sugar, ¼ cup finely chopped green pepper, 1 chopped pimiento is optional, 1 teaspoon salt. Beat eggs slightly and add the milk, sugar, and salt. Combine corn with the other ingredients and add to the milk mixture, mixing well. Pour into buttered casserole and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour. This is very like a custard and is better if casserole stands in large dish containing water. Cheese Sauce or Tomato Sauce make a nice accompaniment if this is served at a meatless meal.

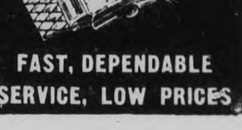
◇ ◇ ◇

QUESTION: Would you please send me a copy of your recipe for your peach or pineapple upside down cake. I find your recipes and articles very interesting. (Mrs.) J. B.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER:

Pineapple Upside Down Cake



Fruit Layer: One-half cup butter or margarine, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 No. 2 can sliced pineapple, about 12 or 14 large whole pecans.

Batter: One cup sifted cake flour, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 3 eggs, yolks and whites separated, 1 cup granulated sugar, 5 tablespoons pineapple juice.

Method: Melt butter for fruit layer in bottom of large baking dish, and spread the brown sugar evenly over it. Over these arrange the slices of pineapple cut in halves to make crescents, filling the spaces with the pecans or maraschino cherries. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Beat egg yolks until light, adding sugar gradually: add pineapple juice and sifted flour mixture; fold in stiffly beaten whites. Pour this batter over the pineapple. Bake at 375° Fahr. for about 35 minutes. To serve turn out upside down on attractive serving plate and pass whipped cream if desired.

NOTE: Inverted peaches, the space being filling with a cherry, make another variation for this upside down cake. Other fruits are apricots with prunes, or cherries with pecans. A combination of cranberries and apples is good; both apples and cranberries may be added to the syrup raw.

CARMEL BAVARIAN CREAM is one of the greatest favorites of the refrigerator desserts.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Popular Chilled Desserts Found in Cookbook

You will find ideas galore for modern chilled desserts in "250 Luscious Refrigerator Desserts, now available to readers of the Examiner. One of the favorites is this Caramel Bavarian Cream which is made as follows:

Caramel Bavarian Cream

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
¾ cup sugar
½ cup boiling water
1 egg
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup heavy cream, whipped

Soften gelatin in water 5 minutes. Heat ½ cup sugar slowly in heavy skillet until browned, stirring constantly. Add boiling water and heat until the browned sugar dissolves, stirring constantly. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Beat egg, combine with remaining sugar, milk and vanilla and add browned sugar mixture. Cook over boiling water stirring constantly until mixture coats a spoon. Chill. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in whipped cream. Turn into a mold and chill until firm. Unmold and serve plain or with Caramel Sauce. Serves 6.

Many types of frozen desserts are included in this unusual book. There are recipes for ice creams, ices, mousses, parfaits, bombes, frappes, and pies, as well as refrigerator cakes and cookies. Among the cookies it would be hard to find a more attractive recipe than this one for Chocolate Pinwheels:

Chocolate Pinwheels

1½ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg yolk, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoon milk
1 ounce (square) chocolate, melted

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening with sugar until fluffy. Add egg yolk and vanilla and beat well. Add flour alternately with milk, mixing well after each addition. Divide dough into 2 parts. To one part, add chocolate and blend. Chill until firm enough to roll. Roll each half into rectangular sheet, ⅛ inch thick and as nearly same size and shape as possible. Place plain sheet over chocolate sheet and roll as for jelly roll. Chill overnight until firm enough to slice. Cut into ⅛-inch slices. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot over (400 deg. F.) 5 minutes. Makes 50 pinwheels.

The Refrigerator Desserts Book is the sixteenth title to be released in the series of twenty-four Culinary Arts Institute Cookbooks included in this offer. To obtain your copy simply clip one Cookbook Coupon from page 2 of any daily issue of this paper. Present your coupon with 25c at Examiner office or from your carrier or at Braund's Home Food Markets. Any of the preceding titles may be obtained in the same way. A new title will be released each week until all twenty-four are on hand. To order by mail send coupon with 30c (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

Man-made Holes Going Pretty Deep

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Atom-bomb speculation naturally raises the question of how far underground can mankind dig.

H. G. Wells once wrote a book, "The Time Machine," in which a man travelled 820,000 miles into the future. The traveller finds man has evolved into two species, one living underground and able to see only in the dark. These come to the surface on moonless nights and carry away members of the surface species to eat them.

Whether or not man ever progresses to this cheerless situation, he has already achieved considerable skill at burrowing into the earth, and he's burrowing deeper all the time. In Africa and India he is down around 9,000 or 10,000 feet in his age-old hunt for gold.

In Wyoming he has bored a hole 20,521 feet deep in his century-old search for the black gold that is oil. This puncture of nearly four miles is probably the closest to the earth's centre—4,000 miles from the surface — that mankind ever pushed a finger. It is certainly the closest unless Russia has drilled a deeper well, and neither the U.S. Bureau of Mines nor the American Petroleum Institute think this is likely.

Deepest Mines

There is no definite figure on what is the deepest mine in the world. It may be the Crown mine at Johannesburg, a gold producer down close to 9,000 feet. A shaft at Mysore, India, was down 8,859 feet in 1942 and is probably deeper now.

The deepest mine in North America is also a gold mine, according to the U.S. Bureau of Mines. It's the No. 4 shaft of the Lake Shore Mines at Kirkland Lake, Ont., recorded at 7,500 feet.

One of the most interesting trips ever made toward the earth's centre was not in a mine or a cave but in the Pacific ocean. The world record for deep sea diving, 4,500 feet, was made by Otis Barton in 1949. He made the trip inside a steel ball.

To Resume Relations

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—(AP)—Chile and Yugoslavia have signed an agreement to resume diplomatic and commercial relations, it was announced Friday. Premier Tito's government severed relations with Chile Oct 11, 1947. This was part of a general break between Chile and the Communist countries. The resumption of relations developed as a result of Tito's split with Moscow and his turn toward the west.

Fire 45 Reds

TOKYO, Nov. 4 —(AP)— The Japanese International Trade and Industry ministry today discharged 45 Communist officials. The action was in line with the Japanese government's program to purge Communist party members from the ranks of civil servants. The program was inaugurated Thursday when the Agricultural and Forestry ministry dismissed 207 Reds.

Versatile Interpreters' Task Enliven Montreal Sessions

MONTREAL —(CP)— Today's interpreter, now that simultaneous multiple translation has come to stay at international gatherings, must be more than a repeater of the speaker's words. He must be an actor too, and nowhere is this more ably demonstrated than in headquarters of the International Civic Aviation Organization here.

The interpreter must produce the same tones as the speaker. If the speaker gets angry and shouts, the interpreter shouts with him. If he adds ice to his tones, the interpreters immediately add ice to theirs.

In addition to ability, an interpreter must be a glutton for work. He may translate as much as 36,000 words in one three-hour session, and sometimes the sessions go on for 14 hours.

Hardest Work

At the world headquarters of the International Civic Aviation Organization here the interpreter is accepted by all as the hardest working person at the sessions.

When Montreal's mayor Houde addressed a recent opening session, some who had turned their earphones to the English translation may have been a little surprised to hear his worship speaking with a slight Oxford accent. But this was the only give-away, as most interpreters strive to give a genuine copy of the peaker's words even to the facial expressions.

Youthful Experts

At ICAO here the interpreters are mostly young. They represent practically all countries, including Canada, and they have a good sense of humour.

Harold Manfield, acting chief of the ICAO language section, is representative of his group.

After a teaching career in France he joined ICAO in 1947 and now has the job of giving simultaneous translations of English, French and Spanish. This requires a translation set-up of three booths.

In one booth an interpreter will be translating as the speaker talks, from French into English. Beside him (or her) will be another interpreter changing Spanish into English. Booth No. 2 will have one English-to-French and Spanish-to-English interpreter while booth No. 3 will be equipped to turn English to Spanish and French to Spanish.

Use Own Jokes

The speaker's voice is carried through the earphone system to 57 delegates and as many of 155 listeners in the gallery. Anyone wishing to change the language merely has to flip a switch and the earphones will provide him with the language of his choice.

Almost every speaker injects some humorous anecdotes and is apt to become annoyed if the interpreter fails to put it across. So here the interpreters sometimes cheat a little by supplying an anecdote of their own which is easier translated.

The ICAO staff numbers 18 and their biggest obstacle is temporary deafness. An interpreter has to turn up the volume of his own headset, so he can hear the speaker he is translating over his own voice. Too many hours of this and the ears are liable to go numb.

$600,000 Order For 4 Paper Machine Drives

Orders have been placed by four of Canada's major pulp and paper companies with the C.G.E. for paper machine drives. Featuring the multi-generator system, the five machines costing more than $600,000 will be manufactured at the Peterborough works.

The companies who have placed the orders are the Abitibi Power and Paper company (newsprint), the Bathhurst paper company (sulphate cardboard), the Kimberley-Clarke (paper specialties) and the Powell River paper company of British Columbia (newsprint).

All the companies but Bathurst are installing the sectional type of drive in their machines. This means that the paper machine is split into sections, each section having a motor.

Another feature of the drive is the multigenerator scheme which provides a generator for each motor. The C.G.E. it is said is the only Canadian company to successfully apply the multigenerator drive to the sectional paper machine.

The Abitibi company is installing the first multigenerator drive on one of 232-inch machines at Iroquois Falls. There are seven machines at this plant which will require modernizing. The Powell River company has eight paper machines and the C.G.E. will replace two drives on the 234-inch paper machines.

CANADIAN MOTHER — Mrs. John Beasley of Ottawa, who lost two sons in the Second World War, has been chosen to represent all Canadian mothers Nov. 11 at Remembrance Day ceremonies at the National War Memorial in Ottawa. She will place a wreath in memory of William Harold, who died in an RCAF training crash in Canada, and Roland, who died in Belgium. This photo is by Malak of Ottawa.

Attended Conference Of Queen's Alumni

Rev. Arnold Mathews, minister of George St. United Church, recently took a prominent part in the Queen's University Theological Alumni Association conference at the University. He is a past president of the Alumni Association. The conference marked the 110th anniversary of the University's formation.

Principal speaker was Rev. John T. McNeill, Union Theological Seminary, New York, one of the worlds outstanding authorities on church history, who delivered the chancellor's lectures.

78 Natives Injured

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Nov. 4—(AP)—Seventy-eight South African natives were injured Friday when a streetcar on which they were passengers overturned in Johannesburg. Twenty of the victims were taken to a hospital, where their conditions were described as serious.

Roseneath WI Honors Members

ROSENEATH, Nov. 4—(ENS)—The presentation of life membership certificates to Miss A. Nill and Mrs. J. W. Pacey was the highlight of the November meeting of Roseneath Women's Institute held in the Town Hall on Thursday afternoon. The presentation was made in recognition of many years of faithful service in Institute work.

The address was read by Mrs. J. N. Lovelace and the certificates presented by Mrs. Thomas Sandercock.

"Home Economics" was the theme of the meeting and Mrs. Charles Sandercock, branch convener of Home Economics, gave an address on "Ever present enemies" dealing with moths in the wardrobe, flies, insects on the house plants and garden vegetables and mites in the chicken house.

Infants' Clothing Shower

A shower of infants' clothing was donated by the members at the meeting to be sent to "Save the Children Fund."

Mrs. Bart Thackeray was hostess and the president, Mrs. Harold Taylor, presided, with Mrs. Edgar Carew as pianist.

During the business period it was decided to send six delegates to Belleville Area Convention on November 8th. The delegates are: Mrs. Ernest Burrison, Mrs. C. Grigg, Mrs. Edgar Carew, Mrs. Charles Sandercock, Mrs. J. W. Pacey and Mrs. A. Nill.

Plans were made for the short course "Home Care of the Sick" to be held in Roseneath Town Hall on November 20 to 24 inclusive. Miss Helen Gardiner, R.N., of Toronto will be in charge.

A 20-pound box of Christmas cheer will be donated by the members and sent to Miss Isa Lewis, Baptist deaconess in England, to be distributed among the needy members of her parish at Christmas time. The box will be packed in the Town Hall on November 11. The committee in charge are: Mrs. Bart Thackeray, Mrs. Harold Taylor and Mrs. Alfred Pringle.

Fancy boxes will be made by the members and filled with candy for needy children at Christmas.

Preceding the program period, Mrs. Frank Brown paid tribute to the late Dr. Edgar W. Hayden, whose death occurred in Toronto on Wednesday. Dr. Hayden was a former Roseneath physician.

Mrs. C. Grigg sponsored a contest "Hints for Homes," which was won by a group of ladies: Mrs. A. Nill, Mrs. J. N. Lovelace and Mrs. F. Brown. Mrs. B. Thackeray played a piano solo and Mrs. R. C. White read "House and Homes"; Mrs. Sandercock was in charge of a thanksgiving quiz won by Mrs. Fred Murphy's group; a poem by Mrs. F. Brown closed the meeting.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

Give Buddha Statue

TOKYO, Nov. 4—(Reuters)—Japanese Buddhists are to present a 10-foot statue of Buddha, dedicated to peace, to United Nations headquarters, Kyodo news agency reported today. The statue, which took a Japanese artist three years to carve, will be dedicated at a Tokyo Temple before it leaves for New York.

Toronto Hears Symphony By Kaufmann

WINNIPEG —(CP)— Walter Kaufmann, conductor of Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra, says composing music isn't like baking a cake—it has to be done when the idea is there and the mood is right.

Mr. Kaufmann's compositions have been played in Canada, the United States, Britain and Europe for more than 20 years. He has been writing music since he was a child in his native Czechoslovakia. His Fifth Symphony—he named it Sinfonietta, because it is very short"—will be played by Toronto Symphony Orchestra Nov. 7 and 8.

This is how Mr. Kaufmann describes his method of composition:

"First you get an idea and then the mood sinks in. Then you try to find a means of expressing this mood, which is the hardest thing to do. You keep trying and trying, but sometimes the music just doesn't fit.

Many Take Years

"This may go on for months, weeks or years until you find the right thing. And when you do, the rest is easy. The technical part comes next and you just write it on paper."

Two of Mr. Kaufmann's newer compositions have been inspired by Manitoba's wide expanse of land, seemingly-endless roads and the changing prairie skies. One is called "Pembina Highway," for the road leading from Winnipeg to the international boundary; the other "Four Skies."

The composer says writing music is his first fove. But he adds: "You have to be a millionaire to live by it alone."

Surprise Party Marks Golden Anniversary

WARKWORTH, Nov. 4 (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Finlay entertained at their home a number of relatives in the form of a surprise party in honour of their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Way, to mark their 50th wedding anniversary.

The evening was spent in playing progressive euchre. Later, Mr. L. Finlay read an address and Joan Finlay presented Mrs. Way with a gold necklace and Betty Young presented Mr. Way with a gold tie clip on behalf of all the relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Way replied and thanked their friends for the lovely remembrances and kindly thoughts which prompted the gifts.

Refreshments were served. The following relatives were present: Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Finlay, Joan and Brian; Mr. Jesse Young; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Young, Grace and Betty; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Finlay, and Mrs. Clifford Skinkle.

Town Incorporated

cialized in moving furniture out of burning buildings, and in pulling down walls to prevent fire spreading, and it is said that they often did more damage than the fire itself, particularly if they had been imbibing the "firewater" which was passed for liquid refreshment, on cold winter nights.

Some of the main fires in business blocks and mills are listed herewith:

1855—February 1, McMillen's shoe shop, Keele's shoe shop, Haggaret's Clothing store, Arnot's Bakery, Morrow's Grocery, Fleming's Grocery, Lannin & Finly's boot shop, Stenson's shoe store, and several others, all in one night. On June 8, Dickson's steam sawmill, with over two million feet of lumber, value $65,000.

1856—Feb. 25, Hurley's shop, Ayres' axe factory, Doran's Carding Mill, on Rogers raceway in Ashburnham; later in the year, Day's Brewery and White's Hotel nearby east of George on Sherbrooke, south side.

1857—June 3, Swayne's cabinet shop on George Street, spreading from Fletcher's Store up to Lewis' Marble Shop on Brock. June 15—Fire starting in Hatton's store burnt down the Perry Block, loss $32,000. Later, Helm's Foundry on Simcoe Street burned down.

1858—The Commercial Hotel, corner of Hunter and Water Streets, burned down. It is no coincidence that by 1860 dozens of fire (and life) insurance companies set up agencies in Peterborough; men like Conger, Clux ton, Nicholls and Hall became agents for half a dozen insurance companies each, in addition to their many other offices as the leading "business magnates" of the newly incorporated town.

A Narrow Escape

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4 (AP)—A five-week-old baby girl, missing two hours, was found inside the trailer section of a truck Friday as workmen were about to burn it for scrap. Only the faint wailing of tiny Janet Lee Mann saved her from becoming a charred body in the junk pyre already doused with gasoline, workmen said.

BRITISH VISITOR — The Hon. Mrs. Leslie Gamage, superintendent of Berkshire, Eng., nursing division for the Order of St. John, recently visited the Canadian headquarters of the St. John Ambulance in Ottawa. She is seen on the left, chatting with Miss M. J. L. MacLaren, superintendent-in-chief of the nursing division for the order in Canada.

Keep Weather Out of Home With Flashing, Caulking

The outside coverings of a house are made of different kinds of materials and these materials meet each other at all kinds of different angles. There is, therefore, the necessity to use flashings. Flashings are supposed to keep the structure from leaking water through to the inside of the house.

Flashings are usually made of some sort of sheet metal that will not rust or corrode readily. Galvanized iron sheeting is a common material but with age it will rust and begin to leak water. When this is the case the remedy is new flashing, sooner or later. If a flashing leaks at some definite location it can be repaired by the use of non-hardening roof cement applied to the leak with a brush or trowel.

Repair Loose Flashings

A flashing that has come loose from a joint in the brickwork can be put back, or a new one installed, by chipping the mortar out of the joint and replacing it with a heavy mastic instead of cement mortar. The meeting of the chimney and the roof is a vulnerable spot and this location is usually flashed and counterflashed for safety. The principle of flashing is that a flashing above any other always comes down on top of ahe one below, as one shingle overlaps the one below.

Any windows and door frames, where their headings and casings fit against the wall, should have adequate metal flashings whether there are drip caps there or not. This flashing is merely a strip of metal bent up under the siding over the window and down over the frame. If you have a leaky window frame this flashing will be the trouble nine times out of ten. The thing to do is to lift the piece of siding over the window frame and slip a piece of sheet metal or even a piece of asphalt roofing, up under the siding. Bend it carefully over the top of the drip cap and tack it along the outside edge. Let the siding back in place and nail down. Putty all nail holes and paint thoroughly.

Around the Chimney

An important spot for flashing is the place where the roof slopes down into the back of the chimney. Water often runs into this spot with considerable force and has to find its way around the chimney. While good flashing of the regular type may have withstood the water for some time, almost any old house with this flashing will begin to have trouble. The thing to do is to install what is known as a cricket. This is an inverted V-shaped framing of wood covered with metal. It is flashed to the sloping roof and to the back of the chimney thus dividing the water as it comes down the roof, and running it off at both sides of the chimney.

There are numerous places about the house which need flashing to protect the house as it grows older, but unfortunately some of the places are impossible to get at without tearing out too much. The concrete stoop, for instance, where it butts against a frame house ought to be flashed, or the joint filled with a mastic to prevent leakage.

Applying Caulking Material

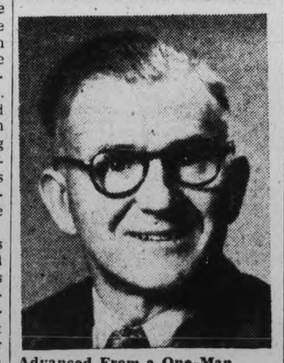
Modern caulking often takes the place of flashings on upkeep and repair jobs. Caulking, whether with a gun or with a putty knife, or any knife for that matter, is an excellent help for houses that are beginning to feel their years. Caulking also adds greatly to the stopping of air leaking into the house around window and door frames. Any crack, anywhere, can be filled with a suitable caulking compound that will not get hard during the years to come. That is, it will remain soft enough to give and take with the action of heat and cold, or the normal swelling and shrinking of wood.

The easiest way to caulk cracks is to use a caulking gun. They are inexpensive — the small ones for household use — and with slight pressure a uniform strip of the compound comes out of the nozzle and fills the crack as you move the gun along.

Caulking compound comes in white, limestone gray and dark grey colours for use with a putty or caulking knife, and in a variety of other colors for use in a gun. Because of the adaptability of these compounds and their waterproof quality, they are usable all over the house, inside and out. Instead of re-pointing masonry with cement mortar, you can use these caulking compounds with perfect success. Caulk around window and door frames, along porches, baseboards, chimneys, sinks, foundations, in fact any place where there is a crack between materials. The surface of caulking compound can be painted with ordinary paint just like wood or any other material. It can be used for puttying glass instead of putty, as it doesn't get hard and won't dry out and eventually crumble like putty. If you don't use a whole can at one time cover what is left with water until the next time you want to use it.

Ladies' Guild Meet

MARMORA, Nov. 4 (ENS). — St. Paul's Ladies' Guild met at the home of Mrs. Frank Leal on Thursday evening. Mrs. Donald Robertson presided.



Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie opened the meeting with prayer.

Net proceeds of the recent chicken supper and bazaar were reported to be well over $200.

The Rector addressed the Guild on the projects before the parish —the every member canvass and church extension. Mrs. Percy Eamer and Mrs. William Regan were appointed a nominating committee to bring in a slate of officers for the December meeting.

The meeting was closed with prayer. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

Dr. Edgar Hayden Widely Mourned

COBOURG, Nov. 4—(ENS)—One of the largest funerals in the history of Cobourg took place yesterday when Dr. Edgar Hayden was laid to rest in Cobourg Union Cemetery. Dr. Hayden died after a brief illness, at the age of 78 years. He was a native of Cobourg and had practised medicine here for over fifty years. He was noted for his devotion to his profession and even when his advanced years began to slow him up he would go out at any time, day or night, in any weather.

Dr. Hayden had a large rural practice and many of those who came to pay their last respects were country folk. The funeral service was held at Trinity United Church and was conducted by the Rev. E. C. Kelloway and Rev. W. P. Woodger. The church was filled to capacity. The doctors of Cobourg were honorary pall bearers. The pall bearers were Oliver Johns, Stuart and Allan Field, of Cobourg, Lance Davern, of Consecon, and John Hayden, of Baltimore.

Dr. Hayden was one of the charter members of the Rotary Club of Cobourg and special tribute to his memory was paid at Friday's Rotary luncheon. John Stone of Toronto, who was once a charter member of Cobourg Rotary, referred to the unselfish work done by Dr. Hayden on behalf of the club. Dr. Frank Lloyd, Dr. Fred Blackwell and Dr. W. W. Wade of the Cobourg Rotary Club, also spoke of the faithful service of the late doctor for the Rotary Club.

Unemployment Down

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP). Only 1,940,000 Americans were listed as unemployed in October —the smallest number in the last two years — and employment jumped to 61,746,000, the highest for any October in history. The Census Bureau, which reported the job figures yesterday, said the 401,000 fall-off in the number of unemployed resulted from draft calls and expansion in farm employment.

Productions Set Frivolous Pace This Autumn On Broadway

By FRED KERNER

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 —(CP)— The New York threatre season is rolling along at a frivolous pace.

Though several sombre subjects have been explored dramatically since the season opened six weeks ago, they have not claimed the popular attention that have the antic doings. Of 10 openings—both on and off Broadway—during October, seven have been in a lighter vein.

One of the three serious pieces that showed during the month has been closed, one is staggering along weakly and the third is holding on mainly, because of its star, Basil Rathbone. Only one of the comedies folded.

The mostly-highly publicized production of the month, "Call Me Madam," starring the inimitable Ethel Merman, is frankly a disappointment. Without the wonderful talents of Miss Merman—and a $1,000,000 advance sale—the musical travesty might not last long.

Do Poor Job

La Merman makes the most of an Irving Berlin score that tends to be reminiscent of a lot of old songs. The book, about a mythical US ambassadress to a mythical European duchy, is written by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse—but is no credit to these top authors.

Among the better of the straight comedies are "The Day After Tomorrow," an inocuously amusing piece about British society by Frederick Lonsdale, and a revival of the late George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man" done by the Arena Theatre group.

The Lonsdale comedy stars Melville Cooper and has a brilliant cast which help make the evening most entertaining despite the contrived situations of the story. The ancient play by G. B. S. goes well in the round-theatre setting and has Francis Lederer and Sam Wanamaker to bolster an otherwise good cast of actors.

Big Disappointment

The month's disappointment was John Steinbeck's "Burning Bright" which managed to survive litle more than a week. A moody symbolic play concerning sterility, it is sterile in plot and sterile in development.

A pleasant little comedy by a former Canadian newspaperman, Ted Farah, called "Angel with Red Hair," is presented by a top off-Broadway group, the Blackfriars' Guild. Farah, a native of New Liskeard, Ont., received fair notices from the critics for his first produced effort in theatre.

Though billed as a comedy, "The Curious Savage" by John Patrick has a strong underlying tone of tragedy as it tells of inmates in a private mental home. Lillian Gish, as a not-so-mad dowager, heads a brilliant cast.

A casualty was "Legend of Sarah," the first comedy written by the team of James Gow and Arnaud D'Usseau, best known for "Tomorrow the World" and "Deep are the Roots." Marsha Hunt failed to keep this deficient bit of humor running.

Captain's Licence Has Been Suspended

DETROIT, Nov. 4—(AP)—The United States Coast Guard has suspended the licence of Capt. J. Kiessling, skipper of the City of Cleveland III, his lawyer was informed Friday.

The one-year suspension was based on a negligence charge that grew out of the crash between the Great Lakes passenger ship and a Norwegian freighter in Lake Huron June 25. Five passengers lost their lives.

The decision sustained charges that the veteran Lakes captain failed to reduce to a moderate speed in the fog off Harbor Beach and to blow a danger signal when he was not sure of the freighter's course. The passenger ship was badly damaged in the crash with the freighter, Ravnefjell.

Contractor Dies

TORONTO, Nov. 4 (CP). — William George Rowe, 69, a retired contractor, died in hospital Thursday. Former general superintendent of the Disher Steel Construction Company, Mr. Rowe had supervised the steelwork on the new Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto and many other building projects in Ontario.

Jailed For Robbery

WALKERTON, Nov. 4 (CP). — Three Tevciotdale district men were sentenced here Friday for the robbery of the Mildmay post office August 29. Victor Bishop and Keith Morphy were given terms of five and four years respectively in Kingston penitentiary. Fred West was sentenced to two years, less one day in the Ontario reformatory at Guelph.

Bigger Tourist Year Planned

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 — Harvey Strubb of TEM Travel and Ticket Agency of Peterborough is an executive of the Travel and Transportation Industry Leaders it was announced here today. Travel and Industry Leaders are forecasting optimistically that 1951 tourist season will be "bigger than ever." Mr. Strubb is attending the 20th annual three-day convention of the American Society of Travel Agents which closes its sessions here in Washington tonight at the Shoreham Hotel.

Sir Alexander Maxwell, head of the British travel emphasized at the convention "Britain is in the tourist business for keeps." He said his country was not going to let the tourist program stop when England gets back into economic balance. He reported that Great Britain had experienced 20 per cent increase in tourist business in the first eight months of this year. "Britain's economy is such that we shall always have need of invisible exports and tourism is now the most important of them all."

The men who sell the magic carpet of travel reported the Korean war scare blight to travel seems to be over.

Say Missing Bride May Be In Ottawa

TORONTO, Nov. 4 (CP). — Police said Friday a bride who disappeared two weeks after her marriage may be in Ottawa.

Two bus terminal clerks said a woman answering the description of Mrs. Huguette Jaworski, 23, bought a ticket for Ottawa last Saturday. They told police they recognized her from newspaper pictures, though they couldn't be positive of the identification.

The woman was last reported in Toronto last Saturday en route from Mattawa, Ont., where she worked as a waitress, to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evariste Lauzon, at Welland Junction, 75 miles south of Toronto.

Mrs. Jaworski's husband, who works at a hydro construction camp near Mattawa, brought police into the case yesterday when she still had not turned up at her parents' home.

May Aid Settlers

PORT ARTHUR, Nov. 4 (CP). —An Ontario government official indicated Friday that financial aid for immigrant farm settlers may soon be available. W. F. Stanley of the immigration branch of the Ontario Department of Planning and Development said in a letter to the Port Arthur Chamber of Commerce that any such aid would be part of a new immigration policy now being formulated at Ottawa.

Millbrook YPU Visits Omemee

OMEMEE, Nov. 4 — (ENS) — Millbrook inter - church YPU members were guests of Trinity United YPU, when they were entertained at a Hallowe'en party on Tuesday. Prizes for costumes were awarded to Yvonne Richards and Irene Trick of Millbrook and to Bill McKenzie and Cyril Pogue of Omemee. The prize for the best costumed couple went to Isabel Hyland and Glen Corneil of Omemee.

Following an inspiring worship service presented by Millbrook, everyone went on a ghost walk. When the group settled down after some weird adventures, Dorothy Smith, recreation convener of Omemee YPU, directed the games. Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt led in a hearty sing song while lunch was being prepared.

After lunch all joined in a friendship circle, when Irene Trick thanked Omemee YPU for the lovely evening and Garnet Pogue suitably replied on behalf of the Omemee group.

Stock Market Puzzling To Experts

By FORBES RHUDE.
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Somebody who is supposed to know about stock markets said Friday:

A rising stock market stumbled over a batch of selling orders.

If you know what that means, you are kidding yourself.

There wasn't a thing this week that could mean anything to anybody.

But, dealing with the pundit's remarks, meant, of course, that while some people were buying some people were selling.

Now, isn't that something? As if we didn't know. For there's never a purchase made that someone isn't selling; there's never a sale but there must be a buyer.

This writer feels a certain sense of frustration at trying to sum up a week like this. For he has said since 1947—and thinks there is nothing more to say — and that is,

If you think a stock has a solid stake in Canada, and it is well managed, then buy it and you can't lose; not if you buy it outright and don't need your money back quickly.

If you don't want to abide by that rule, then, presumably, you know what you are doing or are content to abide by the consequences.

Some Statistics

Toronto Stock Exchange indices —industrials up 1.53 at 281.26; golds down 1.43 at 80.74; base metals up 1.36 at 155.58; western oils down 2.56 at 81.91.

Look at these indices. Industrials and base metals are up a bit, but not much, reflecting the demand of defence programs and resulting activity. Golds are down slightly because what is encouraging to other issues at the moment is discouraging to them. Western oils are more markedly down, but this doesn't mean that the oil resources of western Canada are worth a cent less than they were last week.

Stock markets over a period will reflect a long-range condition; but, over a week, they reflect only human vagaries in a narrow sense.

In New York The Associated Press average of 60 stocks stayed about where it was—down 0.30 in the six days since last Friday.

Movie Column

Fans Have List of Cliches They'd Like Movies To Drop

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 4 (AP)— National oblivion week is catching on.

Recently I suggested a week for doing away with certain items in the movie world that have seen too much service. Nominations included water-skiing shorts, stars who complain about income taxes and pictures that end with concertos.

I am happy to report that further nominations have come in from alert movie fans (columnists are always happy to have someone else do their work). Here are some of them:

A Hollywood girl wrote: "I'd like to see an end to that famed line in every film biography of a composer. He says, 'will anyone ever hear my music?' And his girl friend replies, 'some day everyone will hear your music!'"

And from Palo Alto, Calif: "I'd like to nominate the movie hero who discovers—by complete surprise—that he is going to be a father."

"How about the gangster who is holed up in a house surrounded by police?—Does he always have to yell 'come in and get me!'?" asked another fan.

Goes to Pieces

Another nomination is "the lad who always goes to pieces when the submarine is resting on the bottom of the ocean; he always has to be slapped by Cary Grant or John Wayne, whichever is handier."

As for myself, I'll select the Christmas nose-presser. He's the bedraggled guy who always looks in on the gay Yuletide celebration. When the family brings him in the house, he turns out to be Betty Grable's old vaudeville partner.

Has $566,352 Estate

TORONTO, Nov. 4 (CP). — Mrs. Floy Lorena McArthur of Toronto, sister of Ray Lawson, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, left an estate valued at $566,352. She was the widow of Duncan McArthur.

C.G.E. WORKERS PLEASE READ

Sir: I remind my fellow workers at CGE that Communism curses the home, but Christ blesses the home. Under Communism all real estate belongs to the government which is in turn run by the Communists. Living quarters are assigned to the people and they pay rent as ordered. If the Communists should take over Canada the Canadian home as a unit would be no more.

If Communism should ever take over Canada you would not be able to get legally married in a church, you would not be able to give your child any religious training at all, either at home or elsewhere; your pastor would not be allowed to preach the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ as he now can do in this Canada of ours. Remember, fellow-workers, religion is enemy number one of Communism.

Remember also the four freedoms as a guide for humanity, laid down by Winston Churchill, and the late President Roosevelt. When the time is right fellow workers, I ask you to use your better judgement and throw off the tight yoke of the Communists poison in the U.E. who holds bargaining rights in the C.G.E. and join the ranks of the I.U.E. - C.I.O. - C.C.L. Let me remind you once again fellow workers if Communism should come to Canada you would have to choose at once between Christ Jesus and Communism.

Bomb Big Red Dam US Threat To China

Four Divisions Of Chinese Now In Korea MacArthur Advises UN

Detailed Account of Specific Units Means New Crisis For Security Council; Chase Off Red Jet Fighters To Manchuria

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 6—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today formally notified the United Nations Security Council that Chinese Communist forces are fighting U.N. troops in Korea. The charges were made in a special report transmitted by U.S. delegate Warren R. Austin. MacArthur gave a detailed account of specific units which had been identified by his intelligence officers. "The United Nations forces are meeting a new foe," MacArthur said.

"It is apparent to our fighting forces and our intelligence agencies have confirmed the fact, that the United Nations are presently in hostile contact with Chinese Communist military units deployed for action against the forces of the united command."

MacArthur added:

"The continued employment of Chinese Communist forces in Korea and the hostile attitude assumed by such forces, either inside or outside Korea, are matters which it is incumbent upon me to bring at once to the attention of the United Nations."

The Security Council was scheduled to meet at 3 p.m. EST today to take up the Palestine question, but the report will be before the delegates when they convene.

Action Uncertain

There was no indication, however, that the question would be debated immediately.

MacArthur reported Chinese troops crossed the border into Korea as early as Oct. 16. These were from the 124th division of the 42nd army. About 2,500 troops were involved in this crossing, the report said.

A task force of approximately 5,000 men was reported to have crossed and joined in the fighting Oct. 20. MacArthur said these were from the Chinese Communist 40th army.

The report said that by Nov. 4 elements of at least four Chinese divisions were known to be operating in Korea. It also reported that up to last Saturday 35 Chinese Communist soldiers had been captured.

MacArthur told the Security Council that six to nine jet fighters, marked with the Red Star, appeared over Korea Nov. 1 and flew into Manchuria after being attacked by U.S. planes.

A U.N. decision to label the Red Peiping government aggressors and order a full-scale military effort to drive its troops out of Korea conceivably could touch off a chain of events that might lead ultimately to another world war.

The U.S. had not yet decided Sunday night whether to press formal charges against the Communist Peiping government.

It is known, however, that the U.S. is trying desperately to avoid spreading the Korean war.

Among suggested actions, it is reported in Washington, is a possible offer to continue the sale of electric power to Manchuria from

Ailing Boxer Dies In Fight, Wouldn't Quit

SOUTH RIVER, N. S., Nov. 6 (CP).—An ailing young boxer who was afraid of being thought a "quitter" died during the weekend from a knockout punch to the jaw in a middleweight bout here.

Alexander J. Chisholm, 23, of nearby Ohio was the aggressor in the opening round of a semi-final six-rounder but was fatally injured in in-fighting early in the second round. It was the Maritime's first ring fatality.

His father, Colin Chisholm, said in an interview Sunday Alex was injured in a motor accident Oct. 30. Despite the pleas of his mother and other members of his family, he went on with the scheduled bout.

"A wheel of a truck Alex was driving broke," said Mr. Chisholm. "His head was injured and two ribs broken. He spoke of having pains in the head during the week.

Wouldn't Listen

"His mother, myself and Donald (a brother) tried to persuade him not to go ahead with the bout. I knew he was in no condition because I've done some boxing myself.

"Alex just said 'they would think me a quitter.'"

Chisholm died in hospital at Antigonish early Saturday. He was knocked out Friday night in the second round of a six-round semi-final bout by Roy (Kid) Sutherland of nearby Country Harbor. Both fighters weighed 150 pounds.

Spectators said the fatal blow or blows to the jaw came in fast in-fighting. Chisholm went down, staggered to his feet, and was sent to the canvas again immediately.

Tours By Taxi Has $2,482 Bill

MONTREAL, Nov. 6 (CP). — A 3,000-mile taxi ride to San Francisco, via Vancouver, and back ended in court Saturday for Gilberte Gaudet, 44, when she pleaded not guilty of obtaining transportation valued at $2,482 from taxi-driver Yvon Ravary by false pretenses.

Miss Gaudet was released on $950 bond pending preliminary hearing Nov. 10.

Ravary's lawyer claimed that Miss Gaudet had given the driver the impression that she was a member of the Canadian Intelligence Service and had sought to cultivate this idea by always stopping at some government building in the cities they visited.

Miss Gaudet's attorney said she had made other long taxi trips previously and had paid cash. He said she had the money to pay for the latest jaunt, but had lost $1,500 somewhere in Western Canada.

Slippery Snow Causes 100 Ottawa Accidents

OTTAWA, Nov. 6 (CP). — Treacherous driving conditions brought on by the season's first snow fall, resulted in approximately 100 accidents in the capital district during the weekend, including two train-car collisions.

No one was killed but many were injured. Damage was estimated at more than $50,000.

Grant Bethell, 20, of Ottawa, escaped with head cuts and a broken rib Saturday when his light truck smashed into a CNR train in the city's west-end.

John L. Baxter, 34, and a passenger, Mrs. Blanche Labelle, 42, both of Ottawa, suffered minor injuries Sunday when their vehicle crashed into a CNR engine in Ottawa's southwest district.

Plane Seeks Hunters

TIMAGAMI, Nov. 6—(CP)—A float plane took off from Lake Timagami today to join the search for two hunters missing in the bush near Goward. The hunters, believed to be Americans whose names were not immediately known, were due out of the bush Sunday, police said. A ground party is scouring the snow-covered woods in the vicinity of Treoor Mines, about one miles west of Goward and about four miles north of here.

Woman Dead For 11 Minutes Returns To Life

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (CP)—Columbia Hospital here today reported the case of a woman who apparently died but came back to life.

The woman, a 31-year-old Negro, gave no sign of life from four to 11 minutes, officials aid. The hospital is trying to determine accurately how long the signs of life were absent. If it was 11 minutes, it probably was the longest such period in medical history, the officials said.

The signs of life disappeared after the woman was administered a spinal anaesthetic last week in preparation for Caesarean operation. When signs of life failed, the doctors removed the child. Later signs of life appeared in the mother.

The condition of the mother and child was reported good today.

70 Nurses Plan November Strike

TORONTO, Nov. 6. (CP) — Some 70 graduate nurses in the Private Patients' Pavilion of Toronto General Hospital were reported today to have said they will quit Nov. 28 unless they get better pay and working conditions.

Details of their demands were not immediately available. Dr. J. E. Sharpe, hospital superintendent, and N. C. Urquhart, chairman of the Board of governors, could not be reached for comment.

Dr. Sharpe's office said it was understood officials planned no comment.

Cut Treason Charges Against Burma Doctor

RANGOON, Burma, Nov. 6 — (AP).—A special tribunal today reduced treason charges against Dr. Gordon S. Seagrave, American surgeon, making him subject only to banishment for life or a prison sentence if he is found guilty.

One treason charge previously laid against the 53-year-old surgeon—accused of aiding rebel Karen tribesmen—carried the death penalty on conviction.

The tribunal, after a three-week hearing, framed three new charges of abetting the commission of treason by giving comfort (showing sympathy) to the rebels. The maximum penalty is transportation for life, the minimum 10 years imprisonment.

Called to the stand today to hear the charges read aloud, the surgeon, who for 25 years has healed Burmese sick and trained doctors, pleaded innocent to each count.

He's A Hunter Too

NOBLETON, Ont., Nov. 6—(CP)—An eight-year-old boy borrowed his father's .22 rifle and went hunting Sunday on neighbor Lorne Sheardown's farm. His day's bag: Two cows killed, two wounded.

Report Young Tibet Ruler Still Controls Capital

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 6. — (AP). — India has been advised that Tibet's 16-year-old ruler, the Dalai Lama, and his government of Buddhist priests still control Lhasa, the Tibetan capital.

This report Sunday from India's representative in Lhasa, Dr. S. Sinha, contradicted persistent rumors stemming from Tibetan traders that the boy ruler and his elderly regent, Takta Rimpoche, had fled before invading Chinese Communist armies.

Dr. Sinha's report heartened official sources who had felt that the swift collapse of the Tibetan Government was imminent. The Indian Government had told Dr. Sinha that India would give asylum to any legitimate refugees from Tibet.

Of the military situation, the report said only that Communist troops were regrouping for further attacks after the capture of Chamdo, major caravan centre, 350 air miles east and north of Lhasa.

In a dispatch a week ago Dr. Sinha had reported a Red column within 250 miles of Lhasa. Sunday's message did not mention this force nor did it mention a second Chinese column reported moving on Lhasa from the north. This force earlier was reported to have captured Naghu Dong (150) miles due north of Lhasa.

Still a third Chinese column, from the province of Sinkiang, north of Tibet, Sunday was reported moving into the far west of the mountainous country. The report, broadcast by the Government radio here but not mentioned by Dr. Sinha, said these Red troops were within 150 air miles of Gartok, an important trade centre on the route between Lhasa and Kashmir, in North India.

UK May End Recognition Of Red China

Say Bevin Opposes Concellation; Statement Made Soon

LONDON, Nov. 6—(AP)—Qualified informants reported today Britain is thinking of cancelling its recognition of the Chinese Communist government.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin—said to oppose such action—is expected to make an important statement on Anglo-Chinese relations today or Tuesday in the House of Commons.

A decision has yet to be made by the Cabinet. Bevin's statement will, however, reflect Cabinet thinking at the time it is made.

The Cabinet met today and is believed to have considered a foreign office analysis of the situation.

Government thinking, the informants said, is nearing the conclusion that Britain would face an impossible situation if Chinese Red troops were fighting British soldiers in Korea while Britain kept trying to develop diplomatic relations with the Chinese regime.

Britain recognized Communist China last January.

A British dilompat, J. C. Hutchison, now is in Peiping, normally trying to come to terms with the Chinese Communists about making their diplomatic relations formal. He has seen nobody of standing in the Chinese foreign ministry since June 17—and few before then.

In a bid to resolve the impasse some time ago Britain suggested to the Chinese that Sir Maberley Dening, head of the Far Eastern department of the foreign office, should call at Peiping in the course of a swing through Asia. The foreign office got no answer.

Opinion in the foreign office to some extent was divided at the time Britain broke with Nationalist China and recognized the Reds.

Bevin, however, was said to have argued decisively both in his department and in the cabinet in favor of doing so on grounds that the Chinese Reds in fact were masters of their country, that Britain had a big trade and economic stake in China; that there was still hope Mao Tze-tung might prove a Chinese "Tito"; and that anyway recognition of a government did not imply approval.

The foreign secretary is said to believe these principles still hold. Over and above that Bevin is known to be a man who does not easily admit failure.

Explosion Rocks Toronto Building

TORONTO, Nov. 6—(CP)—An explosion early today rocked a three-storey building on midtown College Street and started a fire in the basement. Capt. Sam Hill of the Ontario Fire Marshal's Department launched an investigation.

William Edwards, 26, smashed windows with his fists to clear his second-storey apartment and stairways of heavy smoke then led his family down the stairs to safety.

Damage to the basement and to a first-floor restaurant was estimated at $3,500.

UK Supports India

LONDON, Nov. 6. (Reuters)—Foreign Undersecretary Ernest Davies told parliament today that the British Government deplored China's "resort to force" in Tibet.

Britain, he said, fully supported the stand taken by the government of India.

"The British government have been and are continuing to be in consultation with other interested governments on this issue."

Davies said that Britain had informed the Tibetan government after India became independent that she would continue to "take a friendly interest in the maintenance of Tibetan autonomy."

Indian Team Ahead

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 6 (Reuters)—India finished 45 runs ahead with nine second-innings wickets in hand against the commonwealth touring team on the third day of the first unofficial cricket test match today. Commonwealth, for whom Australian Bruce Dooland scored 108, made 272 to gain a first-innings' lead of 103. India replied with 148 for one in their second innings.

THERE'S NO DAY NURSERY in war-blasted Wonsan, Korea, to park junior while mama gets on with her task of rebuilding their wrecked home. So this Korean baby, strapped to its mother's back, gets a rough ride as she helps her companion saw up part of the house frame for rebuilding.

Believe Scientist From Britain Now In Russia

LONDON, Nov. 6 (Reuters) — George Strauss, Minister of Supply, told parliament today he had no doubt that Dr. Bruno Pontecorvo, missing British atom scientist, was in Russia.

But Strauss added that he had no conclusive evidence of the scientist's whereabouts.

Pontecorvo, an Italian-born naturalized Briton has worked on atomic research in the U.S., at the Chalk River atomic plant near Ottawa, and most recently, at Britain's Harwell atom station.

With his Swedish wife and three children he left Britain in the summer, ostensibly for a holiday on the continent.

He flew from Rome to Stockholm and then on to Helsinki Sept. 2. Since then nothing has been heard of him.

Had Car Trouble

Strauss told the House Pontecorvo had written from Italy that he was having trouble with his car and would be delayed returning to England. He had said he hoped to be back by Sept. 7.

Authorities at Harwell wrote, Strauss said, telling him to change his plans and visit a conference on cosmic rays which was then taking place in Switzerland.

Pontecorvo never turned up at the Swiss conference.

"While I have no conclusive evidence of his present whereabouts, I have no doubt that he is in Russia," Strauss added.

As far as was known he took no documents with him, Strauss said.

Strauss said he did not think there was any real significance in the fact that Pontecorvo had once worked with Dr. Klaus Fuchs, atom spy now in jail.

No Housing Problem For Aussie Quads

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 6 (Reuters).—There'll be no housing problem for 28-year-old Mrs. Joan Ogle, mother of four quads born here Saturday.

J. G. B. McDonald, Victoria State Premier, announced today that the state government will provide a house—and possibly a housekeeper—for the quads.

Mrs. Ogle, her husband and their first child, a three-year-old girl, have been living in a converted garage next to the home of her parents-in-law.

The quads—two five-pound boys and two three-pound girls—were all born within 47 minutes. All were doing well in hospital.

Two Convicts Flee Pen Police Recapture One Man

KINGSTON, Nov. 6—(CP)—Police Sunday night recaptured one of two convicts who escaped from the prison farm at Kingston Penitentiary Saturday night and were still searching for the other. Provincial Constable E. E. Jacobs arrested Jean Bernard, 24, in the village of Sydenham, about 15 miles norwest of Kingston and four miles from where a General's stolen car was found abandoned Bernard, Sudbury native, serving 30 months for theft, put up no resistance.

Police are still looking for Allan Francis, 25, of Toronto, also reported missing when a farm gang lined up to return to the prison Saturday night. He was serving four years for car theft.

Prison authorities said the men may have escaped in an automobile owned by Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, commandant of the National Defence College. The car was stolen from the General's home, three blocks from the penitentiary.

The car was recovered near Loughboro Lake, 12 miles northwest, and a police cordon was thrown around this wild bush country.

More than 40 provincial police, city police and penitentiary guards combined in the hunt for the pair. Heavy rain blanketed the area during the search, and police believe the remaining man may have taken shelter in barns on the Perth road northeast of the city. Every house, barn and farm shed was searched by police Saturday night.

Discover Water In Plane Tanks

LONDON, Nov. 6 (Reuters)—Water was discovered in four gas tanks of a Stratocruiser last night, just before it was due to take off from London airport for New York.

About 1,000 gallons of gas had to be drained and the tanks were refilled with fresh fuel.

The airliner, carrying 47 passengers, left two hours late.

A Pan-American Airways spokesman said "we have not yet established how the water got into the tanks."

Four Families Flee Fire In Rented Cabins

TORONTO, Nov. 6—(CP)—Four families in rented cabins were forced to flee today when fire broke out in Stunden's restaurant, a large, newly-remodelled ranch-style establishment at Oak Ridges, a few miles north of Toronto.

An exploding stove in the restaurant spread fire which destroyed a garage and one of the 12 cabins.

Provincial Police at Aurora described the blaze as "huge."

Pearson Believes Canada Asked To Serve On Group

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 6 (CP).—L. B. Pearson said Saturday that Canada probably would be asked to serve on any joint atomic-conventional armaments commission formed by the United Nations.

Canada's External Affairs Minister added that it would be almost essential that Canada be a member of such a commission because Canada is one of the four countries actively in the field of atomic energy production.

Pearson spoke in an interview broadcast on the program "Memo From Lake Success" carried by the CBC and United States networks.

Discussing "the possibilities of disarmament and atomic control," Pearson said Canada will accept a position on a combined atomic-conventional armament commission if asked. Canada now is a member of the 11-member U.N. Atomic Energy Commission.

President Truman suggested in an address before the U.N. Oct. 24 that the U.N. atomic energy commission and the U.N. conventional armaments commission be combined to seek east-west agreement on atomic controls. Canada is not a member of the conventional arms commission.

The Canadian minister said, however, he does not know whether it would be a "very great improvement" to have one commission discussing disarmament possibilities instead of two.

"After all it's not machinery that we need for disarmament, it's a meeting of minds in respect of disarmament," he said. "We have a lot of 'harness' around here now. What we probably need is a little more horse."

Hydro Spared If Troops Withdrawn

Communist Soldiers In Retreat, Move Puzzles Allies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 — (AP)—The United States may tell Communist China to stop sending troops to aid the Korean Reds or face destruction of the great Suiho dam, a major source of power for China.

The report that such a warning is under serious consideration came simultaneously with release of a special communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur, United Nations Commander in the Far East, noting the presence of Chinese Communist forces in the Korean fighting.

Any such threat against the power installations presumably would be accompanied by assurances that if the Chinese Communists refrain from further intervention the agreements under which Manchuria and Korea share the Suiho power will be observed and maintained.

The dam, on the Yalu River which forms the Korea-Manchuria border for a long distance, is within easy reach of American bombers. It has a power capacity of 700,000 kilowatts.

Stop Fighting

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 6 (CP).—Communist troops, newly-identified by Gen. MacArthur as including Chinese, today stopped fighting in North-west Korea and retreated to the north in a move puzzling to United States Army officers.

The American troops in the north-west recovered half to two-thirds of a mile of ground lost to a morning Communist attack and fought bitterly for no gain in the north-east.

The Communist retreat in the north-west came as United Nations resistance to the Communists' new offensive began to stiffen with new reinforcements from the south.

Elements of two US divisions holding the bridgehead area north of the Chongchon River near Korea's west coast recovered the territory lost to the Reds six miles north of Anju.

They had been shoved back by two battalions of Communists who attacked in darkness at 4:30 a.m., but were finally halted at 7 a.m.

Say Rheumatism Affecting King

LONDON, Nov. 6 (Reuters).—The King today was suffering from a slight case of rheumatism, but was carrying out normal duties at Buckingham Palace, it was learned.

The last public engagement which the King fulfilled was Friday when he inspected the 1st Battalion of the King's Royal Rifle Corps.

It was noticed that despite the cold day the King wore no greatcoat over his Field-Marshal's uniform.

No Clergyman At Shaw Funeral

LONDON, Nov. 6. (AP) — An 18-minute funeral service without a clergyman and without a sermon was held today for George Bernard Shaw.

In accordance with Shaw's wishes, there was no demonstration of sorrow among the small group of close friends and servants. The 94-year-old Irish dramatist and critic died at his Ayott St. Lawrence home last Thursday.

At the crematorium it was expected that Shaw's ashes will be sent to Dublin to be mixed with the ashes of his wife who died in 1943.

No Inquest Planned For Hunter

Believe Gun Fired As Scarboro Man Pulled It From Boat

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 6—(ENS)—Coroner Dr. W. W. Baker of Campbellford said no inquest would be held into the death of Gerald O. Amon, who was accidentally shot by his own gun while hunting ducks at Cole's Point early Saturday morning.

Mr. Amon, 46, of 53 Drake Crescent, Scarboro Bluffs, was hunting with a party from Toronto. The group arrived at Cole's Point about 6.30 a.m. on Saturday and after breakfast, three of the men went hunting.

Hear Shot

On reaching their boats, the trio split up, Mr. Amon going alone in one boat and his son-in-law Leslie E. Harper and Earl Coulter setting out in the other. The latter pair were a little distance away seeking a sheltered spot when they heard a gunshot.

Hurriedly rowing in the direction of the blast, the men found Amon's body on the shore. The hunter had apparently beached his boat and in pulling the gun from the craft, it discharged. Mr. Amon received the full blast in the chest and was killed instantly. The gun, a double-barrelled model, still had one live shell in the other barrel when police arrived. Only one barrel discharged.

The body was taken to Bennett's undertaking parlor in Campbellford.

Spot Wrecked Plane On Top Of Mont Blanc

GENEVA, Nov. 6 (AP).—Swiss fliers located the wreckage of a missing Air India Constellation near the top of Mont Blanc, in the Alps, Sunday and air line officials said they believe all 48 persons aboard are dead.

The plane, en route from Bombay to London on a charter carrying 40 East Indian seamen to man a newly launched vessel in England, had been missing since Friday. All the crew of eight were Indians, except the pilot, Capt. Alan Saint, a Briton.

The Swiss flyers said they spotted the wreckage near the Vallot refuge hut—a resting spot for mountain climbers—near the top of Mont Blanc, 15,781 feet high, on the French-Swiss-Italian border about 30 miles southwest of Geneva.

North Korea if Red Chinese troops go home. This offer would be coupled with a threat to destroy the great hydro-electric dam at Suiho, on the Korean-Manchurian border, should intervention continue. The Suiho dam supplies much of the electric power for Manchurian industry.

Some informed sources say the UN might ask MacArthur for more information and request its commission in Korea to investigate before taking concrete steps.

An American diplomat asserted today, however, that this probably would accomplish little, since the commission would be dependent on American military authorities for information and most information available is already included in the MacArthur communique.

Pending a clarification of the American position, diplomats were cautious in speculating about possible UN moves.

The general feeling here, however, seems to be that the World Peace Organization seems to be caught on the horns of a dilemma.

Injured Hunter Walks 3 Miles

SUDBURY, Nov. 6.—Karl Wallin, 46, huge Barry deerhunter, weighing more than 250 pounds, walked three-and-a-half miles through bush after he was shot through both legs near Warren, east of here.

Wallin was shot by mistake by Alfred Eden, 17, of Sudbury, from a distance of 20 feet. Medical authorities said about a quarter pound of flesh was torn from one leg and about a pound from the other.

Wallin was so heavy, four companions were unable to carry him. They included Eden, Eden's father Olaf, Robert Milson of Garson, and R. Fors of Hamilton.

The wounded man walked with their aid to the community of Kipling, where he received first aid.

Wallin said he was crossing a log, some distance from the rest of the party. He was wearing fawn colored pants. Eden said he mistook Wallin's legs for a deer, and put a heavy calibre bullet through both of them.

Election Odds Favor Democrats' Majority

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (CP). — The United States elects a new Congress Tuesday. Election odds favor the Democrats retaining control.

The presidency is not at stake in this election, and the country's old-line political parties, the Democrats and Republicans, have been hard put in the last six weeks to find a solid, stirring issue to fight about. Briefly, the Republicans say their party is the only one that will keep the United States out of war; the Democrats ask a vote of confidence for maintaining the peace.

Despite a quiet campaign, unusual in a country noted for turbulent elections, more rests on the outcome of the election than is usual in an "off year" when the people do not choose a president. There is little doubt that this year international issues are present in the voters' minds in an uncommon degree.

Trade Commissioners Seen Doing Good Job

A tribute to the Canadian Trade commissioners whom he met in his foreign travels was paid by Mr. James G. Wharry, vice-president of the Quaker Oats Company, Canada, in his talk to the Associated Canadian Travellers, at their Saturday luncheon.

At the various ports of call through the far east he found the Canadian trade representatives Canadian trade representatives were well regarded by those communities, and were well equipped to assist travellers from Canada. The color slides shown by Mr. Wharry were greatly appreciated.

Mr. E. T. O'Brien, president of the local branch of A.C.T., welcomed as guests: Bill Osborne, Doug Buck, Jack Sackville, Don Clarke, Kevin Fitzgerald, Ernie Wolff, Bill Holden.

Rain-Weakened Wall Collapses, Men Escape

COBOURG, Nov. 6 (ENS) — Weakened by recent rain which had collected in an adjoining excavation, the north wall of Wilson's Garage collapsed this morning, taking a large portion of the roof. Three garage workmen, Jesse Medhurst, Ted Inkpen and Nelson Hie heard the wall crack and reached the safety of the other end of the building before the wall went out.

Working down in the excavation, Pat Palmer and Lyle Ellison of Trenton looked up to see the foundation start to buckle and ran safely out of danger. A car owned by Wilson's Garage caught the weight of part of the roof and prevented greater damage.

Stopped Cold

An earlier enemy feint at the bridgehead Sunday night had been stopped cold by American artillery, while Australian troops of the Commonwealth Brigade also halted a stab by two Red companies in a heavy fire-fight.

Despite these two-and-fro struggles, the north-west flank was described as relatively quiet Monday, compared with the big actions of last week that caused a 50-mile American withdrawal.

In the north-east, US Marines beat back a bitter Chinese counter-attack in slashing, hand-to-hand combat Monday just south of the Changjin power reservoir.

In the farthest north-east sector, South Korean troops plunged 18 miles north of the town of Kilchu, putting them 105 miles from the frontier of Soviet Siberia. This was the only appreciable Allied gain of the day.

Other US troops in the extreme north-east dug in on the frigid south banks of the Ungi River and sent out patrols to seek the enemy in 2-below-zero weather.

This generally grim picture of the Korean war, after victory had been well within grasp of the United Nations' forces, was attributed by Gen. MacArthur, the UN commander, to intervention of Chinese Communist troops.

The U.N. commander's communique said "a great concentration" of Communist divisions was massed in Manchuria. He called this threat "a matter of the gravest international significance."

Sources close to him spoke even more ominously. They said the start of a third world war may hinge on Communist China's reaction to MacArthur's accusation.

Communist China might not answer MacArthur, they said, except by sending in more Red divisions.

President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea said he believes Russia ordered the Chinese Reds into Korea.

Diplomats predicted the United States might ask the U.N. Security Council to act.

Wage Grim Fight

Allied troops in the northwest today were waging a grim defensive fight on the Chongchon river line less than 50 miles from the old Red Korean capital of Pyongyang.

This represented a retreat of 50 miles or more in the face of heavy Communist attacks.

In the northeast, however, an American regiment was striking in zero weather within 24 miles of the Manchurian border. This force reported no Red resistance.

Allied military intelligence has estimated 300,000 Chinese Red forces along the Manchurian border. About 1,000,000 Communist troops are estimated to be within striking distance.

MacArthur added:

"Whether and to what extent these reserves will be moved forward to reinforce units now committed remains to be seen and is a matter of the gravest international significance."

Russell Brines, Associated Press Tokyo bureau chief, said MacArthur plainly was asking United Nations authority to bomb Manchurian airfields, supply bases and communications.

Failed In Trap

MacArthur said the influx of new Communist troops failed in the apparent attempt to trap and destroy the U.N. army.

American, British Commonwealth and South Korean forces were holding the bridgehead six miles north of Anju. A United States eighth army spokesman said a full Red division had moved into the area.

Drive One Mile

The Communists in a dawn attack bit one mile into the American flank before they were stopped. A simultaneous attack on the American right flank was beaten back.

Seventeen miles east of the bridgehead, Reds and South Koreans battled for heights two miles north Kunu. The hills changed hands several times but at last reports the Reds were holding the dominant positions.

The United States 2nd division, newly thrown into the fight as Chinese Reds hurled back allied forces, was protecting the right flank of the U.N. line in the northwest.

Police Probed Eight Accidents

The first days of winter driving Saturday and Sunday resulted in eight accidents reported to police, one of which sent 13-year-old Garry Smith, 324 Euclid Ave., to Civic Hospital with one broken rib, two fractured ribs and cuts on his head and left arm. Seven of the accidents happened Saturday.

Driver of the car which struck the boy, Sunday about noon, Carol Deal, 641 Reid St., told police he was driving east on Euclid Ave., about 20 miles an hour. As he drew opposite where two boys were playing on the road, one, young Smith, turned and ran into the right front corner of the car and was knocked to the ground.

He was taken home, then to Dr. Ralph Clark's office and from there to hospital for treatment. He was later allowed to go home. Constables W. A. Scott and Victor McConnell investigated.

A train startled a horse drawing a milk wagon on Bethune St. where the tracks travel down the centre of the street. The horse started to gallop and the right front wheel of the wagon caught the left front fender of a parked car owned by Cyril Robbins, 543 Bethune St., yanking it up on the sidewalk. Driver of the wagon, Vern Birkhof, 555 Bethune St., was in his house at the time. Constable Stewart Fife investigated.

At Reid and McDonnel Sts., two cars collided doing some damage to both. F. J. Sabotka, 215 Bethune St., was driving west on McDonnel St. Travelling north on Reid St., K. F. Campbell, 639 Rubidge St., said Sabotka didn't stop. Sabotka told police he stopped, but didn't see Campbell. Constable William G. Scott, who investigated, reported it was raining at the time.

In another accident in the evening, Michael O'Leary, 781 Snelgrove Rd., parked on Charlotte St., at the Market Square, backed up to turn out and bumped the car behind owned by J. A. Armstrong, R.R. 2, Ida, damaging the grill. Constable David Mackey investigated.

A car driven by Aid. Hurrel Dodds, 225 Engleburn Ave., was struck while stopped on Simcoe St. at Water St.

Driver of the other car, Alex. Jackson, Bailieboro, was making a right turn into Simcoe St. The rear left fender and rear left door of the Dodds car were damaged. No damage was done to the Jackson car. Traffic Officer Claire McGillen investigated.

Visibility Poor

Poor visibility was blamed for an accident at Rubidge and Sherbrooke Sts. Doonan McMaster, 546 George St., said, travelling west on Sherbrooke St., stopped at Rubidge St. He said he started up and met in collision with a car driven by Gerald MacMillan, 140 Princess St., north on Rubidge St.

McMaster said it was raining hard and visibility was poor. Constable Harold Andrew investigated.

Two cars making a right turn from Water in Hunter St. collided. Joseph O'Carroll, R.R. 9, Peterborough, was driving north. Fred Raymond, 308 Maitland Ave., was driving behind O'Carroll. Somehow they tangled fenders. Constable Stewart Fife reported it was raining at the time.

An oil truck driven by William N. Eason, 454 Mark St., backing out of Benson Ave., into Parkhill Rd. to make a turn and drive east on Parkhill Rd. met in collision with a car travelling west driven by Gordon Whitmore, 325 Wolsley St. Damage was done to both rear fenders and trunk of the car. Constable Allen Edmison investigated.

Industrial Headaches Now Plaguing Tito

BELGRADE, Nov. 6 (AP). — Despite stiff Communist controls, Premier Tito's government in Yugoslavia has the same industrial headaches suffered in some of the so-called "capitalistic" countries.

Government production officials complain particularly of worker absenteeism, manpower shortages and housing difficulties.

The chief shortcomings have been found in the areas where Yugoslavia has been attempting to develop an iron and steel industry. Rich in non-ferrous metals such as copper, the country has been woefully short in iron and steel production.

Western Ministers Call On Russia To Open Frontiers

ROME, Nov. 6—(AP)—Western European foreign ministers Saturday night called on Russia to lift the iron curtain, open the frontiers between east and west, and stop making appeals in the name of a "false peace." The action was taken at the conclusion of a three-day session of the foreign ministers' committee of the Council of Europe. The committee adopted a resolution proposed by Britain and directed that it be sent to the lower body in the council, the consultative assembly, with a recommendation for adoption.

The ministers also signed a convention of human rights which binds them to protect the basic rights of their citizens.

11 Countries Sign

Eleven of the 13 countries represented at the ministers' meeting, plus the Saar and Germany, signed the convention: Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Iceland, Ireland, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Turkey Britain and Italy.

It was the first time since the war that a German government, associated with the Western powers, has signed an international agreement. Western Germany and the Saar are associate members of the Council of Europe without the power to vote.

Two countries, Sweden and Greece, did not sign, but indicated they would sign soon.

Swedish ambassador to Paris K. I. Westman explained his instructions had not come through in time, chiefly because of the death of King Gustaf V. Greek Economic Minister Evangehelos Averoff said he could not sign now because of a change of government in his country.

Countries signing agreed to:

1. Maintain the simple and basic human rights.
2. Set up a European commission of human rights to which complaints could be made and which could investigate.
3. Set up a European court of human rights to decide disputed points, if eight states so desire.

Lister under basic human rights are: Freedom from official murder, torture, slavery and retroactive penal laws; freedom from arbitrary arrest and imprisonment; freedom of assembly and opinion; freedom of religion and marriage.

Prices Continue Drop On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Nov. 6 — (CP) — Prices continued lower from their sharp opening drop as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Communist intervention in Korea and a sinking New York market were said to be the cause for the heavy selling wave in which industrial losses ranged to as much as $3.

Every group on the industrial board was lower and losses were about nine times as numerous as gains. Abitibi Paper, International Paper, Federal Grain, Canada Cement and Walkers all lost over $2.

Base metals skidded downwards with Consolidated Smelters losing over $3. Ascot, East Sullivan, Golden Manitou, Hudson Bay, International Nickel, Quemont, Steep Rock, United Keno Hill and Waite Amulet were all heavy losers.

Senior golds dropped up to $1 and a wide list of junior producers showed losses that ranged from pennies to over 20 cents. In the sinking western oil group Royallte and Pacific Petroleum lost 75 cents and Home Oil was down 50 cents.

Car Hits Truck Two Men Hurt

COBOURG, Nov. 6 (ENS). — Frank Collinson, 40, of Toronto and his brother, William, age 58, were taken to Port Hope hospital after a weekend accident, and later removed to Toronto General Hospital. The former received a possible fractured skull, broken wrist, broken nose and head lacerations and the latter sustained a broken wrist and cuts about the face.

According to provincial police, Frank Collinson was driving east near Roseberry Hill when a truck driven by Harry Young of Port Hope started to pull out from a service station. The car hit the side of the truck and then bounced into a parked truck of which the driver was George Morgan of Toronto. The car was a total wreck. Provincial constables W. Baluk and C. Tutton of Cobourg investigated.

Delegates Report On CSPCA Convention

At the regular monthly meeting of the Peterborough Humane Society held last week reports of the 30th annual convention of the OSPCA held in Ottawa were read by Miss Helen Lytle, Mrs. W. A. Young and Miss Phyllis Denne, who were delegates to the convention.

Mr. M. Powell, first vice president, was chairman.

Mr. Dunford read the inspector's report as follows:

Dogs: 54 to incinerator; 16 killed on streets; 17 returned to homes; 20 picked up. Cats: 77 to incinerator; 9 killed on streets. Skunks: 5 to incinerator. Crane: 1 crane with a broken wing had to be shot on Little Lake.

Mr. Dunford visited Norwood fair. Charge was laid against a driver for beating one of the race horses across the head and eyes. Fined $25 and costs of $6.75. Roseneath and Colborne fairs visited.

Plans were made to hold a public meeting of the Humane Society in the Public Library on Thursday, Dec. 7, with a moving picture "Western States". All members and friends welcome.

Social committee was formed to consist of Miss Phyllis Denne, Miss Lytle, Miss June Fraser, Mrs. S. O. Shields and Mrs. C. Pilon.

Despondent Farmhand Suicides At Cobourg

COBOURG, Nov. 6—(ENS)—(ENS)—Employed as a farm hand on a farm just west of here, Thomas Carpenter, 58, of Toronto, was found hanging from a rafter of a barn on the farm of Charles Wilson on Saturday.

Provincial police said the man apparently committed suicide in a fit of despondency. He was employed by Mr. Wilson for the past eleven months and prior to that worked on a number of farms in the district. There will be no inquest. Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine of Cobourg, investigated.

Fail To Crack Safe

WINDSOR, Nov. 6 (CP)—Five masked men who attempted to break in to a safe at a brewery in Tecumseh, seven miles east of here, failed Saturday night. Their only loot was $4 taken from night watchman George Arandjelone, 42, who was attacked and bound by the five as they broke into the brewery office.

TO EVERY VETERAN OF WORLD WAR II

What YOU should know about Veterans Insurance

Who is Eligible?

Any man or woman who has been discharged after service in the Canadian naval, military or air forces during World War II.

Any man or woman who has been discharged after service in the naval, military or air forces of His Majesty during World War II, who was living in Canada at the commencement of such service.

The widow or widower of a veteran as above, if the veteran was not insured under the act.

Certain classes of Merchant Seamen. Members of the Corps of (Civilian) Canadian Fire Fighters and Auxiliary Services Supervisors, with service overseas.

Any other person in receipt of pension under the Pension Act relating to World War II.

Is There A Medical Examination?

No—except in a very few special cases. Consequently, Veterans Insurance is of particular value to those who cannot meet the requirements of a commercial insurance company.

How Much Does It Cost?

Rates are comparable with the lowest for similar policies with commercial companies. PREMIUMS MAY BE PAID FROM RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDITS OR FROM PENSION. The policy has cash value after two years.

What Kind of Insurance is Available?

There are a variety of plans from ten payment life up to life paid up at 85. Insurance is obtainable in multiples of $500 up to a maximum of $10,000.

Re: Veterans Insurance—

Your Right to Apply Has a Time Limit

The Veterans Insurance Act put time-limits upon the right of the Department to accept applications for this insurance. Extension of these time-limits was discussed at the last session of Parliament, and may come before the House again next year. But as the law stands today, the time-limits remain as follows:

If you were discharged before February 20, 1945, your application for insurance must be approved before February 20, 1951.

If you were discharged after February 20, 1945, your application must be approved within six years of the date of your discharge.

If you are interested in Veterans Insurance, we suggest, therefore, that to be on the safe side you get in touch with the nearest district office of the Department of Veterans Affairs as soon as possible. A trained counsellor is on hand at every office to assist you with your insurance problems. If it is more convenient for you, write directly to the Superintendent of Veterans Insurance, Department of Veterans Affairs, Ottawa.

The Circus Touch In Politics

Easily the gaudiest campaign leading to tomorrow's election in the United States has been that in Connecticut. Two of the shrewdest advertising men in the United States are Democratic candidates for the Senate and the Governorship—Chester Bowles and William Benton, of the fabulously successful firm of Benton & Bowles. Mr. Benton's Republican opponent is Prescott S. Bush, a Wall Street banker, and Mr. Bowles' opponent is Republican Representative John Davis Lodge. Mr. Bowles conducted a sober and serious campaign, but the other three candidates added the circus touch.

• • •

A Wall Street banker might be expected to conduct a conservative campaign, but Mr. Bush travelled around with a quartet of Yale men. At rallies he sang second bass with them, and their favourite song was I'll Raise the Deuce When I Get Loose in Town. He was also accompanied frequently by the Brooklyn Symphony Orchestra, a group of musical buffoons who play at the home games of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Mr. Bush occasionally picked up a banjo and played with this weirdly dressed aggregation. To some, it must have seemed strange behaviour for a former trustee of Yale University.

• • •

Mr. Benton campaigned by helicopter, and made carefully pre-arranged appearances at picnics and rallies. At one of these events, the master of ceremonies hailed his approach with these words: "It's a bird! It's a plane! It's Superman! No—it's Bill Benton!" Mr. Benton, it is reported was immensely pleased.

• • •

Mr. Lodge is a former moving picture actor. He played with Marlene Dietrich in The Scarlet Empress, and with Katharine Hepburn in Little Women. A feature of his campaign was his wife, a first-rate political asset. Formerly Francesa Braggiotti, a dancer, she first proved her worth when Mr. Lodge ran for Congress in 1946. His opponent then was Col. Henry A. Mucci, commander of the United States troops who made a daring landing on Lauzon. It was thought that Col. Mucci would win in districts with large Italo-American populations, but it turned out that he did not speak Italian. The Lodge-Braggiotti team, however, spoke impeccable Italian and the latter danced an expert tarantella. They won easily.

• • •

The people of Connecticut are reported to have taken it all as a matter of course. "After all," one of them said in commenting on the circus touch, "P. T. Barnum was one of Connecticut's great native sons. Born in Bethel."

Edmonton Bishop Mourns

The ruling bishop of all Russian Orthodox churches in Canada, the Most Reverend Archbishop Iossaff of Edmonton last Sunday celebrated in St. Nicholas Russian Orthodox Church in Montreal the thirty-third anniversary of the Bolshevist revolution. This was done through services of mourning "for countless millions of victims of the Red Terror". In thirty-three years the Communists have changed their Bolshevist hides but not their methods. Time does not seem to have mellowed them. However there has not yet been time for Stalin and other present heads of communist Russia who took part in the revolution, to come to repentance at death's door. When Stalin passes to his reward (of its nature we cannot conjecture) what new regime will take upon itself the heritage of "The Red Terror"? Will it, in pious memory of the original revolutionaries, be even more terrible?

Hunting Without Tears

The deer-hunting season opens today, and it is unfortunately possible to predict that there will be a number of accidents during the following fortnight. Yet it should be possible to avoid all but a very few of these accidents, for comparatively few hunting accidents truly deserve that name; the remainder are the forseeable outcome of carelessness.

We do not pose as an authority on hunting, but men who have gone on the hunt every year for decades inform us that a few rules which are no more than applied common sense can reduce the danger of accident to the minimum. The first of these is that a loaded gun should only be carried when actually hunting; no loaded gun should ever be carried in a car, and no one should bring a loaded gun into camp. No hunter should ever point a gun at anything which he does not wish to shoot; particular care should be taken when moving through the bush in groups that no gun is accidentally pointed toward another hunter.

Never climb a fence or any obstacle with a loaded gun; put it through the fence first, or hand it to somebody on the other side.

Never be tempted by what some people call "sound-shots"—meaning noises in the bush which may be deer, but are just as likely to be cows or other hunters. Never shoot at anything which you cannot see well enough to identify it beyond a doubt.

Keep your gun as clean as possible at all times, and never remove the safety catch except just before a shot.

Observance of these rules will keep you from doing anything foolish. They will not, however, protect you from the folly of others. The evidence of the past few years suggests strongly that too many people go hunting who have never been trained in the tradition of sensible hunting, and who are dangerous not only to themselves but to everyone within gunshot.

Mackenzie King As A Spiritualist

Some speculation has been current recently as to whether the late Mackenzie King was a spiritualist. The point does not appear to be one which can be finally settled. It was no secret, however, that Mr. King was interested in seances, extra-sensory perception and a number of subjects which were well beyond the border of the occult. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church, but there was that in his nature which was not to be satisfied with orthodoxy.

It is difficult to say anything about spiritualism without causing offence in some quarter, but it must be clear to any observer that what is lumped under that heading exists on several levels. Fake mediums are common enough, and they do not deceive anyone who is not anxious to be deceived. There are other mediums who do not resort to fakery, but whose messages from the spirit world are of no interest or value. And there are a few who are capable of producing manifestations which, whatever their source, certainly suggest the existence of realms unknown and unreachable by other means.

As for the people who seek the consolations of spiritualism, they also vary widely in purpose, critical faculty and intellectual power. Of many of them it might be said that they were attempting to reach through others a peace and a contact with unknown forces which mystics have reached directly, by means of meditation and spiritual exercises. So far there has been little evidence to suggest that what they seek is possible of achievement. But their hopefulness is at least one more sign of man's indomitable passion for launching into the unknown, and for seeking outside himself and outside the tangible world for strength to meet the predicament of life.

How Many Armies For Western Europe—And Whose?

The whole democratic world is feverishly agreed that Western Europe's forces must be vastly strengthened, and a big army, pooled from various nations, be immediately fielded. France is coming to view even the American demand for the re-arming of Germany with approval. France's Prime Minister, M. Pleven, recently accepted this principle. The question now is: whose army, what army or combination of armies?

At present, in addition to various national armies, Field Marshal the Viscount Montgomery is head of a Western Europe army and has headquarters at Fontainebleau. He seems to have more staff than soldiers and weapons. The French proposed last week through M. Schuman the Foreign Minister, that an army be created in which German, French and presumably the Benelux countries (Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg) would be integrated. France is prepared to admit German companies, battalions, tank crews and fighter squadrons into this force, in which units of the various countries would be all mixed in together. It wants the safeguard, however, of a Franco-German staff at the top, with the French predominating, and the full support of the United States, Britain and Canada as members of the North Atlantic Council.

There is the further, larger proposal, of a combined Atlantic Treaty countries' army, with General Eisenhower in supreme command. Would he supersede Field Marshal Montgomery?

So there are three separate army groups existing or proposed for the defence of Europe. The will to defend Europe with joint might and main is there; the way to do it has yet to be devised and accepted.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

THE whole tendency of modern education is to make things easier for the pupil, by getting a "pupil's-eye" view of the problem, by an avoidance of unnecessary drudgery, by the "direct" method, and finally by the employment of such modern inventions as the film. This tendency is to be found also in musical education. I recently received a circular from a well-known concert pianist and teacher in England, who has started to make recordings of examination pieces. They can be played "at concert standard" or more slowly, if the teacher desires, in order to suit the particular requirements and limitations of particular pupils. Moreover verbal directions concerning technique, interpretation and methods of practice can be incorporated into the record if so desired. This is not an entirely new idea: as far back as 1928 William Murdoch, the Australian pianist, made a set of recordings of pieces chosen for a pianists' competition sponsored by a newspaper, but it is, so far as I know, the first time that the idea has been fully exploited. Here is an opportunity for a Canadian pianist with enough capital and business capacity to take up this idea and adapt it to Canadian requirements. I do not imagine that there is any copyright in the idea. The main expense would be the purchase of a good recording machine, and of course publicity. I think it would be a mistake for the examining bodies themselves to make recordings of their syllabuses. It would encourage pupils to turn out a stereotyped interpretation based on a slavish imitation of the "official" recording. Moreover recording of an indifferent character might very well react extremely unfavourably on the whole examining body. It is far better for these things to be done on an unofficial basis.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is one big snag to all these new aids of learning: they are too often used as means of avoiding effort instead of an aid to further effort. The student must above all be encouraged to use his own brains and initiative, to think and feel for himself. There is no way of achieving success without effort. Much misguided effort can be eliminated by proper guidance, but nothing will come without trying. The right aim of the teacher, paradoxically enough, is to render himself superfluous by cultivating in his pupils the capacity to teach themselves.

✧ ✧ ✧

PIANISTS should train their fingers to be more resourceful, in order to cope with difficulties that occur from time to time in pieces, where conventional fingering is impossible. It sometimes happens that scale passages must be played with unusual fingering. Take for example the scale passages in B flat major near the end of the finale of Brahms' Variations on a theme of Haydn for two pianos. The conventional fingering is hopelessly cumbrous. Finger them as though they were in C major, and the difficulties disappear. It is a good idea to practise scales now and then with unusual fingering. You can play D flat major slowly using the C major fingering, or else using only the third, fourth and fifth fingers of each hand. The fingering for the right hand would go as follows: 3, 4, 5, 4, 5, 4, 5, 3 etc., while the left hand would go 4, 3, 5, 4, 5, 4, 5, 4, etc. The thumb should be used more freely on the black keys, and in many cases a difficult passage can be incredibly simplified.

✧ ✧ ✧

FASHION in music is an unaccountable thing: even the so-called Immortals have had their ups and downs. Bach lay forgotten for almost a century after his death—Mozart was under a cloud in the latter half of the nineteenth century. Mendelssohn, over-estimated in his lifetime, is now not sufficiently appreciated. Spohr and Meyerbeer, once so famous, are seldom heard today. Wagner is still suffering from the reaction against the Wagner cult: the association, though rather tenuous, in the popular mind with Nietzsche, Hitlerism, and Prussian militarism, dies hard. Yet I am confident that Wagner's stupendous musical genius will survive. As a man there was a mean, despicable streak in his nature which was made worse by his self-justification and self-deception. His faults as a librettist were glaring, though with all his shortcomings there is nobody who could possibly have done the job of writing libretti for Richard Wagner half as well. His views on musical aesthetics, expressed in voluminous critical writings, have been questioned by later generations, yet he succeeded in rescuing opera from a living death. He is one of the very few musical geniuses, perhaps the only one, of whom it could be said with any confidence that here was a man who would have achieved eminence in any walk of life. What a saint he would have made (one might add in the same breath, what a sinner!). Contemporary witnesses agree that he could if he had chosen to have become a consummate actor. He would have made a brilliant politician. In fact he would have succeeded in almost everything except the more humdrum aspects of life. Wagner as a famous barrister, yes—as country solicitor, no—as a Casanova, yes—an an ascetic, possibly—as a husband, we know that he was a failure at this. In the hey-day of the middle class he lacked all the middle class virtues. But he has left an imperishable legacy in his music. Beside Wagner the other giants of the latter half of the nineteeth century, even Brahms, seem as pygmies.

✧ ✧ ✧

SCRIABIN is another reputation in temporary eclipse. His earlier compositions were very much in the Chopin manner. Later he became interested in Theosophy, and endeavoured to incorporate some of the mystical ideas of this sect into his music. He experimented with new harmonies and even wrote an orchestral piece to be played to the accompaniment of colours flashed on a screen. His supreme object was the production of a great "Mystery", in which all the arts would be united, to proclaim the end of the present age and usher in a millenium. This grandiose project was never put into operation, for in 1915 Scriabin developed a boil on his lip which turned septic and resulted in his death. As a matter of interest Scriabin was a relative of a celebrated figure in world politics who changed his name from Scriabin to—Molotov!

Discreet Loss of Temper

(THE NEW YORK TIMES)

IT is customary, for some queer reason—which may be no more than habit — to frown darkly upon any loss of temper. The thoughtless world looks askance at the man who, in the middle of a telephone conversation, suddenly rips out the instruments by its cords and flings it across the room, all the while shouting loudly. The same world gazes in reproof at another who, apparently in the middle of a casual conversation with his banker, picks the inkwell from his desk and hurls it through a plate glass window, saying nothing whatever but letting the falling glass do the necessary talking. To both of these events the thoughtless frown darkly, whereas with just a slight amount of private reflection they might well jump up and down in applause—at the same time seeking out telephones and inkwells. For who is there who can say—certainly not the thoughtless—how many lives have been spared by a discreet loss of temper? One of the dangers of not losing the temper is in its pent-up invitation to apoplexy or worse, on the part of the man withholding, while at the other end lies murder, which is legally actionable.

Where the thoughtless err—no doubt due to habit—is in the failure to recognize that there are degrees in loss of temper. No one could defend for a moment the calling of a spade a pitching fork, and really meaning it—outside, that is, of political campaigns. Nor could anyone defend throwing the inkwell at the banker, so long as a plate glass window stands just beyond him, ready and willing and able to make by far the larger crash. Such loss of temper is uncontrolled; unsporting, anti-social, and no good possibly could come out of it. But for the discreet loss of temper—that is something else again.

Such a loss of temper is a thing acceptable to any moment, any hour of the day. Its time need not be defined, or held within the few waking hours embracing daylight. What are those sudden nervous twitches in the middle of the night save that the inkwell again is speeding by the banker to hit the window! Temper can be lost by the subconscious, which like the thermostat takes over control late in the evening, but even the subconscious must learn to be discreet about it. Furthermore, as in the case of time, the location for discreet loss of temper matters not a whit nor a windowpane. Tempers can be carefully lost in the home, at the office, on the street or on the golf links. In this latter instance, it is possible to define clearly what constitutes discretion, as against the old-fashioned burning rage, which no one would care to defend. A discreet loss of temper cracks across the knees only the second-best putter, not the first; and it flings the golf bag to the fairway and not into the deepest part of the water hazard.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE discreet loss of temper is valuable all the day long. When the coffee is cold, complain, for the inner warmth from the complaint is more stimulating than twice the cup's amount of caffeine. When crossing the street to the bus, and a waiting taxi speeds its engine, have words to say, harsh words. By discreetly losing the temper at this time it is possible to gain the inner satisfaction of having lost temper with a professional. Talk back to the boss, although perhaps inaudibly, for that is better than taking the temper out on the secretary, who in turn would take it out on the office boy—until the whole thing came around again, in a circle of temper, through his father, the taxi driver. Grumble at home in the evening, although discreetly, for nothing is as highly regarded as a growling bear which, soothed, finally ceases to growl. Knowing when to stop growling is, of course, the final definition of discreetly losing the temper. No slowly quieting bear ever has been accused of murder, and that should be clear even to the thoughtless who can't comprehend the reason for any loss of temper whatever. Not even the discreet loss.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Awake, awake; put on thy strength, O Zion, put on thy beautiful garments, O Jerusalem, the holy city....

Shake thyself from the dust. (Isa. 52: 1, 2.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive. (I Cor. 15: 22.)

✧ ✧ ✧

There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit....

The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together.

For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us. (Rom. 8: 1, 16-18.)

Letter To The Editor

MOTORISTS ENCROACH ON PEDESTRIAN WALKS

Sir: I admit my ignorance in many cases and I admit I did not know why those lovely yellow strips were painted at street corners. I believed they were there so those operating motor cars or driving Old Dobbin would stop at the first strip, at intersections. It goes to show how a person can be mistaken as a short time ago I counted seventeen drivers that occupied nearly all or part of the space between the lines.

I have wished to cross the street and found where pedestrians are supposed to walk, blocked with a car. I being afraid to pass in front of the car, have asked that it be moved back. In some cases they did. In others they just laughed and sat there. One knowing fellow whom I blamed today for doing wrong when he had the crossing blocked simply pointed ahead and said, it is too bad, the red light is against me.

Now I believe when we are year after year going to the expense of painting these strips at the corners they could be made useful instead of ornamental and have them used to keep the crossings clear for those who walk.

Sincerely yours,
MAURICE E. KETCHESON.

Monument To Bowell

(Ottawa Citizen)

A cut-stone monument of Sir Mackenzie Bowell was recently unveiled in Belleville where he lived so long. Elected to the Commons for Hastings North in the first election after Confederation, Bowell was a familiar figure in the Parliament Buildings until his death 50 years later. He is remembered as a short man with a white beard. After many years' service as a cabinet minister under Sir John A. Macdonald, Sir Mackenzie Bowell was Prime Minister from December, 1894, to April, 1896. He had been summoned to the Senate in 1893 and was the last man to head a Canadian government while sitting in the upper house. Sir John Abbott was the only other senator to be Prime Minister.

Perhaps not as rugged a fighter as Sir Charles Tupper, who succeeded him as government leader, Bowell made a lasting contribution to this country in its formative years. He remained leader of the opposition in the Senate after Sir Wilfrid Laurier came to power. The older people in Belleville probably remember the late Senator best as the publisher and editor of the Belleville Intelligencer throughout his political career.

Unpleasant, But True

(Le Haut Parleur, St. Hyacinthe)

The word conscription is a dangerous one to use in the province of Quebec. It was formerly so badly used, so badly interpreted, that there remains in the mind of the public the musty smell of warlike authority. The word, which should describe a purely military measure, has come to signify a political conception, one almost religious, and even to a certain extent, racial. It is a word to be buried—very deeply. But the fact, nevertheless, remains that, in this uneasy world epoch, governments and people have a duty to rearm themselves and to rearm themselves effectively. To reach that end there must be material, but men are also needed and an organization. It is a dilemma from which there is no exit.

RCAF Takes Full Payloads On Airlift Run To Korea

By DAVE McINTOSH

EN ROUTE TO TOKYO VIA RCAF AIRLIFT, Nov. 6—(CP)—It was weather clear, track fast and full payload as this RCAF North Star, Cy Goodwin, captain, flew west on another routine operation in the Korean airlift.

Dave McIntosh

The close-knit, six-man crew worked deftly and quickly at their assigned jobs in the 36-ton aircraft.

The plane took off from McChord Field, Wash., in a driving rain. It burrowed up through the overcast and levelled off under the sun at 9,000 feet. Seattle, Victoria, the white-capped peaks of Vancouver Island fell rapidly behind.

The plane, one of 12 on the Korean airlift from McChord air base to Tokyo, carried tons of aircraft and machine parts but no troops. First stop: Anchorage, Alaska, after some 7½ hours and 1,300 miles.

Pilots say the novelty of the 25-hour trip has worn of, but it's still no milk run. After anchorage, the icing is bad, and at this time of year fog blankets the Aleutians. Ice on the wings can drag a plane earthwards.

Lose Track Of Time

Up north, the hours of darkness are short-lived and pilots say they lose all track of time. The international date line, where you lose 24 hours on the east-west crossing, only complicates matters. A good many men on 426 Squadron can't tell you what day of the week it is.

The round trip takes a week. A crew gets a maximum of five days off after an operation but often the lay-over is only one day.

The leg from anchorage to Tokyo takes 18 hours, with a refuelling stop in the Aleutians. If weather is bad—as it is nearly all the time at this season—crews are pretty groggy by the time they let down at Hadena, western hinge of the lift.

The cargo is lashed to the floor and when there are troops aboard they sit in bucket seats along either side of the fuselage. Weight checking is a delicate process

For instance, a North Star can haul more cargo from McChord to Alaska than it can from McChord to Vancouver, a distance of about 150 miles. In the latter case, the engines would have used up only a fraction of the 3,000 gallons of gas and the plane would be too heavy to land safely. On a long haul, this gas has been consumed by the time the aircraft reaches its destination.

An Old Hand

At the controls on this trip was Flt. Lt. Cy Goodwin, of Moose Jaw. He flew Coastal Command from Ireland during the war, spent 2½ years droning over the Atlantice in the eternal hunt for subs.

Co-pilot was Flt. Lt. Rae Churchill, 30, of Edmonton. He drove Sterlings during the war, dropping supplies to the French, Belgian and Dutch underground. This meant flying at night at 300-500 feet to find a flashlight beam in the middle of nowhere. Churchill received a Dutch DFC for his part in the Arnhem paratroop drop.

At the navigator's table was FO. Gene Moberg, of Saskatoon. He is only 21 and the first post-war navigator to fly the Korean airlift. Around and above him are the instruments of his trade: loran, pressure recorder, wireless, sextants, astro-compass, drift recorder, to name some.

Also only 21 was FO. Mort Latter of Halifax, the radio operator, who had to report the plane's position at least every half-hour. He could do this by voice until the aircraft left Alaska, when he switched to the Morse sending key. If the plane for any reason does not report within an hour of its last check point, RCAF search and rescue swings into action.

Flight Engineer was Sgt. Jack Blowers, 30, of Riding Mountain, Man. He sits between the pilot and co-pilot, keeps his eyes glued to the instruments, checks, rechecks and checks again.

LAC. Mal Tasker, 22, of Kelowna, BC, was air traffic assistant. He has been in the Air Force four years, has logged around 500 hours in the air.

Tasker supervises the loading, checks weight and balances, gets the meals, makes up the two bunks where the crew take turns getting a snatch of shuteye.

In his larder he keeps bacon and eggs, soup, bread, butter, crackers, tinned boiled dinners, tinned juices and of course, beans.

"They never gave me a cook's course, but the fellows don't grumble very often," he says.

A TWISTED MASS OF METAL is all that remains of a taxicabe in which two young men met instant death near Chambly, Que. Another young man and two teen-aged girls were severely injured when the car collided with a two-ton truck. The driver of the truck and his assistant escaped with minor injuries.

Child 11 Dies After Operation

GOGAMA, Nov. 6 — (CP) — Irene Laderoute, 11, one of 70 children undergoing a mass tonsilectomy, collapsed Sunday while receiving the anaesthetic and died later aboard a plane taking her to Sudbury Hospital.

The mass tonsilectomy was a public service effort of the Sudbury Rotary Club. Seven Sudbury doctors and as many nurses were in the operating room when the child collapsed.

Doctors said they were told by the child's father after the operation that she had suffered from convulsions.

The tonsil project was undertaken because of 230 youngsters of this lumbering community 140 were found to have diseased tonsils.

Keeps An Eye On Hunters In Two-Day Pheasant Shoot

PICKERING, Nov. 6—(CP)—Good hunting was largely taken for granted this weekend by the 600 sportsmen who ranged Pickering township's game haunts during the district's annual two-day pheasant shoot.

But it shouldn't have been. Some of the birds could appropriately have carried a tag: "By courtesy of Silas Toole."

Silas Toole, 71, has devoted the last 20 years to an 11-acre pheasant sanctuary on his Locust Hill farm. To make a pleasing pheasant hunt he hauled swamp grass, bracken and swale to furnish the sanctuary. He has spent thousands of hours and dollars.

Government-raised birds now supplement hundreds provided by Mr. Toole. But he still patrols the Pickering pheasant grounds during the shoot although a full-time Forests Department office takes care of licensing and patrolling.

"You can't keep him home," said Harry Meighan, conservation officer. "He's up at the crack of dawn with a copy of the Migratory birds Act in one hand and a pair of binoculars that must have come with Columbus in the other."

INVESTMENT DOLLARS—
At a Discount!

We believe that in permitting shares of a sound and skillfully managed fixed investment trust, such as the "Economic", to sell at a substantial discount from their actual break-up value, at the same time that millions of dollars are being placed in open-end trusts at substantial premiums over their break-up value, investors are overlooking a very real opportunity.

If you are one of the many who are, or should be, interested in the Investment Trust as a means of protecting the purchasing power of your investment income, you owe it to yourself to investigate this situation.

Canada Lacks Survival Birthrate . Exporters Told By President

By FORBES RHUDE

OTTAWA, Nov. 6 (CP)—Canadians prefer a high standard of living to a home full of children, James A. Roberts of Hamilton, said today in his presidential address to the Canadian Exporters' Association.

Urging that Canada must have more population, he declared:

"It is evident from a scrutiny of the Canadian birth rate over the last 20 years, we have not in Canada today a survival birth rate. It is curious to note that the Anglo-Canadian is willing to make every sacrifice in war to ensure the survival of his group, but he is less interested in its survival 30 years hence."

Mr. Roberts stressed that Canada can and does produce far more than she can consume, thus making her dependent on foreign markets in which to sell her surplus goods. He suggested as solutions a steady and long-range plan for immigration and a further opening up of markets abroad.

Canada could support in the next 20 years double her present population.

Choose Carefully

"In bringing people to Canada I am conscious that they must be chosen from a class who have a Christian faith, who can live in our country and have a love for democracy and freedom. No other qualifications should be necessary."

Despite the dangers of being so dependent as at present on foreign markets, Mr. Roberts found Canada's export future extremely bright, because:

The world hasn't enough food and 20,000,000 are dying yearly from famine.

The staples of food are wheat, corn, rice, fish, meat and fruit, and Canada has an actual and potential surplus of five of these.

"Canada has timber, pulp, minerals and oil which, year by year, will give her a bargaining power not exceeded by any country in the world. She has what the world must buy.

Going Up

"Barring the atom bomb, bacterial warfare and a third world war, standards of living throughout the world can go only one way—up, not down—and the increased buying power of the world will enhance export possibilities of both primary and secondary products."

The manufacturing world of the future, said Mr. Roberts, will be led by countries possessing electric and atomic power; and the Canadian workman has 3½ times as much horsepower at his fingertips as any other workman in the world, excepting only his counterpart in the United States.

Noting that 64 per cent of all Canadian exports now go to the United States, Mr. Roberts commented:

"This is a welcome market, but on a long-term basis and as a blueprint for the future it is not a sound basis upon which to build Canada's trade."

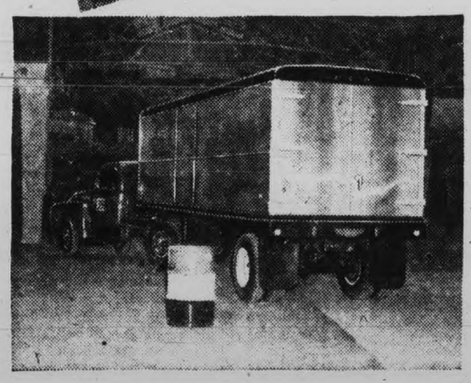
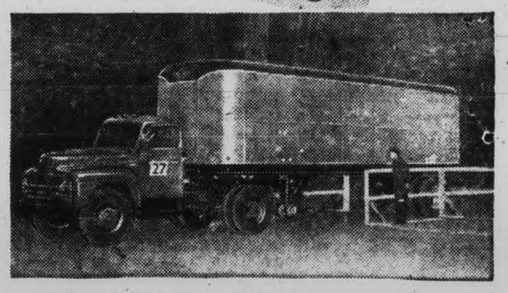
Frank Bell has been driving for 8 years without accident.



"I won the Truck Roadeo Canadian Championship driving a Brant "Chief" semi-trailer because the "Margin of Safety" enabled me to demonstrate the difference between Proper and Safe Driving on one hand and Carelessness and Poor Judgment on the other."



Bill Mulholland, manager of Canadian Breweries Transport, congratulates Frank Bell, the winner over 32 contestants.

Says W. Ashton Cockshutt, General Manager of Brantford Coach,
"You did it again, Frank, and I'm proud that you chose a trailer built by our firm."

PCVS Seniors Victors, 32-1 To Open COSSA Semi-Finals

By DON GRANT

A human machine, PCVS' senior Garnet and Greys, ground Belleville Collegiate Redmen 32-1 Saturday in Belleville in the COSSA semi-finals. The return game of the points-to-court series will be played Saturday at the Oval.

Belleville started with a burst as they whipped through the PCI'ers for a rouge point, but cooled off quickly. In the last half the PCI'ers kept kicking the ball to hold down the score. The Redmen tossed the ball around as though it was loaded with a deadly poison. PCVS took advantage of these errors to score.

The wet going tended to fire tempers and several fists were thrown. Harry Brown, the Belleville quarter, was sent from the game in the second heat for punching a Peterborough player. With the disqualification went a 25-yard penalty to Belleville.

Backfield Good

Al McIlraith, Roy Armstrong and Warren Brown worked well in the Peterborough backfield while Hubert Lowes stood out along the Peterborough line. Jack McBride, Ken Allen and Jim Dowsett were the pick of the Belleville players.

A fumble in the first quarter at the Belleville 43 was recovered by PCVS. Bryan Young then passed to Bus Jensen for 18 yards and he galloped to the Belleville nine-yard line. Bob Craw carried to the one-yard line where Warren Brown went through centre for the first score.

Early in the second Al McIlraith broke through for 73 yards and was nipped at the six-yard line. Roy Armstrong rocked to the three and then combined with Young and Northcott on an end run, Northcott majoring. Four plays later the 25-yard roughing penalty to Belleville set up Northcott for a kick well behind the Belleville goal-line. Jim Dowsett was rouged for the 11th point.

Another One

Just before the half, Jim Telford recovered a fumble on an attempted kick at the Belleville 25-yard line. Armstrong and Bob Gandy plunged to the eight-yard line where Al Northcott scored again.

Neil Thompson was Johnny-on-the-spot for the fourth major in the third quarter. Jack McBride tried a basketball chest pass and was foiled. He then lateralled but it was intercepted by Thompson on the dead run. He was in the clear for 43 yards.

Within a minute Al Northcott lifted the ball behind the Bay of Quinte goal-line, where it was fumbled. PCVS players swarmed over the ball with Art Calley grabbing it for the touchdown. Northcott split the poles for the only extra point in six touchdowns.

The touchdown kickoff was in the fourth quarter and was fumbled. Bob Gandy picked up the loose ball at the 36-yard line of Belleville and went down the clear field for the final touchdown.

Lineups

PCVS: Flying wing, Northcott; halves, Armstrong, Gandy, Brown; quarter, Young; centre, Frise, insides, English, Grant; middles, Telford, Lowes; outsides, Thompson, Galley; alts., Ward, Craw, Mongraw, Sanders, Northey, Fortner, G. Burns, Jensen, Cunningham, Knox, Curtis, J. Burns, Harrison, Clapper, McIlraith, White Buckland.

BCI: Flying wing, Lewis; halves, McBride, Allen, Dowsett; quarter, Brown; centre, Dolan; insides, McClay, Adamson; middles, Moore, Green; outsides, Grey, Davis; alts., Cameron, Creeggan, Irwin, Barclay, Ashline, Soule, Smith, Culbertson, McBrien, McPherson, Milligan, Kane.

PCVS Juniors Triumph In First Fray

Packed with ground power, Alex Londry's junior Garnet and Greys shadowed the Belleville Collegiate Saturday in a rain-snow-soaked field 17-0. This gives the PCI'ers a 17-point lead in the two-game points-to-count COSSA semi-finals. The return game will be Saturday at the Oval.

Peterborough demonstrated their power before the Belleville fans in the first quarter when they ploughed up the snowy field from the one-yard line ot the 14-yard line of Belleville. They missed then only by a half a yard for the first down. From therein it was PCVS in control.

Got Two Tries

Again Murray Grafstein plunged his way to glory with two touchdowns as he carried on tthree out of every five plays. Dave Langhorne and Ron McIlwain also starred in carrying the mail for the PCI'ers.

Never did the BCI juniors threaten to score. Lawrence Moore's kick in the first quarter shoved PCVS back to the one-yard line but it didn't stay there long. Johnny Hagerman broke loose several times for first downs. Murray Grafstein grabbed a fumble by Belleville at the mid-field stripe in the second quarter. Immediately on the next play he reeled for a first down followed by Langhorne for another. Langhorne, Grafstein and Bill Stewart romped the ball to the 15-yard line. There Grafstein jogged to the one-yard line where he plunged through centre for the first major.

Second Major

The opening kick of the second half was fumbled by Belleville and recovered by PCVS' lineman Larry Forbes, at the Belleville 43. Ron McIlwain, like a scared rabbit, slipped around the left end and went to the six-yard line before he dropped. Grafstein tore straight through centre for the second major.

Several minutes later Grafstein and Stewart combined on an end run from their 35-yard line for 17 yards. Stewart, Langhorne and Grafstein plunged the ball close in. From there Grafstein lateralled to Stewart on an end run for the last major score.

The first attempt for convert, a drop kick by Langhorne, missed on the slippery ground. But the second touchdown extra was added when Stewart passed to Grafstein. On the last touchdown Stewart went around right end for the point to make the final 17-0.

Twice the PCI'ers were down to the Belleville 15 in the fourth but failed to add any points.

Lineups:

PCVS: Flying wing, McIlwain; halves, Langhorne, Hope, Grafstein; quarter, Stewart; centre, Russell; insides, Outram, Forbes; middles, Gilders, Chevalier; outsides, Hayward, Grifin; alts., Johnston, Fowler, Scriver, Huddart, Armstrong, Dunn, Hollingsworth, Boorman, Turner, Haggart, Pollard, Patterson.

BCI: Flying wing, Baker; halves, Moore, Burroughs, Thompson; quarter, Philip; centre, O'Hara; insides, Goyer, Kellett; middles, Adamson; outsides, Page, Farmer; alts., Soule, Lewis, Morden, Cherry, Hiles, Spencer, Ashley, Mathews, McPartlin, Hagerman, Waddingham, Meyers.

Teepees Wallop Galt 6-2, Barrie Triumphs

By The Canadian Press.

It's a little crowded at the top of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A standings. After five weekend games, only two points separate the first eight teams.

Barrie Flyers moved into undisputed possession of first place Saturday with a 7-3 win over the luckless Waterloo Hurricanes, who have picked up but one point in nine games. But the win left Flyers with only a one-point lead over three teams tied for second slot, with four more another point behind.

Galt Black Hawks were knocked from atop the heap by St. Catharines Teepees, 6-2. This left Hawks and Teepees tied for second place with Stratford Kroehlers, who took a 4-3 overtime decision from Oshawa Generals.

Whip St. Mike's

Sunday's junior doubleheader in Toronto saw Windsor Spitfires outclass St. Michael's Majors 6-3 and Toronto Marlboros down Guelph Biltmores 4-2. Spits, Dukes and Guelph now are in a four-way tie for fifth slot along with Oshawa Generals. St. Mike's are in ninth position in the 10-team loop, six points back.

One senior game was played Saturday, St. Michael's walloping Hamilton Tigers 11-4 to move into first place tie with Toronto Marlboros.

Snow and rain kept attendance at the senior game down to 436.

Two former Pacific coast leaguers, John Ubriaco and Matt Mcsich, starred for the winners, with two tallies apiece. Other St. Mike's scorers were Gord Hannigan, Pat Wilson, Frank Sullivan, Ed Mulligan, Bill McCracken, Ken Watson and Johnny Arundel. For Tigers, Murray Conick bagged two, Johnny Conick and Tom Smelle the others.

Seven Minor Penalties

The overtime junior game at Oshawa saw but seven minor penalties handed out in the 70 minutes. Scoring alternated until the overtime period, when Bob Bailey broke away and fed the puck to Johnny Wood to give Kroehlers the winning tally. Bailey, Guy Henri and Roy Leckie were the other Stratford scorers. Bob Holden, Bill Berwick and Alex Delvecchio scored for Generals.

Galt and St. Catharines were tied 2-2 going into the final period and then Teepees scored four as Hawks faded. Wayne Brown and Carl Boone led with two apiece for the winners, Ted Powers and Bill Young rounding out the scoring. Bill Wharram and Tony Poeta scored for Galt.

Three middle-period Barrie goals within two minutes spelled the difference as Waterloo bowed to the Flyers. Hurricanes held their own in the first stanza, but were disorganized on defence. Doug Towers and Chuck Woods each bagged two Barrie tallies. Leo Labine, Jim Morrison and Don Emms the others. Murray Dunnette potted two for Hurricanes, Claude Watters one.

Goal for Goal

In the first Sunday game, Windsor matched St. Mike's goal for goal until the final period, when Spits broke a 3-3 deadlock to count three in a row. Windsor scorers were Eddie Joss with two, Earl Johnson, Erwin Gross, Jim Anderson and Jim Offidani. Bob Sabourin picked up two for the losers, Bob Schiller one.

The junior Dukes were never headed in the second game. Ron Hurst, Earl Balfour, Gus Karrys and Nesterenko tallied for the winners. Guelph goals came from Ken Laufman and Chuck Henderson.

Cincinnati Mohawks Edge Hornets 3-2

By The Canadian Press

It was a busy night in the American Hockey League Sunday night. All 10 clubs saw action and the leaders in both the eastern and western divisions held their positions.

Cincinnati Mohawks downed Pittsburgh Hornets 3-2 to stay atop the western division by three points. Buffalo Bisons, eastern leaders, beat St. Louis Flyers 4-3 and stayed five points ahead of Hershey Bears.

The other games saw Cleveland Barons blast Indianapolis 7-2 to stay rolling along in the West's second place. Hershey pushed around New Haven Eagles 6-2 and Providence downed Springfield Indians 6-4.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A welcome visitor to our desk the other day was Danny Brown, starry shortstop for the senior ball Petes the past two seasons. He won't be back next spring as he gets a pro tryout with Springfield of the Triple "A" International League. If he doesn't catch on there, he will be farmed out to the Class "A" Des Moines club. As Danny is a big boy, only 19 years old, with a wonderful throwing arm, he should in time make big money in pro ball. Maybe even in the majors. He will get plenty of fine coaching to improve hitting and fielding, though he batted .339 here last summer and fielded well. He also did a good job coaching the PMBA-ers, as their showing in OBA playdowns indicated. Danny is keeping in shape in Buffalo till he hits for Florida the middle of February. Good luck, boy.

"Another chap we wish luck to is Dick Ouimet. He has applied for the job of arena manager of the big new Kitchener Memorial Centre, as his business here doesn't tie him down in the winter. Dick starred in football here ere going off to war and he coached the ORFU team after his return. He had much to do with the organization of the PMHA, serving three years as prexy. He also had considerable to do with getting the Civic Arena going and was manager of it the first year. Started Boys Town, too, and was three years on the Recreation Commission. Refereed hockey and football more lately. A good sports' organizer and worker, and successful in business.

In The OHA Picture

In OHA competition, the senior "B" Petes are slated for Belleville tonight, and will play Nylons on Wednesday in Kingston, ere returning for a Friday fray 'gainst Queen's. The Eagles take on the Belleville Redmen here Wednesday eve and will be away Friday. They needed a rest after a tough victory o'er Nylons in Kingston on Friday last. Bill Crowley was in on three goals, as Joe Rochetta counted a pair. Montgomery, Parnall, Milne, Fred Mortimer, Smith and Godfrey were each in on one, so the sniping was well spread around. The teams appear quite well-matched so far. Our junior "B" Oddfellows don't see group action till next week.

It's goodbye to the grid Orfuns till next fall. They were ousted Saturday by Parkdale in Toronto in one of the dirtiest games we've ever seen. Not particularly rough, mind you, apart from a few late fights, yet downright dirty. But then you couldn't expect to keep clean wallowing around in heavy mud for four frames, huh? They were all blacker than coal miners within a few minutes of the first whistle. The Lions were better mudders and earned the win, though the score should have been quite a bit closer. Anyway, the Bamforth bunch put up a pretty good show this autumn and made big strides in their rebuilding program, which should pay off in another season. A good gang under an okay executive.

Goulding Gridders Roll

Conditions weren't good at all in Belleville on Saturday, but Bev Goulding's senior PCI-ers romped to a 32-1 triumph o'er the Quinte collegians to open their COSSA semi-finals. Next one is here Saturday and it looks like the Reds will end well in the red. The Garnet and Greys turned in another nifty effort, and year after year they appear too strong for district or Central Onatrio competition. But sometimes they hit rugged opposition in COSSA finals. Warren Brown got the first major this tilt and, after a grand run by Al McIlraith, Northcott went over, Al later counting again. Neil Thompson got the next, followed by Art Galley, and then Bob Gandy for the final. Whole crew clicked well.

* * * * * *

Saddened and chilled fans in Bella Villa also saw Alex Londry's junior PCI-ers take a 17-0 win to start their COSSA semi-final series, return being here Saturday. Lots of ground power by the Peterborough boys, with Murray Grafstein counting two touchdowns as he lugged the leather lemon often. He also aided in the third try when Bill Stewart trotted over the last line. Stewart converted one and passed to Grafstein on another to total their points, the boys wisely deciding against trying to kick converts—after one failure—in the mucky going. Looks like the Londry lads will be prancing, too, into the finals in another week.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

This information came to us today: All of the seven sheets of ice will be ready for curling on Wednesday evening.

No doubt, this piece of curling news has been eagerly awaited by local curlers.

And the suggestion has been passed on that it would be a good idea if the skips brought their new players down and instructed them a little bit, so that they would have some idea of what it is all about.

We understand the season's schedule games get under way on Monday, Nov. 13.

The bonspiel committee has sent out notices for the first open bonspiel. It is an all-day affair on Saturday, Nov. 18. The beautiful Canada Packers Trophy is up for competition and there will be good prizes to go along with it. Each rink is sure of three 10-end games and the fee is $10.00 per. The first 28 rinks entered will will make up the bonspiel.

Get up a rink and send your entry to the chairman, Dr. C. McKee, or Secretary I. A. Moore.

FOUR WINNERS

Willie Shoemaker celebrated his last day at Bay Meadows race track Saturday by bringing home four winners.

Shoemaker, already well out in front in the race for this year's national riding honors, thus boosted his 1950 total of winners to 314. His nearest rival, Joe Culmone, riding at Pimlico, had two winners Saturday, raising his total to 304.

Ghosts Take Series

DUNDAS, Nov. 6 — Though edged 6-5 here on Saturday, Cobourg's Ghosts ousted Dundas Bombers by two points, having won last week 3-0 at home, to go into ORFU intermediate "A" finals. A Dundas fumble paved the way for a try by Cobourg in the second quarter, Quigley recovering. They drove up then and Bob Cooper plunged across. Dutch Holland tied it with an unconverted try in the third and later McFarland kicked a single.

TCS Gets Title

TORONTO, Nov. 6 — Trinity College School won the Little Big Four football championship Saturday in Toronto, defeating Upper Canada College 17-5 for their first title in 16 years. The speedy, young and light TCS team beat their heavier opponents by sheer drive. Ken Wright got an early single and followed up later with a converted major. Ian Bruce made it 12-0 in the third, before Bruce Thomas ran 80 yards to score for UCC. Near the close, Phil Munz scored a try to wind it up.

Orfuns Ousted In Mud By The Lions

By C. J. P.

Peterborough Orfuns' hopes of a grid title were buried Saturday in the mud at Oakwood Stadium, Toronto, as Parkdale Lions skidded and slithered to an 18-0 triumph. They won the series 25-1 to waltz into ORFU intermediate "B" finals as less than 100 frostbitten fans chattered encouragement.

The cold, snow-covered gridiron was soon churned into an oozy quagmire, with players' faces and numbers quickly blotted out by mud which even a continuous drizzle of rain could not beat off. In such going, the Lions proved better mudders to earn the win in handy fashion. Orfuns fought furiously, even holding Lions on three downs on the Bamforth squad's one-yard line, but Parkdale had a few payoff backfielders who cashed in on nearly every chance.

Got A Single

Corrigan kicked a point for the only score in the first quarter. Smith took a kick and shook loose to gallop nearly 60 yards for a second-heat try, with Alexander kicking the convert, and it was 7-0. Following a scoreless third when Orfuns tried passes and everything else in a desperate attempt to get back in the game, Parkdale clinched it in the fourth, Alexander bucked through for a touchdown after a march up, the same player skirting end for the convert. This star player pushed through again for an unconverted try as the game ended.

Alexander, Smith and West stood out in the muck for the victors, who were congratulated after by Orfuns. Play was rough in the last half, with McCallum getting the heave-ho for starting a fight, and later Frank Fitzgerald and Johnson mixing briefly to draw bench penalties. The game was replete with fumbles on the wet ball, with players skidding into the dirt on end runs and with numerous penalties. All the Orfuns fought hard all the way.

End Of Trail

To add injury to insult, the begrimed gladiators had to scrape the stuff off later in cold showers and, as black faces slowly turned to blue, such gallant gridders—at season's end—were recognized as: Jim, Spike, Bill, Jerry, Russ, Freddy, Merv, Wally, Frank, Gord, Don, Bill, Mac, John, Babe, Rocky, Ron, Reg, Ken, Moe, two Bills, Murray and Ray. Casualties from previous hard-fought frays were not in action. Teams:

Parkdale: Flying wing, Corrigan; halves, Duncan, Gilmore, Smith; Scurr; quarter, Mott; snap, Johnson; insides, Horvath, Linthewaite; middles, McCallum, Hirst; outsides, E. Todd, Hull; alts., R. Todd, Spafford, Taylor, Alexander, Adaman, Pruski, Armstrong, West, Morris, Bolton, Zanuski, Flanagan.

Orfuns: Flying wing, Conlin; halves, Matthews, Huntley, J. McGillis; quarter, Scriver; snap, Hill; insides, Bonney, Farr; middles, F. Fitzgerald, Beatty; outsides, D. McGillis, Trimm; alts., McKim, Lynch, Ievantis, DeCarlo, Hodson, Burns, Masters, Fraser, Thompson, Archibald, Sullivan, R. Fitzgerald.

Officials: T. Jarvis, C. Hiltz, L. Deadey.

Can Yukon Eric Remove Mask?

That mystery-man of the mat, the Masked Marvel, appears to be in the toughest spot of his hectic career. The hooded wrestler will meet Yukon Eric in the main wrestling bout at the Brock Arena Tuesday night. Yukon has established an astounding winning record in his matches to date. Against such an opponent, the Mask's likelihood of remaining masked and unbeaten seems slim indeed.

No wrestler on whom Yukon Eric has clamped that specialty back-breaker hold of his, the Kodiak Krunch, has succeeded in escaping from it without defeat.

The semi-final appears to be a colorful, rugged match, with Flying Pat Flanagan meeting Sky-Hi Lee, the Ozark giant.

Dangerous Dan O'Connor, of Kansas City, will meet Bobby Nelson, of California, in the first bout.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Coach Annis Stukus sat in a corner of the noisy Eskimo dressing room Saturday night and told how he used psychology to kick the convert which gave Edmonton a 17-16 win over Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Said Stuke:

"The team knows I'm wearing my wrist watch and they know I'm not wearing pads. So they try that much harder to keep me from getting dumped."

The 37-year-old playing coach boasts an amazing record of missing only four of 37 converts in regular league games and playoff this year.

"Only been smeared once," he said. "That was in the opening game against Winnipeg when I was foolish enough to fall on a blocked kick. Thought they were going to have to carry me off the field."

Saturday night, as he ran out on the floodlit Clarke Stadium with the score tied 16-16 he was wearing his wrist watch.

"In the huddle, nobody asked what time it was," Stuke said, with tongue in cheek. "But I made sure they saw me look at my watch—that's psychology."

Leo Johnson of Winnipeg defeated Frenchy D'Amour of Trail, B. C., 9-8 Sunday night to win the Associated Canadian Travellers' Automobile Bonspiel at Edmonton.

Johnson was one down going home when he scored two to win the four new automobiles for his rink.

His win was sweet revenge. Last year in the first automobile bonspiel, a single brilliant shot by D'Amour lost him the cars.

Fog rising from the ice Saturday night forced the cancellation of the Eastern League hockey game between the Boston Olympics and Atlantic City Sea Gulls at the Boston Arena.

The teams took an hour and 11 minutes to complete the first period which was halted five times because of the fog condition.

John W. Nizlek's all at once, a 25-1 shot, pulled a major upset when he splashed home in the $30,000-added Empire City Handicap before 23,777 rain-soaked fans at Jamaica.

With the veteran Nick Wall up, the three-year-old son of Grand Slam-Blue Su opened up a big lead on the backstretch and then was able to stave off a stretch lunge by Ted Atkinson of J. M. Seider's Royal Castle. The winning margin at the end of the 1 3-16 miles was a neck.

Tom Gray's Oil Capitol, a forward factor all the way, finished third, a length back. The Brookmeade Stable's Sunglow was a close fourth. Back in the ruck was the race favorite, George D. Widener's Lights Up.

Great Pitcher Alexander Dies In St. Paul

ST. PAUL, Nov. 6 (AP). — Grover Cleveland Alexander, a fabulous major league pitcher in his day, died Saturday of a heart ailment.

Death came to the 63-year-old baseball immortal in the rented room he occupied in a private home here. He had been living of late on a $150-a-month baseball pension.

Alexander had been in ill health in recent years—he lost an ear to cancer—but friends who saw him Friday said he mentioned nothing about feeling ill.

Alexander got his last big baseball tribute in 1938 when he was voted into baseball's Hall of Fame at Copperstown, N. Y.

He had earned it with a remarkable assortment of records chalked up in a career that covered nearly 20 years—from 1911 to 1930.

It was typical of the colorful Alexander, a notable breaker of training rules, that his best-remembered triumph came at a time when his greatness appeared to be fading.

Comes Through

As a pitcher for St. Louis Cardinals, Alex had won the sixth game of the world series in 1926. The Cards needed the seventh to win the series.

Came the seventh inning of the seventh game against New York Yankees in Yankee Stadium. Two men were out, the bases were loaded, the Cards held a precarious 3-2 lead and Tony Lazzeri was up.

Legend, always denied by Alexander, had it that the one-time Nebraska farm boy was napping in the dugout after celebrating too well his previous day's win the night before. Cold as a mackeral, Alex took the mound, struck out Lazzeri on four pitched balls and went on to win the game.

Has Most Shutouts

Old Pete started in the majors with Philadelphia, winning 28 games in his freshman year. After seven brilliant years with Philadelphia he was sold to Chicago Cubs. In 1926, when he appeared to be losing some of that whip-lash curve and perfect control, he was sent to St. Louis Cardinals on waivers but proceeded to confound the dopesters with another great season.

Alexander won 373 of the 696 games he pitched for the Phillies, Cubs and Cards. This tied him with Christy Mathewson as the National League's biggest winner.

He pitched more shutouts than any National League hurler—90. In 1916 he chalked up an amazing total of 16 shutouts, also a record.

Bruins Trip Canadiens 3-2 But Soon Fall Back In Rut

By The Canadian Press

The Bruins of Boston rose out of their National Hockey League rut during the weekend—but it didn't take them long to fall back in.

Coach Lynn Patrick's team racked up its first victory in nine starts when it defeated the Canadians 3-2 at Montreal Saturday night. On Sunday night, however, the Bruins reverted to this season's form when they absorbed a 4-2 trimming from the Red Wings at Detroit.

At that, Boston isn't doing much worse than New York Rangers. In the other two weekend contests, the Rangers batled the Maple Leafs to a 2-2 deadlock at Toronto but then bowed 3-1 to the Black Hawks at Chicago, leaving them with a record of only one win and five ties in 11 starts.

Rangers' record is good enough to keep them in fifth place, two points ahead of the tail-end Bruins, whose five points come from three ties besides their single victory.

Well Ahead

Toronto's weekend tie kept the Leafs well out in front, five points ahead of Detroit. The Wings took over second place by one point from Canadien's, with Chicago another three points back.

A Forum crowd of 14,060 watched the Bruins beat their jinx in a rugged, wide-open game at Montreal. Boston opened up a 3-0 lead on goals by Johnny Peirson, Ed Sanford and Ed Harrison. Montreal fought back with second-period tallies by Elmer Lach and Leo Gravelle but the third session was scoreless.

It was the Bruins who were faced with overcoming a three-goal lead before a crowd of 11,205 at Detroit Sunday. They couldn't make it. The Wings ran up their margin on goals by Gordie Howe, Metro Prystai and Gaye Stewart, then Gerry Couture raised it to 4-1 after Dave Creighton scored for Boston. Creighton made it two for the night with the only goal of the third period.

Penalties proved the Rangers' undoing before a Toronto crowd of 13,141. With the New Yorkers a man short, the Leafs used their vaunted power play to ram home two goals in 59 second in the second period. Sid Smith and Ted Kennedy were the marksmen.

Second Period Counts

All the scoring at Toronto came in the second period. Rookie Nick Michoski opened it to put Rangers out front 1-0 and Ed Slowinski closed it after the Toronto flurry to force the tie.

A crowd of 15,509 at Chicago watched the Hawks subdue the Rangers in a wild game strewn with 14 penalties. Chicago ran up a 3-0 lead on markers by Gord Fashoway, Bill Mosienko and Bep Guidolin before Eddie Kullman spoiled Harry Lumley's shutout late in the final frame.

Ten of the 14 penalties were called in the scoreless second period. The only major penalty went to New York's Tony Leswick for slashing with intent to injure. Defenceman Bill Gadsby of the Hawks drew a total of four minor penalties, two short of a league record.

New York goalie Chuck Rayner was called on to make 25 saves while Lumley stopped 19.

Coach Retires After 30 Years

SASKATOON —(CP)— E. W. (Joe) Griffiths, who has represented Canada as an official and as an assistant coach at two Olympics, will retire next spring after 30 years on the faculty of the University of Saskatchewan.

In 1937, the university named its new stadium, "Griffiths Stadium," in his honor.

Griffiths came to the U of S in 1920 as its first director of physical education. Later, he was manager of the Men's Athletic Board and was appointed director of varsity athletics in 1948.

He was president of the Saskatchewan branch of the Canadian Physical Education Association for several years and in 1936 was assistant coach of the Canadian Olympic swimming team in Berlin. He was a track and field official at the 1948 London Olympics.

Last spring he was chosen for the honor award of the Canadian Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, given for "distinguished and meritorious service as a mature leader in his field in Canada."

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Hamilton, Argos Make Playoffs Though Alouettes Edge Toronto

(By The Canadian Press)

The snow and the slush got in the hair of players and fans alike, but as usual it was the officials who really took it on the chin as senior football moved towards its Grey Cup climax during a wind-blown weekend.

With the elements making quagmires of what the east laughingly called gridirons, here were the rapid-fire developments.:

1. The Dominion champion Montreal Alouettes were eliminated, even though they edged Toronto Argonauts 18-17, because Hamilton Tiger-Cats beat Ottawa Rough Riders 11-3. Argos and Tigers open a two-game, total-points playoff for the Big Four title at Hamilton next Saturday, with the second game in Toronto the following Wednesday.

2. Toronto Balmy Beach were hard-pressed to defeat Sarnia Imperials 17-11 in the opening playoff game for the Ontario Union title and the right to meet the Big Four winner for the Eastern Canada crown. They play the second game of the total-points series at Sarnia Saturday.

Upset Bombers

3. Edmonton Eskimos upset Winnipeg Bombers 17-16 in the first game of a best-of-three series for the Western Canada title. The second game is billed for Winnipeg Saturday with the third, if necessary, also in Winnipeg.

4. Import Nick Scollard of Alouettes was indefinitely suspended from Canadian football for punching judge of play Jimmy Simpson at Toronto, opening a four-stitch gash in the official's chin.

5. The officials also came in for a verbal beating in the same Toronto game when Referee Seymour Wilson had to rule on a play that isn't even covered specifically in the rule book. Ruling that it was illegal to throw a forward pass off a blocked placement kick, he called back a Montreal touchdown and substituted a 25-yard penalty.

It was this ruling that indirectly led to his fellow arbiter taking it on the chin. Scollard, who had tried the placement, became further enraged when Simpson signalled a no-yards penalty against Montreal on the next play, and charged the veteran official.

W. C. (Billy) Foulds, who has charge of the league's referees supported Wilson's ruling and said this special directive would be issued pending clarification of the rule by the CRU: "In the case of a blocked kick that is recovered by the kicker's side, a forward pass cannot legally be thrown off the play."

Rumpus Needless

As it turned out, all the rumpus was needless because Montreal won out anyway when Nick Volpe hit the goalpost with what would have been the tying convert in the closing minutes. The Alouettes had built up their lead on touchdowns by Ralph Toohy, Rod Pantages and Ches McCance, plus three points kicked by Scollard before his blowup.

Argo touchdown scorers were Joe Krol, Bob Westlake and Rod Smylie, with Volpe converting one and Krol punting a single. The Argos lost halfback Doug Smylie for the playoffs when he dislocated a shoulder.

Hamiltont finished in firs place, a point ahead of Argos, by out-slushing the last-place Rough Riders at Ottawa. Bill Gregus and Edgar Jones scored their touchdowns, with Jones converting one. Ottawa's only points came on a field goal by Eric Chipper.

Balmy Beach had to come from behind at Toronto to beat Sarnia, whom they whipped three-out-of-four in the regular schedule. Import Cal Galbreath dashed 45 yards for the major in the third quarter followed by George Watson's fourth-quarter field goal that gave Beaches a six point lead for the second game.

Varsity Ties McGill

In the east's intercollegiate league, University of Toronto pulled a surprise by tying undefeated McGill at Montreal 6-6—but equally surprising was how they kept track of the ball in the inches of snow slush. They even turned on the floodlights in the final quarter to accommodate the players and some 9,000 fans who sat through a driving rain.

Varsity, with only one win in four previous starts, built up a lead on a placement by Jimmy Bell and singles by Al Haig and Bob Rumball, fell behind in the fourth quarter when Fred Wilmot converted Roy Dessheild's touchdown, but tied it up with another single by Haig.

Queen's subdued University of Western Ontario 13-10 at Kingston, leaving both teams in a second-place tie with two victories against three losses. For Queen's, Sisson and Roberts scored touchdowns and Bob Bell kicked two singles and a convert. Taylor scored the Western touchdown while Bob McFarlane kicked five points on a field goal, a convert and a single.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Toronto's Max Bentley picked up two points during the weekend to take over sole possession of first place among the National Hockey League's point-getters, one point ahead of Maurice Richard of Montreal with whom he was previously tied.

Richard picked up one point to bring his season's total to 13, one less than Bentley.

Fern Flaman of Boston continues to hold the dubious honor of most penalized player, having spent 37 minutes in the penalty box. Turk Broda of Toronto is shutout king with three.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts.
Bentley, Toronto	4	10	14
Richard, Montreal	9	4	13
Kennedy, Toronto	3	8	11
Sloan, Toronto	6	4	10
Howe, Detroit	4	6	10
Gardner, Toronto	4	5	9

(Three players tied with eight points.)

Fifty Countries Represented At WCTU Meet

Mrs. Allan B. Mann's report of the world WCTU convention held in Hastings, England, was the highlight of the regular Smith township and Lakefield WCTU meeting. The meeting was held at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. D. P. Morris, Bridgenorth.

The convention was attended by approximately 1,000 woman from the majority of 50 countries which form the union. Included were 50 delegates from Canada and 150 from the United States.

In the citizen report given by Mrs. Olivia B. Davies of the United States on moral education, the speaker stated that, "in view of the fact that one of the most discussed problems today in juvenile delinquency it is well to know that the drinking of parents play a prominent part, affecting as they do the child through heredity as well as environment."

Indian representative Shoran B. Singha stated prohibition is the goal of the new Indian government following the lead given by Gandhi. Now at no government function is liquor offered.

Mrs. Mann described the service at Westminster Abbey when more than 500 delegates attended. Archbishop Tonk preached the sermon. He likened the women's society to Barnabus—"full of the Holy Spirit and faith and courage." He appealed to the conscience of all those who bear Christ's name to examine their attitude and example and let it be known that temperance, in regards to all sin, means abstinence.

Mrs. Harold Lewis moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Mann for her address.

The president Mrs. J. Gordon Mann opened the meeting and the devotional was taken by Bridgenorth ladies.

Mrs. Milton Clark and Mrs. Lorne Reynolds were appointed to assist Mrs. Elmer Milburn correct the scientific teperance papers which will be written in the schools shortly.

The meeting was brought to a close with a prayer by Rev. D. P. Morris.

The Bridgenorth ladies served lunch.

Adam And Fallen Man Lesson Sermon Subject

"Adam and fallen man" was the subject of the lesson sermon which was read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world including First Church of Christ, Scientist, Peterborough on Sunday.

The golden text was "O Israel, return unto the Lord thy God; for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity." (Hosea 14:1)

Selections from the Bible included the following from Genesis 1: 1, 26, 27. "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And God said, let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created them."

Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following, "the offspring of God start not from matter or ephemeral dust. They are in and of Spirit, divine Mind, and so forever continue."

Hamilton Man Killed In Two-Car Crash

GRIMSBY, Nov. 6 — (CP) — Kenneth Earl Parrish, of Hamilton, was killed Sunday night in a two-car crash on the Queen Elizabeth Way near here and three other persons in the same car were injured.

Michael Marquis, the driver, suffered several broken ribs when the car crashed into the rear of another. Shirley O'Brien, of Pembroke, suffered head injuries and was still unconscious in hospital several hours later. Virginia Irwin, of Hamilton, had her leg broken.

Eldred Forshner, of St. Catharines, and a passenger in the other car escaped injury although the car caught fire and was gutted.

Elected President

LONDON, Ont. Nov. 6—(CP)—Miss Lucile Panabaker, of Toronto was elected president of the Canadian Association for Childhood Education at the association's convention here Saturday. Miss Panabaker succeeds Mrs. Marjorie McClellan, of London. Miss Ella Campbell, Toronto, was elected secretary treasurer and Miss Mildred Frame, Toronto, was named corresponding secretary. About 350 elementary school teachers from all over Ontario attended the convention.

Fatal Wager

PAARL, South Africa —(CP)—J. J. C. Moster, 49, was drowned while trying to wade across the Wemmershoek River, running strongly after heavy rains. He had made a wager of $2 that he could cross it.

Lift Up The Eyes To Three Hills Preacher Advises

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help," the first verse of the 121st Psalm was the text of the sermon given by the Rev. H. A. Kent at the 115th anniversary of George Street United Church Sunday morning.

Dr. Kent is the principal of Queen's Theological College, Kingston, and the president of the Bay of Quinte Conference. He was introduced to the congregation by the Rev. A. A. Mathews, minister of George Street United Church.

Dr. Kent developed this text by explaining the great part that hills had played in the Jewish nation through the ages. Like other races living in hilly countries such as the Scotch and Swiss, in the Jews has been developed a hardiness that has never been conquered. They have been attacked and persecuted innumerable times, but they have always survived.

"However in the Jewish race have been developed the vices as well as the virtues so charcteristic of highland people," stated Dr. Kent. "They have weakness as well as strength and this weakness is the tendency to quarrel among themselves."

The minister explained that in addition to protecting them from outside attacks, hills had been extremely prominent in their spiritual life as well.

Three Hills.

"There are three hills in the Bible that we should turn our eyes to in order to study the spiritual development of the Jews," claimed Dr. Kent. "The first of these hills is Mount Sinai where the law was given. It was here that Moses put a stamp on the people that is there yet. Yet this law failed, because men can't be made good by external law. There must be some inner power motivating goodness. Without this, the law lacks power to enforce itself."

The second hill to influence Jews was Mount Zion explained Principal Kent. Here, was the centre of the Jewish religion and national patriotism. The invincible Jewish patriotism survived exterior attacks, but patriotism has its ugly side. The Jews hated the rest of the world more than they loved God. They hoped for a conquering king who would place the foot of the Jew on the necks of the heathen. This patriotic fury pervades all the Bible stories and explains the reason that they turned on Christ, a person who did nothing but good He was not the king they wanted. Thus Mount Zion was as great a failure as Mount Sinai.

"The Cross on the hill of Calvary was necessary because of the previous failures," Dr. Kent asserted. "Calvary outdid the others and pushed them into obscurity because it had the power to make people good. Christ died that we might be forgiven and thus make us good."

Dr. Kent spoke at both morning and evening services.

Special music for the anniversary was provided by the choir, together with the Junior and Intermediate choirs, under the direction of Charles E. Allan, organist. At the morning service, Mrs. J. Goldie and Mrs. C. Carson sang a duet "The Lord is My Light" by Alliston. Mrs. J. Goldie sang the solo, "How Shall I Sing That Majesty" by Pointer assisted by the choir at the evening service. Mr. and Mrs. R. Aspinall sang the duet "The Lord is My Light" by Dudley Buck.

Parish Honors Dr. F. M. Grant

Congratulations of the people of the parish of the Sacred Heart were extended Sunday to Rev. Dr. F. M. Grant on his appointment in charge of the new parish of St. John the Baptist.

Appreciation of his twelve years of service to the parent parish was expressed in an address read by Victor Mattuci on behalf of the parishioners, and a cheque from them was presented by Wm. J. Grady. The new parish comprises that part of the city south of Lansdowne St.

Monsignor J. J. O'Brien said he joined with the people in their sentiments of appreciation and affection toward Dr. Grant, and in also in their good wishes to him as parish priest of his new appointment which became effective today.

Rev. Dr. Grant thanked the members of the parish and Monsignor O'Brien for their kindness, and said that for the present he would still be living in the older parish but not of it. In his transfer to the new parish he said he hoped to be worthy of the patronage of the great Saint John the Baptist.

PETERBOROUGH AND DISTRICT DELEGATION to the annual meeting of the Young Progressive Conservative Association of Ontario, held in Toronto Saturday and Sunday, was the largest from any riding. From left, seated, are Allan Drummond, Peter Bate, Lindsay; Ken Morris, Lakefield; Amy Curtis, Phyllis Halladay, Mary Curtis, Walter Halladay, Peterborough, and right, standing, is Mary Skeans, Toronto, Ontario Secretary. Keynote of the conference was the growing influence of the Young Progressive Conservatives in party affairs.

Breweries Cut To Hotels Price Of Beer

TORONTO, Nov. 6 (CP). — Premier Frost today invited all Ontario breweries to send representatives to his office late today for a conference on the price of beer.

He called the meeting for 4 p.m. EDT.

His action followed announcement of two large Ontario breweries that they are reducing prices of beer sold to hotels and other licensed premises.

Mr. Frost has stated that he does not intend to impose any minimum prices. But the government is reported concerned over the possibility that a price war between the major producers might force small independents into a serious position.

John Labatt, Ltd., notified the Ontario Hotelmen's Association that it is reducing its price by $1 on a half-barrel of beer, bringing the cost to the hotelman to $20.50. At the same time, it declared a reduction of 15 cents on a 24-pint case, making the price $3.70.

Canadian Breweries Limited said it also was reducing the half-barrel price to hotelmen by $1 and bringing the case down 25 cents, effective last Saturday, removing half of a recent increase in the wholesale price of draught beer and all of the increase on bottled beer. Brands affected are O'Keefe's, Carlings and Bradings.

It is not known whether the reduction will have any effect on prices to consumers in hotels.

There has been no change in retail prices of bottled beer sold in cases through brewery retail outlets.

Canadian Author To Open Week

Miss Lyn Cook, noted Canadian author and radio storyteller will open Young Canada Book Week, next Monday. The official opening will take place in the Library auditorium at 4.30 when Miss Cook will tell stories to the children. Parents will also be allowed to attend this opening.

Miss Lillian Wesley and her staff of the Boys' and Girls' Department of the library have made arrangements for a full schedule to take place during this book week.

On November 15, a special full length film, "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," will be shown to the children after school in St. John's Parish Hall.

A Book Fair will be another highlight on November 17, when booths will be placed in the library. This fair will feature a special display of books with children dressed in costume to represent characters in well known books.

On Saturday morning, November 18, a broadcast "Around the World in Stories," written by Mrs. M. F. Phippen of the library staff, will be presented by the children on CHEX. This broadcast will take the form of a play introducing books.

Book contests will be held for the children on November 14 and 16.

$18,761 Difference In Price Between Paving Contracts

By HARRY THEOBALD

Surfacing of Monaghan Road with asphalt was held up this morning for some cause that was not apparent to interested residents and business people on that section of the street, from Frank St. south to Lansdowne St. A considerable part of the work is completed south of the C.P.R.

Comment around town for the last six weeks has raised the question why the city council did not let the paving contract to Warren Paving Company. It has been said repeatedly that the Warren Company had established themselves in Peterborough with prompt work of apparent quality that was approved by everybody.

Two Lowest Bids

The Examiner reported the circumstances at the time the tenders were received for the 1950 program. The two lowest bids were:

Warren Paving Co.	$168,757.30
Bennett Paving Co.	149,995.80

These figures were recalled today by Ald. H. Dodds, chairman of the board of works.

"In spite of the spread of $18,761.50, some members of the council were inclined to favor letting the contract to the Warren people," Ald. Dodds said. "But, others contended that the council would leave itself open to severe criticism if they passed such a substantial difference in the cost. Information was to the effect that Bennett Paving Co. was a comparatively new company, as compared with Warren, but that they had done municipal work including a job at St. Thomas."

Ald. Dodds said that was the whole story, and it was a simple one. If Bennett Paving had got on with their Peterborough work as expected everybody would have been satisfied that the council made a saving in the cost of this program which at that stage included the paving of Lock St., from Lansdowne south to King George St.

Bennett Paving finished Park St. north nearly two weeks ago, and have still to do Monaghan Road and also Rogers St.

"I don't see how it would have been possible to explain away a difference of $18,761 to the ratepayers, if we had accepted the Warren Paving tender," Ald. Dodds said.

Veteran Pastor Of Scugog Dies

The Rev. J. Roland Bick, 70 of Scugog Island died Saturday following a month's illness. He was born in Bobcaygeon, son of the late George Bick and Martha Stinson. He was a supply minister of Grace United Church, Scugog Island for two years and has served at many district parishes since his ordination in 1908.

He leaves his widow, the former M. Elsa McCartney; three daughters, Mrs. Ross Williamson (Thursa) of Peterborough, Mrs. Gayton Kimble (Myrtle) of Bobcaygeon and Mrs. Leslie Anderson of Bowmanville and one brother, Samuel of Bobcaygeon.

The funeral service will be held from the McDermott Funeral Home, Port Perry, to Grace United Church, Scugog Island, Tuesday, at 2 p.m. (D.S.T.). Burial will be in Bobcaygeon Cemetery.

Dismiss Appeal In Store Fall Accident Case

The Ontario Appeal Court has dismissed with costs the appeal of Dr. Murray J. Moher and his wife, Lillian Moher, Lakefield, against the decision of Mr. Justice Smily at last December's Supreme Court sittings in Peterborough.

At that time Justice Smily found that Anthony's Fruit Store was not liable for injuries suffered by Mrs. Moher when she fell down a flight of stairs in the store on December 20, 1948.

Mrs. Moher received a complicated breakage of the left heel bone caused by falling through a trap door and down a flight of stairs. She claimed negligence by the proprietors — Thomas and Joseph Anthony — and asked damages.

The two defendants claimed the public was not supposed to shop in that part of the store near the stair well and said they could not be held liable if a customer was injured as a result of this limited trespass.

Mrs. Moher, however, testified that she had walked behind the counters at other times when she was shopping and there had been no objection by the proprietors.

W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, counsel for the defendants, besides claiming a limited trespass by Mrs. Moher, contended that his clients had provided proper lighting and a substantial bannister at the head of the stair well.

Mr. Fair represented the Anthonys at both the original damage action last year and the hearing before the Supreme Court, appeal division. J. H. Amys, KC, Toronto, appeared on behalf of the Mohers

Mrs. Moher was in hospital for 38 days with the broken heel bone and a year after the accident was still walking with a cane. She could remember no details of the fall until 10 days after it happened, she testified in court.

Justice Smily assessed total damages — including hospital bills, pain and suffering — at $4,550, but he dismissed the suit on the grounds that the Anthonys were not responsible. This view was upheld by the three Appeal Court justices — Laidlaw, Hogg and Gibson.

Snowplow Is Out Clearing Roads For Deer Hunters

Deer hunters from the United States were at the head of the hunters' motorcade that came through Peterborough over the weekend bound for the hunting camps north of here.

Sport store and restaurant owners reported comparatively large numbers of hunters from Ohio, New York, and other states. One hunter came from West Virginia.

The majority, who came into the city Saturday, Sunday and today, were from the Toronto district, and a few were reported from western Ontario.

More Licences Sold

Sales of deer licences were said higher than last year in most stores, although one hardware store reported a drop in sales. About an equal number of hunters were expected to buy licences this week for the second half of the season.

Another store reported more hunters from the U.S. than in previous years, and about the same number of Canadians buying licences.

Brown's store at Apsley reported large numbers of hunters, some of them Americans. At Burleigh Falls and Buckhorn, distribution points for many of the district hunters, the number of hunters was said to be about the same, with an increase in the number of Americans passing through Buckhorn.

Weather Good

Weather for the hunt was ideal in most areas—the only sour note coming from Apsley where a slight drizzle of rain was reported falling today. In Bancroft, the snowplow was called out Sunday to clear roads.

Predictions for the hunt were hopeful. This spring, the sight of large herds of deer in the Catchacoma district promoted forecasts of a record kill for the 1950 season.

Deer hunters in the north Hastings district were said to be more plentiful than in former years. Several hunt clubs from the Parry Sound district have moved to that area because of a shortage of deer in the north Muskoka district.

10-Cent Pop In Near Future

With the present tax on soft drinks an increase to 10 cents a bottle was forecast today by one local wholesaler. He was commenting on the report from Toronto that the Orange Crush Co. might go to a dime.

"The tax is really a detriment to the business" the wholesaler declared, and while he would like to see the nickel bottle of pop return, he feared it was not likely to appear for some time.

J. William Horsey, president of the Orange Crush Company, foresees an increase to 10 cents because the small bottlers have been hit so hard by the recently imposed 30 per cent tax on soft drinks. The bottlers have become tax collectors, he said, and this has increased their costs without increasing their revenue. The sales volumes have dropped since the price rose to six or seven cents a bottle.

Another local beverage official said that Mr. Horsey's comment was only one man's opinion. But he added that in the United States soft drinks are up to 10 cents. In Canada, he said, the prices will not rise for some time.

"My company is anxious to get back to the nickel bottle," said another spokesman for a leading soft drinks company. "As for the others, I don't know."

ANXIOUS ABOUT RUMORS

Some residents of upper Lock St. are perturbed about a rumor reaching their neighborhood that a gasoline service station is to be erected at the south west corner of Romaine and Lock streets. On the zoning map that section is designated R-1A, a residential district. No report of a service station project has come before the city council.

Eye Out After Crash

COBOURG, Nov. 6. (ENS) — Roy Bryan of Campbellcroft was badly injured in an accident north of Port Hope yesterday and was taken to Port Hope Hospital with a fractured skull. Later one eye had to be removed. He was a passenger in a car driven by his cousin, Wm. Bryan. The car hit a telephone pole.

City To Appeal Upsetting Of Gas Bylaw

An appeal will be made against Magistrate R. B. Baxter's judgment that the Peterborough bylaw governing the hours of the city's service stations is invalid, a city spokesman said today.

Last week in police court the Port Hope magistrate gave two reasons for finding the bylaw invalid and "ultra vires of the municipal council of the city of Peterborough." He said that Section 5 of the bylaw went "beyond the power given by the Factory, Shop and Office Building Act" and that the by-law did not conform to the wording of the petition and the enabling legislation in the Factory, Shop and Office Building Act.

In giving his decision, Magistrate Baxter said that he realized his findings were contrary to a decision of Judge S. L. Smoke in a similar case some time ago. He explained then that he was going on the assumption that all arguments which were advanced on the hearing of a charge against John A. Russelle were not advanced in the hearing on the charge before Magistrate W. R. Philp and Judge Smoke.

The charge had been laid by the city against Mr. Russelle in which it was alleged he sold gasoline illegally Sunday, September 3 at his service station on Water St. At the trial Mr. Russelle was defended by T. J. Carley, K.C., who made it clear that he was attacking the validity of the bylaw.

The city official said today that the matter has been taken up again by the special counsel for the city, A. L. Elliott, K.C., and the ruling will be appealed.

Ears Cut Off Week-Old Calf

Provincial police are still looking for the person who sliced off the ears of a week-old calf, property of Elmer Rosborough, RR 3, Lakefield.

They are frankly puzzled over the motive for this act of cruelty.

Mr. Rosborough found the calf with its ears cut off as close as possible to the skull. Veterinarian Dr. A. M. Johnston thinks the job was done with pruning knives or dehorning shears.

Gerald Dunford, Humane Society inspector, and Provincial Constable T. H. Fitzpatrick are investigating.

The calf was left in Mr. Rosborough's barn, and whoever did the ear slicing must have had to break in to get to the animal.

$100 Fine Given To Assaulter Nightwatchman

A fine of $100 and costs or four months in the Ontario Reformatory was imposed on James Nicholson, 311 McDonnel St., when he was found guilty in police court today of assaulting Michael English, occasioning actual bodily harm.

English, nightwatchman for Beatty Bros. Transport, testified that a few minutes after he reported for work at five p.m. Oct. 24, he went into his small bedroom in the warehouse on Reid St.

There he saw Nicholson, but at that time didn't know who he was.

"Who are you?" he asked.

"I'm looking for Jimmy Welch" Nicholson said.

"He's not in here." English said and took off his hat and coat and put on a sweater.

"You'd better get out of here," he told Nicholson.

But Nicholson backed to the door and stood blocking the doorway. English tried to get out, but couldn't.

Nicholson said: "Jim Welch is in that room there (a small room adjoining the bedroom) and I want him."

Forced Into Room

English said Nicholson forced him to the small room and then said "I want your money. Got any money?" English said he had no money. He said Nicholson "shoved me around a bit."

He testified Nicholson then picked up an alarm clock and hit him on the left side of the head making a gash which required five stitches to close and knocking him down on the bed.

He then threw the clock at English but missed. He tried to go through English's pockets, but without success. He picked up a heating plate and threatened "give me your money or I'll drive this through your head."

Threw Hot Plate

He said Nicholson threw the plate at him and it hit his hand. He choked English until "he thought he had me out." Then he backed to the door and warned "Don't follow me or I'll get you."

There were smears of blood on the clock face which was produced in court as evidence.

Another employee of the transport company, Charles Woodgate said Nicholson had come to the warehouse asking for Welch about 10 minutes before the assault on English. He later saw English stagger from this room with a black eye and a gash on his head.

Constable Douglas Farthing said he and Constable Donald Mackay were called to the warehouse. They were first told that James Welch had been English's attacker, but English said Welch was not the man and when they arrested Nicholson, English identified him as his attacker.

Nicholson told the court he had been in the warehouse about two hours before the fracas asking for Welch. He said he had never seen English until today in court.

He admitted a police record of six convictions involving mostly theft of cars extending back to 1936. In the years between 1941 and 1949 when no convictions were recorded, he said he had been in the army in England.

Material Things Gain A Nation Little — Major Foote

A nation that puts its faith in God need never fear subjugation by a materialistic country that seeks world conquest by power, unscrupulous manoeuvring and the use of arms, Major John Foote, VC, MLA, told a congregation including a large number of men and women of the Canadian Legion at a Memorial service at St. James United Church Sunday evening.

Hitler and the German people found out they could not foresake God and through armed strength alone conquer the world.

Material strength and material accomplishments gain a nation little, Major Foote said. The men and women who were destroyed by the great flood described in the book of Genesis had come to believe, "that loyalty to God didn't matter" and they could succeed by the use of their brains alone. It was possible, they thought, to take religion or leave it alone. And they chose to leave it alone.

The flood was "the judgement of God upon the people," Major Foote said. The speaker said there were some people in the congregation perhaps who thought it was not absolutely essential to be faithful to God and live a religious life in order to succeed in life.

World War II showed the folly of a nation that becomes materialistic and deserts God. Hitler had only contempt for Christianity and preached that it was weak. He thought he could build a great nation without Christianity and if it became strong enough, could conquer the world.

He started to rear a generation which believed in force of arms and unscrupulous dealings with other countries. A German prisoner who was also a veteran of World War I told him that the German people did not take immediately to Hitler as their leader.

They had returned from World War I to a barren world in which there was a little food and no work. After Hitler had been in power some time, they found there was more food, there were homes and there were jobs. The cultural pursuits were not neglected and the best symphonies of the nation toured the country to the delight of the people.

"Life became good again," for the German people. And all the time, Hitler was carrying on his calculated war against the church and against religion.

When his armies struck through France and German armies seemed to stand on top of the world unthreatened, the older people who had hung back from supporting Hitler and his regime, began to wonder if Hitler were not right after all. Germany seemed to be on the way to becoming the leading nation of the world.

But when the Allied armies gained strength and shattered the German might, the illusion was gone. And the younger people, the generation that had believed unquestionably in Hitler, became a lost generation wrecked spiritually that didn't know where it was at.

"You can see what will happen to any generation which hasn't faith in God," said Major Foote.

Now there is a good deal of uneasiness and many think another war is approaching.

"If we in this nation, place our faith in God . . . no power on earth can beat us," Major Foote asserted.

Rev. Fred Craik, minister of St. James Church, conducted the regular service. The church was full and chairs had to be set up.

Branch 52 (men), Branch 452 (ex-service women) and members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion marched to the church from the Legion Hall led by the CGE pipe band.

Says Ontario Doing Best Protect Forests

TORONTO, Nov. 6 (CP) — Ontario aims at a "broad partnership" among its citizens, science, industry and government to achieve its forest-protection objectives, Premier Frost said Saturday.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the annual meeting of the Young Progressive Conservative Association, he said the government's forest policy "is simple."

"We intend to give adequate protection to the great forests which we now have, to see that they are protected and maintained, that the yield from them is sustained, that the growth is treated as a crop."

The government had set out to replace what was lost by "100 years of use with all the mistakes misunderstandings and mismanagement of that time."

He said the forest industry makes an "enormous contribution.

Great Investment

"Pulp and paper industry alone represents an investment in permanent communities of between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 . . . even now, capital expenditures involving more than $100,000,000 and providing new employment to 25,000 people are under way.

The industry was providing 44 cents of every American dollar coming into Canada. To protect and expand this investment the provincial government was spending millions. Expenditures on forests and wild-life protection under the $3,000,000 mark six years ago, now were four times as much.

Forest protection already under way, said Mr. Frost, included limiting new saw mills to 15,000,000 feet a year; steps to eliminate unprocessed pulp from Crown lands within 10 years; the "largest fire-fighting service in the world;" research laboratories for insect control and a public-education program to make citizens forestry-minded.

Predicts Soft Drinks Will Cost 10 Cents

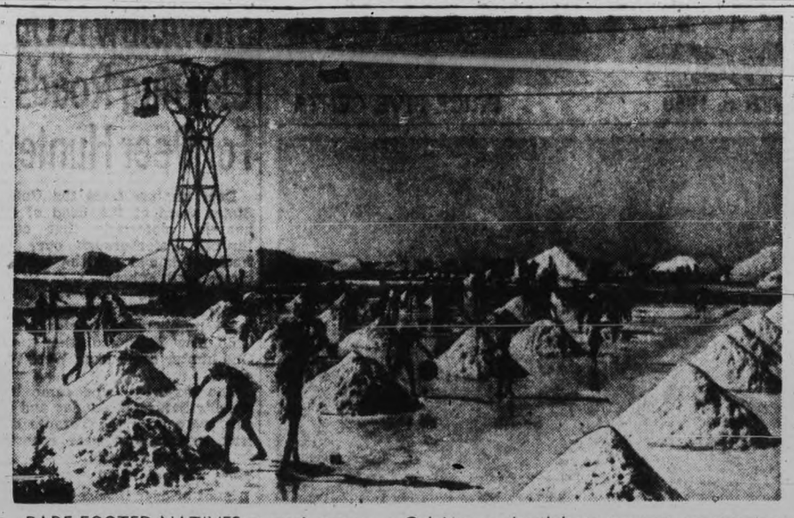
TORONTO, Nov. 6—(CP)—J. William Horsey, president of Orange Crush Ltd., predicted Sunday that soft drinks will soon be 10 cents a bottle. He said the increase is necessary to compensate bottlers for hardships resulting from the federal government's recently-imposed 30-per-cent tax. Present price is six or seven cents.

Bottlers have become tax collectors, Mr. Horsey said. This increased their costs without increasing their revenues. At the same time sales had dropped because of the increase to "broken-nickel" prices.

Open New High School

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 6—(CP)—Education Minister Port of Ontario, officially opening a new high school here Saturday, said in an address that children taught to think for themselves cannot accept any other way of life than democracy. He said some 900 new schools have been built in Ontario since the war ended.

Rescues Two Boys



GODERICH, Nov. 6 (CP)—A duck hunter Saturday rescued two 10-year-old boys who went boating on Lake Huron despite rough water and a snowstorm. Frank Little, one of four duck hunters who shouted directions to Chester MacDonald and Jimmy Stewart to beach their boat on an island, waded out and carried the boys to the mainland on his shoulders.

TORONTO, Nov. 6 — (CP) — Anthony Stephens Foster, 84, pioneer in the wholesale automobile accessory business, died Saturday at his home here. Born in Guelph, he helped found the hardware firm of Cutten and Foster there. The company moved to Toronto at the turn of the century and later began specializing in auto accessories.

Couldn't Stay Away

WINDSOR, Nov. 6 (CP) — A 60-year-old man who told police he celebrated his release from reformatory by prancing through a hotel beverage room in the nude, is being sent back to reformatory. Norman Howarth was sentenced Saturday to three months in jail when Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan found him guilty of intoxication for the fourth time in a year.

BARE-FOOTED NATIVES at work among piles of salt at the Massawa salt fields on the Red Sea in East Africa. The fields produce about 600 tons of salt per day, extracted from sea water by the fierce sun. Under Italian management the fields provide salt for the Middle East and Far East. Big pumps suck the water from the Red Sea and canals carry it to the reservoirs. Calcium and sulphate content preciptates first. Then the water is transferred to other reservoirs, when sodium chloride is added. This is table salt. The water is diverted to prevent the laying down of other salts in suspension. The process continues until the sodium chloride is about two inches thick. Then the natives go to work, scraping the salt up in heaps. These stand for several months thoroughly drying.

Traffic Toll Takes 18 Out Of 24 In Weekend Deaths

By The Canadian Press

Screaming rubber and shrieking brakes were accompanying sounds for 18 of the 24 violent deaths during the weekend in eastern Canada. Eighteen persons died as a result of traffic accidents.

Of the six other fatalities two were caused by falls, two by accidents with weapons, one from burns in an explosion and one by a drowning.

Although four persons were drowned Sunday in Quebec—which had 11 weekend deaths, highest in eastern Canada—three met death in the Richeleiu river because their automobile crashed through a bridge railing near Cantic, Que. Dead are Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Daniels and their daughter, Marguerite, 17, all of Plattsburgh, N.Y.

Laurent Tremblay, 22 months, was drowned when he fell into a stream at St. Roch de l'Achigan, Que.

Blame Slush

Ontario's toll was seven dead, Newfoundland three, Nova Scotia two and New Brunswick one. Slush-covered highways were blamed for many of the traffic deaths.

In Quebec Charles-Eugene Pageau, 16, was killed and 30 other persons slightly injured when a heavily-laden bus collided with a truck on a snow-covered hill in the Laurentians north of Quebec City.

James Martin, 57, of Beachville, Ont., died after the car in which he was travelling to a wedding collided with another at a narrow, slippery bridge on the Dundas highway near Oakville.

Other Ontario traffic fatalities were Kenneth Carl Parrish, 27, of Hamilton, killed in a two-car crash near Grimsby; Mark Jun, 72, struck by a streetcar, and Lise Joannette, 5, of Welland, who suffered injuries in a downtown two-car collision to become Toronto's 44th and 45th traffic fatalities.

Michael Targett, Peter Targett and Henry White, all of Corner Brook, Nfld., were killed Saturday night when they were struck by a car while walking on a highway. Automobiles leaving the road caused the death near Middleton, N.S., of Charles Frederick Connell, 33, of Albany Cross, N.S., and in Ontario of Albert Matthew Jones, 38, of Brantford.

Truck Out Of Control

Roger Robitaille, 22, of Montreal, was injured fatally when his truck went out of control near Ste. Rose; Ronald Morrissette, 34, postmaster at St. Joachim de Shefford, Que.; was killed when his car sideswiped a truck; Andrew Wynn Quinn, 69, and Mrs. Conrad Davialut, 52, died in Montreal hospitals, Quinn from injuries suffered when hit by a bus, Mrs. Daviault from injuries suffered in a collision; in Chicoutimi, Que., Yvon Tremblay, 8, was crushed against a house by a truck.

Douglas Richards, 7, was killed in Halifax when a rifle was discharged as he was squinting down the barrel. An accidentally-discharged shotgun brought death to Gerald Osborne Ammon, 46, of Scarboro Bluffs, as he hunted ducks north of Campbellford.

In Saint John, N.B., Raymond P. Grant, 71, died when he plunged from a railway trestle as a train approached; a fall at work brought fatal head injuries to Abraham Richam, 78, of Montreal.

Mrs. Leonard Christie, 70, of Cargill, Ont., died from burns suffered when an overheated can of varnish exploded in her hands.

Didn't Like Spending

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 6 (AP).—Police reported that Harvey Green warned a grocer not to sell his wife anything else on credit except milk and baby food and, still not satisfied, hacked her to death Sunday in an argument over her spending.

18,000 Acres Burned

AINSWORTH, Neb., Nov. 6 — (AP).—A raging prairie fire burned out more than 18,000 acres of ranch land Sunday before 2,500 volunteers could bring it under control. No one was injured, but all buildings on a ranch occupied by the Fred Ritter family were burned.

Harris Promises More Aid To Czech DP's

OTTAWA, Nov. 6 (CP).—Immigration Minister Harris has promised his department's assistance in bringing more Czechoslovakian displaced persons to Canada.

He told a delegation from the Czechoslovakian Association of Canada Saturday that his department would help where any local Czech in Canada sponsored a Czech D.P.

Mr. Harris gave his promise after the 400-member delegation which came to the capital to publicly affirm its loyalty to Canada and to celebrate the founding of the Czechoslovak Republic 30 years ago, told of the hardship of some of their countrymen still in European D. P. camps.

The delegation also met with Prime Minister St. Laurent. A message of loyalty to Canada was read by Carl Starke of Kitchener, president of the association. Delegates came from Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Chatham and Batawa, Ont.

End Week's Strike

GLASGOW, Nov. 6 (Reuters)—A one-week strike of Scottish coal miners ended today. Terms were not announced. More than 8,000 miners walked out because they were dissatisfied with a recent wage award made by the National Coal Board, which would mean an average increase of the equivalent of 70 cents a week for each man. The miners had asked for $1.68.

Surprise Party

COLDSPRINGS, Nov. 6 (ENS) —A small surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Wallace, in honor of the latter's birthday, when a very enjoyable time was spent playing cards. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. Melville Woods, Mr. James Roddy and Mrs. Wilbert Jewison, all of Bailleboro.

"I just didn't see the LIGHT"

"I'm a radio actor and I'm supposed to watch the red light in the studio to cue me onto the air. One day I was so busy yawning I didn't see the light for nearly half a minute. That could have been the end of that job, but I learned in time why I was so droopy, slow, tired, and sluggish. Bad digestion and constipation were slowing me down.

"That's when the programme director put me on to Kruschen Salts. Told me what a pinch of Kruschen in a morning cup of tea, coffee or fruit juice can do for a guy. He wasn't kidding. It made a new man of me in no time flat. I'm billed for the lead in the next programme."

Why don't you try Kruschen if you are off-colour and feeling dragged out? See how Kruschen can put new life in you, tone up the old tissues and put a sparkle in your eye. Start with Kruschen today.

SULLIVAN, Int., Nov. 6 (AP). —A "hot-rod" car leaped a fence and plunged into a crowd at the Carlisle automobile race track Sunday, killing two spectators and injuring five others.

"NERVES" She Called It

Losing interest—losing friends—she never went out any more—always too tired. "Nerves", she thought—but it was her kidneys—the filters of her blood—that needed attention. She used Dodd's Kidney Pills at once. The improved action of her kidneys helped to clear away blood impurities and excess acids. Fatigue, backache, headache, lack of energy disappeared. Dodd's Kidney Pills contain essential oils and medicinal ingredients that act directly upon the kidneys—and help restore their normal action. 144

Judge Says Juries Check Unjust Penalties

TORONTO, Nov. 6—(CP)—Mr. F. H. Barlow, of the Ontario Supreme Court, said in an address Saturday night that the jury system is a check on unjust penalties because juries will not convict if they think the sentence may be too severe.

In his presidential address at the Royal Canadian Institute, oldest scientific society in Canada, he said that in the past juries have brought about changes in cruel or inhuman penalties.

"They refused to convict accused persons for such crimes as stealing when they knew that the accused was likely to be sentenced to be hanged," he said.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER POZNYSZ

Polish Couple Wed in City

A new Canadian couple were married here Saturday at St. Peter's Cathedral as Anna Lukasiewiez and Walter Poznysz pledged nuptial vows in a ceremony performed by the Rev. L. R. Engel of Toronto. Both are natives of Poland and came to this country about two years ago. They plan to make their home in Peterborough.

The bride was given in marriage by Jein Karas and attended by Miss Maria Luik and Miss Janina Helda as bridesmaid. The groom's attendant was Jan Tokarz.

White satin which flowed in a long train was the bride's choice for her gown and it was made on princess lines, bodice buttoned at the back and having a high neckline on the inset yoke. Her veil of tulle illusion was gathered in bonnet effect and caught with seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of roses.

Her attendants were gowned in light blue chiffon with matching shawl collars and they wore short white gloves and matching helmets and carried bouquets of American beauty roses.

The wedding breakfast was served at Hooper's Palm Room.

Lady Curlers Open Season With Lovely Tea

A tea at the Peterborough Curling Club on Friday afternoon opened this season's activities for the ladies. All were particularly delighted to see the lounge refurnished with new chairs, upholstered in red leather, and the room was further livened on this occasion with a lace-covered tea table centred with a silver bowl filled with bronze 'mums.

President Mrs. J. C. Green extended welcome and introduced the following new members: Mrs. Jack Armstrong, Mrs R E Pow. Mrs. J. Hardill, Mrs. F. J. Pitz. Mrs. D. Gravelle, Mrs R Maybee, Mrs. Harold Worton, Mrs R. K Crouch, Mrs Harry Northrop, Mrs. Alex. Clark, Mrs R R Faryon, Mrs. L. J. Calvert and Mrs. Roy Dixon.

Each skip introduced the members of her rink and all were advised of the curling schedule which starts on Monday, November 13. Practice games and lessons are to begin this Tuesday, under direction of Mrs. H. Wilson.

Announcements were made of a number of bonspiels in which the ladies may take part and they are commencing earlier this year, in November and continuing until April.

Mrs. M. Holt and Mrs. L Bearne were in charge of the tea arrangements and Mrs. F. Hollowell, Mrs. C. Elliott, Mrs. D. Foster, Mrs M Yelland and Miss Ruth Kingan were assistants.

Pledges Honored By Sorority At Preferential Tea

The annual preferential tea for new pledges in the Alpha Theta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was held Sunday afternoon. Social sponsor of the Sorority, Mrs. G. S. Cameron, 318 Stewart St., was hostess for the event. She was assisted in receiving the girls by chapter president Mrs. B. C. Rolff and the vice-president Mrs. E. McWilliam showed them to the tea room.

The pledges, who were the guests of honor, are Miss Ruth Kingan, Mrs. K. W. Strasser and Mrs. E. O. Cochrane. About 25 members of Alpha Theta and Exemplar chapters were present.

The tea table, centred with a beautiful bouquet of 'mums and four ivory tapers, was presided over by Miss Moira Whalon and Mrs. R. J. Bolton and servers were Miss Elaine Cook and Mrs. E. J. Martin.

Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Rolff were wearing corsages of yellow roses which are the Sorority flowers.

Sheila Davies Wins Doll At Purple and Gold Tea

Few organizations, outside of college football teams, are ever more popularly known by their colors. But such is becoming the case with Peterborough Civic Hospital Alumnae which has the royal colors, purple and gold, and takes pride in headlining them as with the "Purple and Gold tea" held Saturday afternoon, and the "Purple and Gold Ball," a highlight event of the winter season.

For the tea, the table was beautifully arranged by Mrs. Phyllis Kingdon using big golden 'mums with smaller size 'mums dyed a deep purple and the bouquet tied with matching satin bows. Clouding of green tulle mirrored in the centre reflector gave a charming effect and the whole centrepiece was lighted by trios of purple candles. Another delightful note was soft as velvet, deep purple pansies placed on the mantel with yellow tapers to highlight.

Decoratively cut skirtings of purple and gold were on the bazaar tables and the "white elephant" parcels were spilling from a huge golden horn-of-plenty. The candy table featured an unusual covering, which is made of rubber but looked like a frosting of nuts on carmel icing.

These graduate nurses make some of their tea preparations long in advance and their annual draw for a doll, completely outfitted with bed and a fine hand made wardrobe is much anticipated by the very young misses of this city.

It is with pleasure they announce this year's winner is Sheila Davies of 546 George St., a little tot who had admired the doll when it was displayed with all the finery in a store window. Her ticket was drawn by Mrs. John Hornal, wife of the Civic Hospital superintendent.

Another draw was conducted during the tea on a delicious looking frosted cake and it went to Mrs. H. Tranter, an Alumnae member, when Mrs. J. Thornton drew her ticket.

Miss M. Renwick and Mrs. E. Roberts were in charge of the tickets sold on the doll and Miss Jean Preston looked after the cake tickets.

The Alumnists have also worked on fancy aprons during the year and these were offered for sale by Miss A. Moncrief, Mrs. R. McIntyre and Mrs. T. Holyman. The bazaar table, featuring a wide variety of their handiwork, was attended by Miss S. Armstrong, Mrs. E. Bestard and Miss J. Deyell.

Samples of their culinary proficiency were available from Mrs. E. Wellman, Mrs. M. Pringle and Mrs. J. Schieder during the tea hours and home-made candy was sold by Mrs. J. Thornton and Mrs. W. Jones. Mrs. M. Forsythe and Mrs. A. Logan had charge of the white elephant table.

President Mrs. Roy Taylor was welcoming the guests, assisted by Miss A. L. Thomson and Mrs. E. Breckenridge and Mrs. R. Stewart were hostesses in the tea room. Mrs. G. Oliver was at the treasurer's table.

The tea room conveners were Mrs. I. Walker, Mrs. W. A. Wade and they had as assistants Miss Mary Greer, Mrs. D. Snelgrove, Mrs. G. Wainwright, Mrs. Phyllis Kingdon, Mrs. A. Watson, Mrs. D. Hill, Miss J. Gillespie, Miss Lorna Mitchell, Miss M. Langmaid, Miss D. Mullet, Mrs. J. Thornton and Miss E. Bird.

Tea was poured by Mrs. M. Pringle, Mrs. E. Roberts, Miss J. Gillespie and Miss M. Langmaid.

Fairman-Cosgrove Nuptials

Havelock United church was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday afternoon when Marie Elaine Cosgrove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cosgrove, became the bride of Mr. Glenn Ernest Fairman, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Fairman of Campbellford.

The Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh performed the ceremony, for which 'mums and ferns formed a beautiful setting Mrs. Vanderburgh presided at the organ and Mrs. W. Goadsby sang "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bridal gown of ivory satin with fitted bodice, featuring a sweetheart neckline, embroidered with seed pearls, and long sleeves coming to a point over the hand. The skirt swept gracefully into a long train. Her train length veil was of silk embroidered illusion and was caught to a hand-beaded tiara of tiny seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade of Bettertime roses.

Miss Elaine Graham was maid of honor, gowned in pink sheer with lace trimming. She wore a matching headdress and mittens and carried a bouquet of mauve 'mums. The bridesmadis were Miss Barbara Gerow of Peterborough, and Miss Dorothy Fairman of Campbellford, sister of the groom. They wore gowns of orchid organdy and pale blue satin, respectively, with matching headdresses and mittens. They carried bouquets of yellow 'mums.

The flower girls were Dianne and Darlene Hooper of Campbellford, cousins of the groom, who wore gowns of pink and blue organdy with matching headdresses and mittens. They carried nosegays of pink and blue flowers.

The groomsman was Mr. Vincent Forrestell of Campbellford and the ushers were David MacEachern, Campbellford and William Cosgrove, Havelock, brother of the bride.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Revoy, where the bride's mother received in a gown of teal blue crepe with black accessories and corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a navy crepe gown with grey accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairman and their attendants spent the evening dancing at Edgewater par, Campbellford, leaving the following day on a motor trip to Niagara Falls, Ontario. For travelling the bride wore a gown of green taffeta, a wine coat, black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. They will live in Havelock.

French Visitor First Woman Cabinet Member

OTTAWA —(CP)— Madame Germain Poinso-Chapius, the first woman cabinet minister in France, in a press conference here told of the continued resistance to the Nazis after the French armistice in 1940.

She was the first Frenchwoman to hold a cabinet post in Paris as minister of public health and population in the Schuman ministry in 1947.

Now she is vice-president of the French National Assembly, a post equivalent to that of deputy speaker of the Canadian House of Commons. She is one of 31 women members in the Assembly.

An active member of the resistance movement during the Second World War, she is a lawyer by profession, having become a member of the bar at the age of 20. She is interested in all social welfare questions and has been instrumental in drafting legislation dealing particularly with child welfare.

Ignored Armistice

Madame Poinso-Chapius declared emphatically that she was never able to accept the armistice of 1940. It was after this point in France's history she organized the escape and camouflage of Jewish refugees and began participating in resistance activities.

As a result she was named representative of the National Liberation Movement to the mayoralty of Marseilles after the liberation.

In addition to her work in welfare, Madame Poinso-Chapius has taken part in all movements which championed the cause of women's right to vote and the improvement of conditions of women in industry.

DOROTHY DIX

Failure to Know Difference Between Thrift, Stinginess

DEAR MISS DIX: Do girls differentiate between thriftiness and parsimony? Having for three years denied mysif of the simplest pleasures to gather together a small stake to set myself up in business, it is no small annoyance to me to have a girl express disappointed wonderment that I have not flattered her with a $5 corsage. If you think girls of this calibre are an exception, you are mistaken. There is stinginess, there is sensible economy and there is wasting. A girl might do better to marry a man who refuses to fling away what little he has than to unite herself with a wastrel.

Dorothy Dix

PRUDENT

ANSWER: Right you are, son. I consider thrift not only one of the most shining of all the virtues but also that it is the foundation stone on which character and achievement are built.

There is a great difference between stinginess and thrift. Thrift is spending just what you can afford to spend. Stinginess is doing without everything you can possibly do without in order to save every penny. It is going without all the beauty and pleasure and graciousness of life to put a few dollars in the bank. It is loving money better than anything else on earth.

The thrifty husband gives to his wife freely, but he does not let her run him into debt. He makes her feel that his prudence is a protection to her so that she shall never come to want. The stingy husband rows with his wife over the bills. He makes her feel that he begrudges her the very clothes on her back and what she eats. He embitters her if she has to corkscrew every nickel she gets out of him, or if he denies her all the little luxuries that go so far to make life pleasant because he would rather see an entry in a bank book than to see her happy.

A woman, whether she be sweetheart or wife, likes to feel that what the man gives her he gives her generously and wishes it were more. Every woman wants a thrifty husband, but not a miserly one.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a young man to whom I am soon to be married. He is the most gentle, considerate and unselfish man I have ever known, is attractive in appearance, has no vices and holds an excellent position in a bank, but he is three inches shorter than I am and I cannot reconcile myself to the fact that he lacks height and I am so very tall. I am completely disheartened about the matter and am ashamed to be seen out with him. I fear if I marry him it will wreck our happiness. If only you can jolt me out of this rut into which I have got by saying something to make me put it out of my mind, I shall be so grateful.

CLARE

ANSWER: Have you no intelligence whatever? Have you no sense of humor that you let so small a matter as your fiance's height make you blind to all of his good qualities? Believe me, if there is nothing else about him to worry about except his size, you are playing in big luck.

Suppose he was short in brains instead of in the legs? Suppose he didn't reach up to your ideals instead of to the top of your head? Suppose he was little and mean in disposition instead of being small in stature? Suppose he wasn't so well bred, as well educated, as well mannered as you are? Wouldn't that be a million times worse than not being as tall as you are?

Some of the biggest men in the world have been little men. Some of the giants in intellect are pigmies in size. I have known many a little man who supported his wife in luxury, and many a wife who had to out to work to support a big, lazy loafer of a husband. However else you pick out a husband, don't do it by size. If you are going to be silly enough to be morbid over your husband being little and be ashamed to be seen out with him, for goodness' sake don't marry him. He deserves a wife with more sense.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: What do you think of a mother whose sense of humor causes her to relate jokes of such a revolting nature as to make even a man blush? She indulges in this barroom wit in the presence of her sons and daughters and their girl friends and boy friends. Her daughters do not seem to be embarassed by it, but their boy friends visibly suffer.

AN OLD-FASHIONED MOTHER

ANSWER: I am afraid I cannot give an impartial opinion as I loathe filthy stories and always feel as if I needed to be run through the laundry when I have been forced to listen to them. To me a woman who tells obsecene stories is a common, vulgar, low-minded and utterly repulsive.

What's Right

You meet a friend on the street and remember that you've been meaning to have the friend over for a long time but have neglected to do so.

WRONG: Begin your conversation by saying: "I'm ashamed I haven't had you over in so long—but I've just been so busy I haven't gotten around to it."

RIGHT: Realize that no one likes to be made to feel that he is regarded somewhat as a "duty" and say nothing about your neglect but extend a definite invitation at the time.

Of Interest to Women

A COOKIE JAR filled with rich delicate morsels is a delightful temptation to young and old alike.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Filled Cookie Jar Brings Smiles to Family Faces

Everybody likes cookies of one form or another, and a good way to find out which ones you like best is to try the many recipes in The Cookie Book, seventeenth cookbook in the Culinary Arts Institute series which are currently being made available to readers of the Examiner.

This excellent cookbook is a veritable storehouse of recipes covering new and old, simple and involved ways of making delectable cookies. Drop cookies, rolled cookies, refrigerator cookies, filled cookies, kisses, meringues, and all other types are included in the Cookie Book, and most of the recipes are given with a number of variations to suit your particular taste or whim.

For instance, under filled cookies there are three basic types described and then a great number of fillings are given. Here is the most popular form of filled cookies.

Foundation Filled Cookies

¾ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
2 eggs, well beaten
3½ cups cake flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup milk
½ teaspoon vanilla.

Cream shortening and sugar together. Add eggs. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with milk and vanilla. Mix well after each addition. Roll out dough ⅛ inch thick on a floured pastry cloth. Cut with 2½-inch round cutter. Place on greased cookie sheet, add teaspoon of desired filling and cover with another round. Pinch together with tines of fork or fingers. Brush tops with egg white and bake in hot oven 400° F.) 15 minutes. Makes 78 filled cookies.

You will surely want to explore the possibilities of these filled cookies, but for variation you will want to see all the other types you can make in the Cookie Book. To get your copy all you need do is clip a Cookbook Coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present it with 25c to the Examiner Office, your Carrier Boy, or any of Braund's Home Food Markets. By mail send 30c to Cookbook Department, the Peterborough Examiner.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Windfall Apples in Fall Can Be Used in Many Ways

Before I am finished with the windfall apples in my basement I will have tried every apple recipe in the book. However, lamentations are not in order for they were given to us.

Surprisingly enough there are dozens of recipes that I have not tried before—for instance the Apple Roll that we had last night for dinner, which was popular. For that reason I am giving it to you today.

I was reminded by a visitor that we had from Ottawa to bake apples the French way. I did this again, and since it is well worth repeating it is included too.

Inserted here, for the benefit of production line cooks, is an idea for apple-pie-speed-up.

These young people of mine offer to take so much food to their different organizations that I have had to make a firm request that they let me know two days beforehand what they have promised, so that supplies are on hand and I can arrange my time.

This was all because Pete asked me at 4:35 p.m. for three apple pies he had promised for a party for which he was leaving at 8 p.m.

With my mouth wide open, but, thank goodness, no remarks coming out of it, I set to work. I made him wash and core the apples and put them through the grinder, skin and all (they were pale yellow Gravensteins), and immediately add sugar and a little nutmeg—while I turned on the oven and made the pastry.

Pete said the pies were good. Anyway no complaints got back to me because the apples were ground instead of sliced. Pete said he could not tell that the skins were left on the apples in the piece of the pie that he ate. So—use your own judgment. I'm not saying anything about how good apple skins are for you.

✧ ✧ ✧

Baked Apple Roll

For four people: Put sifter over bowl, put 1 cup flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon each salt and soda in it. Sift into bowl. Add 2 tablespoons margarine and work the margarine into the mixture with finger tips. Add 1 egg and about 1-3 cup sour milk. If you want to use sweet milk just leave out the soda. Mix well, roll out on floured board to ⅜ inch thickness. Cover with a layer of sliced apples—using about three for this amount and dot with 1 or 2 tablespoons butter. Roll up like jelly roll and bake at 425 deg. Fahr. on greased pan for about 25 minutes reducing heat during last half. Serve with cream.

I made double this amount and tonight intend to reheat it in the steamer and serve it with hot lemon sauce.

✧ ✧ ✧

Baked Apples—French Style

Butter generously custard cups. Pare and core tart apples. Stand them in the custard cups. Fill centres with mixture of honey and butter and nutmeg. Butter top surface of apples. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. until tender. Marmalade may be used in place of honey with the butter.

42—Legal Notices

NOTICE AND SYNOPSIS OF TWO PROPOSED MONEY BY-LAWS TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE VOTE OF THE RATEPAYERS AT THE ANNUAL CIVIC ELECTION ON MONDAY, DECEMBER 4TH, 1950.

THE COUNCIL of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough proposes to pass:

1. A Money By-law Number 4908, entitled "A BY-LAW AUTHORIZING THE BORROWING OF $585,000.00 UPON DEBENTURES FOR PERMANENT IMPROVEMENTS, NAMELY THE CONSTRUCTION OF A NEW COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE."

2. A Money By-law Number 4915, entitled "A BY-LAW AUTHORIZING THE BORROWING OF $300,000.00 UPON DEBENTURES FOR THE PETERBOROUGH CIVIC HOSPITAL."

The Money By-law regarding the Debentures for the New Collegiate Institute recites as follows:

The Board of Education by resolution passed July 4th, 1950, requested the Council to pass a By-law for borrowing $585,000.00 to finance the Construction of a New Collegiate Institute on Lot Numbers 19 and 20, Plan 20Q, and the purchase of Furniture and Equipment.

The Council complied with the request in accordance with the High Schools Act, and it is now necessary to pass a By-law authorizing the Borrowing of the said Moneys.

The Debentures to be issued will be for a sum not to exceed $585,000.00, and the Principal will be repaid over a period of Twenty (20) Years in equal annual instalments, the Interest on the Debentures falling due in the first Ten (10) Years being at the rate of Three per cent per annum and the Interest on the Debentures payable in the Eleventh Year and subsequent years being at the rate of 3¼ per cent per annum.

The amount to be raised annually to meet the payment of Principal and Interest for these Debentures will be as nearly as possible equal and in each of the Twenty Years will be $29,989.37 approximately.

The total rateable Assessment for Collegiate Institute purposes is $36,967,845.00, and the existing Debenture debt of the City, not including local improvement debts, is $5,612,087.49.

The Money By-law regarding the Debentures for the Peterborough Civic Hospital recites in part as follows:

By the Peterborough Civic Hospital Act, 1945, the Corporation of the City of Peterborough was authorized to Erect and Furnish the Peterborough Civic Hospital, and it was expected and estimated that $200,000.00 would be obtained toward the cost of a New Hospital by the Sale of the Old Hospital Buildings and Property, but these Buildings and Property have not been sold and therefore this money is not available.

And whereas there is required the further sum of $100,000.00 to Construct and provide Sidewalks, Roads, Sewers and Landscaping on the grounds adjacent to the Peterborough Civic Hospital, the cost of which are estimated at $15,000.00, $35,000.00, $25,000.00 and $25,000.00 respectively.

Therefore it is expedient to Borrow for these purposes the sum of $300,000.00 upon Debentures, the Principal of which will be repaid over a period of Twenty (20) Years in equal annual instalments, the Interest on the Debentures falling due in the first Ten (10) Years being at the rate of Three per cent per annum, and the Interest on the Debentures payable the Eleventh and subsequent years being at the rate of 3¼ per cent per annum.

The amount to be raised annually to meet the payment of Principal and Interest for these Debentures will be as nearly as possible equal and in each of the Twenty Years will be $20,466.86 approximately.

The total rateable Assessment for Peterborough Civic Hospital purposes is $36,967,845.00 and the existing Debenture debt of the City, not including local improvement debts is $5,612,087.49.

TAKE NOTICE that the foregoing is a Synopsis of the Two Proposed By-laws of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough to be submitted to the Votes of the Electors qualified to Vote thereon at the time of he Municipal Elections on MONDAY, THE FOURTH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1950, and at the same Hours and at the same Polling Places at which Voting will take place for the Candidate for Election for the Council of the City of Peterborough.

And that on the FIRST DAY OF DECEMBER, 1950, at the Hour of Three o'clock in the Afternoon, the Head of the Council or some Member appointed for that purpose by resolution, shall attend at the City Hall, in the said Municipality, for the purpose of appointing, and if requested so to do, shall appoint by writing signed by him, Two Persons to attend at the final summing up of the Votes by the Clerk, and One Person to attend at each Polling Place on behalf of the Persons interested in and promoting either of the proposed By-laws and a like number on behalf of the Persons interested in and opposing either of the proposed By-laws.

On the FOURTH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1950, at the Hour of Eleven o'clock in the Forenoon, at the City Hall, in the said Municipality the Clerk shall attend and sum up the Votes given for and against the proposed By-laws.

OBITUARIES

MRS. ANASTASIA COLLINS

A lifelong resident of Otonabee township, Mrs. Anastasia Collins, Indian River, died Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Barry, of the 5th concession of Otonabee, after a 10-month illness. She was in her 81st year.

Mrs. Collins, the former Anastasia Foley, was born in Otonabee, daughter of the late James Foley and Mary Walsh. And she received her education there.

Mrs. Collins was an active member of St. Joseph's church, Douro. She was the first president of the Catholic Women's League, Sacred Heart League and the Altar Society.

Left are three sons—all of them priests: the Rev. Joseph P. Collins, parish priest of St. Michael's, Cobourg; the Rev. James S. Collins, Honey Harbor, and the Rev. Bernard G. Collins, Fairbank, Iowa.

Also left are two daughters—Maye, Fairbanks, Iowa, and Mrs. James Barry (Anna), Otonabee; two sisters—Mrs. John F. McCarthy, Toronto, and Mrs. James Boland, Norwood; and a brother, James Foley of Douro.

Mrs. Collins' husband, the late James P. Collins, died in 1928.

The funeral will be from the residence of Mrs. Barry to St. Joseph's church, Douro, where solemn requiem mass will be said at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

ALLAN MOUNCEY

ROSENEATH, Nov. 6—(ENS)—The death occurred in Cobourg hospital Friday of Allan Mouncey in his fourth year after a lingering liness of over a year's duration.

Allan is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Harld Mouncey Roseneath.

The funeral will be held today at 2 p.m. at McMillan's funeral home. Rev. R. C. White will be in charge of the service. Interment will be in Centenary cemetery.

Drivers Claim View Blocked

Despite the driving hazard caused by the first snow only one motor accident was reported over the weekend by provincial police in the Peterborough district. And that was a minor one, amounting in all to $100 damage.

A deer hunter, Douglas Junkin of Birkmount Ave., Toronto, was driving west along Highway 36 Saturday when he collided with a half-ton pickup truck driven east by Stanley T. Watson, Beaverton. The accident occurred less than 200 yards east of Nogies' Creek.

A hill in between them blocked the view of both drivers and they had to swerve at the last moment to avoid a head-on collision. The truck skidded on the slippery surface and headed for the south ditch and as it did so the rear end came around and glanced along the left side of the car.

Damage was confined to the left side of the 1950-model car and the rear end of the pickup truck which stopped partly in the ditch and partly on the highway.

Provincial Constable Roy Feeley investigated.

Say Economy First Rule In '51 Budget

OTTAWA, Nov. 6 (CP)—Government departments have started to work on estimates of expenditure for the 1951-52 fiscal year and they have before them a request from Finance Minister Abbott to be as economical as possible.

The departments have been told that a "rigorous standard of essentiality" must be applied this year against all expeditures. There are two main reasons for the economy drive:

1. The bulk of available revenue will be needed for defencee expenditures.
2. A reduction in government building and purchasing will help the fight against inflation.

The departments now are collecting a list of all the projects planned for 1951-52. They will defer some of the projects which they consider non-essential at this time.

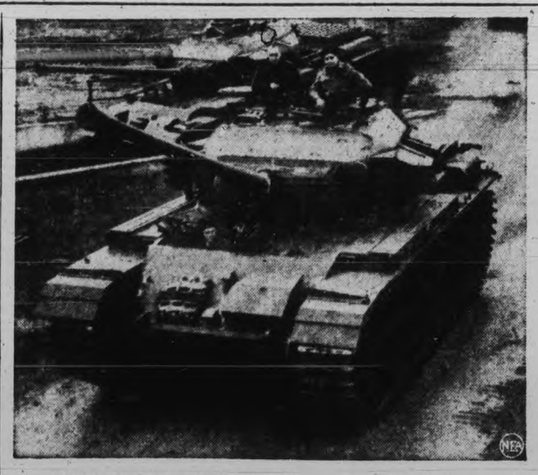
To Go Over List

Shortly before Christmas the Treasury board—made up of Finance Minister Abbott and a half-dozen of his cabinet colleagues—will look over the list and get an idea of the expenditure picture for the coming fiscal year.

The board will make some preliminary suggestions as to where these views will be passed on to the departments concerned.

Shortly after Christmas, the departments will report to the Treasury Board what they consider to be the minimum amount needed to carry out their programs next year.

Then the Treasury Board will set to work and Mr. Abbott—the man who has to try to balance the budget and who has to bear the brunt of criticism for tax increases—will study the details of each item. Many of the items, judging from past experience, probably will be lopped



Five Enter County Speaking Finals

MILLBROOK, Nov. 6—(ENS)—Chosen to go into the county finals at Bowmanville, Nov. 10, were five speakers from the Millbrook district who won semi-finals of the Durham county public speaking contest at Millbrook.

They were: Diana Scott, Helen Ingham, Laurie Sapleton, Bernard Brinklow, and Brenda Wakely.

Chairman was Howard Jordan, principal of Port Hope public school. Between speeches there was a musical program presented by Glenna Graham, Beverley Patton, Yvonne Richards, Margaret Aiken, and Marilyn Husser.

Speakers, with subjects bracketed, were Diana Scott (Health), Mary Ann Armstrong (The Last Slave Sold in Chicago), Helen Ingham (Hobbies), Muriel Ferguson (A Collie), Laurie Stapleton (The Wise Old Owl Is Stupid), Shirley Miller, (Helen Keller), Joan Reid, (Management of the Farm Woodlot), Bernard Brinklow(Grumbling), Brenda Wakely (William Lyon Mackenzie King), Kenneth Olan (The Qualities of a True Canadian).

Co-operatives Urged VLA Woodlots

SMITH FALLS —(CP)— Two Veterans Land Act supervisors are trying to persuade VLA settlers to plan a marketing co-operative for the days when their young woodlosts are ready to cut.

The supervisors—George Milne of Smith Falls and Milton Cochran of Almonte—have spent the last few years encouraging timber growing on VLA farms in Leeds, Lanark and Grenville counties.

On many of the farms, the topsoil is too shallow for extensive cropping. Many of them now have been reforested and farmers are cutting cordwood on them.

Mr. Milne and Mr. Cochran expect that soon the veterans on the project will be able to sell timber from their lands and say that a co-operative would have a better chance of selling the timber than an individual farmer would.

Schoolfellows Attend McKiever Funeral

Pallbearers at the funeral Saturday of Lawrence T. (Larry) McKiever, 15, of 240 Munroe Ave., were Elmer Gosselin, Lawrence Walsh, John McCarthy, Kevin Heffernan, George McKiever and Lawrence Lafave.

He was the son of Justin McKiever and Helen Hanrahan, and a grade 8 pupil at Immaculate Conception school. Among those attending the funeral were his classmates at Immaculate Conception.

The funeral was from his home to Immaculate Conception church where requiem mass was said by the Rev. James Greenan. Graveside prayers were said by the Rev. J. J. McCarthy, and burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, Douro.

Wolfe Silver Tray Made Victory Token

TORONTO — (CP) — A tray fashioned from silverplate that once belonged to Maj-Gen. James Wolfe, who captured Canada from the French in 1759, has been presented to the Royal Ontario Museum.

It was commissioned in 1836 by Gen. Wolfe's nephew, who had inherited part of the General's silver. Since some of the pieces were in need of repair and others were not in use at the time, the nephew decided to have them all melted and made into a single piece that would commemorate the General's victory on the plains of Abraham.

The tray found its way into the hands of Mrs. F. N. G. Starr of Toronto. She and her late husband bought it on their 25th Wedding Anniversary with the thought of one day making it public property. Now Mrs. Starr has given it to the museum in memory of her husband.

Sunday Musicale Well Received

The Salvation Army Temple was unable to accommodate the the crowd which wanted to attend the second Sunday afternoon musicale of the season These musicales are held on the first Sunday of every month during the fall and winter and yesterday after the Temple proper had been filled, the band room at the rear of the building was used and still people sought to find a place where they might hear the program.

Colonel Robert Harewood, the new chief secretary of the Salvation Army in Canada and recently from Australia was chairman and the program lasted one hour.

Gwen Craw, Mrs. S. J. Richardson, Charles Allen and Major C. Everitt playing on two pianos were the feature artists of the program. They played the William Tell Overture. Another guest artist was Songster Alison Harewood, Toronto, who gave a timbrel demonstration assisted by the band.

Numbers by The Temple Band, the Young People's Band, the Young Peoples' Singing Company and the anthem 'Glorious Is Thy Name' by the Temple Songsters sang with expert shading completed a most delightful musicale. Mrs. R. G. Routly was at the organ and Colonel Harewood was introduced by Brigadier R. Gage.

Marmora Church Celebrates 76th Birthday

MARMORA, Nov. 6 — (ENS) — St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, marked its 76th anniversary with special services morning and evening at which the special preacher was Rev. George M. Tuttle, B.A., of Victoria University, Toronto, and junior choirs led in the singing at both services. Rev. George D. Young, B.A., B.D., officiated throughout the day and introduced the preacher as one with whom he had been associated in western Canada.

The anthem at the morning service was "The Lord Is King." The sermon was on the calling of Jeremiah, it being pointed out that whomever God gives a command to, to perform some work for Him, He also provides the power to accomplish the same.

During the evening service the junior chior sang "The Lord's Prayer" and joined with the senior choir in the rendition of the anthem "O Lord Most Holy."

Portrayal of the mid--century Convention of Christian Education recently held in Toronto formed the words of Christ, "Go and teach all nations." The preacher remarked that it was only in recent times that Chrisitans in scattered parts of the world had had the wonderful experience of assembling together for the unity of the Christian faith and through fellowship to deepen their knowledge of Christ.

Testimonies from representatives of different countries as given upon religious education of the young were briefly but interestingly narrated by the preacher. Thus it was learned that in India there are eight times as many persons attending Sunday School as in Canada. The frustrated Christians in Germany under the Hitler regime have the Sunday School movement restored to them and many are now receiving religious instruction by means of caravans carrying the work right up to the Soviet border.

Those in attendance at the convention found they were dealing in many cases with first generation Christians to whom that life has come with a great power.

CPA To Fly Tasman Sea

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Nov. 6—(Reuters)—The Australian and New Zealand governments have agreed to allow Canadian Pacific Airlines to fl yacross the Tasman sea on the Pacific route from Vancouver to Sydney, it was announced today.

C. P. A. will not be allowed to share in the trans-Canada passenger trade, which will remain the monopoly of Tasman Empire Airways.

The new route is expected to start Dec. 2. The route will be Vancouver - Honolulu-Fiji-Auckland, N.Z.-Sydney, Australia.

The service will be every two weeks using Canadair fours.

Tasman Empire Airways jointly owned by the New Zealand and Australian governments which hitherto have stipulated that other airlines must terminate in New Zeland, leaving the Australia-New Zealand link to Tasman Airways.

As a result C.P.A. has until now operated a direct service to Australia, omitting a call in New Zealand.

Staggering French Reverses Stirs Uneasiness In Hanoi

By KENNETH LIKES

HANOI, North Vietnam, Nov. 6 —(AP)— This city of quiet lakes and ancient pagodas stirs with a new uneasiness.

For the French, before, it was somewhat exciting but never too worrisome to be on the fringe of hostile Vietminh country and in the shadow of Communist China. Danger to isolated Hanoi gave an air of adventure to a slow-moving, provincial city.

Recent staggering reverses for the French army in the frontier region 100 miles to the north have transformed the tone of sidewalk conversation. Talk has taken on a lower pitch—hushed word on high casualties and whispered rumors of plans for retreat. Sometimes talk is loud and a little hysterical.

The French army has ordered wives and children of servicemen out of North Vietnam. A few others are packing. The rest are sitting it out.

Little Bit of France

They hang on in a colonial city that appears to be a small French suburb transplanted to the orient.

The old Metropole hotel and several smaller ones are crowded, mostly with French military people. Five theatres do a big business with French and American films. A half-dozen cafes with chairs spread onto the sidewalks have become social centres, clustered with bridge-playing French business men and Foreign Legionnaires.

Tightly Cramped

Boulevards extend from the centre of the city towards the "citadel," a suburban district of army barracks, hospitals and government buildings. Across a small lake from the French quarter, the Vietnamese and Chinese section of about 200,000 persons is jumble of tightly-cramped shops and houses.

The 1,500 French civilians in town and the 20-odd western foreigners, don't wander too far from the brightly-lighted French quarter at night. Residents have come to accept their confined life and the unsureness that comes from knowing the city is honeycombed with a Vieteminh underground that can count thousands of sympathizers.

De Gaulle Hits Comeback Trail Will Run For Parliament From Lille

Bq JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS, Nov. 6 —(AP)— Gen. Charles de Gaulle is going to hit the comeback trail again.

The moody, 59-year-old general has been languishing for months in the political wilderness.

"What ever happened to de Gaulle?" is asked with increasing frequency by foreigners visiting France.

The main thing that happened was that the general failed in his campaign to get parliament to dissolve itself and order a general election. He was sure his Reassblement du Peuple Francais (RPF) would win the election.

So, de Gaulle has been biding his time—almost forgotten—in the hamlet of Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises in Eastern France, where he has an estate.

Can't Wait Too Long

His lieutenants now concede that there is no chance of forcing the elections before their scheduled time. Normally, they should be held in November, 1951. But de Gaulle can't be left too long in the wilderness, or his followers will drift away.

De Gaulle plans to start his new campaign of criticism of the present French regime in Paris with "a monster rally," then go off stumping through France, urging the need for a strong government with himself at the head.

He is even about to do something he once said he would never do—descend to the political arena himself as a candidate for a seat in parliament.

RPF strategy now calls for de Gaulle to run for parliament from a district in Lille, his home town.

Scorns Politicians

The general never has had anything but scorn for ordinary politicians and political parties.

The new outlook apparently is a belated recognition of the fact that before he can write a new constitution, he must first come to power under the present one. Under the current constitution, it is virtually impossible for a person to take over the premier's office without being a member of the National Assembly.

When de Gaulle first formed the RPF, he maintained it was not a political party, but simply a banner to which all Frenchmen of good will, regardless of party, could rally for the regeneration of their homeland. He still proclaims this idea.

In practice, however, the RPF operates just like any other party.

Mary Astor Likes Retired Life

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 6 (AP)— The movies often picture the show business veteran who tries to retire but can't stand being away from the lights and greasepaint.

Here's one gal who doesn't fit into that Hollywood cliche. She's Mary Astor, who had been in the movies as long as most people could remember.

"I started in two-reelers back in 1920," she confessed, "and I was 14 years old then. You can figure out for yourself how old I am now. It's no secret."

Two years ago she quietly retired from the Hollywood scene.

"I was ill," she recalled, "and I asked MGM to let me out of my contract. I had seen enough service and I decided to call it quits."

Her last two pictures were "Any Number Can Play," which she admitted "didn't have much to stand on," and the sugary "Little Women," which she termed was "not my cup of tea."

Has Hobby

"When they threw up the rainbow at the end of the picture, I felt like doing the same," she said.

Having regained her health, she now spends her time in her hobby, sculpting, acting the part of a housewife and "getting acquainted with my family." They include her husband, business man Thomas Wehelock, a married daughter and a son, 11. I asked if she missed the movie life.

"I certainly don't miss the onerous part of the business—getting up at six, working until your're ready to drop," she replied. "It's fun to be able to sleep in the morning."

A Little from the Lots

Surprise of the month was seeing Clark Gable at the local opening of the San Francisco opera. And in tails! Maybe you don't think the king's marriage to Sylvia Fairbanks hasn't changed him.

One of the radio events of the season is tonight's Radio Theatre broadcast. Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh make their US air debut together in "Rebecca."

Golden Sidewalk

LILLOOET, B.C. — (CP) — Crews of workmen are pouring gold-bearing cement for more than a mile of sidewalk in this town 200 miles northeast of Vancouver. The gravel was taken from the famous banks of the Cayoosh Creek, but the workmen don't bother panning the stuff. Oldtimers say it wouldn't yield more than a few dollars for 12 hours' work.

Lake Trout Largest Fish Entered In Angler's Derby

REGINA —(CP)— A 34-pound lake trout was the largest fish entered in this year's Saskatchewan Anglers' Derby, fisheries supervisor A. H. MacDonald announced.

The derby is run jointly by the provincial fisheries branch and the Saskatchewan Fish and Game League.

The trout was caught in Lac la Ronge, in the north, by Dr. W. M. Russell of Bremerton, Wash.

Other prize winners:

Pickerel—Bob Benell, Moose Jaw, 10 lb. 3 oz., caught in Long Lake.

Pike—Tom Britton, Pierceland, Sask., 25 lb. 14 oz., caught in Pierce Lake.

Brown Trout—H. Persson, Eastend, Sask., 6 lb. 11 oz., caught in Little Frenchman Creek.

Brook Trout—H. A. Randall, Hudson Bay, Sask., 3 lb. 10 oz., caught in Fir River.

Arctic Grayland—T. H. Waugh, Prince Albert, Sask., 2 lb. 9 oz., caught in Fond du Lac River in Far-North Saskatchewan.

Goldeye—L. Huffman, Prince Albert, 2 lb. 1½ oz., caught in the Saskatchewan River.

Perch—R. L. Campbell, Melford, Sask., 1 lb. 9 oz., caught in Struthers Lake.

U.S. Fighters Rout Red Jets In 85-Minute Korean Battle

New Arms Program Faces Canadians St. Laurent Warns

OTTAWA, Nov. 7—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Monday night military preparedness is likely to continue to be one of Canada's main problems for a good many years to come. At the same time, he said he felt sure that the steps taken by the United Nations to meet the Communists in Korea have "strengthened the chances of preventing aggression elsewhere, provided we do not relax our efforts."

In an address before the annual conference of the Canadian Exporters Association, Mr. St. Laurent said the only hope of security for the world in the near future was in building up armed strength sufficient to deter aggression.

"That, in fact, seems to be the only hope of preventing war from breaking out," he said.

"Of course, we do not want to go on forever facing potential aggressors across an armed frontier. While building up our strength, we must also continue to look for every opportunity of a real settlement of differences and we must never loose hope of finally establishing a peaceful world community based on universal good-will."

Must Be Strong

But the first duty, he added, is the provision "of sufficient military strength, including the industrial strength on which real military strength today is based, to make the risk of starting another war against any of us a risk not worth taking."

Mr. St. Laurent said it will be difficult, when Canada has to concentrate so much on war-like preparations, to avoid developing a "war-like outlook." Yet, that would be fatal to the whole policy of preventing war and maintaining peace.

To achieve that policy, Canada could not be content merely with military preparedness. The Communists gained control of infiltrating into key positions within a country, by gaining power over unions and other subversive methods.

There was not the slightest likelihood of that kind of technique working in Canada or elsewhere in North America.

As long as a high degree of personal and political freedom was combined on this continent with a high standard of living and welfare, there could be no effective scope for Communist propaganda.

First Canadians Reach Korea, Welcome Quiet

PUSAN, Korea, Nov. 7 (CP).—Greeted by a few natives waving homemade Canadian flags and bands playing swing tunes, the vanguard of Canada's special brigade landed in Korea early today.

The American transport James O'Hara brought the contingent—about 350 strong—to this South Korean supply port at 9 a.m. local time from Yokohama after a two-day trip.

The advance party led by Maj R. M. Bourgeois and including specialists such as cooks, clerks, drivers and tradesmen, drove in convoy through dirty streets to billets in three old, dishevelled school buildings.

They will wait here until they receive word that other members of the special brigade are on their way from Fort Lewis, Wash. Then they will stake out a training area near Pusan, probably next month. The job of the advance party is to get things in shape for arrival of an infantry battalion and supporting troops.

Weather Bright

The weather was clear and bright as the transport moved into its berth here, with Canadians lining the rails. On hand to meet them was Lt.-Col. L. R Crue of Ottawa, Capt. C. M Whiticar of Halifax and Capt. J. M. Bowie of Brandon, Man.

A delegation from the city was on the jetty and Korean women presented a bouquet of flowers to Maj. Bourgeois. The Canadians filed down the gangplank and into waiting American trucks which took them to their billets past groups of quietly staring Koreans.

Phantom Forger Held In Toronto

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 (CP).—City police said Monday a man known across the country as the phantom forger has been arrested in Toronto through the confession of an accomplice here.

The phantom was described as a sharply dressed war veteran believed to be the brains behind a string of forgeries that has drained thousands of dollars from Canadian banks in the last two years.

Det. Sergt. William Mace said in Toronto that a Toronto youth identified as Michael Pollock, 23, was arrested for Ottawa police on Monday on a forgery charge.

The confession was given by Donald Vance, 32-year-old war veteran and former radio technician, who pleaded guilty today to five charges involving bogus cheques.

Rail Strike Agreement Submitted To Court

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 7—(Reuters)—An agreement to end the four-week-old rail strike in Victoria State is expected to be submitted to the full Australian arbitration court Wednesday for approval.

But it is not certain the court will pass the agreement—reached between the government and railwaymen's unions on demands for a £1 ($2.24) marginal pay boost and adjustments in conditions and overtime.

Conciliation Commission V. G. Hall has twice refused to ratify the strikers' claims, telling their Communist leaders he would not act "under duress."

The court might decide it is powerless to reverse Hall's rulings. The law states there is no appeal against a conciliation commissioner's ruling.

Fire King Of Nepal

Baby Son Proclaimed Ruler Want More Democracy

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 7 — (CP).—The King of Nepal, independent Kingdom situated between India and Tibet, has been ousted from his palace and his three-year-old son has been proclaimed ruler in his stead, the Nepalese embassy here announced tonight.

Earlier the Indian foreign ministry announced that the king had sought refuge at the Indian embassy in his capital at Katmandu.

Sources close to the ministry said he was anxious to come to India due to internal difficulties arising from demands by his subjects for a change from the present autocratic, feudal type of government to a democratic system.

However, the official announcement said his majesty, Maharajadhiraja Tribbuvana Bir Bikram, desired to come to India for "medical treatment" but his government objected so he had sought the assistance of the Indian ambassador.

The king is titular head of Nepal. The independent Hindu kingdom in the Himalayas is administered by the Maharajah Sir Muhun Shumshere Jung Bahadar Rana, who is also hereditary prime minister and supreme commander-in-chief.

The Nepalese embassy here said in a communique about six weeks ago that a "conspiracy to assassinate the Maharajah of Nepal and other high dignitaries" had been discovered in Katmandu.

The 44-year-old monarch has ruled his country of more than 6,000,000 inhabitants high in the Himalayas since 1911.

Beside the dominating population of Gurkhas, noted warriors in British armies, there is a strong Buddhist minority which worships Tibet's boy-ruler, the 16-year-old Dalai Lama.

Labor Gov't Defeats Censure Vote

Invalids Leave Beds To Aid Parties On Second Motion

LONDON, Nov. 7—(CP)—The Labor government tonight defeated by 15 votes a motion blaming it for taking no adequate steps to hold down the cost of living.

Government supporters cast 299 votes against 284 by the combined Conservative and Liberal opposition.

For the second day in succession invalids on both sides rallied from their sickbeds to support their parties. One member turned up in an invalid chair. Another had his head swathed in bandages.

Later tonight the government faces another hurdle—the Conservatives motion censuring it for proposing to take indefinitely powers to control the economy.

The government, with a working majority of only six in the House of Commons, Monday night weathered its 61st test since last February's general election. An opposition motion censuring the government's housing program was defeated 300 to 288.

Announced In Speech

The proposal to make economic controls permanent was announced in the speech from the throne menting, "powers to regulate production, distribution and consumption and to control prices."

This would give the government the power to ration food, control prices, allot priorities for men and materials for such uses as defence, housing, export work, and control other factors influencing inflation.

Churchill denounced the proposal as one "full of vague menaces."

Defeat on such major issues as controls or housing would force Prime Minister Attlee's government either to resign, let the Conservatives form a government or to call a new general election.

In Monday's vote, ailing Labor members appeared for the division muffled against the chill mist. The nine Liberals in the house split on the ballot—three voting with the government, four with the Conservatives. Two were absent.

Jury Selected For Fosbraey

PICTON, Nov. 7 (CP).—Selection of a jury was started Monday and 29-year-old James Fosbraey prepared to stand trial a second time for the murder of his pretty young wife.

Fosbraey, a native of Sittingbourne, Kent, England, and RAF veteran, was convicted earlier this year at Napanee and sentenced to be hanged Sept. 21. But the Ontario Appeal Court quashed the conviction and ordered a new trial.

He asked—and received — an order transferring the second trial to Picton because of his contention of prejudice against him in Napanee.

Charge Mother With Murder

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 7 (CP).—Mrs. Joan Mary Marchello, wife of Steven Marchello of Owen Sound, was charged with murder when she appeared in court here today.

The charge was laid by crown attorney C. C. Middlebro, K.C., following police investigation into the death of Mrs. Marchello's five-month-old son, Edward. Police said the infant was found dead in the Marchello home this morning, in a bucket of water.

Mrs. Marchello was remanded to the Ontario Hospital at London for examination.

Reports For Cabinet

OTTAWA, Nov. 7—(CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson will fly to Ottawa from New York Wednesday to report to the Cabinet on the crisis raised by Chinese intervention in Korea. It will be one of several trips he has made from the sessions of the United Nations General Assembly to give his Cabinet colleagues a picture of pressing problems.

Record Voting Across U.S. For Congress

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—(CP)—A record pileup of ballots was in prospect today as voters turned out early in the United States off-year elections which will decide control of the country's 82nd Congress.

The early vote was especially noticeable in the big population states. In Ohio where Senator Robert A. Taft—"Mr Republican" to many—was battling Democrat Joe Ferguson for the Senate, long lines formed at the polling places.

The turnout was also heavy in New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts and other important states.

No Violence

Despite the bitterness of many campaigns—some were the roughest, toughest of many years—the forenoon hours passed without any violence or incidents.

In New York City, all of the 19,000 policemen were on duty to guard against disorders. Authorities sent out 1,000 special deputies and hundreds of civilian volunteers to watch for law violations.

In Independence, Mo., President Truman was among the early voters. He voted in a gymnasium building shortly after 9.30 a.m. EST. He said he voted the straight Democratic ticket.

This "off-year" election, when the presidency is not at issue, will determine whether Harry S. Truman is to be faced with a hostile Congress until the end of his term in 1952, or whether he will have a Democratic majority behind him as he makes foreign-policy decisions and pursues his "fair-deal" program.

The Truman program was hamstrung in 1947-48 when the Republican party held the Congressional reins.

The President's handling of foreign affairs—and his Domestic measures which critics claim are leading the country toward socialism—have been hit hard by the Republican party in a two-month campaign. The president's opposition sought to make late political capital out of the current grave turn in the Korean war.

Say 17 Missing Aboard Plane

HELENA, Mont., Nov 7 (AP)—State Aeronautics Director Frank Wiley said today a Northwest Airlines plane, with 17 passengers and a crew of four aboard, is missing on a flight over the continental divide between here and Butte.

The plane left his civil aeronautics administration radio control area at 7:53 a.m. MST, officials of the CAA tower said.

At 8:11 a.m., the CAA said, the pilot of the Martin 202 radioed that he was over Whitehall about 30 miles southeast of here. He was at 10,500 feet, starting his descent.

He was about 10 minutes out of Butte, 66 miles southwest of here.

The weather bureau said there were snow, showers and light rain on Pipestone Pass, where the mountains are about 6,400 feet high, between Whitehall and Butte.

Poet Robbed

MONTE CARLO, France, Nov. 7—(CP)—Poet Robert Service, the onetime Canadian bank clerk who wrote of the Yukon, was robbed of more than $7,000 worth of jewels and cash Monday night. Burglars entered the author's villa during the night.

Blast Rocks UK Plant, Three Killed

Explosion Shatters Windows 10 Miles From Scene

HARWICH, Essex, England, Nov. 7—(AP)—A violent blast at an explosives plant near here killed at least three men and injured 15 today. Another worker is missing.

The explosion occurred in the mixing room at a factory owned by the Explosives and chemical Products, Limited.

The factory is on Bramble Island, at the mouth of the river Naze on the North Sea coast, five miles south of Harwich and 75 miles northeast of London.

The blast broke windows in Clacton, 10 miles away. Villagers of Great Oakley, a mile and a half from the factory, said it went off like a "great bomb".

First reports said the dead workers were girls. An official statement from the plant, however, said this was not the case.

There were 200 workers in the plant when the explosion occurred. Officials said the factory was producing industrial explosives.

Most of the injured were cut and bruised by flying glass and debris. Doctors said all but two or three would be released from the hospital after first aid.

Bullets Hamper Men At Blaze

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Nov. 7 (CP).—Chief John C. Shapton called out 50 firemen Monday night to fight a blaze which destroyed Bickel's hardware store with what firemen estimated was a $30,000 loss.

Exploding high-powered rifle ammunition, bouncing around the inside walls of the store and through windows, prevented firemen for a time from battling the flames inside.

Several firemen were overcome by the dense smoke from the oil and paint-fed fire, but neither firemen nor spectators were reported injured by flying bullets.

Atlantic Pact Council Meets In December

LONDON, Nov. 7—(Reuters)—A full meeting of the Atlantic Pact Council of Foreign Ministers is planned for the middle of December in Brussels to break the deadlock over German re-armaments, an authoritative source said today.

The foreign ministers will then have before them reports of discussions on the German re-armament question by the military committee, their deputies council, and the defence ministers, who are expected to have another meeting in London at the end of this month.

The military committee already has had tentative discussions on the military aspects of including German contingents in the Atlantic Pact army since the recent meeting of the defence ministers in Washington.

Abandon Efforts Reach Wrecked Plane

CHAMONIX, France, Nov. 7—(AP)—The French Ministry of Interior today ordered the abandonment of efforts to reach an Indian Constellation which crashed Friday into Mont Blanc with 48 aboard.

Large-scale efforts to reach the wreckage at a time of the year when this climb had never been attempted before resulted in the death Monday of ski guide Rene Payot.

All hope had been given up previously that anyone survived the crash.

Helicopters Angels Of Mercy In New War Rescue Wounded, Men Trapped By Enemy

WONSAN AIRFIELD, Korea, Nov. 7 (AP).—The machine age has developed its own angel of mercy: the helicopter.

Time and Time, American flying windmills have rescued pilots shot down behind enemy lines or at sea. They have taken out whole cut-off units. They have carried wounded to safety when an ambulance over rough roads would have meant death.

"Any military force without them today is back in the days of the civil war," said Brig.-Gen. Edward Craig of the famed "Fighting 1st" U. S. Marine division.

Marines pioneered use of helicopters. Marine observation squadron six, which flies them, has rescued 20 downed pilots and flown 200 wounded from the front.

"The helicopters have changed war in two ways," said the squadron commander, Maj. Vincent J. Gottschalk.

"The infantryman knows that being hopelessly cut off doesn't mean he is going to die or be captured. The helicopters can pick them up. The same thing holds for pilots shot down at sea or over enemy territory. That's worked a wonderful change in morale."

Russia Defines Aggression Seems To Rap Red China

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Nov. 7—(AP)—Russia circulated in the UN General Assembly's political committee Monday a resolution detailing how she wants aggression defined. One provision states that no country would be justified in invading another to put down a revolutionary movement, civil war, disorders or strikes. Another would allow a country threatened by a neighbor to take military preparations to defend herself so long as her troops were not sent across her frontiers.

The action puzzled UN observers. The resolution is so sweeping it apparently could be interpreted not only as a condemnation of the actions of the United States in Korea but also of Communist China. Soviet speakers are expected to give a clearer idea of their aim in debate in the 60-member committee.

Equal Rights

The resolution recognizes that "all states have equal rights to independence, security, and defence of their territory." It would define as an attacker the country which first declares war, invades another state, even without a declaration of war, or subjects another state to an air or sea attack or a naval blockade.

An attacking state could not justify its action because of the backwardness or administrative shortcomings of another state. Even the violation of international treaties or the rupture of diplomatic or economic relations or the adoption of measures of a religious or non-religious nature by one country would not serve as an excuse to launch military operations against it.

Troops Check Assault On Guatemala Base

GUATEMALA, Guatemala, Nov. 7—(AP)—Seventeen persons were killed as troops beat off an armed assault Sunday on a key military base near the capital, the government disclosed Monday night. Seven others were wounded.

Some 60 persons took part in the attack, which climaxed tension growing with the approach of three-day presidential elections starting Friday.

The government said the assault was led by Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, former commander of the base, which skirts South Guatemala city.

One of the main issues of the presidential campaign is the question of Communist influence in the country. Opposition groups claim the Reds wield too much power under President Juan Jose Arevalo.

Gun-Toter Held In Liquor Store

VAL D'OR, Que., Nov. 7 (CP).—A gun-toting man identified as Nick Alexander, 31, surrendered to police today after allegedly firing shots through the floor of the Quebec Liquor Commission store here. He was armed with a .45-calibre revolver.

Alexander came from the cellar of a building adjoining the liquor store and gave himself up to provincial police who had surrounded the place.

There was no immediate information as to why Alexander put on the gun display. Police said he may have been demented. They believe he hid overnight in the liquor store basement.

The regular 10 a.m. opening of the liquor store was delayed until Alexander had surrendered and was in custody.

Attlee Refuses Screen Scientists

LONDON, Nov. 7—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Attlee today refused to accept a suggestion made in the House of Commons that Britain, Canada and the United States set up a joint security board to screen atom scientists.

Asked if he would appoint a cabinet committee to review the whole system of atom security in Britain, Attlee said he was devoting particular attention to this question in consultation with other ministers.

The proposal for a three-power board was made by a Conservative member, Somerset De Chair. He said "unfortunate stress" had been introduced in Anglo-American relations recently by the cases of atom spy Klaus Fuchs and the disappearance of Professor Bruno Pontecorvo—both employed at the government atom station at Harwell. Pontecorvo previously had worked at the Canadian atomic project at Chalk River, Ont.

The Prime Minister answered: "I do not think a board is necessary, because there is the very closest working between organizations on both sides of the Atlantic."

UN Forces Expand Bridgehead

Strange Withdrawal Of Some Reds Worries Allied Heads

SEOUL, Nov. 7 — (AP) — United Nations forces expanded their slim bridgehead north of the Chongchon river today as some Communists mysteriously withdrew on the northwest Korean warfront.

The Commonwealth brigade and two U.S. 24th Division Regiments moved ahead 2¼ miles after a heavy air bombing in the Pakchon area northwest of the bridgehead at Anju. There was little opposition on this front although Red concentrations had applied heavy pressure as late as Monday.

U.S. Mustang fighters routed speedier Russian-built jets in an 85-minute air battle—longest of the war—over Sinuiju just across the Yalu river from Manchuria. Three of the Red jets were reported hit. Spokesmen said no U.S. planes were lost.

In the north-central sector, Chinese Red resistance eased suddenly in front of U.S. marines driving through mountain passes toward the Changjin reservoir

Advance Mile

The Marines' leadoff 17th Regiment, virtually stalled four days by the stiff Red Chinese defence, moved almost a mile up a twisting river gorge and seized a towering 4,000 foot ridge. This was the dominating point south of the reservoir, 36 miles northwest of Hamhung.

But Communist resistance mounted in one northeast sector.

A US 7th Division combat patrol north of Pungsan reported it was under attack "by a hell of a lot of North Koreans."

The patrol was on the north bank of the Unge River. Carrier-based Marine Corsairs flew in to give air support.

This was the first serious opposition in three days for the division's 17th Regimental combat team. It is driving north in zero weather within less than 30 miles of the Manchurian border.

Find Couple Dead In Garage

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 7 (CP).—The bodies of a couple aged about 60 were found Monday in a garage here. Identified as a Mr. and Mrs. Ruttan, they were declared by investigators to have died from effects of carbon monoxide fumes from their automobile.

Police said a tube had been fastened to the exhaust pipe and introduced into the body of the car through a hole drilled in the floorboards.

Neighbors last saw the couple alive Friday, when they said they were going to Kingston.

Milk bottles accumulated on the doorstep led police to believe the Ruttans had been dead since Saturday.

Sympathize With Koreans

USSR Told To Stand In Combat Readiness

MOSCOW, Nov. 7 (AP). — Marshal Semeon Budyenny called on the Soviet people and "other freedom-loving peoples of the world" today to express their sympathy for the Korean people who he said were struggling for their freedom and independence.

Soviet army and navy ministers, in orders of the day to Russian fighting forces on the traditional observance of the 33rd anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, demanded constant vigilance and combat readiness in view of the situation in Korea.

Budyenny, war hero and member of the Praesidium and Supreme Soviet, reviewed the annual military parade across Red Square from the top of the rain-drenched Lenin tomb.

Huge self-propelled guns and tanks rolled across the Red Square at the climax of the demonstration. The customary air show was cancelled because of fog and drizzle.

Combat Readiness

Admiral Ivan Stepanovich Yumashev, Soviet navy minister, in a special exhortation Monday night advised Russian sea forces to be in a state of "combat readiness."

Marshal Alexander M. Vasilevsky, the U.S.S.R.'s army minister, in a similar order of the day to Russian ground forces, declared

"The warmongers have now passed to direct acts of aggression, having unleashed bloody intervention against the Korean people. Soviet soldiers must strive for new successes in military and political training, constantly increase vigilance and combat readiness of our troops."

Moscow newspapers published congratulatory telegrams from Kim Ir Sen, North Korean minister of industry, Ho Chi Minh, leader of Vietminh forces in Indo-China and Mao Tze-Tung, head of the Chinese Communist government.

Have 24 Hrs. To Decide Grave Issue

West To Do Utmost To Save Face For Peiping Rulers

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Nov. 7—(AP)—United Nations diplomats conferred today on how to handle Gen. MacArthur's charges that Communist China has sent her troops into Korea.

They have only 24 hours to make one of the most significant decisions in the history of the world organization. The Security Council meets in emergency session Wednesday morning to consider the charges.

There was the fear that a third world war might erupt if they label the Chinese Communists aggressors and authorize U.N. military action to combat them. Such a war seemed inevitable if Russia supported her ally—the Communist government in Peiping.

On the other hand was the knowledge that the world looked to the UN to take a clear-cut stand opposing aggression.

Two Basic Facts

Diplomats, in the face of these alternatives, are puzzled. Two basic facts which could decisively sway their decisions were missing:

1. How deeply committed Communist China is to the Korean war.

2. What Moscow's attitude would be in case of a war involving the United Nations against Communist China.

They sought a resolution to present to the Security Council, fulfilling the UN's anti-aggression aims and yet not leading directly to an irrevocable war commitment.

Responsible diplomatic circles said last night that western diplomats currently favor a restatement of the UN's order for all states to refrain from giving aid to the North Koreans, without mentioning China by name.

Try Face Saving

Western governments, it is understood, are making every effort to avoid putting Red China into a position where she would either be forced into open war or forced to acknowledge a retreat. They want to help Peiping "save face" now to prevent all-out war later.

A Communist Chinese delegation is known to be en route from Peiping to Lake Success to present China's charges that President Truman's order of June 27 ordering the U.S. Seventh Fleet to seal off Formosa constitutes aggression against China. That debate is scheduled for Nov. 15.

American sources said the U.S. would give these representatives visas to come here despite the latest reports of intervention in Korea.

They indicated the U.S. would demand a full explanation from the Chinese Communist representatives of Peiping's actions in Korea—and possibly Tibet—before agreeing to listen to their complaints against the U.S.

Nationalist China's delegate, T. F. Tsiang, however, is said to be ready to challenge the Red delegations' right to appear at all because of the action in Korea.

Jail Grandmother Keeping Child

TRURO, N. S., Nov. 7 (CP)—A 70-year-old grandmother is in jail here, charged with depriving Mrs. Dorothy Leonard of Inglewood, Calif., of her 12-year-old son.

Disconsolate and uncommunicative, the grandmother, Mrs. Frances Leonard, hasn't spoken since police arrested her in a boarding house here Monday and charged her with unlawfully detaining the child. She will appear in court today.

The 30-year-old brunette mother said she's been looking for her son since 1942, when she left him at an army camp in Louisiana where her husband was stationed.

The grandmother has been living in a boarding house here with the boy since Sept. 5, when she registered as Mrs. Scott. The boy has been attending school under the name of John Scott.

The mother said his name is Donald and that two years ago she was named his legal guardian by the District Court of Iowa. She said the veterans' administration board informed her her husband, with whom she had broken up, died in 1945.

Plan Power Plant

HAMILTON, Nov. 7 (CP) — A steam power plant, to add generating capacity to plants under construction at Toronto and Windsor, is to be built in Hamilton, Ontario Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders said Monday. He said 48 acres of land has been bought for the plant but did not indicate its proposed capacity nor when construction will begin.

2 Months' Gaol For Stealing 3 Pocket Knives

Two months in the count gaol was the sentence given to Edward Lynch, Wellington St., when he was found guilty in police court today of stealing three pocket knives worth 49 cents each from the S. S. Kresge Store, Saturday.

Constable Edward Niziol testified that he and Constable George Moore-Gough were called to the store and found the manager and assistant-manager holding Lynch.

They said Lynch had been seen stealing the knives and watched until he was almost out of the store before being apprehended. The assistant manager searched him and found two of the knives on him. When Lynch was searched at the police station another knife was found.

Lynch said he had $1.52 in his pockets and offered to pay for the knives "but they wouldn't take it."

Constable Niziol said he thought Lynch had been drinking that day.

Looking at Lynch's record, Magistrate W.R. Philp, KC, commented, "You're pretty consistent Lynch."

Thrown From Car 2 Women Hurt

Two women passengers were thrown from a car in a head-on crash with another car on Aylmer St. south of Murray St. Monday night about 11.15.

Mrs. John Young, 559 Reid St., suffered a possible fractured right ankle. She was scheduled to be X-rayed in St. Joseph's Hospital today. Apart from that she had a few cuts.

Wife of the driver, Mrs. R. B. Ephgrave, 35 Crescent St., was reported in good condition. She suffered slight shock and cuts to her scalp, and legs and a badly bruised left hand.

Around Parked Car

Driver of the other car, Edward J. Alberico, 4 Aberdeen Ave., told police he was driving east on Murray St. In turning right to go south on Aylmer St., he said, he had to swing wide to go around a car parked on the west side near the corner.

In doing so, he got over on the east side of the street. He saw the Ephgrave car coming directly toward him and he swung his car back to the west side. Ephgrave, thinking he was going to crash head-on, also swung to the west and the cars crashed about the centre of the street. The Ephgrave car was shoved completely around so that it faced south-west.

The two women who were thrown to the pavement were taken to hospital by Constable Sherman Keliele.

The whole front of the Alberico car was smashed. The right door and glass, radiator, front right fender, and bumper of the Ephgrave car were damaged.

Traffic Officer Harold Mesley investigated.

Obituary

MRS. WILLIAM H. ELLIOTT

Mrs. William H. Elliott, Dummer township, died on Monday in hospital following a lingering illness. She was born at Stony Lake, Monda Ives Pearl, daughter of the late Frederick Miles and Annie Crowe and has lived all her life in the district.

Besides her husband she leaves her step-mother, Mrs. Fred Miles, and three daughters, Mrs. Harold Miles (Lulu), and Mrs. Edward Simpson (Annie), both of RR 2, Norwood, and Mrs. Earl Simpson (Mona) of RR 2, Havelock, and two sons, Albert Elliott of Hastings and Mansell of Cuba, N.Y. There are two sisters Mrs. Lulu McLaughlin of RR 2, Norwood, and Mrs. Maye Johnston of Edmonton, and two brothers, Stanley Miles of Havelock and Ray of Stony Lake.

Funeral service will be held on Wednesday at the McConnell-Warner Funeral Home, Norwood, at 2 p.m. The Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh will officiate and pallbearers will be Albert and Mansell Elliott, Earl and Edward Simpson and Harl and Howard Miles. Burial will be at Norwood cemetery.

Local Young PC's Form Largest Delegation

Peterborough delegation of young Progressive Conservatives to the annual convention in Toronto during the past weekend, was the largest individual body there. They were awarded a gavel as trophy. On Saturday morning at a general business meeting amendments to the constitution were discussed and in the afternoon work was carried on by smaller study groups. Premier of Ontario the Hon. Leslie Frost was guest of honor and speaker at the banquet held in the evening. Sunday was spent in touring the city by bus and at tea in the afternoon.

Delegates from Peterborough were Amy Curtis, June Fraser, Allan Drummond of Keene and Dr. John Foote and other executive members who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Halladay, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Morris of Lakefield, Mary Curtis and Paul Thompson.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

LADY CANDIDATES

One or more women, it was said today, will seek election to the Board of Education at the municipal elections on December 4.

ST. THOMAS METHOD

Described as one of the fastest growing industrial cities in the province, St. Thomas has been hearing recently there may be further developments "that would thrill every citizen". That was the intimation by W. H. A. Sparling, the city's industrial commissioner, who is resigning to take an executive job with Allis-Chalmers Rumley Limited, one of the newly acquired industries of St. Thomas. They have an industrial board co-operating with their commissioner.

CONVENTION NEXT YEAR

Associated Canadian Travellers recently decided to hold their 1950 conference in Peterborough next October. The invitation was extended by the local delegate, Don Meredith, at the conference recently held in October. It will be attended by representatives of all ACT clubs in Ontario. Mr. Meredith has been active in the Peterborough club's affairs since its inception in 1947.

FIRST PUBLIC PARADE

The newly-formed No. 428 (Peterborough) Wing of the RCAF Association will parade publicly for the first time on November 11. It will be a unit in the larger parade that will take part in the Remembrance Day service. If the wing is out in strength it will march in four flights. Each flight will consist of a Flight Commander, Adjutant and 27 men. The executive officers will lay a wreath on the war memorial.

WAGE FIGHT CONTINUES

Members of the Joint UE-GE Conference Board are planning their next step now that the Canadian General Electric Co. has refused to negotiate on an immediate wage increase. President C. S. Jackson was instructed to write to the company again to obtain a reopening of the contract. The union wants a straight 15 cents an hour increase plus 10 cents an hour for skilled and other day-rate workers. The company has refused, saying the existing contract is good for a year. Representing Local 524 at Monday's joint conference board meeting were T. P. Davies, president; George Wallace, vice-president; C. R. Sullivan, area representative and secretary of the board; and five other members of the negotiating committee: Alex Seppala, C. H. Harvey, Ray Peters, Roger Allchin and James Southgate.

Industrials Easing On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Nov. 7 (CP)—Industrials eased as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today following yesterday's sharp losses.

Losses outnumbered gains slightly as the board slipped from mixed dealings in the forenoon. Prices stayed fairly well in a narrow path and activity was slow.

Agricultures, constructions, liquors, banks, textiles, and retail stores showed a majority of fractional losses in the groupings. Refining oils gained and papers, utilities, steels, foods, and manufacturing companies were mixed.

Base metals were more active than industrials and bounced back strongly from their big losses of yesterday. A wide list of leaders gained up to 50 cents although two key issues, Noranda and Consolidated Smelters, were lower.

Senior golds drifted lower with Dome and Kerr Addison down.

Junior producers traded mixed with gains and losses limited to pennies.

Western oils tended mixed after opening higher. Volume for the first three hours was 988,000 shares.

FIRE PATROLS

Forest fire patrols were an important part of the work of the RCAF in its early days.

Car Strikes Deer

HASTINGS, Nov. 8 (ENS).—A car driven by Eilleen Spratt of 92 Ascott Ave., Toronto, and accompanied by three women passengers enroute to Ottawa about 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, ran into a deer a few miles east of Peterborough. The ladies were forced to leave their car at a Hastings garage and proceed to Ottawa by train. Approximate damage to the car is $200.00.

Bagged 2 Bucks Opening Day

First reports from the deer-hunting front indicate that it's the bucks that are falling to the huntsmen's guns, not the dogs.

Frank O'Toole, Driscoll Terrace, shot two Monday while hunting in the Haultain area with a five-men party from Peterborough. Joe McWilliams, O'Connell Rd., shot a third.

Mr. O'Toole's were the largest, one five-pointer weighed well over 200 pounds, and the other was a good-sized two - pointer. Mr. McWilliams' was a single spiker.

Along with the two successful members of the party are Stephen O'Toole, Joe's father, and a couple of other local men who are hoping to get their count today. The party start out from Peterborough early in the morning and return at night.

Ray Tanner, proprietor of the King George hotel, and Oric Pollock, Rogers St., beat everybody to the gun by shooting two large bucks last Friday in the Burwash district. (The deer hunting season there opened last Wednesday.)

One of the bucks weighed 195 pounds and the other 205.

Mr. Tanner goes back to the Wahnapitei river, Burwash district, every year and finds the luck good. He always gets his count.

UN Forces

Farther east, however, Red Korean troops and five tanks were reported withdrawing northward from Myongchong, next goal of the South Korean Capital Division driving toward the Siberian border. The South Koreans last were reported six miles south of Nyongchong.

In the Pakchon area advance, Australian units on the left flank met the only notable resistance when they routed 100 Red soldiers.

Allied warplanes began burning all villages to flush out Chinese Red soldiers.

U.S. 1st Cavalry Division troops reported they had seen Chinese troops change into civilian clothing and loll around in villages during the day while Allied planes buzzed overhead.

Reversible Uniforms

Communist dead with reversible uniforms were found in the Anjukunu area. The uniforms were grey-green on one side, civilian white on the other.

Allied officers were perplexed at the Chinese withdrawal in an area where they had forced U.N. troops back as much as 50 miles. They speculated the Chinese either were regrouping for a large-scale attack or were deploying new lines.

In the latter event, officers said, it was possible the Chinese only intended to hold a buffer area guarding the Yalu River hydro-electric power grid, vital to Manchurian industry.

Gen. MacArthur placed the issue of Chinese Communist intervention in the Korea war before the United Nations Monday. The United States asked the U.N. Security Council to consider the matter Wednesday morning.

The air fight over the northwest corner of Korea began in mid-afternoon, the fifth air force said. Ninety-five minutes later propellor-driven U.S. F-51 Mustangs and swift Red jets were snarling at each other like angry hornets.

Send In Jets

U.S. F-80 jet fighters were ordered into the fray which started over the Sinuiju area of North Korea across the Yalu river from Manchuria.

The Mustangs claimed hits on three of the Red jets which fled into Manchuria.

Four Russian-built jets were in the first attacking wave. They were described as MIG-15s, a late Russian model with sweptback wings and reported speed of about 670 miles an hour.

The American jets operating in Korea, Lockheed F-80 Shooting Stars, are slower.

In Tokyo MacArthur's headquarters said it had no information that North Koreans had been trained to fly jets.

Regain Ground

Red forces in the Chongchon river bridgehead area north of Anju withdrew after the U.S. 24th division counter-attacked Monday. The Doughboys regained ground lost in early morning enemy attacks.

South Korean patrols entered the deserted no-man's-land town of Won, northeast of Anju, Monday night. They reported no Red troops in the town but said enemy forces occupied nearby hills.

Allied troops and artillery turned back several probing attacks Monday night and Tuesday north of Anju and northeast of Kunu. They were small scale.

Airmen spotted Red troops and supplies rolling south from the Yalu river on Manchuria's border to the fighting front.

But an expected full-scale attack by three to four Chinese and Korean Red divisions failed to develop.

Suspect Trick

"They had us off balance when they first hit us but failed to drive ahead," a 1st corps staff officer said. "I don't understand what they're up to but I don't like the looks of it."

AP correspondent Jack MacBeth, with the 1st corps, said allied officers were not inclined to write off the Reds, particularly the Chinese.

MacBeth said the prevailing military opinion in the northwest sector is that if Communist China backs up her present force in Korea with unlimited support, U.N. troops would be forced into a costly retreat.

In the north-central area, U.S. Marines smashed a series of Chinese Red counter-attacks as they ground slowly ahead through canyons in the mountains south of Changjin reservoir.

Beat Back Attack

Puerto Ricans joined U.N. forces fighting on the northeast front. The 65th regiment beat back a strong Red attack Tuesday at Yongchon, 30 miles north of Wonsan.

Red guerrillas cut up an American convoy south of Yonghung and forced its remnants to return to Wonsan.

Three miles south of the truck ambush, other Reds shot up a train running north from Wonsan. They inflicted casualties on U.S. Marine guards.

Action in the Pungsan area, inland from Kilchu, was limited to patrols in zero weather. U.S. 7th division elements were within 24 miles of Manchuria.

3 New Buildings Continue Pattern Business Growth

Permits for three commercial buildings have recently been issued through the office of City Engineer A. E. Chalmers.

They are: Ferguson's Cleaners and Dyers, on the north side of Hunter St. east, between Mark and Rogers Streets, estimated at $20,000; contractor Frank Ephgrave.

Goodfellow and Dougherty, plumbing, heating and sheet metal work, on the west side of George St., north of the new Loblaw Groceteria, R. W. Harrison, 459 King George St., contractor; estimated at $12,000.

Ford Plumbing and Heating Company, Limited, William E. Turner, 800 Water St., manager; Harold Ephgrave, contractor; estimated at $11,000. It is on the east side of George St., south of Sherbrooke St.

The Ferguson's Cleaners permit shuttled through the city council and the city planning committee three or four times against opposition from property owners of that section of Ashburnham. It finally received zoning approval.

Pattern of Expansion

The pattern of retail business expansion in the George St. block, south of Sherbrooke St., resumes its promised development in the work that has already been begun for Ford Plumbing and Heating Co., and Goodfellow and Dougherty.

The Hunter St. building will be 70 ft. by 32 ft. of concrete blocks. Ford Plumbing is 37 ft. by 60 ft., and Goodfellow and Dougherty building 30 ft. by 90 ft.

The long established plumbing and heating business of Fred O. Goodfellow and John E. Dougherty will eventually be transferred from their Water St. premises to George St., and in the new location will feature a modern type of display.

William E. Turner, manager of Ford Plumbing and Heating Co., is a son of the late Ford Turner, and nephew of E. Melville Turner who continues as head of the plumbing and heating business which has been known as W. R. Turner Estate, at 195 Simcoe St.

November permits also include three brick veneer houses on the east side of Monaghan Road, north of Cameron St., that are being built by Don Ephgrave. Estimated value is $6,800 each. Reilly Construction Co. is building a $9,800 dwelling on Gordon Ave. for W. M. Taylor.

Rev. Patterson Retires At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Nov. 7—(ENS)—The Rev. Walter Patterson, M.A., of Grace Presbyterian Church, preached his final sermon Sunday evening before retiring from the active ministry.

Mr. Patterson took as his text "Now unto God eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honor and glory for ever and ever." He said that this verse, a hymn of praise, was suitable for his farewell, because he could say with the psalmist that "goodness and mercy had followed him all the days of his life." He said that, while he was retiring because he felt a younger, more vigorous man could fulfill the work of pastor better, he still wished to carry on the duties of a minister, even though he would not have a regular charge. He said that the Rev. Louis Fowler, interim moderator, would come next Sunday and declare the pulpit vacant, and after that a list of candidates had been invited to apply to fill the vacancy.

Mr. Patterson stated he had been doing Christian work for nearly 50 years, first with the YMCA in Ireland, then with seamen in the Port of Dublin, and finally in the Christian ministry.

Rev. Patterson was born in Dublin, Ireland. He is a graduate of Trinity College, Dublin. Later he took his theological course in the Assembly's College, Belfast. His first charge in Ireland was in Portglenone, County Antrim, from which he resigned to come to Canada. Mr. Patterson served 30 years in the Presbyterian ministry in Canada, the last eight spent as pastor of Millbrook and Centreville Presbyterian Churches.

Called To Stayner

In 1925 he was called to Stayner, following which he preached in Knox Church, Preston, for 12 years. Following a short stay in Paisley, he came to Millbrook.

He married Louisa Marie Hillis, eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hillis, of Clontarf, Dublin.

They have a daughter, Edith, in Toronto, and a son, Herbert, who was a sergeant in the RCEME during the late war.

Live In Millbrook

Rev. and Mrs. Patterson will make their home in Millbrook, where they have made many happy friendships.

Following the evening service the large congregation consisting of Presbyterians and also members of St. Thomas' Anglican and St. Andrew's United Churches was invited to remain for a social hour in the Sunday schoolroom. Rev. T. G. Husser and Rev. A. A. Chote paid tribute to the work done in the village by Rev. and Mrs. Patterson, and wished them many years of happiness in retirement. Special musical numbers were supplied by Mrs. G. A. Spencer and Mrs. J. Larmer, and by Mrs. Lawrence Winslow. Mrs. Joe Burns acted as chairman. Members of the interchurch YPU served tea and cookies.

Treasurer Dies

WHITBY, Nov. 7—(CP)—Emily A. McKay, treasurer for Ontario county for many years prior to her retiremnt in 1947, died Monday. At the time of her appointment, she was the first woman county treasurer in the province.

SMILING CENTENARIAN—Miss Martha Harding celebrated her 100th birthday in Toronto, Nov. 6. She was a tailoress in the city for 60 years and now gets up at six o'clock every morning. One thing she remembers with something like relish is the time the old age pensions first came into effect in Ontario. Though 79 at the time, it took her some time to convince the authorities that she was old enough to be eligible.

Wool Is Sorted Into 13 Grades —Rotary Speaker

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 7 —(ENS).—Rotarians heard an interesting talk on the manufacture of cloth at their luncheon Monday, when Rotarian Bruce McComb, of the Campbellford Cloth Company, gave his classification speach.

Mr. McComb said wool from the sheep was sorted into 13 grades. Much of the wool used in Canada comes from Australia. This wool, unlike the domestic wool, is carbonized. This carbonization treatment dries the wool and removes all impurities after it is clipped.

Wool is different from other materials, in that each individual fibre is a hollow tube with a serrated edge. This hollow tube holds more dye, and consequently produces a better dye job in the finished product.

Cloth is made mostly for appearance nowadays. To produce the effect of napp, which the customer demands, the wool is put through a teazeling process which partly wears it out before it reaches the consumer.

When it comes from the carding machines, the wool must weight one pound to each 4,000 yards of yarn. It is then drawn and spun, about $10^{3}/_{4}$ turns to the inch. After spinning it is warped and woven into cloth.

Rotarian Austin Putnam extended a vote of thanks to Mr McComb, and president A. K. Loucks thanked him on behalf of the club.

Plan Bomb Shelters

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP). — Proposals to build 60 bomb shelters under Manhattan parks for about 1,500,000 persons, were discussed by civilian defence officials Monday. Such shelters are planned to serve both as bomb protection and peace-time parking facilities. Plans for similar projects in the Bronx and Brooklyn are practically completed.

Black Red News

General MacArthur's communication to the United Nations, as U.N. commander in Korea, that recognizable units of the Chinese Red Army have been identified on the north Korean front, is news of the utmost gravity. It is the first authoritative statement that Chinese as members of the Chinese Red Army are taking part in the war. Since the statement comes from General MacArthur with all the weight of his office, the facts are hardly open to doubt. They are nevertheless amazing, at this late stage of the Korean war.

* * *

If Mao's China is not to become involved in this regional war—which could through Red China's intervention cover the whole continent of Asia—two things are necessary. First, a proven withdrawal of all Chinese Reds behind the Manchurian-Korean border, and secondly, a statement from U.N.'s Security Council, and from General MacArthur as commander in the field, that U.N. and MacArthur have no intention of pushing their campaign beyond the Korean border, unless forced into it by Chinese intervention. Such a forthright statement is long overdue. Mao's China, and other nations less directly affected, should be left in no doubt whatsoever that General MacArthur and his forces have no aggressive intention to seize Manchuria or any part of it. U.N. and General MacArthur should provide the Chinese with no excuse for "border incidents".

Salvation Army Deserves Praise

The local branch of the Salvation Army is doing something practical about the problem of what to do on Sundays, with its series of musicales, which it gives on the first Sunday of each month. The music is good and the musicales are so popular that a considerable number of people were unable to gain admission to the last one. It may be said also that the Salvation Army could give a lesson to several other Peterborough organizations in this respect: their musicales begin promptly at the advertised time, and they move briskly through their program.

In such cities as this great numbers of people find it hard to pass the time on Sunday. If they are churchgoers, this occupies them for two hours in the day, and during the remainder of the time they must find something to do, or sit in a boarding-house bedroom. The Salvation Army has recognized the power of music to enliven the heart and enrich the spirit since it was founded, and it provides a first-rate concert on the first Sunday afternoon of each month. The surest indication of the success of its plan lies in the warm response which the public has shown to it.

Courageous President

An hour after the shocking attempt to assassinate him, President Truman was appearing in public and calmly officiating at an open-air ceremony. Even at the time of the shooting he was quiet and serene. Such conduct shows great personal courage which men of smaller capacity and meaner spirit do not have. "A president has to accept those things", Mr. Truman said after the shooting. But in accepting them as bravely as he does, President Truman cannot be unmindful of the fate of three of his predecessors who were assassinated, and three other presidents against whom the attempts were nearly successful. Mr. Truman has given proof in other ways of his courage. He faces political situations dauntlessly. For instance we need only mention his tour and confidence before his re-election when even leading supporters had abandoned hope of victory.

Living as close as Canadians do to the American people and their press, there may be a tendency in this country to under-rate President Truman as his own people have done. Mr. Truman's deprecatory words about himself reinforce this under-estimate. When he makes claim to being only a common citizen, to doing only as well as a hundred thousand other Americans could have done in the office of President, he may be shrewdly appealing to the sympathies of voters (though we believe that his are the words of an honestly modest man). Canadians, not being potential American voters, may be mislead and take the depreciation at its face value.

There should be no mistake, however, that President Truman is a greater man than most of his contemporaries. He occupies the greatest elective position in the world as head of the world's most powerful state. No common man can do that successfully as President Truman has done for more than five years, and through a second term. When the representatives at the Assembly of sixty United Nations rise to their feet on the entrance of President Truman to their hall, it is the tribute of the world to a great office, and also to the man so courageously filling it.

Let's Have Some Land Army Girls

The British Women's Land Army is being disbanded at the end of the month, for financial reasons, not because all the girls want to leave their farm jobs. Some of them have hopes of coming to Canada, to do similar work. This seems to be worrying Canadian immigration authorities in London. They feel that Canadians will not like the idea of women doing heavy farm chores, and that the Land Army girls would not stand the strain of cold Canadian winters. They are used to Britain's open winters.

Piffle! We have seen these girls at work in British fields in the soggiest, coldest, bleakest of weather. By contrast, Canadian farms, with their solidly founded barns, will be cozy. And there is always the kitchen stove to warm the tootsies of the Land Army girls while the women of the farmhouse get dinner ready or make pies.

The notion that Canadians would not like girls to do heavy farm work strikes us as being nonsensically romantic and not facing Women's Land Army and Canadian facts. These girls of the wartime organization are a fine, hardy lot; perky, pert and plump in general, and some in particular are even buxom or comely. These fine qualities do not weaken the hand that hews wood, hauls water for the pigs or drives a tractor over stubble. If in Finland women are bricklayers, in Britain farm-hands, why should the species not be capable of operating Canadian agricultural machinery such as milking machines—a much softer job? Honest toil dignifies men, it is said; it can ennoble women, and does.

Our Canadian grandmothers are enshrined as the real makers of Canada, the backbone of the nation. Although they were not true Amazons, these hands which rocked the Canadian cradle, also filled the buckets, stooked grain, dug the spuds and picked up after stalled cattle. Some could even chew 'baccy with the handiest of men folk. Has a race of men borne by such grandmothers become flabby of heart and soft of head that they fear to face in this century the prospect of Land Army girls at work in the now gentler fields and barns of Canada?.

More About Tipping

A taxi driver in New York named Max Hollander has been in trouble with the U.S. revenue department because he neglected to include his tips in his statement of income for tax purposes; he has been ordered to pay a sum which the U.S. government believes to be the equivalent of his tips, and that sum is twelve per cent. of his meter readings; it appears that the U.S. government considers that twelve per cent. is the tip that a taxi man should receive.

We have already said in these columns that we favour tipping, but that we consider that most tips are too big. Some recognition of good service is legitimate, but when the tip becomes too big a part of the total bill it ceases to be a gratuity on the part of the person served, and becomes a monstrous imposture on the part of the server. Twelve per cent of the total bill as a tip is, under ordinary circumstances, too much. Ten per cent. is plenty unless some unusual accommodation has been offered.

If tipping is to continue, there must be some reason in the amount of each tip. If tipping is to become a large-scale swindle, enabling people who offer personal service to demand twelve per cent. of the total bill for service which may or may not have been good, tipping should cease forthwith. Once tipping ceases to be directly hitched to personal service and personal generosity, it will become like modern charity—a well-organized, impersonal, high-pressure, juiceless exaction of money.

Tippers of the world, unite! You have nothing to lose but your change!

Clowning In Our Time

By IVOR BROWN

THE nature of a nation's clowning is always an indication of its mind. Students of politics are not wasting their time in dissipation if they are also students of the music-hall, circus and vaudeville. The comedian is the voice of protest; he is the everlasting enemy of authority. Thus his jokes vary down the centuries according to the kind of authority that people are most resenting and the kind of liberty that they chiefly crave.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE favourite English jesters of today, who usually make a quick and large reputation through broadcasting and are then at once promoted to star positions on the stage, are specializing in the type known as "the wide boy" or spiv, the man who is never at a loss for rationed articles; he "fiddles" this (i.e. somehow acquires it) and "flogs" (sells) that. His fun lies in his slickness and his cunning. In a period of plenty and low prices, there is little need for this kind of humour. But these are not years of plenty and prices soar.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE responsibility and strict ethical code of the Victorians drove the funny men to concentrate on the laughter to be found in licence. The music-hall was then visited for the raffishness of its levity. The lad about town sang of his sexual triumphs; words now out of date like "mashing" and "spooning" were supplemented with the general suggestion that after-dark was the occasion for all sorts of naughtiness outside the pale of ordinary conduct. The heavier comics, with their red noses and leering glances, were also intimating their revolt not only against sobriety but against decorum.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE has always been, and will always be, the spice of such liberty in popular revels and mummery. But when ethical discipline and the sexual code relax, the clown's defiance of the accepted decencies becomes stale and futile. So he transfers his aggression. At a time of strict economic controls and of ever more complicated, far-reaching, and possibily oppressive laws, his natural target is the official and the discipline which he enforces.

◇ ◇ ◇

CLOWNSHIP lives by its appeal to the impulses. The Law, of course, has been his perpetual victim and the droll, all down the ages, has been outrunning the Constable and even applying red-hot pokers to the seats of authority. The traditional Harlequinade was a riot of such police-baiting. The theft of sausages was funny partly because sausages are accepted as comic articles in themselves, but chiefly because thieving was part of the instinctive protest against edicts in defence of property.

◇ ◇ ◇

BUT nowadays the English comedians develop a much sourer kind of fun. They come on to the stage with the garish finery of the specialist in "fiddling". They have the padded shoulders, the preposterous neckties, the narrow, flashy shoes of the man who looks after himself and can look after your need of nylons or victuals or whisky if you can pay him his price. The old droll, all rags and patches, drew laughter from the woes and peccadilloes of the poor; he stood for the proletariat. The new droll gets his mirth from his triumphant diddling of the new discipline; he stands for the street-corner profiteer. When the late Sid Field invented a dreadful street-corner type called Slasher Green, he gave a lead to all the young men who are now screaming in accents as hideous as their clothes about the pleasures and rewards of being "wide".

◇ ◇ ◇

THE public laugh at the "wide" boy because we know the type and because, subconsciously, we envy him his successful evasions of the law. In older types of society one perpetual comic hero was the impudent slave or servant who tricked and outwitted his master. Now, when equalizing Law is supposed to be the master of all, we find joy in the fellow who can master even that. The nearer we approach to the Socialist society, the more anti-social does the comedian become, for the reason that the droll is always on the Opposition benches in the Parliament of humour.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE balance of power in drollery has shifted south as well as shifting to the "spivs". The Scots comedians who used to conquer England with the waggle of a kilt and the rolling of an "r" now chiefly stay at home. Gracie Fields is still the empress of her art, but the voice of Lancashire and Yorkshire is much less heard on London stages than it was. This does not mean that the humour of the regions has ceased to be regional. It does mean that the humour of the flashy trickster is especially cultivated in the South because the South is more used to the specimen.

◇ ◇ ◇

THIS, I fear, is no compliment to London. It suggests only that what Lancashire thought funny yesterday was a far healthier symptom of public probity than what London is thinking today. When frail George Formby sang "I was standing at the corner of the street" or "Watching the trains go by", he was swindling nobody. He purposed no smart tricks. He was just standing. But when a London street-corner boy of "the halls" starts his fusillade of nasally drawled gags and cracks, he is mimicking the type who will swindle everybody within reach.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE old straight-forward songs of the music-hall gave simple praise of boiled beef and carrots, nice mince pies, and treacly pudding steaming on the table; the new jests are all of nylons under the counter. The old jester openly smote Authority with a bladder; the new one undermines it with a smirk. In the B.B.C.'s very popular "Variety Bandbox" in the Light Programme on Sunday nights the chief comedian is now Arthur English, who specializes in this new "wide boy" fun. His name, as well as his success, suggest a national relevance in his brand of comedy. The students of Social Psychology should give ear to him.

Letters To The Editor

BEEKEEPER MAD AS HORNET

Sir: I see you are out to stick the knife into the beekeepers now same as you do the farmers and you don't seem to be above twisting the truth to do it either.

You accept the hospitality of our association and repay it by concocting a statement that was never made, and using it to stab a man in the back who is not here to defend himself, and blacken a group of people who would not stoop to your level. I am going to recommend to our executive that they kick your two-bit reporters out of our meetings in future. Yours truly,

SID FOX.

DENIES ANY ATTEMPT TO FIX HONEY PRICE

Sir: Your leading editorial under date of Friday, Nov. 3rd, captioned "Western Honey Menaces Ontario" says that Mr. Thomas Shield, manager of the Ontario Honey Producers' Co-operative, speaking to the Central Ontario Beekeepers' Association, said, quote, "That the Ontario legislature is expected soon to pass legislation which will cut down the amount of honey imported from these foreign provinces."

Your statement is entirely incorrect, politely speaking.

The honey producers have not asked for, and to my knowledge the Ontario legislature has never contemplated passing any such legislation.

Nothing to that effect was expressed or implied by Mr. Shield.

Perhaps you will be fair enough to give this letter equal prominence with your misleading and damaging editorial.

ENJOYABLE HALLOWE'EN

Sir: On Monday night, October 30th, I listened to "The People's Forum" over the air and was quite interested in one item particularly. On this Forum is Mrs. Kate Aiken, who I personally know and of whom I think a great deal, Mrs. Stockdale and two gentlemen, with whom I am not familiar at the present time. As you are no doubt aware, the audience is given an opportunity to ask questions and one that interested me most was, "Are you in favor of Hallowe'en Night" and all invariably said "yes", as they claimed it was a night that children look forward to and they should not be deprived of any good they got out of it.

Throughout the press, after Hallowe'en were various stories about the children being given mothballs and dog biscuits as handouts. We had several callers at our home, which is located in the vicinity of Park and Charlotte streets, and among them were two little girls, I would say ten years of age or under, who came to the door looking for candies, etc. After my wife had given each of them two apples, they asked her if she would like to have them sing to her. She advised them that she would love to, but her husband would enjoy it much more, consequently she sent them up to me and they stood beside my bed and looked rather nervous. They were just waiting for the downbeat to commence, this I supplied, and immediately they sang a very pretty verse about goblins looking through the window-pane. I don't know the words or the names of the children, but if their parents happen to read this letter, I would very much like to have them ask the children to come back again as I would like to interview them. One was a black-face and the other was in a natural costume, but just what it was I am at a loss to say as I was interested in their singing. Their little song was very much appreciated and I would very much appreciate hearing them again, if it is convenient, at any time they feel like calling between after school and five o'clock.

Thanking you very much for this space and wishing your paper success, I am,

Yours sincerely,

A SUBSCRIBER.

Rubbish

(The Manchester Guardian)

Readers of this column show a notable avidity for quaint facts. It is rumoured, even, that some of them file its odder information, for the purpose perhaps of inventing fiendish quizzes for their families at Christmas; for stunning, with some recondite yet not wholly irrelevant instance, a conversation that has begun to bore them; or it may be merely for persuading themselves, on frail but fascinating evidence, that there is nothing new under the sun.

But today's quaint fact is not of this kidney. It is far-reaching, course-changing, world-shaking; at any rate, undoubtedly significant, and something every Englishman should know. Briefly it is that in 1826 a very great deal of rubbish from King's Cross was sold to the Russian government for £30,000, and that upon it was rebuilt Moscow. Readers will be swift to see the implications of this.

We may now, in reason, put a claim before the United Nations demanding the return of our lebensraum; we may now in reason, point out that all native Muscovites are really Cockneys enjoying extra-territorial rights; we may, at the very least, discomfit the Kremlin by insisting on the submission of its deeds of ownership and a clear statement of the leasehold—for it is beyond all credulity that any Englishman would sell freehold a part of his native land, even a rubbish heap.

What a coup, all this, for Sir Gladwyn Jebb to keep up his immaculate sleeve! What a cat to let out of diplomatic bags! And, in fact, the possibilities of turning our rubbish to our advantage do not even end here; for enormous loads of blitz rubbish were taken as ballast to New York during the war—and, undoubtedly, elsewhere too. The government must set up a new department for inquiring into the foundations of foreign capitals; no broken stone must be left unturned. Everywhere there is, without a doubt, some corner of a foreign capital that is for ever England's.
